11. Have you paid—or will you be paying—anyone other than an attorney (such as a paralegal or form?

☐ Yes ☒ No

If yes, how much?

If yes, state the person's name, address, and telephone number:

12. Provide any other information that will help explain why you cannot pay the costs of this case.

The case itself has impacted work time as stated in the writ. The current financial situation of the US includes financial institutions with algorithms that accelerate debt, offering only loans above the current, instead of calculating to refinancing and extend the debt over time. This was affirmed by the underwriting teams.

The cost of the case itself and defense of the case exceeds room in an already negative budget, while waiting hearing by the State of New Hampshire for 3 years regarding re-employment, already offered but withholding retirement benefits available if evidence was provided in a timely manner.

Current budget and bills without paying for the case would leave the petitioner with insufficient funds for taxes.

A stay of judgement was requested to afford food, gas, and avoid threat of default and foreclosure when bills remain negative.

One refinance of some loans was recently pre-approved by Triangle Community Credit Union, but will save about $100 per month. Additional refinances are being pursued concurrently.

Retirement is held by the State of New Hampshire and is not reflected. Any withdrawal of retirement removes the petitioner from the retirement system, health benefits, and ability to re-instate employment and retirement in-full at re-employment.

The petitioner paid for COBRA during the initial period of transition from State coverage, about $32,000 due to all three individuals having conditions that are uninsurable in group coverage otherwise, and therefore the petitioner is unable to transition from group coverage without lifelong harm.

The children of the petitioner have disabilities, and the "recreation" expenses are essential to their care, development, and continued healing.

The tenants are habitually late, inconsistent, and the court system does not collect all the past due amounts. Therefore, a buffer is essential that is not currently present, including that to which maintain two properties, with three units of repairs. Repair costs are estimated low, presumptuously, putting aside non-emergency needs.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.
