SUMMARY ORDER

UPON DUE CONSIDERATION, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, ADJUDGED, AND DECREED that the judgment of the district court is AFFIRMED.

Appellant Harold Jean-Baptiste, proceeding pro se, sued Almonte Stream Food Corp. under a variety of federal statutes, including 42 U.S.C. §§ 1983 and 1985, alleging that the company—a grocery store on Long Island—colluded with FBI agents to poison him. He paid the filing fee. Observing the many similar allegations Jean-Baptiste had brought in prior cases, the district court dismissed his second amended complaint sua sponte as factually frivolous without providing Jean-Baptiste advance notice or an opportunity to be heard. We assume the parties' familiarity with the remaining facts, procedural history, and issues on appeal.

“[D]istrict courts may dismiss a frivolous complaint sua sponte even when the plaintiff has paid the required filing fee . . . .” Fitzgerald v. First E. Seventh St. Tenants Corp., 221 F.3d 362, 364 (2d Cir. 2000) (per curiam). An action is frivolous when “the factual contentions are clearly baseless, such as when allegations are the product of delusion or fantasy” or when “the claim is based on an indisputably meritless legal theory.” Livingston v. Adirondack Beverage Co., 141 F.3d 434, 437 (2d Cir. 1998) (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). “[A] finding of factual frivolousness is appropriate when the facts alleged rise to the level of the irrational or the wholly incredible, whether or not there are judicially noticeable facts available to contradict them.” Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25, 33 (1992).

The district court properly dismissed the second amended complaint as factually frivolous. Jean-Baptiste alleged that he was poisoned by Almonte, which colluded with an unknown FBI agent to tamper with his food. But he set forth no facts that suggested such collusion was remotely plausible. Simply put, Jean-Baptiste’s assertion of the grocery store’s collusion with the FBI was irrational and fell solidly in the realm of fantasy or delusion. See Gallop v. Cheney, 642 F.3d 364, 368–69 (2d Cir. 2011) (affirming dismissal of claims as frivolous where plaintiff alleged conspiracy of government officials to commit terrorism but did not allege any facts demonstrating a “consistent” or “plausible” theory).

Jean-Baptiste argues that the district court failed to allow him an opportunity to appear or respond before dismissing his complaint. As he observes, we have repeatedly emphasized that “dismissing a case without an opportunity to be heard is, at a minimum, bad practice in numerous contexts and is reversible error in others.” Catzin v. Thank You & Good Luck Corp., 899 F.3d 77, 82 (2d Cir. 2018). Sua sponte dismissal can be permissible, however, when it is “unmistakably clear” that “the complaint lacks merit or is otherwise defective.” Snider v. Melindez, 199 F.3d 108, 113 (2d Cir. 1999).

Under the circumstances in this case, the district court did not err by dismissing the second amended complaint sua sponte. As noted by the district court, Jean-Baptiste has filed similar lawsuits alleging government conspiracies against him. See, e.g., Jean-Baptiste v. United States Dep’t of Just., No. 22-CV-8318 (LTS), 2023 WL 2390875 at *1–2 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 6, 2023); Jean-Baptiste v. United States Dep’t of Just., No. 22-CV-1861 (TSC), 2022 WL 3027010 at *1 (D.D.C. Aug. 1, 2022). Jean-Baptiste was therefore constructively on notice that claims similar to these would be vulnerable to dismissal. Moreover, he had been given two opportunities to amend his complaint, yet the allegations were still patently frivolous. It was therefore not reversible error to dismiss the second amended complaint sua sponte.

Jean-Baptiste further contends that the district court was biased against him. But aside from the dismissal of his second amended complaint, Jean-Baptiste points to nothing in the record to suggest bias on the part of the district court. And without more, an adverse ruling is not evidence of bias. See Liteky v. United States, 510 U.S. 540, 555 (1994) (“[J]udicial rulings alone almost never constitute a valid basis for a bias or partiality motion.”).

We have considered Jean-Baptiste’s remaining arguments and find them to be without merit. Accordingly, we AFFIRM the judgment of the district court.

MEMORANDUM & ORDER

PAMELA K. CHEN, United States District Judge:

On February 21, 2023, Plaintiff Harold Jean-Baptiste filed the instant pro se Complaint under, inter alia, 42 U.S.C. §§ 1983, 1985. (Compl., Dkt. 1.) Plaintiff paid the required filing fee. (Dkt. 2.) On March 6, 2023, Plaintiff filed an Amended Complaint. (First Am. Compl., Dkt. 6.) On March 8, 2023, Plaintiff filed a letter motion seeking leave to file a Second Amended Complaint. (Dkt. 7.) On March 14, 2023, Magistrate Judge Lois Bloom granted Plaintiff's request and Plaintiff's Second Amended Complaint was filed by the Clerk of Court.<sup>1</sup> (See Dkt. 8; see also Second Am. Compl. ("SAC"), Dkt. 9.) For the reasons discussed below, the Second Amended Complaint is dismissed as frivolous.

BACKGROUND

Plaintiff alleges that on February 11, 2023, Almonte Stream Food Corp, d/b/a Key Food Supermarket ("Key Food,") located in Valley Stream, New York, conspired with a Federal Bureau of Investigation ("FBI") Special Agent and placed a toxic substance on Plaintiff's food in order to "hurt the plaintiff[s] life." (SAC, Dkt. 9, at 4–5.) Plaintiff further alleges that this food poisoning caused him to go to an emergency room, where Plaintiff "noticed the FBI Special Agent texting the other FBI Agent who participate[d] in this sophisticated assignation [sic] attempt and a modern-day lynching" targeting him. (Id. at 7.) Plaintiff seeks money damages and declaratory relief. (Id. at 15–16.)

Plaintiff has brought at least seven other similar cases in this and other courts. For example, Plaintiff previously alleged that the FBI and various federal officials engaged in a conspiracy to kill him, and that on October 10, 2022, the FBI ordered a Dunkin' Donuts employee to poison him with a toxic substance, and after being admitted to a hospital, FBI agents directed hospital staff to provide him with adverse care. See Complaint, Jean-Baptiste v. U.S. Dep't. of Justice et al., No. 22-CV-6718 (PKC) (E.D.N.Y. Dec. 8, 2022), Dkt. 1.

In the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida, Plaintiff alleged that the FBI conspired to poison him at a bar and then instructed hospital staff to deny him care. See Complaint, Jean-Baptiste v. U.S. Dep't. of Justice, et al., No. 22-CV-22376 (JEM) (S.D. Fla. July 28, 2022), Dkt. 1. In the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, Plaintiff alleged that FBI agents tried to kidnap him while he was out walking. See Complaint, Jean-Baptiste v. U.S. Dep't. of Justice, et al., No. 22-CV-1861 (TSC) (D.D.C. June 24, 2022), Dkt. 1.<sup>2</sup>

LEGAL STANDARD

At the pleadings stage of the proceeding, the Court must assume the truth of “all well-pleaded, nonconclusory factual allegations” in the complaint. Kiobel v. Royal Dutch Petroleum Co., 621 F.3d 111, 123 (2d Cir. 2010) (citing Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662 (2009)). A complaint must plead sufficient facts to “state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007). It is axiomatic that pro se complaints are held to less stringent standards than pleadings drafted by attorneys, and the Court is required to read a pro se complaint liberally and interpret it as raising the strongest arguments it suggests. See Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 94 (2007); see also Sealed Plaintiff v.

Sealed Defendant #1, 537 F.3d 185, 191–93 (2d Cir. 2008) (similar). Regardless of whether a plaintiff has paid the filing fee, a district court has the inherent authority to dismiss a case, sua sponte, if it determines that the action is frivolous or the court lacks jurisdiction over the matter. See Frein v. Pelosi, No. 22-1063, 2023 WL 2530453, at *2 (2d Cir. Mar. 16, 2023) (citing Fitzgerald v. First East Seventh Street Tenants Corp., 221 F.3d 362, 364 (2d Cir. 2000)).

DISCUSSION

I. Plaintiff's Allegations Are Frivolous

Plaintiff's allegations, even under the very liberal reading afforded to pro se pleadings (and even if Plaintiff believes them to be true), can only be described as frivolous and "clearly baseless." Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25, 33 (1992); see also Gallop v. Cheney, 642 F.3d 364, 368 (2d Cir. 2011) ("A court may dismiss a claim as factually frivolous if the sufficiently well-pleaded facts are clearly baseless—that is, they are fanciful, fantastic, or delusional." (internal citations and quotation marks omitted)). "A finding of factual frivolousness is appropriate when the facts alleged rise to the level of the irrational or the wholly incredible whether or not there are judicially noticeable facts available to contradict them." See Denton, 504 U.S. at 25; Khalil v. United States, Nos. 17-CV-2652 (JFB), 17-CV-5458 (JFB), 2018 WL 443343, at *3–4 (E.D.N.Y. Jan. 12, 2018).

Given the implausibility of Plaintiff's allegations, this action cannot proceed. See, e.g., Burton v. United States, No. 21-CV-6238 (BMC), 2022 WL 1093217, at *2 (E.D.N.Y. Apr. 12, 2022) (dismissing pro se plaintiff's complaint as frivolous because the allegations “rise to the level of the irrational”); Stone v. Austin, No. 21-CV-4822 (JMA), 2021 WL 4443733, at *4 (E.D.N.Y. Sept. 28, 2021) (dismissing fee-paid action as “frivolous because it lacks a basis in law or fact”); Gilot v. Govt., No. 21-CV-4346 (WFK), 2021 WL 3861684, at *2 (E.D.N.Y. Aug. 27, 2021) (dismissing pro se plaintiff’s claims because they are “entirely fanciful and frivolous”).

II. Leave to Amend

The Second Circuit has held that leave to replead should be liberally granted to pro se litigants. See Grullon v. City of New Haven, 720 F.3d 133, 140 (2d Cir. 2013) (“[A] pro se complaint generally should not be dismissed without granting the plaintiff leave to amend at least once . . .”). However, Plaintiff has already amended the Complaint twice, and granting Plaintiff further leave to amend would be futile. The Court therefore declines to do so. Frein, 2023 WL 2530453, at *2 (citing Cuoco v. Moritsugu, 222 F.3d 99, 112 (2d Cir. 2000) (a court does not need to give leave to amend where “the problem with [the plaintiff’s] causes of action is substantive” and “better pleading will not cure it”)).

CONCLUSION

Accordingly, the Second Amended Complaint is dismissed as frivolous. Plaintiff is again strongly warned that this Court will not tolerate frivolous litigation and if he continues to file patently frivolous complaints, the Court “may impose sanctions, including restrictions on future access to the judicial system.” See Hong Mai Sa v. Doe, 406 F.3d 155, 158 (2d Cir.

App.10a

2005) (“If a litigant has a history of filing vexatious, harassing or duplicative lawsuits, courts may impose sanctions, including restrictions on future access to the judicial system.” (internal citations and quotation marks omitted)).

The Clerk of Court is directed to enter judgment and close this case. Although Plaintiff paid the filing fee to bring the action, the Court certifies pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3) that any appeal would not be taken in good faith and therefore in forma pauperis status is denied for purpose of an appeal. See Coppedge v. United States, 369 U.S. 438, 444–45 (1962).
