USDC No. 4:11-CR-196-7

Before DAVIS, SMITH, and HIGGINSON, Circuit Judges

PER CURIAM:*

Christina Ann Whichard appeals the district court's revocation of a previously imposed term of supervised release and its imposition of a 12-month term of imprisonment. Whichard was subject to mandatory revocation and imprisonment under 18 U.S.C. § 3583(g)(4) for having more than three positive drug tests over the course of one year. She argues that, because § 3583(g) does not require a jury determination under a beyond-a-reasonable-doubt standard, * Pursuant to 5TH CIR. R. 47.5, the court has determined that this opinion should not be published and is not precedent except under the limited circumstances set forth in 5TH CIR. R. 47.5.4.

No. 19-10486

it is unconstitutional in light of the Supreme Court’s recent decision in United States v. Haymond, 139 S. Ct. 2369, 2380 (2019).

As Whichard concedes, review is for plain error. To prevail on plain error review, she must show a forfeited error that is clear or obvious and that affects her substantial rights. See Puckett v. United States, 556 U.S. 129, 135 (2009). If she makes such a showing, this court has the discretion to correct the error but only if it “seriously affect[s] the fairness, integrity or public reputation of judicial proceedings.” Id. (alteration in original) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted).

The decision in Haymond addressed the constitutionality of § 3583(k) of the supervised release statute, and the plurality opinion specifically stated that it was not expressing any view on the constitutionality of other subsections of the statute, including § 3583(g). See Haymond, 139 S. Ct. at 2382 n.7. Because there currently is no case law from either the Supreme Court or this court extending Haymond to § 3583(g) revocations, we conclude that there is no error that was plain. See United States v. Escalante-Reyes, 689 F.3d 415, 418 (5th Cir. 2012) (en banc); United States v. Gonzalez, 792 F.3d 534, 538 (5th Cir. 2015).

As Whichard has not demonstrated that the district court committed plain error, her revocation and term of imprisonment are AFFIRMED.

Any unpaid balance of the restitution ordered by this judgment shall be paid in full 60 days prior to the termination of the term of supervised release.
8. The defendant shall not be employed in any fiduciary capacity or any position allowing access to credit or personal financial information of others, unless the defendant's employer is fully aware of the offense of conviction and with the approval of the probation officer.

10. The defendant shall participate in a program (inpatient and/or outpatient) approved by the probation officer for treatment of narcotic or drug or alcohol dependency that will include testing for the detection of substance abuse, abstaining from the use of alcohol and all other intoxicants during and after completion of treatment and contributing to the costs of services rendered at the rate of at least $50 per month.

NO. 4:11-CR-196-A(07)

APR 18 2019
CLERK, U.S. DISTRICT COURT
By _____ DeputyJUDGMENT OF REVOCATION AND SENTENCE

Came on to be heard, as contemplated by Fed. R. Crim. P. 32.1, the motion of United States of America to revoke the term of supervised release imposed on defendant, CHRISTINA ANN WHICHARD. After having considered the grounds of the government's motion, defendant's admissions, argument of counsel, and defendant's statement, the court has determined that the term of supervised release imposed on defendant should be revoked and that defendant should be sentenced to a term of imprisonment of 12 months and to serve a 24-month term of supervised release upon discharge from prison.

The court finds and concludes that:

- (a) Defendant was given, in a timely manner, written notice of her alleged violations of the term of supervised release upon which the motion to revoke is based;
- (b) The motion to revoke the term of supervised release was served on defendant in a timely manner prior to the hearing;

(c) There was a disclosure to defendant, and her attorney, of the evidence against defendant; and

(d) The hearing was held within a reasonable time.

Other findings and conclusions of the court were stated by the court into the record at the hearing. The court adopts all such findings and conclusions as part of this judgment.

In reaching the conclusions and making the determinations and rulings announced at the hearing, and as stated in this judgment, the court considered all relevant factors set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a) that are proper for consideration in a revocation context.

The court ORDERS, ADJUDGES, and DECREES that the term of supervised release, as provided by the Judgment in a Criminal Case signed May 31, 2012, imposed on defendant, CHRISTINA ANN WHICHARD, be, and is hereby, revoked.

The court further ORDERS, ADJUDGES, and DECREES that defendant, CHRISTINA ANN WHICHARD, be, and is hereby, committed to the custody of the United States Bureau of Prisons to be imprisoned for a term of 12 months, to be followed by a term of supervised release of 24 months.

The court further ORDERS, ADJUDGES, and DECREES that, while on supervised release, defendant shall comply with the same conditions set forth in the Judgment in a Criminal Case signed May 31, 2012, except that condition 7 on page 2 of that judgment, and standard condition 4 on page 3 of that judgment, are amended to read as follows, respectively:

7. If, upon commencement of the term of supervised release, any part of the $5,041.90 restitution ordered by the Judgment in a Criminal Case signed May 31, 2012, remains unpaid, the defendant shall make payments on such unpaid amount at the rate of at least $150 per month, the first such payment to be made no later than 60 days after the defendant's release from confinement and another payment to be made on the same day of each month thereafter until the restitution amount is paid in full. Any unpaid balance of the restitution ordered by this judgment shall be paid in full 60 days prior to the termination of the term of supervised release.
4. The defendant shall not leave the judicial district where she is being supervised without the permission of the U.S. Probation Officer.

The court hereby directs the probation officer to provide defendant with a written statement that sets forth all the conditions to which the term of supervised release is subject, as contemplated and required by Title 18 United States Code section 3583(f).

The defendant is remanded to the custody of the United States Marshal.

The date of imposition of the sentence provided by this judgment is April 18, 2019.

SIGNED April 18, 2019.

JOHN MCBRYDE
United States District Judge

Personal information about the defendant is set forth on the attachment to this Judgment of Revocation and Sentence.
