QUESTION (s) PRESENTED

On May 29, 2024, the Louisiana Supreme Court issued the following:

It is ordered that respondent, Edward Moses, Jr., Louisiana Bar Roll number 30646, be and he hereby is suspended from the practice of law on a reciprocal basis for a period of one year. It is further ordered that respondent shall not be eligible to apply for reinstatement to the practice of law in Louisiana pursuant to Louisiana Supreme Court Rule XIX, § 24(K) unless and until he submits to a comprehensive mental health evaluation through the Judges and Lawyers Assistance Program and files a copy of the evaluation report in this court and with the ODC.

The right of the ODC to object to respondent's reinstatement under Supreme Court Rule XIX, § 24(K) or seek any other relief is reserved. Nothing in our order should be read as precluding the reinstatement of respondent in the United States District Court for the Middle District of Louisiana if otherwise permitted under the rules of that court; however, under no circumstances shall respondent be reinstated to the practice of law in Louisiana without an express order from this court. In Re: Edward Moses Jr

ON PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI TO THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE FIFTH CIRCUIT

PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI

EDWARD MOSES JR respectfully petitions this court for a writ of certiorari to review the judgment of the Louisiana Supreme Court in this case.

OPINIONS BELOW

The opinion of the Louisiana Supreme Court is published at "In re Moses, 2024-B-00295 (La. May 29, 2024)

JURISDICTION

The Judgment of the Louisiana Supreme Court was entered on May 29, 2024. The jurisdiction of this court is invoked under 28 USC §1257.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Pursuant to Louisiana Supreme Court Rule XIX, § 21, the Office of Disciplinary Counsel ("ODC") filed a petition seeking the imposition of reciprocal discipline against respondent, Edward Moses, Jr., an attorney licensed to practice law in Louisiana, based upon discipline imposed by the United States District Court for the Middle District of Louisiana. In re Moses, 2024-B-00295 (La. May 29, 2024)

On March 7, 2024, The Louisiana Supreme Court rendered an order giving respondent and the Louisiana Office of Disciplinary Counsel thirty days to demonstrate why the imposition of identical discipline would be unwarranted." Ibid Appellant filed a timely response in which he asserted that reciprocal discipline is unwarranted." Ibid He asserted that although he is an attorney, he did not appear in these proceedings, in the Middle District and the Louisiana Supreme Court in his individual capacity, but rather solely in his official capacity as 'the Christian Emperor d'Orleans Trust protector of the Atakapa Indian "TRIBE OF ɬΨɬɬ MOSES" (Foreign) Express Spendthrift Trust. ibid Appellant timely appealed the Louisiana Supreme Court's Reciprocal Discipline order. Ibid The Louisiana Reciprocal Disciplinary Order is based on a September 14, 2023, sanctions order from the United States District Court Middle District of Louisiana which imposes a $15,000 fine against him and his law firm (which is trust property and outside of the jurisdiction of any state or nation.) The order also suspends him from practicing law in the Middle District of Louisiana for one year with the threat of expulsion.

BACKGROUND

On March 30, 2023, Pope Francis renounced the 550-year-old Doctrine of Discovery, which granted European nations the right to claim the lands they discovered on behalf of Christendom.<sup>12</sup> It should be noted that on October 21, 2021, Louisiana was ordered to file a petitory action in state court.<sup>3</sup> This case arises out of an ex parte application for trust instructions and temporary restraining order, preliminary and permanent injunction barring state officers and employees from operating within the Atakapa Nation. The case was filed in state court but removed by the United States to federal court.<sup>4</sup> The U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Louisiana sitting en banc made the following findings of fact:

It is true that the Nineteenth JDC's December 8, 2021, Final Judgment—which still stands—made the July 21, 2021, Baton Rouge City Court Judgment which granted a permanent injunction protecting the Atakapa Indian “TRIBE OF ȐΨȐMOSES” possession of Historic Louisiana and the Sixteenth JDC's December 8, 2020, Trust Order executory in the Nineteenth Judicial District.<sup>5</sup> True also, the Sixteenth JDC's December 8, 2020, Order granted Mr. Moses authority to administer the Atakapa Indian “TRIBE OF ȐΨȐMOSES” Express Spendthrift Trust. see In re Edward Moses, Jr., U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Louisiana, Case No. 23-00084 - BAJ. <sup>5</sup> Atakapa IV, No. 3:23-mc-0084-BAJ-RLB (M.D. La.), Rec Doc.2-3 p.24-33, Rec Doc.8.p.23

The two judgments made executory were executed and enforced immediately as if they had been judgments of the 19th Judicial District Court rendered in an ordinary proceeding.<sup>6</sup> The United States District Court Middle District of Louisiana further found that:

The December 8, 2020 “Order” from the Sixteenth JDC declares “the Atakapa Indian “TRIBE OF MOSES” (foreign) Express Spendthrift Trust... a foreign trust ‘governed by the Law of Moses, a jurisdiction other than Louisiana,’ whose property is held to the exclusion of any other “State or Nation,” under the dominion of “the CHRISTIAN EMPEROR D’Orleans Edward Moses Jr.”<sup>7</sup>

Stated another way, the Sixteenth Judicial District Court's December 8, 2020 Order granted "Emperor Moses" full authority to act under the provisions of the "Atakapa Indian TRIBE OF ȐΨΨ†MOSES Foreign Express Spendthrift Trust" ...[sic] with full protection from all claims of any person both juridical and natural.<sup>8</sup> In accordance with the Federally Recognized Indian Tribe List Act of 1994, the December 8, 2020, Order from the Sixteenth JDC recognized "the Atakapa Indian Nation" and its sovereignty.<sup>910</sup> On December 29, 2021, "Emperor Moses" filed a wholly new "Application For Ex Parte Trust Instructions, Emergency Temporary Restraining Order, Preliminary and Permanent Injunction" (the "Application").<sup>11</sup>

The “December 29 Application” prompted four additional developments.<sup>12</sup> First, on January 7, 2022, the Nineteenth JDC sua sponte vacated the December 8, 2021 Executory Judgment, on the basis that the final judgment was erroneously signed.<sup>13</sup> Second, on May 20, 2022 the Louisiana First Circuit Court of Appeal reversed—reinstating the Final Judgment—on the basis that Louisiana law prohibits a trial court from sua sponte changing a judgment notwithstanding it was signed in error.”<sup>14</sup> In re Atakapa Indian de creole Nation, 2022-0208, 2022 WL 1599997 (La. Third, after the time delay to appeal the Final Judgment to the Louisiana Supreme Court had passed, on June 22, 2022 “Emperor Moses” executed the judgments immediately when he transferred the entirety of his property, both corporeal and incorporeal, movable and immovable including MOSES LAW FIRM, LLC and all rights into the Atakapa Indian “TRIBE OF MOSES” Foreign Express Spendthrift Trust, the Covenant of one Heaven, by trust transfer deed.<sup>15</sup> Then he filed the trust transfer deed into the East Baton Rouge Clerk of Court conveyance records.<sup>16</sup> At this point, if not before, the state court judgments became absolutely final and entitled to full faith and credit.” *Piambino v. Court for the Middle District of Louisiana also certified to both the United States and the State of Louisiana Attorneys General that the constitutionality of the 1803 Louisiana Purchase Treaty and the 1811 Louisiana Enabling Act were in fact called into question.<sup>25</sup> After a flurry of motion practice the district court denied the motion to remand on the basis that the district court properly exercised jurisdiction over the constitutional challenge.<sup>26</sup> “Emperor Moses” then filed a motion for summary judgment and a Federal Civil Procedure rule 21 motion to sever the Application for injunctive relief from the trust instructions. Edward Moses Jr's Indian/Non-Indian and sovereign status are jurisdictional challenges requiring the government to present competent evidence not presumptions. United States v. United States, 163 U.S. 612, 16 S.Ct. 1168, 41 L.Ed. 282 (1896) However, the government was not ordered to answer the motion to dismiss, thus depriving Emperor Moses of his right to confront his accusers. Emperor Moses filed a timely notice of intent to appeal. On May 29, 2024, the Louisiana Supreme Court imposed Reciprocal Discipline after a review of the United States District Court for Louisiana Middle District's record involving this case. This timely appeal followed.

REASONS FOR GRANTING THE PETITION

1. Is "Emperor Moses" the real party in interest entitled to an injunction barring the state officials from operating within the Atakapa Indian Nation

The Louisiana Supreme Court did not grant Emperor Moses a disciplinary hearing, it merely reviewed the record in the US District Court then issued the reciprocal disciplinary order." In re Moses, 2024-B-00295 (La. May 29, 2024)

a. The Real Party in Interest

"It is the general rule that courts must look to the substantive law creating the right being sued upon to determine compliance with the real party in interest requirement, and for at least two reasons we look to Louisiana law in order to measure Emperor Moses' claims." Piambino v. Bailey, 610 F.2d 1306 (5th Cir. 1980)

The real party in interest in this trust administration case is the Christian Emperor D' Orleans, Ltd trust protector of the Atakapa Indian TRIBE OF MOSES (Foreign) Express Spendthrift Trust, supra." "First Emperor Moses is the trustee of an express trust who may sue in Louisiana state courts. " Piambino v. Bailey, 610 F.2d 1306 (5th Cir. 1980) "see also La.Code Civ. Pro. art. 699 ("Except as otherwise provided by law, the trustee of an express trust is the proper plaintiff to sue to enforce a right of the trust estate.")..." In re Cannon, 166 So.3d 1107 (La. App. 1st Cir. 2015) And he may sue in Federal courts under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(a) which provides that a "trustee of an express trust ... may sue in that person's own name without joining the party for whose benefit the action is brought .... Piambino v. Bailey, 610 F.2d 1306 (5th Cir. 1980) (W)hen a declaration of trust is made in writing, all previous declarations by the same trustor are merged therein," Id. at § 2254, but when documents are executed contemporaneously with the trust agreement and are cross-referenced to each other, as was the Amended Trust Judgment in this case, trust Instructions... and Trust Agreement in this case, they must be regarded as one instrument.<sup>32</sup> Ibid In Read v US the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeal held that like judicial review of all issues of Civil Law, Trust law begins not with an examination of jurisprudence but with the plain wording of the Trust Code [La.R.S. 9:1721], read as a whole and interpreted according to its own rules of construction." Read v. U.S. ex rel. Dep't of Treasury, 169 F.3d 243, 248 (5th Cir. 1999). Unfortunately, the Louisiana Supreme Court departed from the accepted and usual course of judicial proceedings and sanctioned such a departure by the United States District Court Middle District of Louisiana when they both failed or refused to apply Louisiana Trust Law in this case. If they had applied Louisiana trust law to this case then they would have found that under La. Revised Statute 9:2111, a trustee shall exercise only those powers conferred upon him by the provisions of the trust instrument or necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes of the trust and are not forbidden by the provisions of the trust instrument. Cockerham v. Cockerham, 201 So.3d 253 (La. App. 1st Cir., 2013)

In this case, the Louisiana Supreme Court held that, [sic] "He asserted that although he is an attorney, he did not appear in these proceedings in his individual capacity, but rather solely in the capacity of 'the Christian Emperor d'Orleans Trust protector of the Atakapa Indian TRIBE OF ነዢኑ†MOSES (Foreign) Express Spendthrift Trust.'..." In re Moses, 2024-B-00295 (La. May 29, 2024) "The Foreign Trust instrument is 'deemed to be legally executed and shall have the same force

b. Violation of Emperor Moses' rights under the Establishment Clause

The Louisiana Supreme Court and the Louisiana Middle District Court violated Emperor Moses' rights under the Establishment Clause by among other things referring to his religious beliefs as "Bizarre." When a litigant claims a violation of his rights under the Establishment Clause, Members of this Court 'loo[k] to history for guidance.'..." N.Y. State Rifle & Pistol Ass'n, Inc. v. Bruen, 142 S.Ct. 2111, 213 L.Ed.2d 387 (2022) "The Free Exercise Clause of the First Amendment which applies to the States through the Fourteenth Amendment states that..." Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. Church of Lukumi Babalu Aye, Inc v. City of Hialeah, 508 U.S. 520, 113 S.Ct. 2217, 124 L.Ed.2d 472 (1993) Under the Free Exercise Clause, a law that burdens religious practice need not be justified by a compelling governmental interest if it is neutral and of general applicability." ibid However, where such a law is not neutral or not of general application, it must undergo the most rigorous of scrutiny: It must be justified by a compelling governmental interest and must be narrowly tailored to advance that interest. ibid Neutrality and general applicability are interrelated, and failure to satisfy one requirement is a likely indication that the other has not been satisfied. Ibid Emperor Moses argues that he is deprived of his absolute right to participate in the political process, that he is singled out in a way that leaves him politically isolated and powerless.”<sup>33</sup> South Carolina v. Baker, Iii, 485 U.S. 505, 108 S.Ct. 1355, 99 L.Ed.2d 592 (1988) The First Amendment of the United States Constitution embraces two concepts, —freedom to believe and freedom to act.” Cantwell v. State of Connecticut, 310 U.S. 296, 60 S.Ct. 900, 84 L.Ed. 1213, 128 A.L.R. 1352 (1940) “Religious beliefs need not be acceptable, logical, consistent, or comprehensible to others in order to merit First Amendment protection....” Church of Lukumi Babalu Aye, Inc v. City of Hialeah, 508 U.S. 520, 113 S.Ct. 2217, 124 L.Ed.2d 472 (1993) “

“The Divine Right of Kings” like animal sacrifice is mentioned throughout the Old Testament and the Quran...” ibid Thus, Emperor Moses’ assertion of “Kingship” (Psalms 45) like that of “animal sacrifice” in the Church of Lukumi Babalu Aye case as an integral part of his religion ‘cannot be deemed bizarre or incredible....”id The policy of the common law, which gives the crown so many exclusive privileges and extraordinary claims is founded, in a good measure, if not altogether, upon the doctrine of the “Divine Right of Kings,”<sup>34</sup> Deuteronomy 17:14-15 King James Version; Deuteronomy 18:15-19 King James Version or, at least, upon a sense of their exalted dignity and pre-eminence..., and upon the notion, that they are entitled to peculiar favor, for the protection of their kingly rights and office. *Charles River Bridge v. c. The Federal District Court lacked subject matter jurisdiction

"Emperor Moses" filed a motion to remand/motion to dismiss for want of jurisdiction in this case.<sup>35</sup> Appx.B pg.14 In the Princess Lida case this Court held that the principle applicable to both federal and state courts that the court first assuming jurisdiction over property may maintain and exercise that jurisdiction to the exclusion of the other, is not restricted to cases where property has been actually seized under judicial process before a second suit is instituted, but applies as well where suits are brought to marshal assets, administer trusts, or liquidate estates, and in suits of a similar nature where, to give effect to its jurisdiction, the court must control the property. Princess Lida of Thurn and Taxis v. Thompson, 305 U.S. 456, (1939) It is undisputed that this matter is a trust administration case, and it is likewise undisputed that the Nineteenth Judicial District Court in East Baton Rouge Parish assumed jurisdiction over the property of the Atakapa Indians when it issued the June 29, 2022, Trust Instructions.<sup>36</sup> The state court in this case maintains jurisdiction to the exclusion of the Federal Courts.

Congress expressly said so: "If at any time before final judgment it appears that the district court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over a case removed from state court, the case shall be remanded." 28 U.S.C. § 1447(c)...Precedent supports what the plain text says. The Supreme Court has noted that "the literal words of 28 USC § 1447(c), on its face, give . . . no discretion to dismiss rather than remand an action. The statute declares that, where subject matter jurisdiction is lacking, the removed case shall be remanded." Appx.B pg.17-18, 22-25 *Int'l Primate Prot. League v. Adm'rs of Tulane Educ. d. The US District Court identified a federal controversy over land between the Atakapa Indians and the United States

"Article III of the Constitution limits the jurisdiction of federal courts to 'Cases' and 'Controversies.' U.S. Const., Art. III, § 2." Susan B. Anthony List v. Driehaus, 573 U.S. 149, 134 S.Ct. 2334, 189 L.Ed.2d 246 (2014) The record establishes that regardless of which party was entitled to the land, the Atakapa Indians' <sup>37</sup> right to possession of their ancestral lands held in their trust—is plainly enough alleged to be based on federal law and is not so insubstantial, implausible ... or otherwise completely devoid of merit as not to involve a federal controversy.<sup>38</sup>

"The East Baton Rouge Amended Trust Judgment ... granted 'Emperor Moses' ownership of 'Historic Louisiana..." U.S. Bank v. Moses, 2023 CA 1292, 2023 CW 0661 (La. App. Aug 20, 2024) Coeur D'Alene Tribe v. Hawks, 933 F.3d 1052 (9th Cir. 2019) quoting Oneida Indian Nation v. County of Oneida, 414 U.S. 661, (1974) In this case the reader can glean from the US District court's analysis that a federal controversy over land between the Atakapa Indian "TRIBE OF ȐWATMOSES" and the United States exists:

Even assuming that Mr. Moses' December 29 Application was somehow related to the Nineteenth JDC's administration of the "TRIBE OF MOSES" Express Spendthrift Trust, Mr. Moses's prior-exclusive-jurisdiction rule argument still fails.<sup>39</sup> Why? Because the prior exclusive-jurisdiction rule does not apply when the United States is a party to the action and holds a competing claim to the land in dispute, when the state court cannot “make a complete determination of the basic issue in the litigation”; “confusion could be caused by inconsistent judgments”; and the United States’ “claim of right or interest in the property ... precedes the state court litigation.” Sid-Mars Rest. & Lounge, 644 F.3d at 275 (discussing Leiter Mins., Inc. v. United States, 352 U.S. 220, 226-28 (1957)). Plainly these conditions are satisfied when, as here, the object of Mr. Moses’s state court litigation is to usurp the United States’ sovereign authority over the territory of Louisiana. Again, Mr. Moses should know this because it is the central holding of the Sid-Mars decision, cited in Mr. Moses’s Show Cause response.<sup>40</sup> Appx.B pg.22-25

Louisiana was ordered to file a petitory action in state court.<sup>41</sup> This court should remand for the limited purpose of allowing the state court to determine title.” U.S. v. Sid-mars Rest. & Lounge Inc., 644 F.3d 270 (5th Cir. 2011) If not, then the United States should file suit to quiet title in Federal Court since it did not intervene into the underlying proceeding. Ibid Nevertheless, where the Federal Government takes on or has control or supervision over tribal monies or properties, a fiduciary relationship normally exists with respect to such monies or properties ...even though nothing is said expressly in the authorizing or underlying statute (or other fundamental document) about a trust fund, or a trust or fiduciary connection. - e. A good faith argument that the Atakapa Indians application for final injunctive relief is warranted by existing law.

To obtain permanent injunctive relief, the plaintiff must establish by a preponderance of the evidence: "(1) actual success on the merits; (2) that it is likely to suffer irreparable harm in the absence of injunctive relief; (3) that the balance of equities tip in that party's favor; and (4) that an injunction is in the public interest." [8] Crown Castle Fiber, L.L.C. v. City of Pasadena, Texas, 76 F.4th 425, 441 (5th Cir. 2023), cert. denied, 144 S.Ct. 820 (2024); see also Winter v. Nat. Res. Def. Council, Inc., 555 U.S. 7, 20, 32, 129 S.Ct. 365, 172 L.Ed.2d 249 (2008). The first two factors of the traditional standard are the most critical. It is not enough that the chance of success on the merits be "better than negligible...." Nken v. Holder, 129 S.Ct. 1749, 173 L.Ed.2d 550, 556 U.S. 418, 77 USLW 4310 (2009)

"Ordinarily, when a party seeks an injunction, it is deemed that exclusion is an irreparable harm" ... id "Once an applicant satisfies the first two factors, the traditional injunction inquiry calls for assessing the harm to the opposing party and weighing the public interest. These factors merge when the Government is the opposing party." Id The Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment provides that: "[N]o state shall ... deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." U.S. CONST. AMEND. XIV, § 1. The intent of the provision is "to prevent the States from purposefully discriminating between individuals on the basis of race." Shaw v. Reno, 509 U.S. 630, 642, 113 S.Ct. 2816 2824, 125 L.Ed.2d 511 (1993) ("Shaw I").

As applied to redistricting, the Equal Protection Clause bars “a State, without sufficient justification, from ‘separating its citizens into different voting districts on the basis of race.’” Bethune-Hill v. Virginia State Bd. of Elections, 580 U.S. 178, 187, 137 S.Ct. 788, 797, 197 L.Ed.2d 85 (2017) (citing Miller v. Johnson, 515 U.S. 900, 911, 115 S.Ct. 2475, 132 L.Ed.2d 762 (1995)). Thus, the Equal Protection Clause prohibits the creation and implementation of districting plans that include racial gerrymanders, with few exceptions. “A racial gerrymander [is] the deliberate and arbitrary distortion of district boundaries … for [racial] purposes.” Shaw I, 509 U.S. at 640 (citing Davis v. Bandemer, 478 U.S. 109, 164, 106 S.Ct. 2797 2826, 92 L.Ed.2d 85 (1986) (Powell, J. concurring in part and dissenting in part), abrogated on other grounds by Rucho v. Common Cause, 588 U.S. 684, 139 S.Ct. 2484, 204 L.Ed.2d 931 (2019)). Courts analyze racial gerrymandering challenges under a two-part burden-shifting framework. First, a plaintiff bears the burden to prove that “race was the predominant factor motivating the legislature’s decision to place a significant number of voters within or without a particular district.” Miller, 515 U.S. at 916. This requires a plaintiff to show that “the legislature ‘subordinated’ other factors - compactness, respect for political subdivisions, partisan advantage, what have you - to ‘racial considerations.’” Cooper v. Harris, 581 U.S. 285, 291, 137 S.Ct. 1455 1464, 197 L.Ed.2d 837 (2017) (citing Miller, 515 U.S. at 916).

The plaintiff may make the requisite showing “either through circumstantial evidence of a district’s shape and demographics or more direct evidence going to legislative purpose, that race was the predominant factor motivating the legislature's decision." Alabama Legislative Black Caucus v. Alabama, 575 U.S. 254, 267, 135 S.Ct. 1257 1267, 191 L.Ed.2d 314 (2015) (citing Miller, 515 U.S. at 916).

If Plaintiff meets the burden of showing race played the predominant factor in the design of a district, the district must then survive strict scrutiny. Cooper, 581 U.S. at 292. At this point, the burden of proof "shifts to the State to prove that its race-based sorting of voters serves a 'compelling interest' and is 'narrowly tailored' to that end." Cooper, 581 U.S. at 285 (citing Bethune-Hill, 580 U.S. at 193).

"Racial gerrymandering, even for remedial purposes" is still subject to strict scrutiny. Shaw I, 509 U.S. at 657. Where the state seeks to draw a congressional district by race for remedial purposes under Section 2, the state must have a "strong basis in evidence" for "finding that the threshold conditions for section 2 liability are present" under Gingles. And, to survive strict scrutiny, "the district drawn in order to satisfy § 2 must not subordinate traditional districting principles to race substantially more than is 'reasonably necessary' to avoid § 2 liability." Bush v. Vera, 517 U.S. 952, 979, 116 S.Ct. 1941 1961, 135 L.Ed.2d 248 (1996). This case involves a challenge to the constitutionality of the Louisiana Purchase Treaty and the 1811 Louisiana Enabling Act.<sup>42</sup> Appx.B pg.14,16,22-24 The 1811 Louisiana Enabling Act §2 was directed to all "Free White males citizens of the United States" who were eligible and... authorized them to choose representatives to form a convention, who Heller*, 128 S.Ct. 2783, 171 L.Ed.2d 637, 554 U.S. 570, (2008) "The laws were administered by the white man alone." The Slaughterhouse Cases, 83 U.S. 36, 21 L.Ed. 394, 16 Wall. 36 (1872) The effect of this unconstitutional act is still reverberating throughout the Louisiana territory today. In a recent case, Callais v. Landry, on cross examination, Senator Seabaugh acknowledged that, in determining how to draw the new districts, protecting the districts of Mike Johnson and Stephen Scalise - two of Louisiana's representatives (white men) in the United States House of Representatives, serving as Speaker and Majority Leader, respectively - were important considerations. Id. at 60:8-20. *Callais v. This court further held that the Cherokee, like other American Tribes, remained a distinct community occupying its own territory . . . in which the laws of [a foreign State] can have no force, and which the citizens of [that foreign State] have no right to enter, but with the assent of the [Americans] themselves, or in conformity with treaties, and with the acts of Congress." Ibid.

ii. The Atakapa Indians Tribal Membership

Prior to European, Anglo-Saxon and Caucasians arrival, Louisiana was a foreign country occupied by numerous tribes of Indians, exclusively, the Atakapa Indians.<sup>47</sup> Johnson v. M'Intosh, 21 U.S. 543, (1823) In Carcieri v. Salazar, 555 U.S. 379 (2009), this court relied on "Webster's New International Dictionary 1671 (2d ed.1934); and also, Black's Law Dictionary 1262 (3d ed.1933) "for the ordinary meaning of the word "now," as understood when the Indian Reorganization Act was enacted." The court reasoned that one should use the definition of the word at the time that the act was created. Using this same logic, we turn to the American Dictionary of English Language, Webster, Noah 1828 Vol 1 pg 12 to define the term "American" as: n. A native of America originally applied to the aborigines or copper-colored races, found here by Europeans. According to Samuel George Morton the founder of Penn Medical Center in Philadelphia the American Race - is marked by a brown complexion....<sup>48</sup> The name “Indian” was given to the inhabitants of this continent, on its discovery by Columbus, under the erroneous supposition that the new land was part of India, think United States Vice President Kamala Harris, and it is with reference to the descendants of the aborigines that the term is used in the federal statutes here controlling ( Frazee v. Spokane County, 29 Wash. 278, 69 P. 779 (1902)); they do not include Caucasian men adopted into the tribes at a mature age, but only those persons who, by the usages and customs of the Americans, are regarded as belonging to the American race... State v. Phelps, 93 Mont. 277 (Mont.1933) In State of Louisiana v. Judge of Commercial Court, 15 La. 192 (1840) John N. Stiles, an American Indian, a free man of color was arrested and committed to prison on a warrant for having failed to leave the State of Louisiana, after having been notified to depart and forever to remain out of the same....

In an equally important case, Danzell v. Webquish, 108 Mass. 133 (Mass.1871) Christopher Danzell ... was a colored man of Indian descent, a “black Indian” -- the court there held that under United States common law, people of color were classified as Indians, codified by Massachusetts Statute of 1869, c. 463, § 1 which specifically stated, that “all Indians, and “people of color”, heretofore known and called Indians, within this Commonwealth, are hereby made and declared to be citizens of the Commonwealth....” It was held by this court in the “Dred Scott” case, only a few years before the outbreak of the civil war, that a man

Chavers*, 5 Jones [N. C.] 1);<sup>51</sup> others, that it depends upon the preponderance of blood (Gray v. State, 4 Ohio, 354; *Monroe v. is a federal judge should make him more competent, or conscientious, or learned ... than his neighbor in the state courthouse."<sup>68</sup> Thus, the Atakapa Indian "TRIBE OF MOSES" is formally recognized by the Louisiana Sixteenth and Nineteenth Judicial District court judgments as an international government<sup>69</sup> under the Federally Recognized Indian Tribe List Act of 1994.<sup>70</sup>

- b. The Atakapa Indians count as separate sovereigns under the Double Jeopardy Clause.

"The East Baton Rouge June 29, 2022 Amended Trust Judgment appointed '[Moses] as judge ad hoc...' U.S. Bank v. Moses, 2023 CA 1292, 2023 CW 0661 (La. App. 1st Cir., Aug 20, 2024) 34 U.S.C. §20101(f) states in part that, as used in this section, the term "offenses against the United States" does not include-(3) an offense triable by an Indian tribal court or Court of Indian Offenses. Pulsifer v. United States, 22-340 (Mar 15, 2024) Indian tribes like the Atakapa Indians count as separate sovereigns under the Double Jeopardy Clause. Commonwealth v. Valle, 136 S.Ct. 1863, 195 L.Ed.2d 179 (2016) Originally, this Court has noted that, "the tribes were self-governing sovereign political communities," possessing (among other capacities) the "inherent power to prescribe laws for their members and to punish infractions of those laws.") Ibid ('Congress has plenary authority to limit, modify or eliminate the [tribes'] powers of local self-government')."Ibid But unless and until Congress withdraws the Atakapa Indians tribal power...the Atakapa

Indian community retains that power in its earliest form. Ibid Unlike the thirteen colonies, who obtained their powers of external sovereignty as a result of their rebellion from the King of Great Britain, supra. For the Atakapa Indian "TRIBE OF נָשָׁת MOSES" the earliest form of "primeval "self-governance or, at any rate, "pre-existing" sovereignty that they retain can be found in Exodus 7:1, when יְהֹוָה said to our progenitor, Moses, see I have made thee a God to Pharaoh.... King James Version The ultimate source" of a tribe's "power to punish offenders" thus lies in its "primeval" or, at any rate, "pre-existing" sovereignty: here the Atakapa Indian "TRIBE OF נָשָׁת MOSES" power to punish offenders lies where our progenitor, Moses took his seat to serve as Judge for the people. Exodus 18-13 King James Version. The Atakapa tribal power of prosecution is "attributable in no way to any... federal authority." Commonwealth v. Valle, 136 S.Ct. 1863, 195 L.Ed.2d 179 (2016)

Equally so, the United States Congress has never withdrawn the Atakapa Indians' tribal power. As a result, the scope of a judge's jurisdiction must be construed broadly where the issue is the immunity of the judge. PHI Ngo v. Spears, 22-C-183 (La. App. Jun 29, 2022) A judge will not be deprived of immunity because the action he took was in error, was done maliciously, or was in excess of his authority...." ibid "This immunity extends to justices of the peace as well as those that sit on the Supreme Court and shields judges unless they act either in the clear absence of all jurisdiction over subject matter, or in a nonjudicial capacity, ultra vires. Ibid Consequently, unless and until Congress withdraws the Atakapa Indians tribal power—including the power to prosecute—the Atakapa Indian community retains that authority in its earliest form. The earliest form of "primeval "tribal power or, at any rate, "pre-existing" sovereignty that they retain can be found in (Exodus 2:10 wherein our progenitor, Moses was raised as a ... Prince. King James Version) and in (The Book of Jasher 76:1, wherein out progenitor, Moses ... was still King in the land) .... As such, the Nineteenth Judicial District Court's June 29, 2022, trust instructions read as follows:

IT IS ORDERED, ADJUDGED and DECREED that precedence shall be and is hereby given to the Crowned Head, in regard to priority of rank between the Emperor of the American Empire majestically referred to as the Christian Emperor D'Orleans Edward Moses Jr and any Republic or Democracy.<sup>71</sup>

Compare judicial immunity to that of a king. "A king is born to power and can 'do no wrong....' Trump v. Vance, 140 S. Ct. 2412, (2020) The title emperor seems to denote a power and dignity superior to that of a king .... Henry Campbell Black, Black's Law Dictionary, 616-617 (West Publishing Co.) (4th Ed. 1968)

c. "Emperor Moses" is entitled to Sovereign Immunity

The June 29, 2022, trust instructions granted by the Nineteenth Judicial District Court interpret Emperor Moses' core administrative powers to wit:

IT IS ORDERED, ADJUDGED and DECREED that the principle that the acts of a monarch are in subordination to the laws of the country, applies only where there is any law of higher obligation than his will; the rule contended for may prevail in an Anglo-Saxon, British or European province, but certainly not in the Atakapa Indian "TRIBE OF ȐΨȐMOSES" provinces.<sup>72</sup>

18 U.S.C. § 112 adopts the definitions found in 18 U.S.C. § 1116(b) "Foreign official" means-- (A) a Chief of State or the political equivalent, President, Prime Minister, Ambassador, Foreign Minister, or other officer of Cabinet rank or above of a foreign government or the chief executive officer of an international organization, or any person who has previously served in such capacity.... U.S. v. Vasquez, 867 F.2d 872 (5th Cir. 1989) Internationally protected person" means-- (A) a Chief of State or the political equivalent, head of government, or Foreign Minister whenever such person is in a country other than his own. ibid <sup>73</sup> "The record establishes that "Emperor Moses" is the head of State of the Atakapa Indian"TRIBE OF ȐΨȐMOSES", an independent nation. This is enough to support a finding that Emperor Moses is a 'foreign official' under 18 U.S.C. § 1116(b)." ibid

The common-law rule is that 'no suit or action can be brought against the king, even in civil matters, because no court can have jurisdiction over him. Franchise Tax Bd. of Cal. v. Hyatt, 139 S.Ct. 1485 (2019) The Emperor of the American Empire"<sup>74</sup> like the King of England, as sovereign of the nation, is said to be independent of all, and subject to no one but God: and his crown is styled Imperial, on purpose to assert that he owes no kind of subjection to any potentate

3. Did the Louisiana Supreme Court Violate Edward Moses Jr's right to confront the government in the attorney suspension proceedings? yes

"If a litigant asserts the right in court to 'be confronted with the witnesses against him,' U.S. Const., Amdt. 6, this court requires lower courts to consult history to determine the scope of that right." *N.Y. Appellant 1 v. Sealed Appellee 1, 211 F.3d 252 (5th Cir. 2000) Here, there was none. "The serious contempt fines imposed here while characterized as civil were in fact criminal in nature and constitutionally could be imposed only through a jury trial." Int'l Union, United Mine Workers of America v. Bagwell, 512 U.S. 821, 114 S.Ct. 2552, 129 L.Ed.2d 642 (1994)" Edward Moses Jr's Indian/Non-Indian and sovereign status are jurisdictional challenges requiring the government to present competent evidence not presumptions. United States v. Haggerty, 997 F.3d 292 (5th Cir. 2021) citing "Lucas v. United States, 163 U.S. 612, 16 S.Ct. 1168, 41 L.Ed. 282 (1896)" However, the government was not ordered to answer the motion to dismiss. The court simply dismissed Emperor Moses' pleading, thus depriving HIM of his right to confront his accusers.

- a. Is the sanction of $15,000 penalty and one year suspension excessive enough to afford Emperor Moses a trial by jury?

The Court's inherent authority was explained by this Court as follows: Federal courts possess certain "inherent powers," not conferred by rule or statute, "to manage their own affairs so as to achieve the orderly and expeditious disposition of cases." Link v. Wabash R. Co., 370 U.S. 626, 630-631, 82 S.Ct. 1386, 8 L.Ed.2d 734 (1962). That authority includes "the ability to fashion an appropriate sanction for conduct which abuses the judicial process." Chambers v. NASCO, Inc., 501 U.S. 32, 44-45, 111 S.Ct. 2123, 115 L.Ed.2d 27 (1991) see Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Haeger, ___ U.S. ___, 137 S. Ct. 1178 1186, 197 L. Ed. 2d 585 (2017). For the Court to act pursuant to its inherent authority, there must be bad faith.... Id.; Oregon

RSA No. 6 v. Castle Rock Cellular of Oregon Ltd. Partnership, 76 F.3d 1003, 1007 (9th Cir. 1996); Also see Int'l Union, United Mine Workers of America v. Bagwell, 512 U.S. 821, 114 S.Ct. 2552, 129 L.Ed.2d 642 (1994) (distinguishing compensatory from punitive sanctions and specifying the procedures needed to impose each kind)."
Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Haeger, 137 S.Ct. 1178, 197 L.Ed.2d 585 (2017) The Rule in question contemplates that occasions may arise when the trial judge must immediately arrest any conduct of such nature that its continuance would break up a trial, so it gives him power to do so summarily." Sacher v. United States, 343 U.S. 1, (1952) We think 'summary' as used in this Rule ... refers to a procedure which dispenses with the formality, delay and digression that would result from the issuance of process, service of complaint and answer, holding hearings, taking evidence, listening to arguments, awaiting briefs, submission of findings, and all that goes with a conventional court trial. Ibid The purpose of that procedure is to inform the court of events not within its own knowledge. Ibid The Rule allows summary proceedings only as to offenses within the knowledge of the judge because they occurred in his presence. Ibid "Conviction without trial is not only inherently unfair in the first court, but the unfairness is carried up to the appellate level." Ibid

b. The alleged criminal contempt was punitive and committed beyond the presence of the Louisiana Supreme Court

The fines are $15,000 in this case is punitive. "The issue before us accordingly is limited to whether these fines, despite their noncompensatory character, are coercive civil or criminal sanctions." Ibid "Where, as here, 'a serious contempt is at issue, considerations of efficiency must give way to the more fundamental interest of ensuring the even-handed exercise of judicial power.'..." ibid A contempt sanction is considered civil if it 'is remedial, and for the benefit of the complainant. Int'l Union, United Mine Workers of America v. Bagwell, 512 U.S. 821, 114 S.Ct. 2552, 129 L.Ed.2d 642 (1994) But if it is for criminal contempt the sentence is punitive, to vindicate the authority of the court...." ibid "Thus, a 'flat, unconditional fine' totaling even as little as $50 announced after a finding of contempt is criminal if the contemnor has no subsequent opportunity to reduce or avoid the fine through compliance. Int'l Union, United Mine Workers of America v. Bagwell, 512 U.S. 821, 114 S.Ct. 2552, 129 L.Ed.2d 642 (1994) "Alleged contempt committed beyond the court's presence where the judge has no personal knowledge of the material facts are especially suited for trial by jury. ibid
