RE: South Carolina v. North Carolina, No. 138, Original;
North Carolina's Progress Report No. 10

Dear Special Master Myles:

Document discovery among the parties is ongoing. Additionally, the parties conducted a meet and confer with respect to the issues raised by the Special Master during the conference call of December 5. Although the parties had a full and frank discussion of the division of issues into phases, all parties agreed that it would be productive to continue those discussions before presenting any remaining dispute to the Special Master. The parties further agreed that any discussions with respect to scheduling would be more productive after the Supreme Court issues rulings from its conference of January 9, 2009.

Sincerely,
