

No. 18-8835

In the Supreme Court of the United States

Sabrina D Davis,
Petitioner

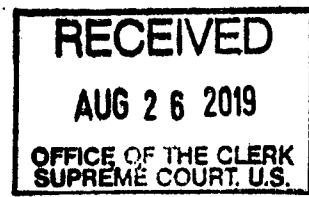

v.

Kia Motors America, Inc/Kia Motors of America
Respondent

Request for Reconsideration

The Judiciary Act of 1925 conflicts with the Constitution because this Act allows the lower courts to routinely deny constitutional rights because the lower courts are granted the power to defy rulings established by the Supreme Court. The Constitution did not grant this authority to the inferior courts. The Judiciary Act allows lower court to issue conflicting ruling from the same court and the same judges resulting in a biased and unjust court system that promote outright violation of the 5th Amendment by refusing to apply fairness and laws in reaching court decisions.

I am also asking this court to accept an amicus curiae brief from the Federal Trade Commission to present pleadings on my behalf. If the courts are limiting the protections and the enforcement of laws passed by Congress and granted to the Federal Trade Commission, then consumers and the Federal Trade Commission needs to be aware of what laws and protections the courts will not enforce.

I present this request for reconsideration in good faith and not for delay. I presented issues not clearly stated in my submitted petition and I am submitting this request on the grounds that the court my consider issues not considered or mention in my earlier petition. These issues are a concern for every consumer in America and I hope and pray that I have presented my concerns and issues that will help the court.
