UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff—Appellee,

versus

ALEXANDER YOICHI DUBEREK,

Defendant—Appellant.

Appeal from the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas
USDC No. 5:21-CR-101-1

Before JONES, SOUTHWICK, and HO, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM:*

Alexander Yoichi Duberek appeals the above-guidelines sentence of life imprisonment imposed following his guilty plea to interstate domestic violence resulting in the death of the victim. See 18 U.S.C. § 2261(a)(1), (b)(1). Duberek contends that his sentence is procedurally and substantively

* Pursuant to 5th Circuit Rule 47.5, the court has determined that this opinion should not be published and is not precedent except under the limited circumstances set forth in 5th Circuit Rule 47.5.4.

No. 23-10071

unreasonable. Specifically, he argues that the district court erred by determining that he did not suffer from serious coercion, blackmail, or duress. Therefore, he asserts, the court's variance in this case failed to give proper weight to that serious coercion, blackmail, and duress and represented a clear error of judgment in balancing the 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a) factors.

We review both the procedural and substantive reasonableness of the district court's sentence for abuse of discretion. See Gall v. United States, 552 U.S. 38, 51 (2007). At sentencing, Duberek attempted to demonstrate that he traveled from California to Texas to murder the victim in response to serious coercion, blackmail, or duress caused by the victim. The district court considered that evidence and concluded that it did not materially mitigate other sentencing factors, including the degree of premeditation and violence of the offense. The district court's assessment of the limited persuasiveness or weight of Duberek's evidence relative to the undisputed facts of the premeditated murder was not "illogical or implausible," and Duberek therefore has not shown that the sentence is procedurally unreasonable. United States v. Hebert, 813 F. 3d 551, 561 (5th Cir. 2015) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted).

As to substantive reasonableness, following a detailed discussion of the § 3553(a) factors in light of the offense and Duberek's evidence regarding his motive, the district court determined that the only reasonable sentence was life imprisonment. Because we are not persuaded that the district court erred in its weighing or balancing of the § 3553(a) factors or in determining that the extent of the variance was warranted, Duberek fails to show that the life sentence is substantively unreasonable. See Gall, 552 U.S. at 50-51; United States v. Smith, 440 F.3d 704, 708 (5th Cir. 2006).

For the foregoing reasons, the judgment of the district court is AFFIRMED.

You must comply with the standard conditions that have been adopted by this court as well as with any additional conditions on the attached page.

DEFENDANT: ALEXANDER YOICHI DUBEREK
CASE NUMBER: 5:21-CR-00101-H-BQ(1)

STANDARD CONDITIONS OF SUPERVISION

As part of your supervised release, you must comply with the following standard conditions of supervision. These conditions are imposed because they establish the basic expectations for your behavior while on supervision and identify the minimum tools needed by probation officers to keep informed, report to the court about, and bring about improvements in your conduct and condition.

1. You must report to the probation office in the federal judicial district where you are authorized to reside within 72 hours of your release from imprisonment, unless the probation officer instructs you to report to a different probation office or within a different time frame.
2. After initially reporting to the probation office, you will receive instructions from the court or the probation officer about how and when you must report to the probation officer, and you must report to the probation officer as instructed.
3. You must not knowingly leave the federal judicial district where you are authorized to reside without first getting permission from the court or the probation officer.
4. You must answer truthfully the questions asked by your probation officer.
5. You must live at a place approved by the probation officer. If you plan to change where you live or anything about your living arrangements (such as the people you live with), you must notify the probation officer at least 10 days before the change. If notifying the probation officer in advance is not possible due to unanticipated circumstances, you must notify the probation officer within 72 hours of becoming aware of a change or expected change.
6. You must allow the probation officer to visit you at any time at your home or elsewhere, and you must permit the probation officer to take any items prohibited by the conditions of your supervision that he or she observes in plain view.
7. You must work full time (at least 30 hours per week) at a lawful type of employment, unless the probation officer excuses you from doing so. If you do not have full-time employment you must try to find full-time employment, unless the probation officer excuses you from doing so. If you plan to change where you work or anything about your work (such as your position or your job responsibilities), you must notify the probation officer at least 10 days before the change. If notifying the probation officer at least 10 days in advance is not possible due to unanticipated circumstances, you must notify the probation officer within 72 hours of becoming aware of a change or expected change.
8. You must not communicate or interact with someone you know is engaged in criminal activity. If you know someone has been convicted of a felony, you must not knowingly communicate or interact with that person without first getting the permission of the probation officer.
9. If you are arrested or questioned by a law enforcement officer, you must notify the probation officer within 72 hours.
10. You must not own, possess, or have access to a firearm, ammunition, destructive device, or dangerous weapon (i.e., anything that was designed, or was modified for, the specific purpose of causing bodily injury or death to another person such as nunchakus or tasers).
11. You must not act or make any agreement with a law enforcement agency to act as a confidential human source or informant without first getting the permission of the court.
12. If the probation officer determines that you pose a risk to another person (including an organization), the probation officer may require you to notify the person about the risk and you must comply with that instruction. The probation officer may contact the person and confirm that you have notified the person about the risk.
13. You must follow the instructions of the probation officer related to the conditions of supervision.

U.S. Probation Office Use Only
