| In re:Gayle George,Relator,v.Judges, Clerks, and Judicial OfficerRespondent. | No.Declaration in Support of Motion for Leaveto Proceed without filing fees. |
|--|--|

Relator petitions this court of equity for emergency leave to proceed without paying filing fees to review its Petition for Writ of Mandamus for the following reasons:

The first amendment to the US Constitution guarantees the right of the people to redress grievances with the government. "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

While the Supreme Court has not ruled that all court fees are unconstitutional, in Bearden v. Georgia (1983) it determined the imposition of fees without consideration of ability to pay was unconstitutional. In Boddie v. Connecticut (1971), it established access to the courts as a fundamental right with due process requiring the waiver of court fees to exercise the right.

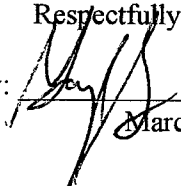

The fourteenth amendment due process and equal protection clauses inform the Department of Justice Office of Access to Justice declaration that "The Constitution prohibits punishing a person for poverty,"

Pursuant to the prison litigation reform act 28 U.S. Code § 1915 - Proceedings in forma pauperis describe the process required for applicants, indigent persons and prisoners to access the judicial system. As one of the private people acting in her own private capacity to exercise her right to redress grievances with the government and protect her interest in private property, Relator does not qualify under any of these statutory definitions.

Relator seeks the following relief: 1) Grant Relator's motion to proceed without filing fees; 2) Grant Relator's Petition for Writ of Mandamus and emergency injunctive relief to restore Relator's possession of her private shelter of 18 years pending the court's review, outstanding appeals, and pending actions for quiet title to prevent further irreparable harm; and, provide all other relief deemed just and proper.
