OPINIONS BELOW

United States v. Lee, No. 18-1687, at *9 (7th Cir.)

JURISDICTION

The petition for rehearing en banc was denied on September 11, 2019.

STATUTORY PROVISIONS INVOLVED

2 CFR 200.501 (f) ... The payments received for goods or services ... are not Federal awards.

16 CFR 240.4 - Definition of customer. A customer is any person who buys for resale directly from the seller, or the seller's agent or broker.

STATEMENT

The grand jury heard that vendor of the municipalities violated ARRA and the indictment alleges ARRA funds fraud and ARRA violation, which is read against law and does not invoke jurisdiction.

However, the government abandoned all subjects of the indictment, Alter Ego, Contract with municipality, ARRA funds fraud. Surprisingly, the district court granted the government motion to strike paragraph #10 of the indictment, ARRA funds fraud.

More surprisingly, Seventh Circuit returned to the frivolous indictment and affirmed the sentence. Specifically, Seventh Circuit ruled that (1) a municipality is a customer of its sub-vendor, and (2) a sub-vendor of municipalities was sub-awarded Recovery Act funds from the municipalities, which is frivolous ruling rooted from the frivolous indictment.

REASONS FOR GRANTING THE PETITION

All legal proceedings including the indictment are frivolous and violate Extradition Treaty. All actions of the courts and the prosecutors are crime.

IMPORTANCE

The frivolous criminal prosecution is a treason against the United States.

CONCLUSION

The petition for a writ of certiorari should be granted.

Respectfully submitted.
