"NEGLECT"

Dear Mr. Kilpatrick,

The Clerk's Office recently received correspondence from you, which included what appears to be a complaint of judicial misconduct or disability alleging wrongdoing by employees of the Supreme Court's Office of the Clerk. After reviewing your submission, we have determined that this complaint is directed toward an individual not subject to the Rules for Judicial-Conduct and Judicial-Disability Proceedings ("RJCP"). See RJCP 4.

The RJCP covers only judges of the United States courts of appeals, judges of the United States district courts, judges of the United States bankruptcy courts, United States magistrate judges, and judges of the courts specified in 28 U.S.C. § 363 (including but not limited to judges of the United States Court of Federal Claims). RJCP 4. The RJCP further provides that if a court "receives a complaint about a person not holding an office described in Rule 4, the clerk must not accept the complaint under these Rules." RJCP 8(c). Accordingly, the Clerk's Office must reject your complaint because it does not name a judge covered by the RJCP.

For more information regarding these rules and procedures, you may visit our website at http://www.uscfc.uscourts.gov/Judicial_Misconduct. Please find your submission enclosed.

Sincerely,

Meg Beardsley
