PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI TO THE UNITED STATES
COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE FIFTH CIRCUIT

TO THE HONORABLE JUSTICES OF THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT:

The Petitioner, IDANIA RENTERIA MADRID, Appellant in the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit in Case No. 21-50713 and the Defendant in Case No. MO-16-CR-244, submits this Petition for Writ of Certiorari and respectfully prays that a writ of certiorari issue to review the judgment of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit entered on April 06, 2022.

OPINION BELOW

On April 06, 2022, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit entered its Opinion affirming the verdict guilty returned against Petitioner. A copy of the Opinion is attached as Appendix A.

The District Court's Criminal Judgment is attached as Appendix B. A copy of the Judgment from Case No. MO-21-CR-88 is included within Appendix B.

JURISDICTION

Jurisdiction of this Court is invoked under Title 28, United States Code sec. 1254(a).

CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY PROVISIONS INVOLVED

The Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution states, in pertinent part to the case sub judice:

No person...shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law...

18 U.S.C. sec. 3583(d) provides, in part: The Court may order, as a further condition of supervised release, to the extent that such condition-

(2) involves no greater deprivation of liberty than is reasonably necessary for the purposes set forth in section 3553(a)(2)(B), (a)(2)(C), and (a)(2)(D); ...

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner had been serving a term of supervised release arising from a conviction in the United States District Court, Western District of Texas. in Case No. MO-16-CR-244.

On or about March 22, 2021, Petitioner was arrested by sheriff's deputies with the Ector County, Texas Sheriff's Department for a probation violation. Petitioner was booked into the Ector County Detention Center. Detention officers contacted the United States Department of Homeland Security for immigration verification. Officers learned Petitioner had been previously deported.

On or about March 11, 2021, the United States Probation Office for the Western District of Texas, Midland Division filed a Petition for Warrant for Offender Under Supervision. The alleged violation was the subject of the indictment described below, illegal re-entry into the United States.

On or about April 07, 2021, the United States Attorney's Office for the Western District of Texas, Midland Division filed a one-count indictment against Petitioner, charging her with Illegal Re-Entry After Deportation, in violation of 8 U.S.C. Sec 1326(a). That case was docketed under Case No. MO-21-CR-088.

On or about April 07, 2021, Petitioner entered a plea of guilty to that one-count indictment.

The United States District Court, Western District of Texas, held sentencing on July 14, 2021. On that date, the District Court also considered supervision revocation.

Petitioner pleaded “true” to the allegations in the Petition for Warrant for Offender Under Supervision. The District Court re-sentenced Petitioner to a period of incarceration to be served consecutively to the sentence rendered in Case No. MO-21-CR-088.

The relevant dispositions were:

Case No. MO-16-CR-244	Supervision revocation	14 months
Case No. MO-21-CR-088	Indictment	37 months.

REASON FOR GRANTING THE WRIT

The District Court erred by imposing punishment involving a greater deprivation of liberty than is reasonably necessary to achieve the goal of deterrence, incapacitation and rehabilitation. With the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984, Congress eliminated most forms of parole for a system of supervised release. Johnson v. United States, 529 U.S. 53, 59-60 (2000). Post confinement monitoring is overseen by the sentencing court, rather the Parole Commission. Gozlon-Peretz v. United States, 498 U.S. 395, 400-401 (1991). The sentencing court is authorized to impose a term of supervised release following imprisonment under 18 U.S.C. sec. 3583(a).

The offender is required to abide by certain conditions, some specified and some discretionary. 18 U.S.C. sec. 3583(d). Upon violation of a condition, the sentencing court may revoke supervised release and require the person to serve in prison for all or part of a term.

18 U.S.C. Sec. 3583(e)(3).

The purpose of supervised release has been variously described as rehabilitation, deterrence, training, treatment, protection of the public and reduction of recidivism. Johnson, 529 U.S. at 59-60. Supervised release was not intended to be imposed for the purposes of punishment or incapacitation, since those purposes will have been served to the extent necessary by the term of imprisonment. Id. at 59. It is the decompression stage between prison and full release. Conditions of supervised release can not involve a greater deprivation of liberty than is reasonably necessary to achieve goals of deterrence, incapacitation and rehabilitation. Goodwin at 572.

A hearing was had in the United States District Court, Western District of Texas, sitting in Midland, Texas. The District Judge read into the record the allegations from the Petition for Warrant for Offender Under Supervision. Petitioner pleaded “true” to the allegations

In employing the plainly unreasonable standard, the United States District Court imposed a greater imposition on liberty than was necessary to meet the objectives of 18 U.S.C. sec. 3583. United States v. Olano, 507 U.S. 725 (1993); Puckett v. United States, 556 U.S. 129, 135 (2009). Error was further compounded by the affirmance of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

A district court is directed by 18 U.S.C. sec. 3553(a)(3) and (a)(4)(B) to consider the kinds of sentence available and the applicable sentencing range of the Guidelines or Commission policy statements. United States v. Garza, 706 F.3d 655 (5th Cir. 2013). A special condition must comport with the limits provided in 18 U.S.C. sec. 3583(a). Factors are (1) nature and circumstances of the offense; (2) deterrence; (3) protection of the public; and (4) provision for training, medical treatment and correctional treatment. A revocation sentence must involve no greater deprivation of liberty than is reasonably necessary to serve the purposes of section 3553; United States v. Ellis, 720 F.3d 220, 225 (5th Cir. 2013). The deprivation of liberty implicates constitutional protection. See Calder v. Bull, 390 Dall. (3 U.S.) 386 (1798).

Here the sentence in the older supervision case is a greater deprivation of liberty than is reasonably necessary to serve it purposes. Accord United States v. Booker, 543 U.S. 270 (2005). The District Court sentenced Petitioner to incarceration in the indicted case and sentenced her to incarceration on the supervision case. The District Court ordered consecutive service of the sentences.

In this case, Petitioner is subject to deportation. Post incarceration in the United States Bureau of Prisons will be subject her to further detention to address her immigration case. Thus, Petitioner will be subjected to three distinct periods of incarceration. This amount of incarceration is unreasonable as it fails to accord the imprisonment provided in the Bureau of Prisons. North Carolina v. Pearce, 395 U.S. 711 (1969).

Therefore, Petitioner requests that the United States Supreme Court grant this Petition for Writ of Certiorari on the ground that the sentencing ordered by the District Court place a greater deprivation on Petitioner's liberty than is necessary.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Petitioner respectfully submits that the Petition for Writ of Certiorari should be granted and prays that the Order Revoking Supervised Release be reversed, and the case be remanded for re-sentencing pertaining to the supervision revocation.

Separately Petitioner prays for such relief, in law or in equity in which she is entitled.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Petitioner, IDANIA RENTERIA-MADRID, requests that the Petition for Writ of Certiorari be granted for the reasons stated and that the conviction entered against her be vacated and this case remanded for re-sentencing, and such other relief to which Petitioner would be entitled to receive in law or in equity.

Respectfully submitted,

Appeal from the United States District Court for the Western District of Texas
USDC No. 7:16-CR-244-1

---

Before KING, COSTA, and HO, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM:*

Idania Renteria, federal prisoner # 80316-380, appeals the 14-month sentence, which was within the guidelines range, that was imposed on the revocation of her supervised release. She argues that the sentence is substantively unreasonable because it was ordered to be served consecutively

* Pursuant to 5TH CIRCUIT RULE 47.5, the court has determined that this opinion should not be published and is not precedent except under the limited circumstances set forth in 5TH CIRCUIT RULE 47.5.4.

No. 21-50713

to the 37-month sentence she received for the illegal reentry conviction that formed the basis for the revocation of her supervised release. Renteria asserts that because she will likely face administrative detention for immigration proceedings, she will serve three separate periods of incarceration, rendering her revocation sentence multiplicitous.

We review Renteria's revocation sentence to determine if it is "plainly unreasonable." United States v. Miller, 634 F.3d 841, 843 (5th Cir. 2011). We review the substantive reasonableness of the sentence for an abuse of discretion, examining the totality of the circumstances. United States v. Fuentes, 906 F.3d 322, 325 (5th Cir. 2018).

Renteria's reliance on United States v. Willis, 563 F.3d 168 (5th Cir. 2009), is misplaced. In Willis, the defendant faced two revocation sentences for what should have been one underlying conviction. Id. at 170. Renteria faces only one revocation sentence for one conviction. Separate detention flowing from the civil immigration consequences of her conduct does not make the criminal sentence multiplicitous.

Nor has Renteria shown that when it imposed the revocation sentence, the district court failed to account for a factor that should have received significant weight, gave significant weight to an irrelevant or improper factor, or made a clear error of judgment in balancing the sentencing factors. See United States v. Badgett, 957 F.3d 536, 541 (5th Cir.), cert. denied, 141 S. Ct. 827 (2020); see 18 U.S.C. § 3583(e).
