February 20th, 2019

The following investigation was conducted by Investigator Aubrey Chance with the Bay County Sheriff's Office in reference to Grand Theft.

On the 20th day of April 2018, Deputy Nicholas Macias responded to the location of 2731 Pleasant Oak Court in reference to a report of trespass.

According to the report Deputy Macias made contact with Code Enforcement and Steven Cooper in reference to a residence he was actively destroying at the above listed address. Deputy Macias checked the Bay County Property Appraiser's Website and located Sharon Woosley as the rightful (documented) owner who informed Deputy Macias that she simply wanted Cooper trespass.

A short time later Woosley returned to find that her residence was completely demolished and desired the pursuit of charges. It was at this moment in time that I began investigating the matter and found Cooper had a court hearing in which he was to debate his ownership of the property as well as a lawsuit against the Bay County Sheriff's Office for "Improper Issuance of a Trespass Notice and Threats of Jail". According the Clerk of Courts Website Cooper's claim was denied multiple times and Cooper was now requesting an appeal.

My investigation revealed Cooper was claiming Adverse Possession of the above listed property. I then reviewed the Florida State Statute 95.18.

Subsection 1 of the statute indicated that the claimant must be in actual possession of the property for no less than 7 years. This can be accomplished through paying any unpaid and or outstanding taxes against the property as indicated by subsection 1(a).

I reviewed Cooper involvement in the property to see if he had a legitimate claim to being in possession of the property.

According to the Bay County Tax Collectors Office, Woosley failed to pay her taxes in 2014, 2015, and 2016. As such an unknown party purchased the outstanding debt in the form of tax certificates. Each tax certificate marked a year of taxes paid by an outside party. As such 3 tax certificates were purchased. The unknown party placed the debt up for auction which gained no bids and was then placed on the Bay County Website for Sale.

In 2017 Cooper made contact with the Bay County Tax Collector's Office and attempted to "redeem" the tax certificates, as opposed to purchase them. When Cooper tried he was stopped and told by the clerk that if he was trying to claim Adverse Possession of the property he needed to purchase the tax certificates as apposed to "redeem" them. Cooper was adamant and disregarded the advice given by the clerks. The clerks cautiously explained the difference three separate times by three separate members of the office. Cooper ignored all caution desired to redeem the 3 years of Tax certificates. In doing so he paid the fee for said action. As such, instead of gaining the 3 years of credit towards the 7 years goal as required by the statute, Cooper simply paid Woosley's missed taxes on her behalf eliminating any years accrued towards an Adverse Possession claim. At no point did his redemption of the Tax Certificates provide him any legal standing to

(Criminal Mischief) and 812.014 (Grand Theft) when he destroyed the residence located at 2731 Pleasant Oak Court and in doing so deprived the owner of her right to, use of, and benefit from her property valued at approximately $40,000.00. I have also observed that Cooper's sole argument to his possession of the property is based on his having paid the property taxes. Cooper was instructed as to the appropriate way to pay for the taxes on his own behalf, and neglected to do so but instead paid the taxes on Woosley's behalf. As such the foundation under which Cooper has based his entire legal argument is found to be null and void. Warrants have been sought for Cooper's arrest and are currently pending his retrieval. Cooper was picked up on the warrants for his arrest on the 2nd day of May 2019. This case is closed via arrest.

84. NARRATIVE OF THE FACTUAL BASIS FOR PROBABLE CAUSE: The undersigned certifies that he / she has just and reasonable grounds to believe that the hereinafter named defendant did commit the violation as stated above and the factual basis for belief is as follows:

On the 20th day of April 2018, the above listed defendant, Steven Cooper, violated Florida State Statutes 812.014 (Grand Theft) and 806.13 (Criminal Mischief) while at 2731 Pleasant Oak Court.

On the above listed date and time the defendant claimed "Adverse Possession" of the above listed property without having any legal right to do so and as such the defendant maliciously and intentionally demolished the residence, without the Sharon Woosley's permission, and in doing so deprived the owner of her right to, use of, and benefit from said residence, valued at approximately $40,000.00.

The property in question identified by the Bay County Property Appraiser's Website as Parcel Number 30167-540-000 sold two years worth of Tax Certificates belonging to the property which then resulted in the certificates being placed up for auction. The certificates did not sell at auction and therefore were placed for sale on the Bay County Property Appraiser's Website. The above listed defendant then Redeemed the Tax Certificates on behalf of the victim clearing her missed taxes for the past two years instead of having purchased the Tax Certificates and then claimed "Adverse Possession". The defendant did not follow any of the guidelines set forth in Florida State Statute 95.18 and did not even have the minimum requirement of seven years worth of Tax Certificates to begin the process of adversely possessing the property in question.

This offense did occur in Bay County Florida.

AUBREY CHANCE #88

84 NARRATIVE OF THE FACTUAL BASIS FOR PROBABLE CAUSE: The undersigned certifies that he / she has just and reasonable grounds to believe that the heretofore named defendant did commit the violation as stated above and the factual basis for belief is as follows:

On the 20th day of April 2018, the above listed defendant, Steven Cooper, violated Florida State Statutes 812.014 (Grand Theft) and 806.13 (Criminal Mischief) while at 2731 Pleasant Oak Court.

On the above listed date and time the defendant claimed "Adverse Possession" of the above listed property without having any legal right to do so and as such the defendant maliciously and intentionally demolished the residence, without the Sharon Woosley's permission, and in doing so deprived the owner of her right to, use of, and benefit from said residence, valued at approximately $40,000.00.

The property in question identified by the Bay County Property Appraiser's Website as Parcel Number 30167-540-000 sold two years worth of Tax Certificates belonging to the property which then resulted in the certificates being placed up for auction. The certificates did not sell at auction and therefore were placed for sale on the Bay County Property Appraiser's Website. The above listed defendant then Redeemed the Tax Certificates on behalf of the victim clearing her missed taxes for the past two years instead of having purchased the Tax Certificates and then claimed "Adverse Possession". The defendant did not follow any of the guidelines set forth in Florida State Statute 95.18 and did not even have the minimum requirement of seven years worth of Tax Certificates to begin the process of adversely possessing the property in question.

This offense did occur in Bay County Florida.
