1. I, the undersigned Bertram f. Collins, am the CEO of the Florida corporation, UCAC, INC ., with headquarters in West Palm Beach, Fl.,and a regional office in Richardson, TX, to provide an auditing service to verify the accuracy of the annual experience-rate tax rate assigned to our employer clients by the Texas Workforce Commission and similar agencies in other states. This is the situation with regard to our client Lincoln Technical who has asked the State agency to forward their mail through our mailing address.

2.In short, we may forward mail as requested by our client, but we have no jurisdiction over it.

3.In such cases where a claimant, such as the Plaintiff Franklin L. Cox, not realizing our solitary role as unemployment tax accountants, has named us, contrary to law and fact,I" defendant" in an appeal for his benefits, UCAC has been dismissed as a defendant.

MEMORANDUM

October 27, 2017

RE: Franklin Cox vs Texas

Workforce Commission

Dear Judge Tillery;

I am writing to you as suggested by Court Clerk Leslie to ask your Honor to dismiss my small unemployment compensation tax accounting company, UCAC, as a "Defendant" so named by the Plaintiff Cox in his above cause to change the TWC's decision that denied his entitlement to unemployment compensation benefits.

5. In fact, no where in the Plaintiff motion in support for his suit does there appear a single word of reference to cause, involvement or evidence related to UCAC. That because there is no basis or cause for justifying the naming of UCAC a "Defendant." We are tax accountants only prohibited by law from claims adjudication involvement. Thus, we have no evidence in or out of the courtroom that would help or hinder Plaintiff Cox's suit against the TWC.

The enclosed copy of our motion filed back in February 2017 is enclosed for a convenient reference. Having reached my ninety-first year this past August and facing health problems, I will be grateful for whatever you may find just and possible to do to help me, realizing that dismissing UCAC as a "Defendant" will not effect Plaintiff Cox's suit to reverse the TWC's decision so that he can get his unemployment benefits

Thanking you for your consideration, I remain

Respectfully,

Bertram F. Collins

Letter of Concern

Date: February 2, 2016
To: Franklin Cox
From: Rick Calverley, Education Supervisor

Ron Harris, Director of Education
Personnel File
Re: Attendance advisories

Reason for Letter of Concern:

On 12/21/15, after various issues and students' complaints concerning the Tig welding machine. I gave you a directive to complete 3 specific tasks before COB on 12/22. These tasks included leak testing all booths, teflon taping all fittings in Tig booths, and plugging all gas lines that had an open valve. As of 2/1/16 these tasks remain only partially complete. The leaking gas can lead to a large monetary loss, but most importantly is a safety concern for our employees and students.

After addressing this with you on 2 separate occasions, I still have not received an adequate answer as to why these are not complete and what is the expected completion date. This is in violation of Employee handbook, page 35, Section 8, "Refusing to follow a reasonable directive of any member of the Company supervisory or administrative staff."

The tasks assigned must be completed in the time given, or a reasonable expectation of completion date must be provided. If you have other daily tasks which interfere with these directives, please seek guidance from the shift Education Supervisor.
