

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

Daimeyahn Stevenson, Pro se

v.

No. 17-6770

Darryl Vannoy

PETITION FOR REHEARING

Now Into Court Comes Daimeyahn Stevenson (Hereinafter Mr. Stevenson) in Pro Se Capacity, Petitioning this Honorable Court to Grant Rehearing of his original Petition for Writ of Certiorari.

Petitioner avers that Petition for Rehearing is based on “substantial grounds not previously presented,” pursuant to Rule 44.2. These grounds are as follows:

1. Because the merits of Mr. Stevenson's claims have never been heard by any court, at any level due to unconstitutional state action, Mr. Stevenson trusts that it is appropriate to invoke “the interest of justice” principle where that principle has been contravened.

Mr. Stevenson invokes This Honorable Court's authority to hear the merits of his Petition in the “interest of justice.” 28 USCA, Rule 48, U.S. v. Ohio Power Co. 353 U.S. 98: “We have consistently ruled that the interest in finality of litigation must yield where the interests of justice would make unfair, the strict application of our rules.” Id. At 99.

2. Mr. Stevenson invokes this Honorable Courts Power to give his original Petition for Certiorari a liberal construction under Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519. (“Allegations of pro se complaints are held to less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers.”) Id.

OFFICE OF THE CLERK

At 519. Because Mr. Stevenson is a layman, untrained in the science of law, he is unable to comprehend, and therefore unable to comply with every rule of the court, though he has diligently attempted to. Mr. Stevenson prays that this Honorable Court will treat liberally his failure to comply with any rule that may cause the Honorable Clerk to not file or distribute his pleadings, or otherwise cause the Court to not determine the merits of said pleadings.

CONCLUSION

Mr. Stevenson prays that this Honorable Court Grant his Petition For Rehearing and Original Petition for Writ of Certiorari in the interest of justice.
