Adam Strege ~~Appellee~~ Petitioner

Writ Of Certiorari

Mailed 9/11/2019
And 9/25/2019

Question Presented is 18 USCS 4246 4248 4241(d) Unconstitutionally Vague lacking definitive standards by failing to apprise persons of Ordinary intelligence what a "Mental Disease" is and "Reasonable Cause" zero definitions of what's Prohibited Conduct is in the Psychiatrist, FBI and Judges Sound Discretion encourages arbitrary and discriminatory Enforcement to determine Reasonable Cause and Substantial Risk with no Explanation 95% of anyone in the World Could be Found incompetent would deter anyone from representing themselves in Court.

Question Presented Does the Constitution allow Prison Gangs to harmfully Drug most all Prisoners food the Day before they go to Court, Given Free Coffee and food from other Prisoners Lunch Trays.

Question Presented does 18 USCS 4246 4248 4241(d) violate the Constitution by delegating too much discretion to Police, FBI, Psychologist, Prison Guards and Judges to order Vagrants, Incompetent or Competent People to Comply with 100% of anything Imaginable, Caused by Zero Definition of "Conduct" and Reasonable Cause is in ~~everyones~~ Sound discretion in every Case "Unlimited Discretion" is Unconstitutional because 4241(d) has no Safeguards, No Minimal Standards to Guide Law Enforcement, Judges and Psychiatrist Unlimited Discretion in every Case 4246 4248 4241(d) is invalid in all its Applications

Justice Breyer concluded that the ordinance violates the Constitution because it delegates too much discretion to the Police, and it is not saved by its limitations requiring that the Police reasonably believe that the Person ordered to disperse (or someone accompanying him) is a gang member, and that he remain in the public place "with no apparent purpose." Nor does it violate this Court's usual rules governing facial challenges to forbid the City to apply the Unconstitutional Ordinance in this Case. There is no way to distinguish in the ordinance's terms between one application of Unlimited police discretion and another. It is Unconstitutional not because a policeman applied his discretion wisely or poorly in a particular case, but rather because the Policeman enjoys too much discretion in every case. And if every application of the ordinance represents an exercise of unlimited discretion, then the ordinance is invalid in all its applications. SEE Lanzetta v New Jersey, 306 US 451,453,83 L Ed 888,59 S Ct 618. Countrary to Justice Scalia's suggestion, the ordinance does not escape facial invalidation simply because it may provide fair warning to some individual defendants that it prohibits the Conduct in which they are engaged. This ordinance is Unconstittional, not because it provides insufficient notice, but because it does not provide sufficent standards to guide the Police SEE Coates v Cincinatti, 402 US 611,614, 29 L Ed 2d 214,91 S Ct 1686.

Q Question Pres^ented dose the Constitution allow the Pollice Report and FBI to arrest Adam Strege for making a recorded Phone Call to a Social Security Adminstrative Law Judge "ALJ"Office Phone Transcripts the FBI and District Court never listen to the Phone call and Never Provide me The Transcripts will Prove I said that all Police Stations the Police are untruthfully saying people said something incompetent and aresting people fore doing 100% nothing wrong and where Putting there Human Cadaver Hearts In Nuclear reactors that Caused the World Trade Center Colapse by 4241(d) Finds anyone Incompetent the Government dosent like and Put's there Morgue Heart in Nuclear Fuel Put in Grocery Store Food and Feeding Nuclear atoms to All Nature, Dead, Resting People, Satin, its Legal to have God Loves you Feed nuclear atoms and Heroin Like if a Meteor hit the Earth and exterminated all Earth People, God Loves Compleatly should not make or allow inteligent life in space so nothing is made or Invented to Harm Nature God Loves you to Feed the Sunlight by 100% repeatedly only think God Loves the Sunlight Compleatly while making love visulize and ass and send all of earth to Africa.

Headnote:[2]

Federal law forbids certain people--such as convicted felons, persons committed to mental institutions, and drug users--to ship, possess, and receive firearms. 18 U.S.C.S. § 922(g). In general, the law punishes violation of this ban by up to 10 years' imprisonment. 18 U.S.C.S. § 924(a)(2). But if the violator has three or more earlier convictions for a "serious drug offense" or a "violent felony," the Armed Career Criminal Act increases his prison term to a minimum of 15 years and a maximum of life. 18 U.S.C.S. § 924(e)(1). "(ii) is burglary, arson, or extortion, involves use of explosives, or otherwise involves conduct that presents a serious potential risk of physical injury to another." (Scalia, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. J., and Ginsburg, Breyer, Sotomayor, and Kagan, JJ.) Conduct like this is not in the Text of

CRIMINAL STATUTE -- VAGUENESS -- DUE PROCESS and not becuse they mite do something

Headnote:[4]

The Fifth Amendment provides that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law. The Government violates this guarantee by taking away someone's life, liberty, or property under a criminal law so vague that it fails to give ordinary people fair notice of the conduct it punishes, or so standardless that it invites arbitrary enforcement. The prohibition of vagueness in criminal statutes is a well-recognized requirement, consonant alike with ordinary notions of fair play and the settled rules of law, and a statute that flouts it violates the first essential of due process. These principles apply not only to statutes defining elements of crimes, but also to statutes fixing sentences. (Scalia, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. J., and Ginsburg, Breyer, Sotomayor, and Kagan, JJ.)

ARMED CAREER CRIMINAL ACT -- CATEGORICAL APPROACH -- VIOLENT FELONY

Headnote:[5] Fair Notice Federal Judges deny 100% of everything

The Armed Career Criminal Act requires courts to use a framework known as the categorical approach when deciding whether an offense is burglary, arson, or extortion, involves use of explosives, or otherwise involves conduct that presents a serious potential risk of physical injury to another. Under the categorical approach, a court assesses whether a crime qualifies as a violent felony in terms of how the law defines the offense and not in terms of how an individual offender might have committed it on a particular occasion. (Scalia, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. J., and Ginsburg, Breyer, Sotomayor, and Kagan,

The ACCA only seems Vague because Sentence Enhancements don't review enough information. Almost everything is Unconstitutionally Vague 4241(d)

crime "has as an element the use of physical force," the residual clause asks whether the crime "involves conduct" that presents too much risk of physical injury. What is more, the inclusion of burglary and extortion among the enumerated offenses preceding the residual clause confirms that the court's task also goes beyond evaluating the chances that the physical acts that make up the crime will injure someone. The act of making an extortionate demand or breaking and entering into someone's home does not, in and of itself, normally cause physical injury. Rather, risk of injury arises because the extortionist might engage in violence after making his demand or because the burglar might confront a resident in the home after breaking and entering. The indeterminacy of the wide-ranging inquiry required by the residual clause both denies fair notice to defendants and invites arbitrary enforcement by judges. (Scalia, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. J., and Ginsburg, Breyer, Sotomayor, and Kagan, JJ.)

A Prison Guard, Inmate, Psychiatrist or Judge can all increase a Mentally Comitted persons Sentence with Zero Guidelines like nobody cares if a ENHANCEMENT OF SENTENCE -- DUE PROCESS Incompetent Person spends 1 to 15 Headnote:[7] Years in Prison is decided by How nice you are to Doctors Increasing a defendant's sentence under the residual clause of 18 U.S.C.S. § 924(e)(2)(B) denies due process of law. (Scalia, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. J., and Ginsburg, Breyer, Sotomayor, and Kagan, JJ.)

Giving Incompetent People tickets fore noting or Inceasing there Sentence Has 100% no Due Process of law to a Class of People Cant Represent RESIDUAL CLAUSE -- VAGUENESS When all Incompetent People get no Record Headnote:[8]

In the context of 18 U.S.C.S. § 924(e)(2)(B), two features of the residual clause conspire to make it unconstitutionally vague. In the first place, the residual clause leaves grave uncertainty about how to estimate the risk posed by a crime. It ties the judicial assessment of risk to a judicially imagined "ordinary case" of a crime, not to real-world facts or statutory elements. (Scalia, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. J., and Ginsburg, Breyer, Sotomayor, and Kagan, JJ.) Estimated Risk of someone found Incompetent gets no Court Hearing so the next Judicial assment of Risk has no real-world facts of Interaction with Incompetent Prisoners RESIDUAL CLAUSE -- UNCERTAINTY -- VIOLENT FELONY

In the context of 18 U.S.C.S. § 924(e)(2)(B), the residual clause leaves uncertainty about how much risk it takes for a crime to qualify as a violent felony. It is one thing to apply an imprecise "serious potential risk" standard to real-world facts; it is quite another to apply it to a judge-imagined abstraction. By asking whether the crime "otherwise involves conduct that presents a serious potential risk," moreover, the residual clause forces courts to interpret "serious potential risk" in light of the four enumerated crimes--burglary, arson, extortion, and crimes involving the use of explosives. These offenses are far from clear in respect to the degree of risk each poses. (Scalia, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. J., and Ginsburg, Breyer, Sotomayor, and Kagan, JJ.) (192 L. In the context of 18 U.S.C.S. § 924(e)(2)(B), by combining indeterminacy about how to measure the risk posed by a crime with indeterminacy about how much risk it takes for the crime to qualify as a violent felony, the residual clause produces more unpredictability and arbitrariness than the Due Process Judicial precedent holds that the due process clause prohibits the government from taking away someone's life, liberty, or property under a criminal law so vague that it fails to give ordinary people fair notice of the conduct it punishes, or so standardless that it invites arbitrary enforcement. Applying this standard, case law invalidates two kinds of criminal laws as void for vagueness: laws that define criminal offenses and laws that fix the permissible sentences for criminal offenses. (Thomas, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. J., and Kennedy, Breyer, and Alito. The void-for-vagueness doctrine requires that a penal statute define the criminal offense with sufficient definiteness that ordinary people can understand what conduct is prohibited and in a manner that does not encourage arbitrary and discriminatory enforcement. Unlike the Armed Career Criminal Act, the advisory United States Sentencing Guidelines do not fix the permissible range of sentences. To the contrary, they merely guide the exercise of a court's discretion in choosing an appropriate sentence within the statutory range. Accordingly, the Guidelines are not subject to a vagueness challenge under the due process clause. The residual clause in U.S. Sentencing Guidelines Manual § 4B1.2(a)(2) therefore is not void for vagueness. (Thomas, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. J., and Kennedy, Breyer, and Alito. JJ.) Because they merely guide the District Courts' discretion, the United States Sentencing Guidelines are not amenable to a vagueness challenge. The system of purely discretionary sentencing that predated the Guidelines was constitutionally permissible. If a system of unfettered discretion is not unconstitutionally vague, then it is difficult to see how the present system of guided discretion could be. (Thomas, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. RESIDUAL CLAUSE -- VAGUENESS

As a general matter, the U.S. Supreme Court does not doubt the constitutionality of laws that call for the application of a qualitative standard such as "substantial risk" to real-world conduct; the law is full of instances where a man's fate depends on his estimating rightly some matter of degree. In the context of 18 U.S.C.S. § 924(e)(2)(B), the residual clause, however, requires application of the "serious potential risk" standard to an idealized ordinary case of the crime. Because the elements necessary to determine the imaginary ideal are uncertain both in nature and degree of effect, this abstract inquiry offers significantly less predictability than one that deals with the actual, not with an imaginary condition other than the facts. (Scalia, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. J., and Ginsburg, Breyer, Sotomayor, and Kagan, JJ.)

SENTENCING -- CATEGORICAL APPROACH 100% Never Review the Evidence

Headnote:[16]

The Armed Career Criminal Act refers to "a person who has three previous convictions" for--not a person who has committed--three previous violent felonies or drug offenses. This emphasis on convictions indicates that Congress intended the sentencing court to look only to the fact that the defendant had been convicted of crimes falling within certain categories, and not to the facts underlying the prior convictions. The U.S. Supreme Court also has pointed out the utter impracticability of requiring a sentencing court to reconstruct, long after the original conviction, the conduct underlying that Laws that regulate persons or entities must be sufficiently clear that those enforcing the law do not act in an arbitrary or discriminatory way. An unconstitutionally vague law invites arbitrary enforcement in this sense if it leaves judges and jurors free to decide, without any legally fixed standards, what is prohibited and what is not in each particular case or permits them to prescribe the sentences or sentencing range available. (Thomas, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. J., and Kennedy, Breyer, and Alito. JJ.) {197 L. In fact, the United States Sentencing Guidelines generally offer more concrete advice in imposing a particular sentence and make it easier to review whether a court has abused its substantial discretion. There is no sound reason to conclude that the Guidelines, but not § 3553(a)'s other sentencing factors, are amenable to vagueness review. (Thomas, J., joined by Roberts, Ch. Petitioner Beckles was convicted of possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, 18 U.S. C. § 922(g)(1).

His presentence investigation report concluded that he was eligible for a sentencing enhancement as a "career offender" under United States Sentencing Guideline § 4B1.1(a) because his offense qualified as a "crime of violence" under § 4B1.2(a)'s residual {197 L. Ed. 2d 148} clause. The District Court sentenced petitioner as a career offender, and the Eleventh Circuit affirmed. Petitioner then filed a postconviction motion to vacate his sentence, arguing that his offense was not a "crime of violence." The District Court denied the motion, and the Eleventh Circuit affirmed. Petitioner next filed a petition for a writ of certiorari from this Court. While his petition was pending, this Court held that the identically worded residual clause in the Armed Career Criminal Act of 1984 (ACCA), § 924(e)(2)(B), was unconstitutionally vague, Johnson v. United States, 576 U.S. ___, 135 S. Ct. 2551, 192 L. Ed. 2d 569. The Court vacated and remanded petitioner's case in light of Johnson. In Jackson v. Indiana The Supreme Court Opinion Held that the accused commitment (1) violated the equal protection clause because he was subject to a more leient Commitment Standard and a more stringent standard of release than those Generally applicable to all others not charged with offenses and (2) Violated the due process clause because he was indefinetly committed soley on account of his incompetency to stand trial without a substantial probability he would ever be able to participate fully in a Trial.
