QUESTION(S) PRESENTED

Although Dicta in The Court of Appeals decision in this case, is their Kimble Case that they cited against Petitioner is unconstitutional in violation of the United States Constitutional Separation of Power Clause, especially so, because nor the Supreme Court or Congress made no such rule before hand and did the District Court and the Court of Appeals in this case deny Petitioner Due process of Law when they failed to address many of his claims set forth in his opening brief because of that Kimble Case Decision. and did the Court of Appeals Kimble Case decision conflict with all of the other Circuits opinions on this same point.
