

APPENDIX

EXHIBIT 1: Certificate of Facts/ Secretary of state of Texas

EXHIBIT 1B: OATH OF OFFICE/ Judge Lorina Rummel

EXHIBIT 2: OATH OF OFFICE/ Chief Justice Sandee Bryan Marion

EXHIBIT 3: Fifth Circuit Unpublished Order

EXHIBIT 4: Fifth Circuit Denial Rehearing

EXHIBIT 5: U.S. Dist. Court Judgment on Habeas §2254

EXHIBIT 6: U.S. Dist. Court Order denied amend judgment and COA

EXHIBIT 7: U.S. Dist. Court Order Denied Forma Pauperis

EXHIBIT 8: U.S. Dist. Court Order Denied MT. to Reconsider

EXHIBIT 9: Memorandum of law supporting Petition §2254

EXHIBIT 10: Petition for Writ of Habeas §2254

United States Court of Appeals
for the Fifth Circuit

United States Court of Appeals
Fifth Circuit

FILED

December 5, 2024

No. 24-50352

Lyle W. Cayce
Clerk

BILLY MINH TRAN,

Petitioner—Appellant,

versus

BOBBY LUMPKIN, *Director, Texas Department of Criminal Justice,
Correctional Institutions Division,*

Respondent—Appellee.

Application for Certificate of Appealability
the United States District Court for the Western District of Texas
USDC No. 5:23-CV-1159

UNPUBLISHED ORDER

Before STEWART, HAYNES, and HIGGINSON, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM:

Billy Minh Tran, Texas prisoner # 02044506, seeks a certificate of appealability (COA) to challenge the district court's dismissal of his 28 U.S.C. § 2254 application as untimely and the denial of his Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 59(e) motion.

No. 24-50352

In his COA pleadings, Tran renews his substantive claims and argues that the respondent misstated one of his claims. As to the district court's timeliness determination, Tran contends that his first two claims were not subject to the 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d) statute of limitations because they are jurisdictional challenges which may be raised at any time and may not be forfeited or waived. He also argues that, because he was never convicted by a lawful tribunal, his judgment was not final and the limitations period had not commenced. Additionally, liberally construed, Tran's COA pleadings argue that he is entitled to statutory and equitable tolling because Texas Government Code § 552.028 unconstitutionally prevented him from obtaining evidence regarding the trial judge's oath of office in support of his first two claims. As further support for his equitable tolling claim, he cites his lack of education and his exercise of due diligence, despite lengthy delays in his receipt of records due to his imprisonment and intermittent hospitalization.

In addition, Tran contends that the district court violated his constitutional rights by not sanctioning the respondent for allegedly falsely claiming in a certificate of service that it had served Tran a copy of its answer. He further contends that the respondent violated federal habeas rules and his constitutional rights by failing to send him a copy of the state court record and that the district court erroneously denied his request to order the respondent to send the record to him.

In order to obtain a COA, Tran must make "a substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right." 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(2); see Miller-El v. Cockrell, 537 U.S. 322, 336 (2003). A prisoner "satisfies this standard by demonstrating that jurists of reason could disagree with the district court's resolution of his constitutional claims or that jurists could conclude the issues presented are adequate to deserve encouragement to proceed further." Miller-El, 537 U.S. at 327. When, as here, the district court denies relief on procedural grounds, a COA should issue if the prisoner establishes, “at least, that jurists of reason would find it debatable whether the application states a valid claim of the denial of a constitutional right and . . . whether the district court was correct in its procedural ruling.” See Slack v. McDaniel, 529 U.S. 473, 484 (2000). Additionally, to obtain a COA to appeal the denial of a Rule 59(e) motion, a prisoner must show that a jurist of reason could conclude that the district court abused its discretion in denying the motion. Hernandez v. Thaler, 630 F.3d 420, 428 (5th Cir. 2011).

No. 24-50352

Tran fails to make the required showing. See Miller-El, 537 U.S. at 327; Slack, 529 U.S. at 484. Accordingly, his motion for a COA is DENIED. His motions for leave to proceed in forma pauperis and for leave to file exhibits are also DENIED.

As Tran fails to make the required showing for a COA, we do not reach his contention that the district court erred by failing to conduct an evidentiary hearing. See United States v. Davis, 971 F.3d 524, 534-35 (5th Cir. 2020).

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
SAN ANTONIO DIVISION

BILLY MINH TRAN,	§
TDCJ No. 02044506,	§
	§
Petitioner,	§
	§
v.	§	CIVIL NO. SA-23-CA-01159-XR
	§
BOBBY LUMPKIN, Director,	§
Texas Department of Criminal Justice,	§
Correctional Institutions Division,	§
	§
Respondent.	§

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

Before the Court are pro se Petitioner Billy Minh Tran's Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 (ECF No. 1) and Memorandum in Support (ECF No. 2), Respondent Bobby Lumpkin's Answer (ECF No. 17), and Petitioner's Reply (ECF No. 32) thereto. In his § 2254 petition, Petitioner challenges the constitutionality of his 2016 state court murder convictions, arguing (1) the trial judge was disqualified from presiding over his trial because she did not submit a valid oath of office, (2) the trial court lacked jurisdiction over his case, (3) the trial court, counsel, and the State conspired to deny Petitioner his constitutional rights due to his race, and (4) he was denied the right to counsel due to counsel's conflict of interest. In his answer, Respondent contends Petitioner's federal habeas petition should be dismissed with prejudice as untimely.

Having carefully considered the record and pleadings submitted by both parties, the Court agrees with Respondent that Petitioner's allegations are barred from federal habeas review by the one-year statute of limitations embodied in 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1). Thus, for the reasons discussed below, the Court concludes Petitioner is not entitled to federal habeas corpus relief or a certificate of appealability.

I. Procedural History

In January 2016, Petitioner plead guilty in Bexar County to two counts of murder and was sentenced, pursuant to the plea bargain agreement, to two consecutive life sentences. State v. Tran, Nos. 2015CR12246W and 2015CR12247W (144th Dist. Ct., Bexar Cnty., Tex. Jan. 14, 2016).¹ The Fourth Court of Appeals dismissed Petitioner’s subsequent appeal because he waived the right to appeal as part of the plea bargain agreement. Tran v. State, Nos. 04-16-00049-CR and 04-16-00050-CR, 2016 WL 2585618 (Tex. App.—San Antonio, May 4, 2016, no pet.).² Petitioner did not file a petition for discretionary review (PDR) with the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.³

Instead, Petitioner challenged the constitutionality of his state court murder convictions by filing two applications for state habeas corpus relief on October 9, 2021, at the earliest.⁴ Ex parte Tran, Nos. 26,534-03, -04 (Tex. Crim. App.).⁵ At Petitioner’s request, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals dismissed these applications without written order on January 26, 2022, and February 2, 2022.⁶ Seven months later, Petitioner filed two more state habeas applications challenging his underlying murder convictions, both of which were eventually denied by the Texas Court of

¹ ECF Nos. 18-1 at 6-14 (Plea Agreement), 149-50 (Judgment); 18-2 at 6-14 (Plea Agreement), 146-47 (Judgment).

² ECF No. 18-3.

³ See <http://www.search.txcourts.gov>, search for “Tran, Billy” last visited March 25, 2024.

⁴ Because of Petitioner’s pro se status, the prison mailbox rule applies to his state habeas applications. Richards v. Thaler, 710 F.3d 573, 579 (5th Cir. 2013) (extending mailbox rule to state habeas application delivered to prison authorities for mailing).

⁵ ECF Nos. 18-11 at 4-19; 18-23 at 4-19.

⁶ ECF Nos. 18-19; 18-31.

Criminal Appeals without written order on January 11, 2023. Ex parte Tran, Nos. 26,534-06, -07 (Tex. Crim. App.).⁷

Thereafter, Petitioner placed the instant federal habeas corpus petition in the prison mail system on August 30, 2023.⁸

II. Timeliness Analysis

Respondent contends Petitioner's federal habeas petition is barred by the one-year limitation period of 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d). Section 2244(d) provides, in relevant part, that:

(1) A 1-year period of limitation shall apply to an application for a writ of habeas corpus by a person in custody pursuant to the judgment of a State court. The limitation period shall run from the latest of—

(A) the date on which the judgment became final by the conclusion of direct review or the expiration of the time for seeking such review.

In this case, Petitioner's murder convictions became final June 3, 2016, when the time for filing a PDR with the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals expired. See Tex. R. App. P. 68.2 (providing a PDR must be filed within thirty days following entry of the court of appeals' judgment); Mark v. Thaler, 646 F.3d 191, 193 (5th Cir. 2011) (holding that when a petitioner elects not to file a PDR, his conviction becomes final under AEDPA at the end of the 30-day period in which he could have filed the petition) (citation omitted). As a result, the limitations period under § 2244(d) for filing a federal habeas petition challenging his underlying convictions expired a year later on Monday, June 5, 2017.⁹

⁷ ECF Nos. 19-1 at 4-19; 19-6; 19-9 at 4-19; 19-15.

⁸ ECF No. 1 at 11.

⁹ Because the end of the limitations period fell on a Saturday, the limitations period continued to run until the following Monday. See Flanagan v. Johnson, 154 F.3d 196, 202 (5th Cir. 1998) (finding Rule 6(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure applies to computation of AEDPA's limitations period).

Petitioner did not file his § 2254 petition until August 30, 2023—over six years after the limitations period expired. Thus, his petition is barred by AEDPA’s one-year statute of limitations unless it is subject to either statutory or equitable tolling.

A. Statutory Tolling

Petitioner does not satisfy any of the statutory tolling provisions found under 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1). There has been no showing of an impediment created by the state government that violated the Constitution or federal law which prevented Petitioner from filing a timely petition. 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1)(B). There has also been no showing of a newly recognized constitutional right upon which the petition is based, and there is no indication that the claims could not have been discovered earlier through the exercise of due diligence. 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1)(C)-(D).

Similarly, Petitioner is not entitled to statutory tolling under 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(2). Section 2244(d)(2) provides that “[t]he time during which a properly filed application for State post-conviction or other collateral review with respect to the pertinent judgment or claim is pending shall not be counted toward any period of limitation under this subsection.” Petitioner did challenge the instant convictions by filing several applications for state post-conviction relief, the first of which were filed in October 2021. But as discussed previously, Petitioner’s limitations period for filing a federal petition expired at the beginning of June 2017. Because the state habeas applications were filed well after the time for filing a federal petition under § 2244(d)(1) had lapsed, they do not toll the one-year limitations period. See 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(2); Scott v. Johnson, 227 F.3d 260, 263 (5th Cir. 2000). Thus, the instant § 2254 petition, filed August 30, 2023, is still over six years late.

B. Equitable Tolling

In some cases, the limitations period may be subject to equitable tolling. The Supreme Court has made clear that a federal habeas corpus petitioner may avail himself of the doctrine of equitable tolling “only if he shows (1) that he has been pursuing his rights diligently, and (2) that some extraordinary circumstance stood in his way and prevented timely filing.” McQuiggin v. Perkins, 569 U.S. 383, 391 (2013) (citing Holland v. Florida, 560 U.S. 631, 649 (2010)). However, equitable tolling is only available in cases presenting “rare and exceptional circumstances,” United States v. Riggs, 314 F.3d 796, 799 (5th Cir. 2002), and is “not intended for those who sleep on their rights.” Manning v. Epps, 688 F.3d 177, 183 (5th Cir. 2012).

Neither Petitioner’s § 2254 petition nor his reply brief provide a valid argument for equitably tolling the limitations period in this case. Even with the benefit of liberal construction, Petitioner has provided no reasonable justification to this Court for the application of equitable tolling, as a petitioner’s ignorance of the law, lack of legal training or representation, and unfamiliarity with the legal process do not rise to the level of a rare or exceptional circumstance which would warrant equitable tolling of the limitations period. U.S. v. Petty, 530 F.3d 361, 365-66 (5th Cir. 2008); see also Sutton v. Cain, 722 F.3d 312, 316-17 (5th Cir. 2013) (a garden variety claim of excusable neglect does not warrant equitable tolling).

Moreover, Petitioner fails to demonstrate that he has been pursuing his rights diligently. Petitioner’s direct appeal of his conviction was dismissed by the intermediate court of appeals in May 2016, yet Petitioner waited until October 2021 to file his first two state habeas corpus applications challenging his convictions and consecutive life sentences. This delay alone weighs against a finding of diligence. See Stroman v. Thaler, 603 F.3d 299, 302 (5th Cir. 2010) (affirming the denial of equitable tolling where the petitioner had waited seven months to file his state application). Petitioner also fails to explain why he waited another seven months after the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals denied his latest state habeas applications in January 2023 before filing the instant federal petition in this Court.

Consequently, because Petitioner fails to assert any specific facts showing that he was prevented, despite the exercise of due diligence on his part, from timely filing his federal habeas corpus petition in this Court, his petition is untimely and barred by § 2244(d)(1).

III. Certificate of Appealability

The Court must now determine whether to issue a certificate of appealability (COA). See Rule 11(a) of the Rules Governing § 2254 Proceedings; Miller-El v. Cockrell, 537 U.S. 322, 335-36 (2003) (citing 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(1)). A COA may issue only if a petitioner makes “a substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right.” 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(2). The Supreme Court has explained that the showing required under § 2253(c)(2) is straightforward when a district court has rejected a petitioner’s constitutional claims on the merits: The petitioner must demonstrate “that reasonable jurists would find the district court’s assessment of the constitutional claims debatable or wrong.” Slack v. McDaniel, 529 U.S. 473, 484 (2000). This requires a petitioner to show “that reasonable jurists could debate whether the petition should have been resolved in a different manner or that the issues presented were ‘adequate to deserve encouragement to proceed further.’” Miller-El, 537 U.S. at 336 (citation omitted).

The issue becomes somewhat more complicated when the district court denies relief on procedural grounds. Id. In that case, the petitioner seeking COA must show both “that jurists of reason would find it debatable whether the petition states a valid claim of the denial of a constitutional right and that jurists of reason would find it debatable whether the district court was correct in its procedural ruling.” Gonzalez v. Thaler, 565 U.S. 134, 140-41 (2012) (citing Slack, 529 U.S. at 484). A COA should issue if the petitioner not only shows that the lower court's procedural ruling is debatable among jurists of reason, but also makes a substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right.

A district court may deny a COA sua sponte without requiring further briefing or argument. See Alexander v. Johnson, 211 F.3d 895, 898 (5th Cir. 2000). Here, the one-year statute of limitations found in the AEDPA has been in place since 1996, yet Petitioner provided no reasonable justification for missing the filing deadline by over six years. Thus, for the reasons discussed herein, the Court concludes that jurists of reason would not debate whether Petitioner was entitled to federal habeas relief, and a COA will not issue.

IV. Conclusion

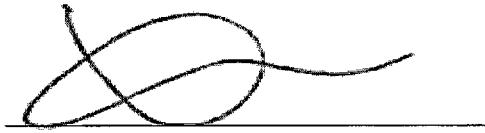

After careful consideration, the Court concludes that Petitioner's § 2254 petition (ECF No. 1) is barred from federal habeas corpus relief by the statute of limitations set forth in 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d). As a result, Petitioner is not entitled to federal habeas corpus relief.

Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that:

1. Federal habeas corpus relief is DENIED and Petitioner Billy Minh Tran's Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 (ECF No. 1) is DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE as untimely;
2. No Certificate of Appealability shall issue in this case; and
3. All remaining motions, if any, are DENIED, and this case is now CLOSED.

It is so ORDERED.

SIGNED this 25th day of March, 2024.

XAVIER RODRIGUEZ
UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE