9 CECILE A. BROWN,

CASE NO. C21-0246-JCC

10 Plaintiff,

ORDER

12 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

13 Defendant.

15 This matter comes before the Court sua sponte. Plaintiff Cecile Brown seeks to appeal a
16 Board of Veterans Appeals decision regarding veterans' benefits or requests that the Court issue
17 a writ of mandamus ordering the Board to issue a different decision on the timeline she requests.
18 Having reviewed Ms. Brown's complaint and the relevant record pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 19 1915(e)(2)(B), the Court concludes that it lacks jurisdiction to entertain Ms. Brown's claims and 20 therefore DISMISSES the complaint without prejudice and without leave to amend.

21 I. BACKGROUND

22 Ms. Brown received a decision from the Board of Veterans Appeals on July 17, 2020
23 with which she disagrees. (See Dkt. No. 4 at 17–18.) In response, Ms. Brown sent the Board a
24 letter expressing her disagreement with the decision. (Id.) On January 27, 2021, Kimberly
25 Osborne, Deputy Vice Chairman of the Board of Veterans Appeals, construed Ms. Brown's letter 26 as a motion for reconsideration and issued a letter ruling denying the motion because the issues

1 Ms. Brown raised in her letter were not presented to the Board at the time of its decision. (Id. at 2 18.) The letter also informed Ms. Brown that she could file a new claim or move to reopen her 3 claim and submit new evidence through her local VA regional office. (Id.) Ms. Brown apparently 4 sent another letter to the Board on February 5, 2021. (Id. at 19.) On February 8, 2021, the Board
5 wrote back, explaining that because the Board had already issued a decision and denied her
6 motion for reconsideration, “the Board can take no further action on this matter.” (Id.) The letter
7 directed Ms. Brown back to the New Orleans regional office and to the portion of the Board’s
8 opinion entitled, “Your Rights to Appeal Our Decision.” (Id.)

9 It does not appear that Ms. Brown took advantage of her appeal rights. Instead, she 10 filed the instant suit in which her chief complaint is that the “decision should not have been 11 issued” because the “case did not lack merit or jurisdiction” but the Board “refuses to change the 12 decision [even] after [she] call[ed] multiple of times and sent faxes making them aware the 13 decision was not accurate or truthful.” (Dkt. No. 4 at 5.) Ms. Brown alleges that the Board’s 14 erroneous decision and refusal to change it amounts to “negligence,” “perjury, fraud, and theft of 15 benefits.” (Id.) She seeks $10 million dollars in compensatory damages and $10 million dollars 16 in punitive damages based on “loss income, emotional distress, and trauma” caused by “having 17 to deal with the federal government” and the fact that she had to wait 30 days before the 18 government uploaded evidence to her case file. (Id. at 6.) Ms. Brown also requests that the Court
19 “command the United States of America Board of Veteran Appeals to please release the correct 20 decision . . . and all benefits won.” (Dkt. No. 6 at 3.)

21 The Court dismissed the complaint pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B) without 22 prejudice because it failed to state a claim upon which relief could be granted, her request for 23 $20 million in damages was frivolous, and venue is not proper in this Court. (Dkt. No. 15.) In 24 response, Ms. Brown filed two copies of an amended complaint (Dkt. Nos. 17, 18) and a 25 “statement” (Dkt. No. 21). They did not cure the deficiencies. At bottom, Ms. Brown seeks to 26 appeal the Board’s decision or for this Court to issue a writ of mandamus “ordering BVA to send

Appendix

1 final disposition decision and all money owed," and the Court lacks jurisdiction to do so. (Dkt.
2 No. 14 at 6.)

3 II. DISCUSSION

4 The Court must dismiss an in forma pauperis complaint if it fails to state a claim upon 5 which relief may be granted or if it is frivolous. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(i)–(ii). "Article III
6 generally requires a federal court to satisfy itself of its jurisdiction over the subject matter before 7 it considers the merits of a case." Ruhrgas AG v. Marathon Oil Co., 526 U.S. 574, 583 (1999).
8 "In cases involving benefits owed to veterans, Congress has created a scheme conferring 9 exclusive jurisdiction over claims affecting veterans' benefits to some federal courts, while 10 denying all other federal courts any jurisdiction over such claims." *Veterans for Common Sense
v. Shinseki*, 678 F.3d 1013, 1020 (9th Cir. 2012). This Court does not have jurisdiction to hear 11 appeals regarding veterans' benefits. Littlejohn v. United States, 321 F.3d 915, 921 (9th Cir.
12 2003) ("[T]he Federal Circuit [is] the only Article III court with jurisdiction to hear challenges to 13 VA determinations regarding disability benefits."); see also 38 U.S.C. § 7292(c). A party seeking 14 to appeal a decision of the Board of Veterans Appeals must first appeal to the Court of Appeals
15 for Veterans Claims, 38 U.S.C. § 7252(a), and then to the Court of Appeals for the Federal 16 Circuit, 38 U.S.C. § 7292(c).

17 This Court also lacks jurisdiction to issue a writ of mandamus "ordering BVA to send 18 final disposition decision and all money owed." (Dkt. No. 14 at 6.) When it comes to veterans' 19 benefits, "the decision of the Secretary [is] final and conclusive and may not be reviewed by any 20 other official or by any court, whether by an action in the nature of mandamus or otherwise." 38
21 U.S.C. § 511(a).

22 III. CONCLUSION

23 For the foregoing reasons, and because amendment would be futile, the Court 24 DISMISSES the complaint without prejudice and without leave to amend. If Ms. Brown seeks 25 further review of the Board's decision, she must seek it in the United States Court of Appeals for

14 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, et al.,

Defendants.

15 This matter comes before the Court on referral from the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, 16 which requests that the Court determine whether Ms. Brown's appeal is frivolous or was taken in 17 bad faith. (Dkt. No. 54.) "[A]n appeal on a matter of law is frivolous where '[none] of the legal 18 points [are] arguable on their merits.'" Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 325 (1989). An appeal 19 is also frivolous if the "factual contentions are clearly baseless." Id. at 327. "[A] finding of 20 factual frivolousness is appropriate when the facts alleged rise to the level of the irrational or the 21 wholly incredible, whether or not there are judicially noticeable facts available to contradict
22 them." Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25, 33 (1992).

23 Having considered the record and the basis for Ms. Brown's appeal, the Court concludes 24 that the appeal is legally and factually frivolous. First, it is well-established that the Court lacks 25 jurisdiction to hear veterans' claims for benefits. See Veterans for Common Sense v. Shinseki, 26 678 F.3d 1013, 1020 (9th Cir. 2012). Second, Ms. Brown's claim that President Biden personally
