STATEMENT OF THE CASE

In 2012, petitioner pleaded guilty to aggravated murder, aggravated burglary, and felonious assault. The trial court sentenced petitioner to an aggregate term of life imprisonment without the possibility of parole for fifty-two years. The Ohio Court of Appeals affirmed, and the Ohio Supreme Court declined petitioner's appeal for review.

In September 2016, petitioner filed a Section 2254 habeas petition claiming that he received ineffective assistance of counsel during plea negotiations. Specifically, petitioner claimed that his attorney misinformed him that the trial judge intended to impose a life sentence in which he would be eligible for parole after no more than thirty-five years. Further more, petitioner claimed that had he known the judge was going to impose the functional equivalent of a term of life imprisonment without parole, he would not have pleaded guilty, and instead, would have proceeded to trial. The Ohio Court of Appeals rejected this claim in petitioner's direct appeal, finding that there was no reasonable probability that the outcome of the proceedings would have been different absent counsel's allegedly erroneous advice because, during the change-of-plea colloquy, the trial judge correctly advised petitioner, and he understood, that he would not be eligible for parole for fifty-two years. Subsequently, the district court concluded: (1) that the state court's decision was not contrary to, or an unreasonable application of, Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668 (1984); and (2) the state court's decision was not based on an unreasonable determination of the facts. The district court denied petitioner's petition and declined to issue a certificate of appealability. Petitioner filed a motion to the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals for a certificate of appealability and the Court of Appeals denied his motion.

REASONS FOR GRANTING THE PETITION

The Court should grant this petition so a determination can be made as to what constitutes effective and ineffective assistance of counsel when representing a criminal defendant in plea negotiations where counsel is supposed to be negotiating a plea deal that gives his client a substantial strategic benefit.

Why would defense counsel make a plea bargain that failed to give his client a substantial strategic benefit? Why would defense counsel make a plea deal that failed to lower the degree of felony that's on the original indictment if the sentence is left completely up to the judge? In this situation what is the defendant getting in return for the plea? Why not go to trial?

CONCLUSION

The petition for a writ of certiorari should be granted.

Respectfully submitted,
