CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY PROVISIONS INVOLVED

The fifth Amendment is involved in this case, which states that property can't be deprived from anyone, without fair process of the law. The Florida law call for all marital property to be divided equally. The lower court gave away non-marital property which goes against the fifth Amendment, and makes the lower court decision a violation of the fifth admment.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The Case involve my ex-wife Trudie Roundtree and myself Tony Littles. I own a house with my mother some four year before our marriage. Now In 2004 March me and Trudie Roundtree set married. We purchase a house together, which is located at 131 Bob Thomas Circle. Now in 2014, I decide to sell the house which me and my mother own. I take the money from that house, and purchase a house down the street from our marriage home of 131 Bob Thomas Circle. The house I purchase with me and my mother money was 157 Bob Thomas Circle. Now I Decide to Put the home that me and mother purchase on the market to sell, to try to get the money back, which was invested to purchase the home. Now my ex-wife decide she want the house, and use the police to break into the house, then she file for divorce and been living in the house for over three year without paying any rent, or taxes. So ~~when~~ so to divorce court and the Judge award her the house with her basicaly paying nothing for the house the Judge also didn't equally divide the marital asset. She allow my ex-wife and her mother to keep land that was marital asset.
