JUSTICE FEW: A Greenville County Sheriff's Deputy tased Thomas Jones until he lost consciousness before handcuffing and arresting him. The conduct that justified this? Jones asked questions of two deputies as he observed them carry out a traffic stop. Jones argues the Greenville County ordinance under which he was convicted was unconstitutionally applied to him. The State concedes Jones is correct. Jones also asks this Court to strike down the entire ordinance as unconstitutional under the First Amendment and the Due Process Clause of the United States Constitution. We reverse Jones's conviction because the ordinance is unconstitutional as applied to him. We decline to address his other arguments.

I. Facts and Procedural History

In July 2018, deputies Jake Lancaster and Jonathan Cooper of the Greenville County Sheriff's Office pulled over a woman for failing to use a turn signal. The woman pulled her car to the side of the street in front of the home of the man she was driving to visit—Thomas Jones. From the deputies' body camera videos, it is apparent Jones walked from near his house to the side of the street to observe the stop. Standing at a distance with a flashlight pointing toward the officers, Jones observed the scene.

Jones briefly interacted with Lancaster and asked why Lancaster was calling for backup. Lancaster responded it was for safety in the event anyone else approached the scene. Jones next asked why his visitor was being pulled over, and Lancaster answered by stating it was because she had turned without using a turn signal and rolled through stop signs. Seemingly irritated by the questions, Lancaster then asked Jones, "Do you need anything man?" to which both Jones and his friend responded that she was visiting Jones for the night. The woman and Jones's interactions with the deputies were calm and respectful. Jones then took a few steps backward, away from both deputies and the woman, still observing with his flashlight on.

Appendix A-3

The entire exchange that followed lasted only seven to eight seconds. While Cooper questioned the friend, Jones continued to stand and watch. Lancaster then asked Jones, "Alright man, do you need to be here?" Jones responded, "Yeah, this is my house." Lancaster responded—pointing toward the house—"You can go back over there, or you can be arrested for interfering. Step back." Jones did not move. Two seconds later, Lancaster said, "Alright, turn around," and began approaching Jones. Both deputies rushed toward Jones, tackled him, tased him, handcuffed him, and then arrested him. During the altercation, Jones lost consciousness. Three minutes elapsed between Jones appearing on camera and the arrest.

Jones was convicted of interfering with a county law enforcement officer under a Greenville County ordinance but was found not guilty of resisting arrest with assault. He was sentenced to thirty days in jail and a $1,000 fine, suspended upon ten days in jail over weekends and a $500 fine. Jones appealed to the court of appeals and the case was transferred to this Court because Jones raises constitutional challenges to the validity of the ordinance. See S.C. Code Ann. § 14-8-200(b)(3) (2017); Rule 203(d)(1)(A)(ii), SCACR.

II. Analysis

Subsection (b) of the ordinance under which Jones was convicted reads:

Appendix A-4

It shall be unlawful for any person within the unincorporated area of the county to commit an assault, battery or by any act, physical or verbal, resist, hinder, impede or interfere with any law enforcement officer in the lawful discharge of his or her duty, or to aid or abet any such act.

Greenville County Ordinance § 15-10(b).

Jones asserts the ordinance is both unconstitutionally overbroad and void for vagueness. He also argues the prohibitions in the ordinance are preempted by state law. In the alternative, he argues the ordinance was unconstitutional as applied to his conduct in this case. In response, the State expressly conceded to this Court that "under the unique and specific facts of this case, the ordinance was improperly applied to [Jones]." The State asks this Court "to declare the arrest of [Jones] for violation of the ordinance invalid and reverse his conviction and sentence" and not reach the broader challenges Jones presents. The State argues this Court should decide the case on the narrowest possible grounds—its concession. We agree.

This Court has a "firm policy to decline to rule on constitutional issues unless such a ruling is required." In re McCracken, 346 S.C. 87, 92, 551 S.E.2d 235, 238 (2001) (citing Fairway Ford, Inc. v. Cnty. of Greenville, 324 S.C. 84, 86, 476 S.E.2d 490, 491 (1996)). Facial challenges like the ones Jones raises are "disfavored" due to the risk of interpreting a statute on a "factually barebones record[]." Wash. State Grange v. Wash. State Republican Party, 552 U.S. 442, 450, 128 S. Ct. 1184, 1191, 170 L. Ed. 2d 151,

Appendix A-5

161 (2008) (quoting Sabri v. United States, 541 U.S. 600, 609, 124 S. Ct. 1941, 1948, 158 L. Ed. 2d 891, 900 (2004)). The Supreme Court has explained, "Exercising judicial restraint in a facial challenge 'frees the Court not only from unnecessary pronouncement on constitutional issues, but also from premature interpretations of statutes in areas where their constitutional application might be cloudy.'" Wash. State Grange, 552 U.S. at 450, 128 S. Ct. at 1191, 170 L. Ed. 2d at 160-61 (quoting United States v. Raines, 362 U.S. 17, 22, 80 S. Ct. 519, 523, 4 L. Ed. 2d 524, 530 (1960)). Our state jurisprudence also reflects a preference for restraint, largely based on the same concerns. See, e.g., State ex rel. Rawlinson v. Ansel, 76 S.C. 395, 397, 57 S.E. 185, 186 (1907) ("It is the usual practice of this court not to consider questions which are merely speculative." (citing Cantwell v. Williams, 35 S.C. 602, 603, 14 S.E. 549, 550 (1892))); Garrison v. Target Corp., 435 S.C. 566, 588 n.3, 869 S.E.2d 797, 809 n.3 (2022) (citing McCracken, 346 S.C. at 92, 551 S.E.2d at 238) (choosing to avoid a constitutional issue because it was "unnecessary" to resolve the case).

The facts in this case are appalling and tempt us to eschew restraint. This case certainly indicates the ordinance affords law enforcement officers discretion which can be grossly abused, as it was here. As Cooper testified at trial, his idea of "hindering" was anything that could make him lose focus. While many circumstances may require law enforcement officers to secure a scene to carry out their duties or secure their safety, what happened to Jones has left us deeply disturbed. However, we decline the temptation to go further than necessary solely because of the egregious behavior of the deputies in this case.

Appendix A-6

As is clear from both the body camera footage and the record before us, Jones was doing nothing more than observing and asking questions of the officers. Both of these actions are constitutionally protected conduct, and as such, cannot support a conviction under this ordinance.<sup>1</sup> See City of Houston, Tex. v. Hill, 482 U.S. 451, 461, 107 S. Ct. 2502, 2509, 96 L. Ed. 2d 398, 412 (1987) ("[T]he First Amendment protects a significant amount of verbal criticism and challenge directed at police officers."). Similarly, there is no indication Jones did anything beyond engage in protected speech. See State v. Perkins, 306 S.C. 353, 354, 412 S.E.2d 385, 386 (1991) ("To punish only spoken words addressed to a police officer, a statute must be limited in scope to fighting words that 'by their very utterance inflict injury or tend to incite an immediate breach of the peace.'") (quoting Hill, 482 U.S. at 461-62, 107 S. Ct. at 2509-10, 96 L.Ed.2d at 412)).

Jones stood on his own property merely questioning the deputies. When asked to step back from the location on his own property where he had been <sup>1</sup> Subsection (d) of the ordinance reads: "Exceptions. This section shall not apply to constitutionally protected conduct such as the peaceful questioning or protesting of government action." During oral argument, we explored whether this clause could save the ordinance in a broader challenge under different facts. The State argued this clause would prevent someone like Jones from being charged because a solicitor or judge would be aware that his conduct was clearly constitutionally protected. We are cognizant of the fact that in spite of this clause, Jones was nonetheless charged, tried, and convicted. We express no opinion on the import of this clause in a future facial challenge when a defendant is merely engaging in constitutionally protected speech or conduct. However, until that case arises, we expect solicitors and judges to heed the State's argument that this clause should prevent cases like Jones's.

Appendix A-7

standing for the whole interaction, he refused. Seconds later, he was aggressively arrested after being tased. Under these facts, his conviction cannot stand.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons stated above, we reverse Jones's conviction. We choose to do so on the narrowest grounds—his as-applied challenge—and reserve judgment on the broader challenges to the ordinance for another case.

3 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Let's call to 4 The State v. Thomas Charles Jones, that's case No.

5 2018-GS-23-7031.
6 Is The State prepared to proceed?
7 MS. HENDRICKS: We are, Your Honor.
8 THE COURT: And The defense?
9 MR. NGUYEN: Yes, Your Honor.
10 THE COURT: Okay. All right. We have 12 MR. NGUYEN: Yes, sir, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Okay, Mr. Nguyen, I'll be

15 MR. NGUYEN: We would like to put a motion that 16 we submitted to, Your Honor -- Section 15-10 17 unconstitutional. I'll very briefly go over the 18 statement of facts.
19 THE COURT: Yes, sir.
20 MR. NGUYEN: The Defendant was arrested on 21 July 21, 2018 by Deputy Cooper for resisting arrest
22 and with assault and violation of Section 15-10.
23 That section reads, It shall be unlawful for the act,

going to 3 have to repeat that. And please speak up, I can 4 barely hear you.
5 MR. NGUYEN: I apologize. And I'll slow down.
6 THE COURT REPORTER: Please.
7 MR. NGUYEN: Where should I start?
8 THE COURT REPORTER: Just the last sentence is 9 fine.
10 MR. NGUYEN: The Section 15-10 of the Greenville
11 County Ordinance reads, It shall be unlawful for any 12 person with [indiscernible] assault and battery or by 13 any act, physical or verbal, resist, hinder or 14 interfere with any law enforcement officer in the law 15 [indiscernible] duty.
16 Now, this was an arrest that was based on an 17 interaction between Deputy Cooper, Deputy Lancaster
18 and the Defendant. Deputy Lancaster and Cooper
19 initiated the traffic stop on Shauntana Williams, 20 outside the residence of the Defendant's. The

Appendix B-3

- 21 Defendant came out the rear of his house and
- 22 approached the officers. As the Defendant
- 23 approached, Officer Lancaster had requested
- 24 backup.
- 25 The Defendant peacefully asked the officers what was going on. And why Williams was pulled over.

Original Transcript Page 6

- 1 Officers reply that she failed to use her turn
- 2 signals.
- 3 Now, at this point, Officer Lancaster inquired
- 4 if the Defendant needed anything. The
- Defendant
- 5 informed that they were friends and that Shauntana
- 6 was coming to see him that night. She was staying at
- 7 his place. They had a brief conversation about that.
- 8 During all this brief conversation, the
- Defendant
- 9 steps back a little bit and then a few minutes later
- 10 the backup that the officer called for arrived.
- 11 At this point, the Defendant made a statement a
- 12 statement that, They know damn well there was no big
- 13 group of people out here. Officer Lancaster demanded
- 14 the Defendant to go away or he can go to jail for
- 15 interfering. The Defendant refused saying he was at 16 his own house. The officer proceeded to arrest him 17 for interfering and they tackled him. There's body 18 camera footage of this and the Defendant's cell phone 19 of this incident.

20 The issue here is whether or not the County 21 ordinance should be declared basically 22 unconstitutional, it's substantial and overbroad or 23 vague. We think in this case it meets both.
County
24 ordinance meets both standards. The first test to 25 determine is whether the enactment [indiscernible]

Original Transcript Page 7

1 constituting the freedom of speech. If it does, then 2 the analysis turns on whether or not the enactment 3 here is substantially broad or vague. Of course, you 4 know, for it to be substantially overbroad, it can't 5 be just -- it's not enough for that enactment to work 6 on just a single permit application.
7 But the purpose of the underlining overbreadth 8 doctrine is to prevent vastly sweeping laws from 9 people chilling -- chilling [verbatim] the

Appendix B-5

expression 10 of freedom of speech. The statute can also be 11 invalidated for vagueness. Under two conditions.
12 One, is if it fails to provide people of ordinary 13 intelligence a reasonable opportunity to understand 14 what conduct prohibits. Or two, authorize or 15 encourages arbitrary discriminatory enforcement.
16 Now, the First Amendment protects a significant 17 amount of the liberties and challenges and that has 18 been clear -- the case law has been clear throughout 19 our country. We have, you know, the freedom
to 20 challenge statutes without abuse and without risking 21 arrest. That is what distinguishes us from a free
22 nation -- distinguishes a free nation from a free 23 state. All the criticism aimed at police can only be 24 limited where it's shown to likely to produce a clear 25 and present danger of serious substantive evil that

- 1 rises above, far above [indiscernible].
- 2 Now, the Supreme Court struck down a ordinance
- 3 that was very similar to the Greenville County

Appendix B-6

4 ordinance out of the City of Houston. That ordinance
5 was assaulting or interfering with police meant
- it 6 made it unlawful for any person in any manner
to 7 oppose, molest, abuse or interrupt any police in the 8 commission of his duties. The Supreme Court move 9 there that that ordinance was broad, was not narrowly 10 tailored to be only -- disorderly conduct or fighting 11 ordinance.
12 THE COURT: Okay. Let me make sure, Mr.
Nguyen,
13 before you go any further. Right now we're talking 14 strictly about the county ordinance. That is 15 interfering with county officer, not resisting arrest
16 with assault?
17 MR. NGUYEN: We are not referring to the 18 resisting arrest with assault.
19 THE COURT: Okay.
20 MR. NGUYEN: This is just in reference to the 21 Section 15-10 of the Greenville County
ordinance.
22 THE COURT: Okay, fair enough.
23 MR. NGUYEN: Now, Greenville County
ordinance
24 specifically states by any act physical or verbal.
I
25 think that's the key there. It says any act,

Appendix B-7

Original Transcript Page 9

- 1 essentially, physical or verbal. There's no
- 2 limitations on what acts the officer can deem,
- 3 you
- 3 know, as interfering. Essentially, if they deem
- 3 it .

- 4 so then they can make an arrest. In fact, any
- 4 speech
- 5 construed by the officer can be interfering.
- 6 The Supreme Court's repeatedly invalidated
- 6 laws
- 7 that does not give police unfettered discretion
- 7 to
- 8 arrest individual for words or conduct that
- 8 annoy or
- 9 offend them. I think the City of Houston, the
- 9 court
- 10 noted that -- [indiscernible] -- expression
- 10 because
- 11 only those individuals chosen by the police in
- 11 their
- 12 unguided discretion are arrested. The
- 12 Greenville
- 13 County ordinance presents the exact same
- 13 problem.
- 14 Now, if the Greenville County ordinance does
- 15 have an exception in it that says that is, you
- 15 know,
- 16 this section shall not apply to Constitutional
- 17 protective conduct such as peaceful questioning
- 17 or
- 18 protesting government actions, I don't think
- 18 that's
- 19 enough to say that this is basically invalid.

Appendix B-8

20 Essentially, that exception was written there, 21 essentially, to prevent a potential challenge I 22 think. But I don't think it's enough. Because then,
23 essentially, if that were allowed, we could write any 24 statute, you know, just say, well it's not, you know, 25 unconstitutional -- but even if the statute written

Original Transcript Page 10

1 is unconstitutional...
2 THE COURT: Do we know if the constitutionality 3 of this ordinance, of this specific ordinance, or 4 like ordinance has been challenged before?
And that 5 is has the caveat that you just referenced?
6 MR. NGUYEN: I do not think there is a 7 similar -- no, I don't think any of the other cases 8 that I looked into had that specific caveat. But 9 like I said, I don't think that's persuasive enough 10 to the... The legislature, essentially, Greenville
11 County council, can do without any county
ordinance,
12 you know, try to make it valid on that ground.
But I
13 don't think that's enough in this case.
14 THE COURT: Okay. All right.
15 MR. NGUYEN: Now, as far as the vagueness,

Appendix B-9

- 16 Greenville County ordinance legally fails to provide
- 17 ordinary intelligence or reasonable opportunity to
- 18 understand what conduct prohibits and even to
- 19 authorize, not even to issue discriminatory
- 20 enforcement. Again, the ordinance provides no
- 21 definition for what conduct, whether physical or
- 22 verbal, that will constitute interference with the
- 23 police. Without clear guidance, officers threaten
- 24 jail for interfering when it simply is freedom of
- 25 speech they deem annoying.

- 1 That was the case in the town of Honea Path in
- 2 South Carolina, the Supreme Court, you know, the
- 3 court noted that an arrest did occur upon nothing
- 4 more than mere words uttered by a person. Which were
- 5 not pleasing to local police officers who, obviously,
- 6 did not like any questioning or challenge -- anyone
- 7 questioning or challenging their authority. And that
- 8 ordinance was struck down for vagueness. In Columbia
- 9 District Court vs. The City of Columbia, that
- 10 statute, very similar to this, was policy deemed

Appendix B-10

- 11 unconstitutional vagueness. And out of Kirbyville --
- 12 Bucannon in South Carolina, Charleston, also struck
- 13 down that their county ordinance was vague.
- 14 So I think there's enough case law throughout
- 15 our state and even across the country show that these
- 16 county ordinances that have interfering with police

- 17 without clear guidance on what officers can or can't
- 18 arrest for and vague and gives too much discretion to
- 19 the officer to decide what -- you know it's hard to
- 20 be on notice of what you can or can't do if there's
- 21 no clear definition as to what you can't do,
- 22 essentially. I mean, think this ordinance is pretty
- 23 all in compensated.
- 24 For those reasons we would ask that, you know,
- 25 Section 15-10 of the Greenville County Ordinance be

Original Transcript Page 12

- 1 declared unconstitutional.
- 2 THE COURT: Okay. Good, thank you very much.
- 3 All right, Ms. Hendricks, I'll be happy to hear
- 4 from you if there's anything you'd like to say in
- 5 response.

Appendix B-11

6 MS. HENDRICKS: Thank you, Your Honor, may it 7 please the Court. I believe it was already mentioned 8 that none of the cases that the Defense references in 9 his brief contain the exception of the Greenville 10 County ordinance contains. Testimony at trial will 11 show that the Defendant was arrested for his actions 12 and interfering with police, not for his words.
And 13 as far as vagueness, under South Carolina Department 14 of Social Services vs. Michelle Gee, the Defendant
15 must prove the challenge statute is vague as applied 16 to his own conduct, regardless if it's potentially 17 vague application of others. I don't think that has 18 been done in this case.
19 And then also under the United States Supreme 20 Court case Michigan v. DeFillippo, an arrest made in 21 good faith reliance on an ordinance, which at the 22 time had not been declared unconstitutional, it's 23 valid regardless of the subsequent determination of 24 its unconstitutionality. So I think regardless of

Appendix B-12

25 the ruling on the ordinance we will still be able
to

4 Q If I were to show you a blown-up map of that

6 A Yes, ma'am, I would.

7 Q Would that assist in your testimony?

8 A It would.

9 Q Can you see?

10 A Yes, ma'am.

11 Q And can you come down from the stand and point

12 out to the jury where the traffic stop was?

13 A Yes, ma'am. We were traveling this way when we 14 activated our emergency equipment. And we pulled and we

15 stopped in this area right here on B Street.

16 Q Thank you. Was the Defendant in this case in

18 A No, ma'am.

19 Q Where did he come from?

20 A So, around number 20 on Lyncrest, there was a

21 large group of people gathered there. He walked up from

22 that direction toward the traffic stop.

23 Q Is the man who approached the traffic

25 A Yes, he is.

1 Q Could you point him out for us?
2 A He's sitting right over there.
3 Q Thank you. And you referenced a party going on down and 5 pointing out for the jury where that party was?

6 A Yes, ma'am. There was approximately 20 to 30
7 subjects in the front yard of this house right here. So 8 just right up from where we were stopped.
9 Q Did the Defendant know the female who was 10 stopped originally?
11 A Yes, he did.
12 Q And were you able -- were you in a marked car at 13 this time?
14 A Yes, ma'am, we were.
15 Q Were you wearing a uniform?
16 A Yes, ma'am.
17 Q And so, did you actually see the Defendant walk 18 up?
19 A So when the Defendant walked up I was in the 20 vehicle. I had already made may initial contact with the 21 female that we had pulled over. I got back in the vehicle

And I was 23 running her through DMV or whatnot, making sure the having somewhat of somebody. So

Defendant

3 Q Okay. And did you get out of the car at 5 A Yes, ma'am. Once I completed running

the 6 initial female that we had stopped, I got back out of the 7 car.
8 Q And what happened next?
9 A At that point, I was hearing Deputy Lancaster.
10 He was telling the Defendant, you know, what you're doing, 11 recording is fine but step away, you're too close, you're 12 interfering. Because at that point, not only are we 13 having to focus on our traffic stop, we're having to focus 14 on the subject who was interfering with us.

Appendix B-15

15           And at that 15           point it's a risk to us.
16           So Deputy Lancaster was telling him to step 17           away. The Defendant wouldn't do it, 17           wouldn't do it.
18           Finally, he was told, You're under arrest, put 18           your hands 19           behind your back. At this point, we had 19           already requested 20           other units for backup. But at this point, we 20           went hands 21           on. I was on -- when you're looking at the 21           Defendant from 22           my point of view, would be the left or the 22           right side of 23           his body. At that point, I attempted to grab 23           the 24           Defendant's right arm. At which point, he 24           pulled back, 25           forced back forward and hit me in the nose.

Original Transcript Page 69

1           Q       So after the Defendant hit you, was 1           he -- would 2           you consider that resisting at that point?
3           A        Yes, ma'am. With him just pulling 3           away after 4           he's being told that he's under arrest, then 4           him pulling 5           away, trying to flee from a lawful arrest, 5           that's 6           resisting.
7           Q        And after he hit you in the nose, did 7           he stop 8           resisting?

Appendix B-16

9 A No, ma'am, he did not. At that point, other 10 deputies were arriving on the scene. And we were able to 11 take the Defendant to the ground. However, he was still 12 not complying. He wouldn't give us his hands, his hands 13 were tucked underneath his person. I didn't know if the 14 Defendant had a weapon in his waistband that he was trying 15 to go to, you know. There are a variety of factors there.
16 He was being told by all the deputies to put your hands 17 behind your back, you're under arrest, you're resisting, 18 stop resisting. Nothing we were doing was working.
19 At that point, I unholstered my issued 20 taser, gave the command that I was going to tase the 21 subject, which I did. And the taser was effective. And 22 after that we were able to apprehend the suspect -- or 23 excuse me, the Defendant.
24 Q So after you tased the Defendant he stopped 25 resisting, you were able to get him in handcuffs?

Original Transcript Page 70

1 A Correct.

Appendix B-17

2 Q Did the Defendant lose consciousness 3 after being 3 tased?
4 A So he did. After we got him in handcuffs, we 5 went to sit him up. We sat him up against the patrol car, 6 he was unconscious at that point. And any time you tase 7 somebody, especially in a scenario as that, we immediately 8 called for EMS to come on scene to check on him.
9 Q Do defendants typically lose consciousness when 10 they're tased?
11 A No, ma'am, that's very uncommon.
12 Q Did the Defendant get checked out by EMS?
13 A Yes, ma'am. EMS came out and he came back to.
14 EMS cleared him. So on and so forth.
15 Q Can you tell the jury the normal procedure for 16 placing someone under arrest?
17 A Yes. So, of course, when we have probable cause 18 to make an arrest. There's no such thing as a routine 19 arrest. But you're average arrest that we deal with day 20 in and day out. You broke the law, I've got probable 21 cause to say that yes you did that.
Therefore, I'm

Appendix B-18

22 placing you under arrest. And normally, it's you put your 23 hands behind your back, you go in handcuffs and off to 24 jail you go.
25 Q Is that what was attempted to be done in this

Original Transcript Page 71

1 case?
2 A Yes, it was.
3 Q So is a traffic stop considered a police 4 investigation?
5 A It is.
6 Q When conducting an investigation does
the 7 Greenville County Sheriff's Office have policies and 8 procedures regarding how close somebody can be to your 9 investigation?
10 A It's in written -- you know, word for word I 11 can't say that, but he can be five feet or he can be 10 12 feet or so on and so forth. But it's a reasonable mean.
13 If somebody steps in to my investigation where I'm having 14 to take my attention off what I'm there to do, it hinders 15 me from doing my job. That's when we can say, you know, 16 you're too close, you need to back up.
17 Q Is this of extra concern when the

Appendix B-19

18 bystander, who 18 may or may not be interfering, knows who's the 18 subject of 19 your investigation?
20 A Yes, it absolutely is.
21 Q So when people get within a certain 21 distance of 22 your investigation, what do you do to protect 22 yourself and 23 your investigation?
24 A So at that point, when the Defendant 24 walked up 25 and also the individuals that I spoke of 25 earlier having a

Original Transcript Page 72

1 house party, they get agitated. So to protect 1 ourselves, 2 of course, first thing we have to do is get 2 more deputies 3 on scene. You know, 20 to 30 people against 3 five still 4 isn't great numbers. But that's where we 4 have to start 5 first. You know, get more deputies there.
5 Retake control
6 of the situation and try to get the individual 6 causing the 7 issue or instigating the issue away, taking 7 away from the 8 scene.
9 Q Do any of your policies change if your 9 on 10 someone's own property or are you still 10 allowed to ask

Appendix B-20

11 them to back up?
12 A We're still allowed to ask them to back up.
13 Q Do these policies change when investigations are 14 being video recorded?
15 A No, ma'am.
16 Q Are members of the public allowed to record 17 police interactions?
18 A Yes, they are.
19 Q Can you tell us about the charge of interfering 20 with a law enforcement officer?
21 A Yes. So interfering is when a
defendant, 22 person, whoever, if they take my attention away from the 23 investigation. So therefore, they're hindering me from 24 doing my job.. So in this situation, like I said, I'm
25 there for a traffic stop. It's a routine thing, we make discussion 2 about what was going on?

3 A Yeah, I have no idea what they said but I could 4 hear them talking.
5 Q Okay. Well at that point, you didn't ask him to

Appendix B-21

6 step away?
7 A I was not patrolling the outside of the vehicle.
8 At that point, there's a concept of a contact and a cover 9 officer. And at that point, I'm the contact. I stopped 10 the car, I'm doing all the information, checking all the 11 DMV records or whatnot for what I'm there for. As to 12 where Deputy Lancaster was my cover officer, trying to 13 patrol everything else outside that vehicle where I could 14 conduct my primary investigation.
15 Q Okay. So for you, you weren't really interfered 16 with in your investigation, you specifically? I'm not 17 saying Lancaster but you specifically?
18 A No, I was. Because him walking up and then 19 talking and hearing that, I'm now having to take my 20 attention off just her and now trying to run everything on 21 my computer so on and so forth. Well now, I have some 22 random person just walking up that I don't know from Adam.
23 So therefore, my attention is divided away from what I 24 need to be doing.
25 Q Okay. I want to briefly go over, I guess, the 11       DIRECT EXAMINATION 12       BY MS. HENDRICKS:

13       Q        Mr. Lancaster where do you work?
14       A        I'm currently employed by 15       Spartanburg water.
16       Q        And where did you work prior to your 17       position
18       with Spartanburg water?
19       A        The Greenville County Sheriff's 20       Office.
21       Q        What was your position at the 22       Greenville County 23       Sheriff's Office?
24       A        I was uniform patrol deputy assigned 25       to Delta 26       platoon, area nine.
27       Q        How long were you with the sheriff's 28       office?
29       A        Two years and seven months.

31       office on 32       July 21, 2018?

Appendix B-23

24 A Yes, I was.
25 Q And what were you -- what were you doing that

Original Transcript Page 87

1 night?
2 A We were involved in a street level crime unit.
3 Which is why me and Deputy Cooper were in the same 4 vehicle. Usually, we're not. We weren't assigned to a 5 certain beat area that night. It was just kind of a side 6 of town that we were working. Not necessarily responding 7 to calls for service unless they were emergencies.
8 Q Okay. And did you attempt a traffic stop that 9 night?
10 A I did. I was the passenger in the vehicle but 11 yes, we did attempt a traffic stop.
12 Q Where was that?
13 A Lynhurst [verbatim] Drive in area seven of 14 Judson Mills.
15 Q Is that in Greenville County?
16 A Yes, it is.
17 Q Is that in a unincorporated portion of the 18 county?
19 A Yes, it is.

Appendix B-24

20 Q All right. If I were to show you a blown-up map 21 of that area, would you be able to recognize it?
22 A Yes.
23 Q Would that help in your testimony?
24 A Yes.
25 Q The map is actually already up here.
Does it

Original Transcript Page 88

1 actually depict the area of the traffic stop?
2 A Yes, it does.
3 Q Would you mind-- 4 A Yes, it does.
5 Q Would you mind stepping down and pointing out 6 where y'all were stopped?
7 A If I'm looking at this correctly, we had
the 8 vehicle stopped somewhere right here in the front yard.
9 I'm not exactly sure where but it was in the front of this 10 house.
11 Q On B Street?
12 A On B Street, yes.
13 Q All right, thank you. Was the Defendant in the 14 car that you stopped?
15 A No.
16 Q And do you remember what reason that car was 17 stopped?

Appendix B-25

18 A I believe it was a turn signal. And they were 19 driving very erratically. We observed them traveling at a 20 high rate of speed through the mill village.
21 Q And so, did the Defendant walk up to the scene?
22 A Yes, he did.
23 Q Were you able to see where he was coming from?
24 A Yes, I did.
25 Q Is the person who walked up to the scene in the

1 courtroom today?
2 A Yes, he is.
3 Q Could you point him our for the jury?
4 A Yes, he's right there.
5 Q Were there other people outside beside the 6 Defendant?
7 A In front of the house where we stopped
the 8 vehicle, no. But there was a large crowd at the house, 9 not directly to the right, but the one behind it.
10 Q Would you step out and point the jury to where 11 the crowd was?
12 A So we had the vehicle stopped here in front of 13 his house. The large group of people were right here in

Appendix B-26

14 his front yard. In front of this house here, or to the 15 side.
16 Q How many people would you say were outside?
17 A It was very dark, it was nighttime.
But due to 18 the loud volume, I would say five to ten, maybe more.
19 Q And were members of the public able to tell you 20 were a law enforcement officer that night?
21 A Yes, we were in a marked uniform patrol vehicle.
22 We were both wearing matching uniforms.
23 Q So you weren't in a suit like you are today -- 24 A No.
25 Q You had a uniform on?

Original Transcript Page 90

1 A Correct. Uniform like they got on today.
2 Q Were you able to see the Defendant walk up?
3 A Yes.
4 Q Could you tell where he came from?
5 A Yes. So I observed -- so initially, when we 6 stopped the vehicle, because I was the passenger and not 7 the contact officer, where Deputy Cooper was focused on 8 the vehicle, when we stopped it I noticed that the front

Appendix B-27

9 vehicle kept going and I saw the break lights somewhere 10 around that other house. So I assumed that -
- assuming 11 that the Defendant came from that house or that vehicle 12 because he walked up the road. I could see the flashlight 13 coming up the road.
14 Q So did the Defendant have a flashlight?
15 A I believe it was his phone. Looking back on it, 16 it was probably his phone. But that night it just looked 17 like light to me, I thought it was a flashlight.
18 Q And what happened once he walked up to the 19 scene?
20 A So he walked up the road and got in our 21 investigation and began questioning what we were doing, 22 why we were there and why we had stop that vehicle.
23 Q And so what did you do next?
24 A Because I was the cover officer and not no the 25 contact officer, Deputy Cooper was the contact officer

Original Transcript Page 91

1 because he was the driver. He was talking to the suspect

Appendix B-28

2 that we had initially stopped. And I was 3 there for his 3 scene, for safety. I'm just watching, making sure nothing 4 happens while he talks and does he thing.
Can you repeat 5 the question? I'm sorry.
6 Q It was a broad question, I apologize. It was 7 just what happened after the Defendant walked up and you 8 described him as interfering with your investigation.
9 What did you direct the Defendant to do next?
10 A Oh, yes. He began questioning what we're doing, 11 why we were there. And I, honestly, can't remember if I 12 told him at first why we stopped her or not.
But I 13 remember giving multiple verbal warnings of look, you can 14 go over there, you don't need to be questioning what we're 15 doing here, this is, essentially, a crime scene, we're 16 investigating a crime that occurred, you need go back over 17 to where you came from. You don't need to be asking us 18 any questions at this time.
19 Q And did the Defendant follow your command to 20 back up?
21 A No, that's why we had to give multiple, multiple

Appendix B-29

22 commands that he needed to back away from our scene.
23 Q And were any of those commands because he was 24 filming?
25 A No, filming was irrelevant. Like I said before,

1 I didn't even realize that that was a phone. I mean, I 2 thought it was a flashlight because it was dark out there.
3 Q So what happened next after you commanded him to 4 back up and he refused?
5 A I eventually told him why I was telling him to 6 back up. I said he was interfering. I made it known to 7 him, look, you're interfering with our investigation, you 8 need to go back over there or you're going to go to jail 9 for interfering. So I instructed him, look we're going to 10 take you to jail if you continue to interrupt our 11 investigation.
12 Q And did he back up?
13 A No, he did not. So at that point I informed 14 him, okay, you're not going to back up, you're under 15 arrest for interfering with an investigation.
16 Q Were you able to get him in handcuffs at

Appendix B-30

that 17 point and place him under arrest?
18 A No. Luckily, initially, when I saw -- when I 19 observed him coming up and I heard the crowd. Just 20 because of the time of night with people walking up, I 21 knew that we had some other vehicles in the area because 22 we were working on that, you know, like, street crimes.
23 So I knew they were in the area so I went ahead and 24 requested them to come over there. Luckily, they had 25 pulled up as soon as we attempted to effect the arrest.

1 was resisting arrest?
2 A Other than put his arms up. Not -- not put his 3 arms up, other than shoving his hands out towards my face 4 and then just being, I guess, it's passive resisting where 5 he's pulling away from me. He's just constantly trying to 6 get away from me, wouldn't let me effect the arrest. But 7 he didn't strike me in any way.

19 Q That he needed to go away. As soon as he walked more yet, right?

discuss 11 the case, I'll see y'all back at 2:30, all right.
12 (WHEREUPON, the jury left open court at 13 approximately 1:12 a.m.) 14 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Motions?
15 MS. HENDRICKS: None from The State, Your Honor.
16 THE COURT: From The Defense?
17 MR. NGUYEN: Yes, Your Honor. We would move to 18 renew our motion that the Greenville County
ordinance
19 is basically unconstitutional as well as it applies 20 to the Defendant. I think there was ample evidence 21 from the officers statements that, essentially, 22 placed physical presence with interfering. I don't 23 see how, you know, as applied to him that, you know, 24 his physical presence was enough to say he was

Appendix B-35

25 interfering with their investigation. In addition --

Original Transcript Page 116

1 in addition, there was the, I believe, it was 2 officer -- deputy -- former Deputy Lancaster -- 3 sorry, Your Honor, one minute.
4 THE COURT: That's all right.
5 MR. NGUYEN: So I think throughout the testimony 6 from the various deputies, that they don't have an 7 understanding themselves of what the interfering with 8 police ordinance is. I guess, they equate it to 9 physical presence. To me, it would appear that, you 10 know, egregious speech as well as applied to him.
11 Lancaster really didn't have a problem with his 12 presence until the speech. To me, they're going 13 to -- The State is going to say is that, you know, 14 it's only because he's refusing to go away.
There's 15 no obligation for him on his own property. I don't 16 this he necessarily has to go away. But it's applied
17 to him and I think it's unconstitutional.
18 THE COURT: Okay. all right. Good enough.
19 Any response from The State?
20 MS. HENDRICKS: Yes, Your Honor. I think

Appendix B-36

there 21 was ample testimony that their concern was not 22 anything that he said verbally, I think the concerns 23 were for officers safety, public safety and dividing 24 the attention of officers. You can tell from the 25 video it's very dark. They all -- well, the first

1 enforcement officer. And I think that is 2 quintessentially a question of fact for the jury
to 3 determine.
4 So what I intend to do is if I find that the -- 5 and I'm going to read that. But if I find that 6 the -- that the code is constitutional, I will read 7 them not only prohibition as relaid under this code 8 but also the exception as well. We'll talk a little 9 bit more about charge as well before we take off for 10 lunch, okay. Not in court but we'll have a charge 11 conference, okay.
12 All right, so on that basis I'm taking under 13 advisement the constitutionality and I respectfully 14 deny the motion for directed verdict based on 15 whether, in fact, it was impeded or interfering with 16 a law enforcement officer.

Appendix B-37

17 MR. NGUYEN: Okay. I move for a directed 18 verdict on everything.
19 THE COURT: Sure, I gotch you. I gotch you.
20 And I respectfully deny the motion for directed 21 verdict under the applicable standard. I think that 22 The State has presented sufficient evidence upon 23 which a motion for directed verdict could be 24 overcome, has been overcome.
25 MR. NGUYEN: All right. Thank you, Your Honor.

3 Okay, you may publish the verdict.
4 THE CLERK: In the case of The State of South 5 Carolina vs. Thomas Charles Jones, we, the jury, by 6 unanimous agreement, find the Defendant not guilty of 7 resisting arrest with assault. Guilty of interfering
8 with a county law enforcement officer.
9 THE COURT: Okay. All right, anything further 10 from this jury from The State?
11 MS. HENDRICKS: Nothing from The State, Your 12 Honor.
13 THE COURT: From The Defense?
14 MR. NGUYEN: No, Your Honor.

- 15 THE COURT: Okay. All right. So, ladies and
- 16 gentlemen, I appreciate your service on this jury.
- 17 If you return to your jury room I'll come back and
- 18 I'll dismiss you informally, give you the opportunity
- 19 to ask me any questions that you may have or give me
- 20 any constructive criticism that you may have as well.
- 21 I won't keep you very long, I promise you. I know
- 22 that y'all are ready to get outside and play in this

- 3 MR. NGUYEN: I think it would be hard for him to 7 hard for him.

8 THE COURT: All right, well, let me ask you 9 this, you can pay a fine? Because I can do -- I can 10 do -- you don't know who Monty Hall is but I'm not 11 here to make a deal with you or anything. I'm just 12 trying to find something that's fair to you, okay.
13 MR. JONES: Yes, sir.
14 THE COURT: You can pay a fine?
15 MR. JONES: If I can work out some payment plans 16 so I don't go to jail.
17 THE COURT: Yeah, to avoid going to jail for 30 18 days, y'all can get together, okay?
19 UNIDENTIFIED FEMALE: Yes, sir. Yes, sir.
20 THE COURT: All right, here's what I'm going to 21 do. I'm going to sentence you to 30 days.
And a 22 fine of $1,000, provided upon the service of ten 23 days, weekend time; and a fine of $500, the balance

---

COMES NOW, Defendant, by and through his Attorney, respectfully submits his Motion to Declare Greenville County Ordinance § 15-10 Unconstitutional. Defendant respectfully requests that § 15-10 of the Greenville County, South Carolina Code of Ordinances be declared "facially" unconstitutional under the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of South Carolina.

Statement of Facts

Defendant was arrested on July 25, 2018 by Officer Jonathan Cooper for resisting arrest with assault and violation of § 15-10 of the Greenville County Ordinance. That ordinance states as follows:

Appendix D-2

It shall be unlawful for any person within the unincorporated area of county to commit an assault, battery or by any act, physical or verbal, resist, hinder, impede or interfere with any law enforcement officer in the lawful discharge of his or her duty, or to aid or abet any such act.

The Defendant's arrest was based on an interaction between Defendant and Officer Charles Lancaster. Officers Jonathan Cooper and Lancaster initiated a traffic stop on Shontona Enicha Williams outside the residence of Defendant. Defendant came out at the rear of his house and approached the officers. As Defendant approached, Officer Lancaster requested back up. Defendant peacefully asked officers what was going on and why Williams was pulled over. Officer Lancaster responded that Williams failed to use her turn signals while making turns. At this point, Officer Lancaster inquired if Defendant needed anything. Defendant informed Officer Lancaster that he and Williams are friends, and that Williams was staying at his place for the night. Further conversations ensued regarding the traffic stop between Officer Cooper and Williams. During this time, Defendant stepped back a little. A few minutes later, more officers arrived from the earlier call for back up. Defendant made a verbal statement. Defendant stated, "they know damn well there was no big group of people out here." Officer Lancaster appeared to become agitated and demanded that Defendant go away or he can go to jail for interfering. Defendant refused stating no this was his house. Officers proceeded to arrest him for "interfering." Subsequently, officers gang tackle and tase him.

Issue

Should § 15-10 of the Greenville County Ordinance be declared facially unconstitutional because it is substantially overbroad and vague?

Law

The "first task is to determine whether the enactment reaches a substantial amount of constitutionally protected conduct." Hoffman Estates v. Flipside, Hoffman Estates, 455 U.S. 489, 494, 102 S. Ct. 1186, 1191 (1982). If it does, the analysis turns to whether the enactment is substantially overbroad and/or vague.

"Only a statute that is substantially overbroad may be invalidated on its face." City of Houston v. Hill, 482 U.S. 451, 458, 107 S. Ct. 2502, 96 L. Ed. 2d 398 (1987). It is not enough that an enactment evokes only a "single impermissible application" to show facial overbreadth. Id. at 457. The purpose underlying the overbreadth doctrine is to prevent vastly sweeping laws from repeatedly chilling the exercise of free expression. New York v. Ferber, 458 U.S. 747, 772, 102 S. Ct. 3348, 73 L. Ed. 2d 1113 (1982). As the Court has explained, "the requirement of substantial overbreadth stems from the underlying justification for the overbreadth exception itself—the interest in preventing an invalid statute from inhibiting the speech of third parties who are not before the Court." City Council of Los Angeles v. Vincent, 466 U.S. 789, 802, 104 S. Ct. 2118, 80 L. Ed. 2d 772 (1984).

A statute or ordinance can also be invalidated for vagueness if the law (1) "fails to provide people of ordinary intelligence a reasonable opportunity to understand what conduct it prohibits" or (2)

Appendix D-4

"authorizes or even encourages arbitrary and discriminatory enforcement." City of Houston, 482 U.S. at 461.

Vague laws offend several important values. First, because we assume that man is free to steer between lawful and unlawful conduct, we insist that laws give the person of ordinary intelligence a reasonable opportunity to know what is prohibited, so that he may act accordingly. Vague laws may trap the innocent by not providing fair warning. Second, if arbitrary and discriminatory enforcement is to be prevented, laws must provide explicit standards for those who apply them. A vague law impermissibly delegates basic policy matters to policemen, judges, and juries for resolution on an ad hoc and subjective basis, with the attendant dangers of arbitrary and discriminatory application. . .

Grayned v. City of Rockford, 408 U.S. 104, 108-09, 92 S. Ct. 2294, 33 L. Ed. 2d 222 (1972). "A statute is 'void for vagueness' when its 'terms are so vague that men of common intelligence must necessarily guess at its meaning and differ as to its application.'" Fitts v. Kolb, 779 F. Supp. 1502, 1516 (D.S.C. 1991) (citing Connally v. Gen. Constr. Co., 269 U.S. 385, 46 S. Ct. 126, 70 L. Ed. 322 (1925)).

Analysis

1. Constitutionally Protected Conduct/Substantially Overbroad

Appendix D-5

"The First Amendment protects a significant amount of verbal criticism and challenge directed at police officers." City of Houston, 482 U.S. at 461. "Freedom of individuals verbally to oppose or challenge police action without thereby risking arrest is one of the principal characteristics by which we distinguish a free nation from a police state." Id. at 462-63. Verbal criticism aimed at police can only be limited where it is "shown likely to produce a clear and present danger of a serious substantive evil that rises far above public inconvenience, annoyance, or unrest." Terminiello v. City of Chicago, 337 U.S. 1, 4, 69 S. Ct. 894, 93 L. Ed. 1131 (1949).

In City of Houston v. Hill, the Supreme Court struck down an ordinance like the Greenville County Ordinance at issue. The City of Houston's ordinance, "Assaulting or interfering with policemen," made it "unlawful for any person to . . . in any manner oppose, molest, abuse or interrupt any policeman in the execution of his duty." City of Houston, 482 U.S. at 461. The Supreme Court noted that the ordinance's scope was broad and not "narrowly tailored to prohibit only disorderly conduct or fighting words." Id. at 462-63, 465. The Supreme Court also held that the language "in any manner . . . oppose, molest, abuse or interrupt" dealt with speech. Id. at 460-61. Though the City of Houston did not specifically mention speech, the Supreme Court interpreted "in any manner" to prohibit both physical and verbal acts.

The Greenville County Ordinance is similar in nature to the City of Houston ordinance and is overly broad. Unlike the ordinance in the City of Houston, the Greenville County Ordinance specifically states, "by any act, physical or verbal." Therefore, the scope of the ordinance covers speech. Much like City of Houston, however, the ordinance is not narrowly tailored to prohibit specific speech such as fighting words. Practically any speech could be construed by police to be interfering.

The Supreme Court has also "repeatedly invalidated laws that provide the police with unfettered discretion to arrest individuals for words or conduct that annoy or offend them." City of Houston, 482 U.S. at 465. The City of Houston ordinance was "susceptible of regular application to protected expression" because only those individuals "chosen by the police in their unguided discretion" are arrested. Id. at 466-67. The Greenville County Ordinance presents the very same problem. The ordinance gives the police free reign on what speech constitutes interference with their duties. Unique to the Greenville County Ordinance, however, is a provision that states, "Exceptions. This section shall not apply to constitutionally protected conduct such as the peaceful questioning or protesting of government action." Though this is better than the City of Houston ordinance, the problem remains. Police ultimately have unfettered discretion as to what is constitutionally protected conduct.

Since the Greenville County Ordinance governs speech, is not restricted to obscene language or fighting words, and gives officers "unfettered discretion" to make arrests for constitutionally protected speech, it should be concluded that it is unconstitutionally overbroad on its face.

2. Vagueness

The Greenville County Ordinance both (1) "fails to provide people of ordinary intelligence a reasonable opportunity to understand what conduct it prohibits" and (2) "authorizes or even encourages arbitrary and discriminatory enforcement." City of Houston, 482

Appendix D-7

U.S. at 461. Under the first test, the ordinance provides no definition for what conduct, whether physical or verbal, would constitute an interference with police. Under the ordinance, practically any speech could interfere with police if deemed so by the police. This leads us to the second test, the authorization of any arbitrary enforcement of the law. Without clear guidance from the Greenville County Ordinance, officers can threaten jail for interfering when they simply disapprove of speech, they deem annoying. Much like the analysis above for overbreadth, the ordinance gives unfettered discretion to the police allowing arbitrary enforcement. In a similar ordinance in Town of Honea Path v. Flynn, 255 S.C. 32, 176 SE.2d 564 (S.C. 1970), the ordinance had no guidance for the police in determining what conduct constituted interference. An arrest could occur “upon nothing more than mere words uttered by [a person] which were not pleasing to the local police officers who obviously did not like anyone questioning or challenging their authority.” Town of Honea Path, 176 S.E.2d at 567-68. That ordinance was struck down for vagueness by the South Carolina Supreme Court.

In addition to the above cases, there are two other cases in South Carolina of local ordinances being declared unconstitutional because they were vague. In McCoy v. City of Columbia, 929 F. Supp. 2d 541 (D.S.C. 2013), the District of South Carolina found the city’s interfering with police ordinance unconstitutionally vague. Its ordinance read “it shall be unlawful for any person to interfere with or molest a police officer in the lawful discharge of his duties.” In Baker v. Cannon, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 132987, the District of South Carolina also struck down a similarly vague statute. The statute read “it shall be unlawful for any person or persons willfully to approach nearer than twenty (20) feet to any town employee for the purpose of interfering or stopping that employee from carrying out his/her duties."

Since the Greenville County Ordinance is similar to numerous other local ordinances that have been declared unconstitutionally vague, is not clear on what conduct is prohibited, and arbitrarily allows police to decide what violates the law, it should be concluded that it is unconstitutionally vague.
