QUESTION(S) PRESENTED

- ① Why was it allowed to use my 2004 conviction to get a 2013 conviction?
- ② The trial court willingly allowed evidence that it knew was not of a 2013 charge why?
- ③ Why are there so much of a misconduct to ~~prosecute~~ prosecute a person that have a prior conviction.
- ④

CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY PROVISIONS INVOLVED

The Constitution of the United States clearly states in it's Amendment V that No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

Therefore as in this claim the claimed defendants pronounces they are under immunity and proclaim the bill of such, but the question of the fact is (why if a person that had a prior conviction it can be used against you even if the constitution and statues say it is not to be done?)

Since the defendants wants to declare immunity, it is discretionary of the judicial to rule as such Truesdale v. Combs 33 Ohio St. 186, (1878), Childs v. Voris, 4 Ohio N.P. 67, 6 Ohio Dec. 75 (C.P. Summit Cty. (1897); Voll v. Steele, 141 Ohio St. 293, 47 N.E. 2d. 991 (1943); Farrell v. State, 204 Misc. 148, 123 N.Y. S. 2d 29 (Ct. Cl 1953); Brinkman v. Drolesbaugh, 97 Ohio St. 171, 119 N.E. 451 (1918); Maxey v. Gather, 94 Ohio App. 115, 51 Ohio Ops. 310, 114 N.E. 2d. (Summit Cty. 1952).

Furthermore since the waiver of immunity is granted in Courts of Common Pleas, however in the Court of Claims it brings a special remedy see Barrett v. State 220 N.Y. 423, 116 N.E. 99 (1917), and Fishbein v. State 204 Misc. 151, 120 N.Y. S.2d 92 (Ct. Cl. 1953), and Chikofsky v. State, 203 Misc. 646, 117 N.Y. S. 2d 26 (Ct. Cl. 1952)

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

In the case of State of Ohio v. Ray Cobia it was found by the Hamilton County Court of Appeals that the state was not to convict the as he was convicted because the supposedly victim testimony was less than creditable and the fact that the State brought the victim and investigating officer into the 2013 case to testify of the acts of Ray Cobia was a violation of the Criminal Rule of Evidence 404(B). Yes Ray Cobia preceded to trial with the case and the prosecutor introduced the prior conviction not to show a character of Ray Cobia, but introduce the prior conviction as a new charge to be added to the indictment of the 2013 charges, this tactic was objected by the trial defense attorney, however the trial judge overruled the motion and further stated he was allowing the prosecution to use the tactic. And it was never stated to the jury to view the prior conviction as a character of Ray Cobia, and when the defense stated that it was a violation of Criminal Rule 29 it was later overruled and was stated by the trial judge that the evidence that the prosecutor introduced is valuable and was needed to be admitted in to evidence against the defendant. Ray Cobia was convicted not of any of the charges of 2013, but was found guilty of the 2004 charges of his prior conviction. To support Ray Cobia claim in this case the court is requested to view US v. Hossein Afshari et al 0250355, Miranda v. Arizona 384 U.S. 436, Mapp v. Ohio 367 U.S. 643, and Terry v. Ohio 392 U.S. 1.

Unlike in your normal prosecuted case the supposedly victim was less than that of a creditable witness and due to the fact that the prosecutor knew that the supposedly victim was not creditable that does not mean you are allowed to manipulate the judicial system to your advantage.

REASONS FOR GRANTING THE PETITION

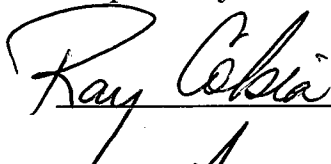

It is fully requested that this honorable court would grant this said petition on the ground(s) of, but no limited to the following:

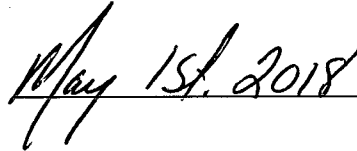

- A. The lower courts fail to adhere to the constitution of our laws.
- B. The lower courts refuse to serve as the corrective mediation as it is prescribe to do.
- C. The Plaintiff Ray Cobia fully respect that this court is more than viewable to view and govern itself with constitution and statues to rule as such.
- D. Finally the Plaintiff Ray Cobia set his trust and well being in the view of this court.

CONCLUSION

The petition for a writ of certiorari should be granted.

Respectfully submitted,
