#9 Additional information;

1. I expect to have my V.A. benefits restored in the next twelve months. My husband's death was service connected. He was a service connected DAV receiving benefit @ the time of his death. Some moron federal employee who believed I might qualify for disability, WITHOUT FIRST TALKING WITH ME, had my V.A. Benefits suspended/slowed down upon my original application so that it would not affect eligibility. I had no idea any of this was going on and I do not receive disability. My V.A. benefits would've dramatically improved my life since my husband's death.

2. I hope to sell my Indiana home so that I may leave Indiana forever. <sup>the road</sup> to Hell is money times paved w/ good intentions. <sup>He left to</sup> my own devices, I would have been financially comfortable no later than 2018. Now I drive Pizza for Domino's to survive.

Additional Information in Support of Motion to Proceed in Forma Pauperis

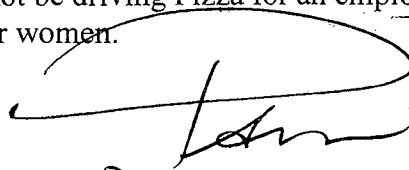

Question #9

I expect to have my VA benefits restored in the next twelve months. My husband's death was service connected three (3) different ways. As he was a service connected DAV receiving benefit at the time of his death, a death caused by the VA, I qualify for full benefits and have received none because some moron federal employee, who decided not to speak with me first, believed I might qualify for disability so my VA benefits were held up in lieu of the potential award of spousal benefits through SSA. I have never been awarded disability benefits. I have never received disability or related benefits. I just need my VA benefits so that I may enjoy a better life. Federal employees should NEVER enjoy the freedom to make application for or withhold federal benefits at the exclusion of the person who should be receiving a federal benefit. No one should ever just "bow to the badge". Having had my VA benefits these past five years would have dramatically improved my life and I would not now be driving Pizza for my employer, who promised a $1,000.00 sign on bonus & 9ph in October 2020 that has yet to be paid in full. Ex. 6(a)1-2

The State of Indiana owes me more than $10,000.00 in PUA benefit that it has collected in my name but has yet to disperse. Unemployment was suspended in May 2020 for no reason and is only now (Feb 2021) under review. It's apparently OK to financially cripple women in Indiana until they submit to someone else's leadership... Ex 6(a)3

Additionally, I hope to sell my home in Indiana so that I may leave Indiana forever! All over Indianapolis are giant billboards that say, "Break the Silence, Stop the Violence." Having been a female resident of Indiana for more than 48 years, I can attest to the fact that these billboards are meaningless if a woman is the victim. just ask Sara Jane Green or our USA gymnasts or just ask me. Violence against women takes many forms and I have experienced several of them since becoming a widow. I've spent the last five years and hundreds of thousands of dollars asking for help and no one is listening; 1. Being denied income. 2. Being denied food. 3. Being denied a functioning furnace in winter. 4. Having no rights in any court of law.. South Carolina is the exclusive architect of this disaster and as such it should have to pay all fees and consequences related to my pursuit of my rights!!!!

If left to my own devices in 2016 I would be financially comfortable and I would not have been starved, denied income, denied medical care, and I would still have a functioning family and furnace. I would not be driving Pizza for an employer who lies about sign-on bonuses and rates of pay for women.
