Hello,

My vision has so many floaters. I am super dehydrated and may have 3 cases simultaneously with the US Supreme Court.

I need time to restore my health or at least to prevent worsening it. I need time to perform research to come up with a legal strategy on how I will do this case and the appeal of the Eastern District of PA case without causing new lawsuits to arise.

I need time to figure out how on earth I will be able to afford paper and ink to print out what I need to even appeal.

I think I should ask Justice Alito for an extension of time as I figure this out to prevent irreparable injury in terms of loss to my First Amendment right to religious belief in Jesus as God, not money and mammon as God (Matthew 6:24), loss to Equal Protections, procedural due process, private 1st amendment right to speech, association, and to exercise of belief, 6th Amendment right to self-representation and potential loss of claims. I need time to prevent loss of licenses but for my religious belief in Jesus.

I need time to prevent needless additional suits without potentially causing one by an appeal. I am in a pickle. I need time to think about it instead of go go going as I've been the past two years.

What is your position on an extension of time. I seek to reduce workload too by preventing additional needless lawsuits that may arise if I do not carefully address the different cases. Ultimately, it is my exercise in my religious belief in Jesus I seek to safeguard foremost.

I have not drafted anything yet. I am not even sure I have enough paper. I need time to figure it out.

Thank you,
Meg
