1. On April 9th, 2019, I, Zachary Taylor Daniel, was asked to come down to Madison County, Florida by the court to appear at a hearing the next day about the Petitioner, Betty Smith's, possible Contempt of Court charge.
2. Once I got there on April 10th, a Victim's Advocate and Sheriff's Deputies had to physically remove my son from the Petitioner's house because she was refusing to turn him back over to me even though I have primary custody.
3. The hearing was held at 4:00 on April 10th in the Madison County Courthouse. After listening to testimony from everyone involved, including a Sheriff's Deputy, and seeing new pictures that were taken of my son, Judge Melissa Olin decided to take away the Petitioner's unsupervised visitations and order that she only be allowed to visit my son under supervision at a center here in Tennessee. I then was able to bring my son home. He went back to school on the morning of April 12th, and is doing well.
4. We would all like to get on with helping my son heal from the Petitioner's emotional abuse, and we'd like to start living our lives instead of always having to deal with the Petitioner's constant filings.
