THE FLORIDA BAR'S PETITION FOR CONTEMPT AND ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

Petitioner, The Florida Bar, files this, its petition for contempt and order to show cause against respondent Rose J. Spano, and says:

1. In Florida Supreme Court Case Nos. SC00-2222 and SC01-275, by order dated December 4, 2003, respondent was placed on probation for one (1) year under the terms and conditions set forth in the amended referee's report, effective immediately.
2. The terms and conditions of the amended referee's report included respondent entering into an agreement with Florida Lawyers Assistance, Inc. (hereafter FLA, Inc.) to complete a substance abuse and psychological evaluation, to successfully complete any recommended treatment and to receive counseling by a licensed psychologist. FLA, Inc. should also mentor respondent and monitor her progress in counseling and any other recommended treatment for her one (1) year term of her probation.

App. 8

3. The Florida Bar has made respondent aware of the conditions associated with her probation in letters dated December 16, 2003 and January 26, 2004. True and correct copies of The Florida Bar's letters to respondent are attached as Composite Exhibit "A." (omitted)

4. Respondent has notified The Florida Bar in letters dated January 16, 2004 and February 4, 2004 that she is not going to comply with this court's order dated December 4, 2003. True and correct copies of respondent's letters to The Florida Bar are attached as Composite Exhibit "B." (omitted)

5. The Florida Bar has been advised by FLA, Inc. that they have not heard from respondent since October 2001. An affidavit from Myer [sic] John Cohen, Executive Director of Florida Lawyers Assistance, Inc. is attached as Exhibit "C." (omitted)

6. Implicit in an order of discipline is enhanced discipline if the respondent fails to comply with the terms and conditions of the court's order. Therefore, it is appropriate that respondent receive a ninety-one (91) day suspension, so that she is required to demonstrate rehabilitation in reinstatement proceedings as a prerequisite to returning to the practice of law.

WHEREFORE, petitioner, The Florida Bar, respectfully requests this court enter its order terminating the probation in Case Nos. SC00-2222 and SC01-275 and directing respondent Rose J. Spano, to show cause why

RESPONDENT ROSE SPANO'S
RESPONSE TO PETITION FOR CONTEMPT
AND ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

COMES NOW the Respondent, ROSE J. SPANO, by and through her undersigned counsel and hereby files this Response to Petition for Contempt and Order to Show Cause and states unto the Court as follows:

1. That on or about March 9, 2004, the Petitioner, The Florida Bar, filed with this Court a Petition for Contempt and Order to Show Cause against Respondent Rose Spano.
2. The Florida Supreme Court, by order dated December 4, 2003, placed Respondent on probation for one year under the terms and conditions set forth in the Referee's Amended Order.
3. The Referee's Amended Order was dated April 1, 2003, and Respondent began complying with same immediately.

App. 11

4. Respondent was not found by the Referee to be suffering from any kind of substance abuse, nevertheless the Referee ordered that Respondent be ordered to enter into an agreement with FLA to complete a substance abuse and psychological evaluation and to successfully complete recommended treatment.

5. Respondent had no objection to counseling and treatment and in fact engaged in both evaluations and treatment with S. Richard Sauber, Ph.D. prior to the filing of the Florida Bar's petition. A copy of Dr. Sauber's extensive report is attached hereto, incorporated by reference herein and marked Exhibit 1.

6. Respondent was unaware prior to January 2004, that the requirement to enter into the contract with FLA was a formal part of her probation. In fact, Respondent had informed her counsel to seek a waiver of the FLA requirement in the Amended Referees Report. In fact, Fred Haddad, Esquire filed a motion to that effect in April 2003, with this Court.

7. At no time material to the matter set forth in the Petition did prior counsel advise Respondent of this Court's denial of her motion. Attached hereto and incorporated by reference herein is the affidavit of Respondent Rose Spano marked as Exhibit 2.

8. As indicated hereinabove, Respondent is and has been willing at all times to comply with the testing, treating, mentoring and monitoring provisions of her probation. However, as is well known to the Petitioner, the Florida Bar, and staff counsel Lorraine Hoffman [sic], Respondent has a severe personality conflict and adversary relationship with Meyer John Cohn of FLA. Respondent and Mr. Cohn have a totally adversarial relationship arising out of a prior matter which would make his and FLA's participation in Respondent's probationary process inappropriate. See attached affidavit of Respondent.

App. 12

9. Respondent has fully complied with and continues to comply with all of the substantive requirements of this Court's Order. Respondent is ready, willing and able to comply with the required monitoring and mentoring should this Court find that same remains necessary. Respondent would prefer not to be required to complete monitoring and mentoring with the FLA program based on her serious concerns with the severe tension existing between her and the director of the FLA program.

10. Respondent should not be held in contempt or suspended for 91 days. Should this Court feel any penalty should be assessed, it should be no more than to complete the probationary period to allow the mentoring and monitoring portion of the probation to be completed.

WHEREFORE Respondent prays the Florida Bar's Petition be denied and no Order to Show Cause be issued.

App. 14

PURPOSE:

The purpose of conducting a psychological evaluation on Rose J. Spano served a dual function in that simultaneous and related to her post custody modification action pending in Family Court was the Florida Bar's Petition for Contempt and Order to Show Cause, I made reference to the term "related" because I understand that the Bar's Complaint came about as a result of a contentious alleged aggravated stalking matter that arose as a result of the partnership between her former boyfriend, James Stephens and the father of the minor child, Dennis Bruce, they were attempting to remove her parental rights. In reviewing the legal documents, this partnership may be considered a well executed conspiracy against Rose Spano.

Ms. Spano, being resourceful in our field, contacted a number of professionals and my name was given to her as a well qualified mental health professional to conduct a psychological evaluation. This examiner has never had any contact with this client, nor had any name recognition of her in any capacity. Thus, as a forensic psychologist, the evaluation can be considered objective and impartial.

The objective was to determine whether or not there were any indicators to suggest that Rose Spano either is suffering from or is likely to suffer from any mental disorder. If a finding did emerge indicating a DSM diagnosis of a mental disorder, then a treatment protocol was to be recommended.

PROCEDURE:

The procedure consisted of conducting diagnostic interviews and psychological testing on the following dates of service: 2/3/04, 2/5/04, 2/9/04, 2/12/04, 2/23/04, 2/25/04 and 3/17/04. The psychological instruments administered included the Minnesota Multi phasic Personality Inventory-2, Forensic Analysis; Assessment Scale for Potential Violence; a research instrument of factors associated with the prediction of possible violence; Health Concerns Questionnaire and the Parent child Relationship Inventory. The latter test was principally utilized for her custodial considerations but also has direct relevance in terms of Parental Competence and Psychological function.

Review of the documents was necessary in order to understand the history of the case and the complexity of variables that needed to be taken into account in order to arrive at a conclusion based upon reliable and valid information. The following list of documents included:

- 1) Dr. Glen Caddy testimony dated October 2001
- 2) Dr. Miguel Firpi testimony dated April 2001
- 3) Child Custody Investigative Report May 2000
- 4) Copies of Statues [sic] 61.13
- 5) Mother's Emergency Motion for Relief (7/21/03)
- 6) Third DCA Opinion 4/26/02
- 7) Third DCA Opinion 6/26/02
- 8) Petition to Modify Custody dated 5/1/03
- 9) Agreed Final Judgment 4/30/01

App. 16

- 10) Correspondence from Rose J. Spano to Alan Shuminer
- 11) Correspondence from Rose J. Spano to Dennis Bruce
- 12) Order of September 12, 2003
- 13) Petition for Rule to Show Cause
- 14) Emergency Temporary Relief
- 15) Petitioner [sic] Motion for Child Support
- 16) Motion for Rehearing dated August 7, 2003
- 17) Certificate of Completion of Divorce Course
- 18) Objection to Participate in Depository Program
- 19) Various Motions and Orders from several cases concerning Rose J. Spano

FINDINGS:

The psycho-social history reveals a rather normal development with an intact family, cohesive, supportive and functional. Ms. Spano was the second to the youngest in which she had two older sisters, 9 and 7 years older, a brother 3 1/2 years her senior and a younger sister of one year. Noteworthy features in her history revealed her impressive success in terms of (1) athletics, softball, field hockey, track, swimming, (2) school activities such as captain of the cheerleaders, drama club, dance club and (3) academic achievements, national honor society and graduating #5 in the high school graduating class of 900.

Her award as "Ms. Spartan" was an indication of her popularity and the respect she earned from the student body. The fact that she was so busy with all these activities also accounts for her time in avoiding any transgression that kids and adolescents often encounter.

There was no signs of any kind of substance abuse nor emotional problems during this time of her life.

She was close with her siblings and her mother took charge of the family in "strict military style". Her father operated a construction business was [sic] a "no nonsense" kind of man. There were standards of appropriate behavior that were required of all of the children in her family.

She attended Catholic School, was exposed and adopted the spiritual doctrines and moral teachings that have guided her thinking and behavior throughout her life. She remains very active with St. Coleman Catholic Church. She generously volunteers what little time she has to church related community functions. Between the religious doctrines, her strict rules of her parents and the community expectations for the members of her family, e.g. (her father ran for city Mayor, her parents shaped her behavior to be a good little girl, well behaved and to act appropriately at all times. She was very much a "goody goody").

She accepted this role and never exhibited a reaction in terms of rebellion. She was the perfectionist, the most responsible of her siblings, very organized, neat and correct in achieving high standards that she established for herself based upon her childhood development. Even her history of relationships with boys and men reflected stability. She dated her high school boyfriend for four years, dated her college sweetheart for five years and then got married. There were no indications from her history of intimate relationships to suggest any sexual deviancy or social deviancy that would fit into a paradigm of stalking.

At age 14 Rose Spano knew that she wanted to be an attorney. Her mother at a young age picked this career for her daughter and she followed in this career path to date. Attending the University of Florida, exposed to the opportunity for distraction did not detour from her academic goals of achieving a 3.75 GPA and assuming leadership positions such as Vice President and Secretary of Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society for three years. Never straying from her sense of responsibility she was motivated to practice as an attorney and complete her studies as rapidly as possible. She completed law school at the University of Florida in 2 1/2 years by taking double credits. She has practiced law on a full time basis other than maternity leave.

The results of the computer scored and interpreted MMPI was done in Minneapolis. "This client's MMPI-2 clinical profile is within normal limits and no clinical diagnosis is provided. . . . Her validity scale configuration suggests that she complied with the test taking task enough to provide valid interpretable scores" (Page 3 of the MMPI-Forensic Report).

This test evaluates psychopathology as well as substance abuse. There were no peak elevations or even areas of concern identified within each of these two areas of nosology. The MMPI results were consistent with the Health Concerns Questionnaire in that the only items indicating stress were related to her ongoing litigation in Family Court (e.g.) custody disputes, financial, and legal problems, worry and frustration.

The Assessment Scale for Potential Violence offers qualitative as well as quantitative interpretation. Qualitatively, there simply were no factors of any kind to point in a direction of potential violence. In fact, her quantitative score was so low that of a score of # 5 with a ceiling of 114 points also depicts no risk factors for potential violence whether domestic, social or any other context for that matter.

The Parent-Child Relationship Inventory was computer scored with the results of the validity indicators measuring that this test was a true reflection of her parenting skills versus the potential of the profile scales showing areas of difficulty and disturbances. There were seven specific aspects of parenting evaluated and she showed appropriate parenting in all areas with exceptional scores in four categories which was consistent with the other data of her parenting competency.

Parenting skills and Mother children relationships is another dimension to measure overall mental functioning. Considering the stress created by the father viciously taking every opportunity to alienate the mother from her daughter, disrupt her visitation schedule and terminate her parental rights attest to a true study of her endurance and mental stability with the on going threats generated by the adversarial position of the father.

App. 20

Without elaborating on the particulars of her domestic case, we can make reference to Solomon's wisdom and understand that a father displaying this kind of destructive manipulation is certainly not in the best interest of a child who needs a healthy relationship with her caring and loving mother.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

Questions that lead to this examination addressed the matters of mental disturbance, substance abuse, stalking and domestic violence.

The results of the evaluation found no evidence, signs nor any symptoms in any of the above categories. In fact, the examination showed a relatively high functioning adult female under conditions of sever [sic] stress, managing her daily life functions most adeptly and adaptively in every aspect of life.

This evaluator also had the unique opportunity of observing Ms. Spano as an attorney, pro se, in her own family law litigation. I observed her presenting the chronology and case history, and her performance, both during direct and cross examination in my deposition taken on March 4, 2004 and my trial testimony taken on March 10, 2004.

There never was a question in this evaluation of her competency, incapacity, or impaired judgment as she exemplified high standards in conducting herself as an ethical and skillful attorney.

App. 21

EMERGENCY MOTION FOR TEMPORARY INJUNCTIVE RELIEF AGAINST THE ACTIONS OF THE FLORIDA BAR AND/OR THEIR EMPLOYEES

COMES NOW the Respondent, Rose J. Spano and files this Emergency Motion for Temporary Injunctive Relief against the actions of the Florida Bar and/or its Employees and as grounds therefore would state:

1. On March 9, 2004 the Florida Bar filed a Petition for Contempt and Order to Show Cause why the Respondent, Rose J. Spano, Esquire should not be held in Contempt of Court for allegedly not complying with Judge Rapp's Amended Report of Referee.
2. In that Petition filed on March 9, 2004, the Florida Bar requested that the matter be heard with a 1/2 day trial date. (see Exhibit "A" attached and incorporated herein).
3. Not only was the matter not set for the 1/2 day trial as required by Florida Law, the Florida Bar misrepresented to this Honorable Court that the Respondent was not going to comply with this Court's Order or comply with the Referee's recommendation that a psychological and substance abuse evaluation be done.

App. 30

4. In fact, after the Respondent paid the costs to the Florida Bar, the Florida Bar refused to file a satisfaction of costs judgment until August 10, 2004, some seven months after the costs had been paid, presumably with the intent to injure the reputation and credibility of the Respondent.
5. In addition to refusing to file a satisfaction of cost judgment, the Florida Bar refused to acknowledge the report of Dr. Richard Sauber, a board certified psychologist which had been transmitted to the Florida Bar by Postal Express Mail on March 20, 2004 certifying the Respondent's compliance with both this Court's Order and the Report of the Referee. (see Exhibit "B" Postal Express Receipt attached and incorporated herein).
6. Then, the Florida Bar filed a Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings which was not received by either the Respondent or her attorney, Alvin Entin. (See Exhibit "C" attached and incorporated herein).
7. Finally, on August 16, 2004, when Respondent filed her Petition to Vacate this Honorable Court's Order of Suspension dated August 6, 2004 for a variety of reasons that included the Respondent [sic] right to be heard on her compliance with this Court's Order, compliance with Judge Rapp's Report of Referee and the Florida Bar's failure to follow the Rules

Regulating the Florida Bar, the Florida Bar and/or its administrative secretary continued to send the Respondent notices of delinquency stating that the Florida Bar would seek additional discipline, if not paid.

8. Since this matter is properly before the Court, the Respondent, Rose J. Spano. Esquire, respect request [sic] this Court to issue an Emergency Order Temporarily Enjoining the Florida Bar and/or its employees from taking any further action against the Respondent.
9. Respondent would further ask this Court to Stay its Order of August 6, 2004 until such time that the matter can properly be heard or vacated.

WHEREFORE, based upon the foregoing grounds the Respondent respectfully request [sic] the Honorable Court Grant Respondent's Emergency Motion for Temporary Injunctive Relief and Stay its Order of August 6, 2004.

RESPONDENT'S VERIFIED MOTION TO STRIKE AND VACATE THE FLORIDA BAR'S
PETITION FOR CONTEMPT AND ORDER
TO SHOW CAUSE DATED OCTOBER 12, 2004

Respondent, Rose J. Spano, hereby files her Verified Response to the Florida Bar's Petition for Contempt and Order to Show Cause dated October 12, 2004 and in support thereof says:

1. The Florida Rules of Discipline for the Rules Regulating the Florida Bar require that certain procedural and substantive rules be followed prior to the Florida Bar's filing of a Petition for Contempt and Order to Show Cause dated October 12, 2004.
2. In addition to the Florida Bar's responsibility to follow the Rules of Discipline, Rules Regulating the Florida Bar, the Florida Bar must also follow the Rules of Professional Conduct in its prosecution of an accused attorney.
3. In this case and others, the Florida Bar failed to follow the procedural and substantive Rules of Discipline, Rules Regulating the Florida Bar and the Rules of Professional

Conduct, Rules Regulating the Florida Bar in the following manner:

- (a) On March 6, 2004, Kenneth Lawrence Marvin, Bar Counsel for the Florida Bar was notified that the Referee in this case found that the Respondent was not suffering from any kind of substance abuse, did not recommend suspension or disbarment but recommended that the Respondent complete a substance abuse and psychological evaluation.
- (b) On March 20, 2004, Kenneth Lawrence Marvin, Bar Counsel for the Florida Bar was notified by Dr. Richard Sauber, P.H. D. that the psychological evaluation conducted on Ms. Spano indicated that there was no evidence, signs nor any symptoms of mental disturbances, substance abuse, stalking or domestic violence. Exhibit "A"
- (c) On August 16, 2004 in accordance with the Rules of Discipline for Rules Regulating the Florida Bar, the Florida Bar was notified that the Respondent filed a Petition to Vacate the Court's Order of Suspension, which would toll the Order of Suspension due to the Florida Bar's failure to follow the Rules of Discipline, Rules Regulating the Florida Bar. Rule 3-7.2 (f) and (1) and (2) (2002).
- (d) The Florida Bar failed to serve the Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings upon the Respondent in accordance with Rule

App. 40

3-7.4(p) of the Florida Rules of Discipline,
Rules regulating the Florida Bar.

- (e) The Florida Bar's Petition for Contempt and Order to Show Cause was not referred to the Circuit Court Judge who had jurisdiction to determine if the Florida Bar's Petition for Contempt and Order to show Cause was appropriate under Florida law. Rule 3-7.11(f) of the Rules of Discipline, Rules Regulating the Florida Bar.
- (f) And despite, the Florida Bar having been advised that there were genuine issues of material fact and disputed issues of law which concerned the Florida Bar's Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings, a tolled Order of Suspension, the Florida Bar continued to file a Petition for Contempt and Order to Show Cause dated October 12, 2004.
- (g) Furthermore, in the Florida Bar's Petition filed on October 12, 2004, the Florida Bar failed to inform this Honorable Court of the Respondent's Petition to Vacate the Order of Suspension, The Respondent's Emergency Motion for Injunctive Relief Against the Actions of the Florida Bar, misinformed the Court that Pleadings were being forwarded to the Respondent's Home address and interfered with the Respondent's pending Appeal with the Third District Court of Appeal.

WHEREFORE, based on the foregoing grounds that The Florida Bar has failed to comply with the various provisions of the disciplinary rules, the Respondent respectfully requests this Honorable Court to Vacate the Order of Suspension dated August 6, 2004 and Strike the Florida Bar's Petition for Contempt and Order to Show Cause dated October 12, 2004.

App. 41
