Question Presented Pursuant to Rule 14 (c)(b)

Question 1: Liability of United States

On June 24, 1997, in the Rhode Island Superior Court, United States Attorneys Terrence Donley and Gerard Sullivan "tried and acquitted" Rashad Bailey and me, Petitioner Lorenzo Evans, for 1st degree murder of Wayne Baptista. This prosecution violates Fundamental Constitution Construction - namely, (1) Federalism and (2) Separation of Power Principles. Consequently, the prosecution epitomizes bad faith because (1) The Governments never planned to convict; (2) only to impede against exercising protected rights; (3) embodied political and racial animosity and (4) was motivated by a desire for personal and political gain. Is the United States liable for civil damages?

Question 2: Liability of Corporate Instrumentalities

In January 2016, I filed a pro se joinder of claim to contest an illegal prosecution under 28 U.S.C. § 2241 (The Great Writ) seeking relief in matters of "law and equity." Due to lack of Federal oversight, R.I. - as part of a continuing harm - tried me absent warrants or indictment. The Government unlawfully seized my business and inheritance by conspiring with the following: (1) abc, nbc, cbs, and the Providence Journal; (2) Coldwell Banker; (3) Extended Stay America; (4) CoastWay Credit Union; and (5) TD Bank and TD Ameritrade. Are these corporations "STATE ACTORS" liable for civil damages?

Statement of Jurisdiction Pursuant to Rule 14(a)(e)

In the R.I. district court, the court exercised Federal-question jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1331 because the case arose under 28 U.S.C. § 2241. After the state failed to show just cause, the district granted their motion to dismiss for "failing to exhaust any state court remedies as is required...." Order entered April 19, 2016.

The First Circuit Court of Appeals exercised jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1291 and 28 U.S.C. § 2253. Still no show of just cause to delay the circuit court, by way of 3 member panel sided with the lower court's rendering—May 31, 2017. The judgment became final on January 3, 2018, after the circuit denied my petition for rehearing En Banc.

Finally, based on the merits of the petition—violation of Federalism and separation—this court has "original jurisdiction" over this appeal under Art. III sect. 2., which changes my whole approach towards the legal process.

Statement of the Case

A. Course of Proceedings and Disposition in the Rhode Island District and the First Circuit Court

1. Habeas Corpus (§ 2241) in the Rhode Island District Court.

In January 2016, I filed a joinder claim under § 2241 to gain relief in the R.I. federal district court to obtain access to the discovery process in regards to my most recent charges, as well as the slew of unwarranted arrest that came before it. Clearly by design, the state made it impossible to wage a defense. My pro se petition outlined a history of bad faith prosecutions against Rashaad Daly and me for the greater goal of a government rebellion to destroy constitutional construction. The district initially mishandled my complaint totally. In contradiction to court rules and procedures, the R.I. attorney office responded to me directly 30 days later¹—this without a court order: "The respondent is not required to answer the petition unless a judge so orders."

Two days prior, because I hadn't received an order from the court, I filed an amended complaint in the district court. Judge John J. McDonnell, Jr. ordered the State to respond, but did not give notice to the U.S. attorney to do the same, which is necessary based on the merits in my petition. Instead, he referred the claim to magistrate Lincoln D. Almond. Lincoln D. Almond served as R.I.'s governor during the time of the claim from 1995-1997 making him a key defendant in the petition. His current appointment to the chancellorcy is further evidence in support to my complaint—Adolf Hitler's party also arose after his nomination to

Germany's chancellor.

Nevertheless, the state was ordered to respond. But in doing so failed to register the proper documents to show just cause to detain me, i.e., an indictment signed by a grand jury.² Unlawfully, Judge McConnell allowed the State to file their motion to dismiss my petition for habeas corpus relief; he then unlawfully granted their motion. His rendering states that "Because Mr. Evans has failed to exhaust his state court remedies as is required, the Court grants Defendant's Motion to Dismiss." As a question of law, Judge John C. McConnell Jr. — as any justice — needs the indictment to rule in this case.³

So as a matter of procedure, I asserted my right to appeal to the First Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston, Massachusetts.⁴

2. Habeas Corpus Review in the First Circuit Court of Appeals

On May 10, 2016, the 1st cir. crt. issued their opening case notice to the Respondant and me, the Petitioner (Appellee and Appellant): "upon confirmation by the circuit clerk the record is complete either because no hearing was held, no transcript is on file, the clerk's office will set the briefing schedule and forward a scheduling notice to the parties." First, the court failed to ask the United States how and why did they prosecute a trial in state court in 1995-97. Secondly, the court is recognizing the states actions without the indictments to show just cause to detain. It is clear by way of supremacy that the United States is the true defendant in this claim by way of supremacy.

3 id

4 28 U.S.C. § 2253

On June 15, 2016, the 1st circuit court set the briefing schedule pursuant to F.R.A.P. 31(a). My brief came due July 25, 2016; I complied. The State replied to my brief within 30 days. They were admitting to having no indictment for the felony trial, but still asking the court to dismiss my petition. In order to get the court to take notice, I filed the following:

- Motion to Proceed on Appeal In Forma Pauperis (8/21/16)⁵
- Motion to Produce Documents and Things (9/27/16)
- Order to Cease-and-Desist to stop state Persecution in violation to commerce clause (5/10/17)
- Notice of Petition for Rehearing En Banc (6/2/17)
- Motion for Rehearing En Banc (7/4/17)

Right after I filed the cease-and-desist order, the circuit by way of a three member panel dismissed my petition in harmony with the lower court's decision. Subsequently, I filed with the same court a motion for a rehearing en banc. After 6 months, Chief Judge Howard of the 1st circuit ruled that he would not grant me the en banc counsel hearing; instead he would rule with his 3 panel of judges. But the people never weighed in on these cases by way of a grand jury.

B. Statement of Facts

On December 18, 1995, Wayne Baptista was shot and killed in the West End of Providence, RI;

6 of 26

Wayne came from the East Side of Providence. As a result, three days later, five of his cohorts sought out vengeance on the West End — two of which were already convicted childhood murderers. John Carpenter Jr. and I were the direct recipients of their rage — undeservingly. John didn't survive the shooting, but thanks to him I did.

John and I weren't just good friends, we were family. His mother, Marsha Carpenter, sat in the RI House of Representatives at this time in the minority republican party. Because I was present at the time of John's death, I assisted the State in bringing 5 of his killers to trial, not just as an eyewitness but also as a victim. Naturally, by way of statute, my victim's bill of rights should've been self executed; they were not.⁶ In complete contrast, the State and Federal government — with the help of the media — wedged in an earth shattering plot of sedition: In bad faith, they claimed somehow, some way I killed Wayne Baptista.

On December 28, 2012, my mother, Jeannie Marie Evans, passed away from a brain aneurysm; she was 60 years young and ready to retire. She worked for the State of RI with the mentally ill. In order to steal her pension package from me, the government staged an armed robbery charge resulting into a crack cocaine charge. Coldwell Banker help set it up; again, the media assisted in this wantless hunt; Extended Stay America gave SWAT a key for warrantless entry; TD Bank / TD Ameritrade and CoastWay Credit closed out my accounts giving the checks to the police - all warrantless.

C. Summary of Argument

The United States is liable for tort damages because:

- (1) the government never planned to convict neither Rashaad nor me for murder;
- (2) the prosecution was designed to impede against protected rights;
- (3) the prosecutions embodied political and racial animosity; and
- (4) the prosecutions were motivated by a desire for personal and political gain.

Because the following corporations act as government instrumentalities, in furthering a continuing harm, they too are liable for tort damages:

- (1) ABC, NBC, CBS, and the Providence Journal (Wall St. Journal);
- (2) Caldwell Banker;
- (3) Extended Stay America;
- (4) CoastWay Credit Union; and
- (5) TD Bank and TD Ameritrade.

Under the Federal Tort Claims Act ("FTCA"), "[T]he United States shall be liable... in the same manner and to the same extent as a private individual under like circumstances...." "[T]he term '[Government] agency' includes the executive departments, the judicial and legislative branches, the military departments, independent establishments of the United States, and corporations primarily acting as instrumentalities or agencies of the United States...."

Argument and Authorities

Standard of Review

Review on a writ of certiorari is not a matter of right, but of judicial discretion. Under the Supreme Court rule 10, this discretion is warranted when a United States court of appeals has entered a decision so far departed from the accepted and usual course of judicial proceedings as to call for an exercise of this Court's supervisory power. Because the defendants in this case cannot produce one drop of legal authority under the United States Constitution concerning any of my claims, this discretion of the court falls to the mandates of Article VI § 3 [Oath of Office]: Judicial Officers, both of the United States and of the several States, shall be bound by Oath or Affirmation, to support this Constitution, as it is the supreme law of the land.⁷

Issue 1: Liability of the United States

In June 24, 1997, in the Rhode Island Superior Court, United States Attorneys Terrence Hanley and Gerard Sullivan "tried and acquitted" Rashad Bailey and me, Lorenzo Evans, for the first degree murder of Wayne Baptista. In our Federalist government, this prosecution violates fundamental Constitutional construction — namely (1) Federalism and separation of power principles. This prosecution epitomizes bad faith: (1) The government never planned to convict; (2) only to impede against exercising protected rights; (3) embodied political and racial animosity; and (4) was motivated by a desire for personal or political gain. Is the United States liable for civil damages?

⁷ See The Governmental Structure Provided for in the 1789 Constitution

19-01-22

There is one form of action — the civil action.⁸ By way of Federal supremacy over all other parties, the United States is liable to the Plaintiff in this civil action for intentionally destroying the fundamental — yet essential — safeguards to protect the people against the tyrannizing of a oppressive control.

A. Federalism and separation of powers are ineffective.

1. Seditiously, members of the executive branch overstepped their constitutional role.

"Clean Hands Doctrine". On December 18, 1995, Wayne Baptista was shot and kill in the West End of Providence, RI; Wayne came from the East side of the city. At this time I was about 4 blocks away paying an East Providence cabby for dropping my girlfriend off at my house. As I leaned in the cab's passenger-side window to tip him, I heard faint gunshots in the air. He logged the fare; I went in the house.

After getting in, about 20 minute later, we turned on the 5:00pm news. They were broadcasting live coverage of my neighborhood; a man had been shot and rushed away by ambulance to the hospital. No names reported. The man didn't make it to the hospital alive. It was then reported Wayne Baptista had died.

(R) State Rep. Warkner Carpenter's son is murdered. In the late morning of December 21, 1995, John Carpenter Jr. picked me up from my house, we had brunch, and shortly after we were ambushed from behind by trailing gunfire. John made it possible for me to escape his moving vehicle. I ducked, hid, and ran through cars, yards, and backstreets but not before getting a birds eye view of the shooters. John didn't make it.

In the course of fleeing the vehicle, two policemen cut me off with the patrol car before I reached my house. They detained me in the back seat while searching the area for weapons—none found. Frantically, I informed them that a black Jeep and white Buick were shooting at me. After 5 or 10 minutes, the police drove me back to the point of origin. There amongst several onlookers, John laid dead riddled by bullets.

The local broadcast networks—abc, nbc, and cbs—soon arrived, next the marque truck. John's mother showed up shortly after. The following morning Providence Detectives took my statement.

My Statement to Homicide Detectives. On December 22, 1995, the following morning, I identified the 5 assailants responsible for killing John and attempting to kill me; all close friends of Wayne Baptista. So, naturally, the detectives wanted to know my whereabouts at the time Wayne was killed: Paying a cab when I heard faint gunshots. Around 5:00pm that night the news broadcasted the arrest warrants for the "Carpenter 5." Subsequently attorney Paul Daly from the RI attorney's office contacted me—Jeffrey Pine was the A.G. elect.

Meeting Prosecutor Paul. On December 23, 1995, I met with state assistant attorney Paul Daly at the Providence office. We reviewed my statement and where the case would go from there. Next, we talked about my safety in this matter.⁸ I opted to leave the state until the state needed me for the case. The office reluctantly agreed; they would also pay for my travel fees. I'd leave after John's funeral.

the need to attend John's funeral. He sat along side of Marsha in the front row. The media was also in attendance. Lincoln Almond is now federal magistrate Almond in the RI district to whom this petition was originally viewed.⁹

An Illegal Political Movement Materializes. On or about April 24, 1996, the last defendant for the Carpenter murder finally turned himself into state custody. Up to this point I'd testified in two bail hearings, one joint; gave grand jury testimony; and had several meetings with Paul Daly to prepare on various occasions. Once I arrived John's wife informed me that the last defendant waived his bail hearing so I wouldn't be needed. She then told me instead, I'd have to turn myself in because the state put a warrant out for me claiming I murdered Wayne Baptista.

The next morning I called my "private attorney" Scott Lukes. I asked him to clear this up by simply going back four months prior and watch the cab log with 9-1-1 dispatch so we could produce them to the court. He said he would stating "Paul was a good guy—we'll work this out." I called Scott back at the end of the work day, and he told me there was a problem with the cablog; therefore, I needed to turn myself in to the police.

Early in the first week of May 1996, Scott walked me into the providence police department, turned me over to the homicide detectives, then left. I spoke to the detectives, the same detectives, telling them the same things I'd told them for the last 5 months: I was talking to a cablog, in front of my home, paying a girlfriends cabfare. Before the detective escorted me to my cell, Terrence Donley introduced himself as a federal prosecutor; he said he'd be lead prosecutor in the case.

Federal Subordination to State Authority. With cameras in the courtroom and media in attendance, on or about May 3, 1996, before Judge Higgins, in the 6th div. courthouse, I made my 1st appearance as a defendant in this matter. Scott entered his appearance, as did Terrence Donley — albeit illegal. Terrence requested I be held at the A.C.I. pending a bailing hearing; Scott had no objections. Judge Higgins granted the Federal attorney's request.¹⁰

Rashaad Daily Stands as Co-defendant. On or about June 3, 1996, the government presented their case — cameras rolling and media in attendance. They presented 2 "witnesses" both housed at the R.I.D.C. for violent crimes, who were housed together, and close friends to the "carpenters". Both witnesses testified to fingerin' me to help ~~the~~ John's killers get out of jail; furthermore, one stated the police shared key ballistic evidence with his family. Rashaad's lawyers Lisi Ghieshet and Lenny (?) argued that he should be bailed because he was targeted as a result of my testimony; Scott "argued" the same: held without bail.

The Fox In The Henhouse. "The President [MUST] appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, a Deputy Attorney General and a Deputy Attorney General for Combating Domestic Terrorism." Bill Clinton held office during this rebellion.¹¹

¹¹ Revolution is the fundamental change in the character of a nation's government, political system, or way of life. Political revolutions can lead to the overthrow of a nation's leaders, the formation of a new kind of government, or even a new nation. They may occur in areas, such as culture, economic, and social activities. Changes may happen violently or nonviolent or both. People who achieve governmental system change are often called revolutionist or Treasonist.

judgy, Roshaac and I were arraigned in the RI Superior Court before trial Justice Robert Krause in January 1997. Judge Krause set bail at $750,000⁰⁰ surety bail stipulated with electric monitoring by the R.I.D.C. costing an additional $128.00⁰⁰ per week. Scott also used this hearing to motion the court to be removed as my counsel because of my inability to pay his fee; the court would appoint me a lawyer at a later date. We bailed out by bondsmen in early February 1997 - that money is never returned.

Police Captain/Councilman Calls to Revoke My Bail. Providence Police Captain Robert Kells and I both lived on Rutherford Ave in Providence once I made bail; he was also a city councilman. Robert decided he would interview with the Providence Journal in protest to me residing in his district. He stated I was a danger to the community and should be returned to jail. The reporter then rang my door bell for a rebuttal; I declined.

The Journal wrote about my decline, but failed to write about the highly illegal proceedings taking place in our government.

RI Attorney General Threatens to Revoke My Bail. Still absent a defense attorney, because I had conflict with the public defender, for they represented one of the 'Carpenters'; and simply because Judge Krause hadn't yet appointed me one, I dealt with state prosecutors alone. The Carpenter trial would be held in two weeks; consequently, Paul demanded I be placed in protective custody or have my bail revoked - back to jail. So I went into custody and stayed in hotels around the State with 2 policemen inside my room 24 hours a day for weeks. Paul also informed me the trial would be aired similar to the O.J. case; Judge Mauseen McKenna Goldberg heard the case.

Governor Lincoln D. Almond appoints Judge Goldberg to R.I. Supreme Ct. Furthermore, after Judge Nauseen McKenna Goldberg finished presiding over the Carpenter trial the governor — now Federal magistrate — appointed her to the R.I. Supreme Court. This would be Goldberg's last case in the lower court. This is the court the lower Federal courts render I make my claim with, notwithstanding the fact R.I. does not have jurisdiction to hear the whole petition.¹²

The "Carpenter 5" Stand Trial. In late March or early April 1997, the "Carpenter 5" stood trial before Judge Nauseen McKenna Goldberg in the R.I. Superior Courthouse. All five defendants were found guilty as charged. This is where the murder indictment had been preserved, and Federal oversight (checks and balances) swoops in and indicts all the members of this illegal rebellion for treason.¹³ Instead, I was free to go back to my mother's or house, arrest and wait to stand trial.

R.I. General Assembly Passes The Carpenter Act. Sometime in mid April 1997, after Martha's verdict, in a show of solidarity, the R.I. General Assembly enacted into law the Carpenter Act. Presented by Judge Goldberg in a televised showing, Martha Carpenter was presented to bill. The whole house took notice to the case and proceedings. Still, no hint of Federal oversight.¹⁴

See The Constitution Article VI [Supremacy Clause] Because of the nature of the federal structure contemplated by the Constitution and particularly the supremacy of the federal law, state courts have no power to review or order relief with respects to the actions of federal officials or agencies. Court Finally Appoints Me Counsel. Shortly after the General Assembly's commemoration finished, Judge Krause appointed Richard H. Corley and Mary J. Cirisi to represent me in my upcoming "trial". It was scheduled for the 1st week in June 1997.

Rashaad Daily and I Stand Trial. At the start of the trial Terrance Donlay introduced the court to another member from the United States Attorneys Office, co-counsel Gerard Sullivan. Rashaad's lawyers also added another member to their team, Jerry Donley - no relation. Last to join the "trial", Robert Craven, assisted one of the witnesses on the stand because he still had cases pending.

A Rebellion is Born; We're "Acquited." A new authority was and is free to grow, solidifying a parties movement in black blood, ink, paperwork, and politics. All played out in the public eye using the national broadcast system and the Wall Street Journal's subsidiary the Providence Journal. Rashaad and I were acquitted in a kangaroo court.¹⁵ But because the Nation's greatest defense against domestic terrorism proved to be atypically ineffective we are - by design - left defenseless against this continuous harm.

Issue 2: Liability of Corporate Instrumentalities

In January 2016, I filed a pro se joinder of claims under habeas corpus 28 U.S.C. § 2241 - The Great Writ - seeking relief in matters of "law and equity." Due to lack of Federal oversight, Rhode Island - as part of a continuing harm - charged, tried, and convicted me in another unsupported felony prosecution. After clearly fabricating a charge, the state claims to have no record my mother Jeannie Marie Evans passed away

¹⁵ see Black's Law Dictionary

On December 28, 2012, naming me as her beneficiary to her State of RI retirement package. The government unlawfully seized the inheritance by way of conspiring with the following: (1) ABC, CBS, NBC, and the Providence Journal (with its Journal); (2) Coldwell Banker; (3) Extended Stay America Hotel; (4) Coastway Credit Union; and (5) TD Bank and TD Ameritrade. Are these corporations liable for civil damages?

The aforementioned corporations will be shown to be primarily acting as instrumentalities or agencies of the United States making them liable under the Federal Tort Claims Act (FTCA) for the false imprisonment and conversion because they knew that:

- The government never planned to legally convict me.
- The prosecutors were designed to invade against protected rights.
- The prosecutions embodied political and racial animosity.
- The prosecutions were motivated by a desire for personal and political gains.

A. Both federal and state government conspired with 10 corporations to steal my recently acquired inheritance, and destroy my businesses.

1. Jeannie Marie Evans passed away leaving my sister and me a Full State Pension with Insurance Policies.

My mother unexpectedly died. On December 28, 2012, my mother Jeannie passed away unexpectedly at the young age of 60 years old. The determining cause was a brain aneurysm. As a state employee she worked faithfully with mental health patients at the "I.M.H." building. She did a great job as a single mother. Jeannie was tough like Tubman.

2. From Jeannie's I started my businesses.

Webstore, Stocks, and Real Estate. Because of the continuing harm that I'm petitioning about, I lived with my mother from February 2009-September 2012. In December 2009, I began an e-commerce webstore. Since my mother did all her banking at CoastWay Credit Union, I also opened a personal and business account there. Although a labor of love, I spent many sleepless nights working to gain a place in the online market place.

The following year I finally made a "profit" and opened an investment account with I NEs. For the person who hadn't been crushed by the "Great Recession" the markets were very inviting—stocks were cheap. My sole interest is to own Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac securities. They're backed by the Veterans Administration (VA) and were trading at $.11 a share; their pre-recession combined market value stood at $5 trillion at $100 per share—Too big to fail.

My webstore needed all the capital it could have, so I sold the stock back to the market. Instead, I had to grind out grassroots sales, improve logistics, and strengthen my credit score. I then put the cash into CoastWay Credit Union and began securing loans with them reinvesting into inventory. The stock still traded well below $100.00, but my credit score reached 700 points and my business had $10,000.00 in capital. This by Sept. 2012.

In harmony with the stock market, the real estate market was just as kind but not to all. For example, a friend of mine, being newly widowed put her house on the market from Sept. 2011-Sept. 2012; she asked the appraised price of $215,000.00 and not one offer. Although the house was free and clear of debt doesn't mean she was, not to mention Fannie had a neighboring house comparable to hers for $80,000.00 that wasn't selling either. She, my friend, offered to dump the property off on me for $100,000.00 if it did not sell by the expiration of its current listing date: March 1, 2013 (6 months)

As part of the agreement, I moved in paying the bills, rent, and moved my webstore connection to the house — 15 Teakwood Ave. Johnston, RI. We'd hatch things out from there. I lived alone. She had another place to stay.

3. Government continuous to interfere with economic advantage.

My Next Door Neighbor Officer Montel. My new neighbor at Teakwood Ave., R.I.D.C. officer Montel, has been stationed in the intake center committing area for the past 25 years or so; he's the one always wearing a state trooper mounty hat. The house seller and Kathrine — and his wife are good friends. They talked about the house. Besides that we never crossed paths. The neighborhood stayed very quiet. (This is not to say I wasn't being tracked by other means.)

State Trooper Steals the Deal. When my mother passed away on December 23, 2012, Kathrine still hadn't received a single offer for the house. At that time we talked and I assured her that come March 1, 2013, I'd buy the house. Between my job, my credit score, and my inheritance the deal was sealed. On or about February 1, 2013, a RI State Trooper offer to pay full asking price for the property — $215,000 — in a town ripe with deals; of course she accepted.

Immediately, I began looking for another investment home, but the relationship I lost with the seller was priceless. On or about ~~March~~ February 15, 2013, I moved into the Extended Stay America in W. Warwick RI.

Caldwell Banker Agent/Police Officer/Police Board Member. In February 15, 2013, RI Treasurer Gina Raimondo — now Governor Raimondo — endorsed and issued payouts to my sister and me. On February 27, 2013, after searching trulia and zillow, not to mention attending several open houses for the past month, I found a house listed by Coldwell Banker at 19 Greenwich West in W. Greenwich R.I. The listing agent Anthony (Tony) Verdi Jr. agreed to show me the place on Feb. 28. Neither Coldwell Banker nor Tony disclosed he actively worked as a Providence police officer or a R.I.D.A.C. panel board hearing member in the same building as my old neighbor officer Montel.

Tony showed me the property. It had been on the market for about a year, and the seller eagerly wanted to sell according to him. Next, I explained my current situation to him and that I needed to buy. Although he represented the seller, I agreed that he would also represent me on this purchase by signing a Coldwell Banker contract. Lastly, we agreed to meet at his R. Greenwich office because I wanted to make the seller an offer.

Providence Homicide Detectives Visit My Sister's. The following morning on March 1, 2013, I made an offer for the house, but it was only verbal. All real estate offers must be made in writing.¹⁶ I also presented him proof of funds along with a $500⁰⁰ check as a deposit.¹⁷ Later that evening Providence homicide detectives visited my sister's house: If I didn't contact detective Springer asap, the R.I. Supreme Court would release a member of the "Carpenters 6" on appeal.

Coldwell Banker's Fraud Continues. On March 3, 2013, I went to Coldwell hoping the seller accepted my verbal buyer's offer.¹⁸ Tony said it had not been. In fact, the property sold—overnight. We rescheduled for March 6, 2013, when he had a new list to view.

W. Warwick PD and Edward Jones Text Me Hate Mail. At 2:35 am March 6, 2013, while vast in my studio at Extended Stay America, I began receiving threatening text messages from Edward Jones until I awoke at 9:35 am. When I woke up I tried to call Edward by phone, but he would not pick up his phone. He texted me claiming that he killed my mother and I'm next-in short. Although upset I texted him back very little; I needed to be at Coldwell Banker at 11:00 am.

The record shows that Edward was in W. Warwick PD's custody from at least 8:00 am-11:00 am. Filing a charge against me claiming that at 8:00 am I kicked his door in at gunpoint; ripped his shirt off of him; pistol whipped him, busting his head open; snatched $300.00 off his mantle; and Plead in a black Jeep. He then called 9-1-1-dispatch—no records at all. But what there is a record of is on this date Edward had an outstanding warrant out for his arrest in Massachusetts for sexual assault.

SWAT Surround My Sister's House. After the texting, I kept my appointment with Coldwell. Again, the police visit my sister's; this time SWAT. They told her neighbors that I was wanted for robbery. Not knowing Edward and Coldwell Banker were setting me up, we paid them no mind. My sister and I were under a lot of strain, and figured that they were just concerned about a case I'd already dealt with: The "Carpenter 5".

Edward Jones is Extradicted to Massachuset. On Sunday March 10, 2013, the W. Warwick police picked Edward up at his home and then transported him to Massachusetts for his failure to appear in court for sexual assault. Knowing he would be held in Mass. and unable to appear in RI court, W. Warwick still put a warrant out on me in the news for armed robbery on March 12, 2013. Edward wasn't even in the state's prison.

My Last Meeting With Coldwell Banker. On March 12, 2013, two day after Edward was transported out of state, I met with Tony Verdi at Coldwell Banker for the last time. He had 2 listings that interested me; the sellers were Fannie and Freddie. I made 2 offers leaving 2 blank checks for a deposit; again, he took a verbal offer. The next morning Tony went to the W. Warwick PD and wrote a statement against me disclosing my records to them.

This at 4:00pm. By 5:00pm, while I'm at the gym, the news broadcasted me for armed robbery of Edward Jones. It took me 45 minutes, because of rush hour, to slip in the back door of Extended Stay America into my suite. By 6:00pm, a rebroadcast. By 6:15 pm, by way of key, the W. Warwick SWAT Team breach my domain—heavily armed and warrantless—and arrested me. Once in police custody the police detective told me the robbery would be dropped, but I'd be charged with possession of crack cocaine.

CoastWay Credit Union and TD Bank Close My Accounts. Furthermore, while the court held me without bail, the W. Warwick PD went to my banks requesting my financial records and that they write them a check to close out my accounts.¹⁸ They complied without any proof of warrants.¹⁹

B. The following corporations primarily function as state actors to a continuing harm.

Separate But Equal Conspirators. Defendants — ABC, NBC, CBS, and Prov. Journal — help materialize a culture and society that must've been brewing when they agreed to allow the government to orchestrate a trial in our courts solely to defraud the public and the public's interest. Unlike a state, these defendants are stationed in every state in the country as are the feds. The illegal prosecution for the murder of Wayne Baptista in 1995-97 would not be possible without them. The defendants should have never allowed it to happen.

Since then the record clearly shows they've relentlessly tracked me unregulated causing irreparable harm.²⁰ Under Federal supremacy and the doctrine of respondeat superior they are government instrumentalities — state actors. They watched my businesses and my mother's pension for the sole purpose to falsely imprison me.

Clear Entanglement Between Private and Governmental Action. Immediately after the state trooper's intentional interference with my economical advantage at 15 Teakwon ave, I looked for another investment property to purchase.²¹ On or about February 14, 2013, the RI Treasury issued my mother's state payout and I deposited all the checks directly into CoastWay Credit Union. This wasn't bill money; it was a legacy. For that reason I spoke to the managers to see if they could: (1) become a loan on my full account, doubling it; (2) Invest that full amount into Fannie and Freddie; and (3) use my stock account, my business record (job), and my credit score (700) to mortgage a house. Ultimately, they could not because CoastWay Credit Union does not deal with stock accounts.

As a result, I went to TD Bank and spoke to Helge Liedtke. I explained my current situation and how I'd like to proceed, as I did with CoastWay. Helge said that TD could facilitate my plan, but I'd (1) have to transfer my account from CoastWay Credit, and (2) obtain a buy letter from a property seller. After searching Trulia and Zillow, I targetted an area and met with different agents and on Feb. 27 I found the perfect investment house.

On February 28, 2013, I met Coldwell Banker's Tony Verdi and reiterated my financial objectives as I did with CoastWay Credit and TD Bank. I agreed to have Tony represent me in this purchase by sign a company contract. On March 1, 2013, I made an offer on the home, provided proof of funds, and left a $500⁰⁰ check deposit from my CoastWay account — NOT TD. After every visit with Tony, the police tried to contact me one way or the other, he never wrote out the offers for me to sign, and he never identified himself as active law enforcement.

On March 2, 2013, I transferred my account to TD from CoastWay Credit — all but $5000⁰⁰. I told TD I should have a property buy letter within 24 hours. So the following day (March 3) I went to Coldwell Banker to see if the seller agreed to my offer. Tony said the property had been sold to another buyer, which was a lie;

nevertheless, he rescheduled me for March 6, 2013 to see more listings and stop me from funding my stock accounts.²²

On March 12, 2013, I made offers on 2 homes, both sellers were either Fannie or Freddy, as I requested. I left Tony with 2 blank checks as a deposit - these from my new TD account. Again the offers were verbal. This meeting was our last, because once Tony knew the stock account could be funded he went to the W. Warwick PD. The W. Warwick SWAT Team arrested me the following day.²³

3. Defendant Extended Stay America did conspire to falsely imprison me, Lorenzo Evans, amongst other thing.

Defendant Allow A Warrantless Entry. On March 13, 2013, at roughly 6:00pm the desk managers at Extended Stay America gave the W. Warwick SWAT Team the key to my room with the sole intention to search and seize me, as well as the possessions in and attached to my domicile: Warrantless.

Defendant Testified In Scam Prosecution. In January 2015, employees from Extended Stay America testified in staged prosecution making no reference to the warrantless arrest. They also refused to turn over video footage that would clearly show I never left the hotel during the so-called crime. This Felony trial took place without a grand jury. The 'jury' found me guilty and the court sentenced me to 2 years.

4. Defendant CoastWay Credit Union did conspire to falsely imprison me, Lorenzo Evans, amongst other things.

CoastWay Credit Union Allows Warrantless Seizure. On March 15, 2013, W. Warwick detectives responded to CoastWay Credit Union — clearly out of jurisdiction and without a warrant — the manager issued the detectives a check closing out my business account. She made the check to the Town of West Warwick State Drug Fund in my name according to my records. She also provided them with 3 years of my bank records. Furthermore, CoastWay as Extended Stay America participated in a scam prosecution against me. As a result I was sentenced to 3 yrs.

5. Defendant TD Bank / TD Ameritrade did conspire to falsely imprison me, Lorenzo Evans, amongst other things.

TD Bank Allows Warrantless Seizure. On March 18, 2013, W. Warwick detectives responded to TD Bank — clearly out of jurisdiction and without a warrant — spoke to Helge Liedtke who subsequently closed my account handing the detectives a check for the amount of my deposit. As the record would show this account would be worth $3-40 million to date. In January 2015, TD was called to testify to the record in a scam prosecution but did nothing to shed light on the ruse. I was sentenced to 3 years.

Conclusion

This case is before the United State Supreme Court under a very disturbingly set of unique circumstances under 28 U.S.C. § 2241 habeas corpus review - "The Great Writ." Because my petition complains about several bad faith prosecutions that extend into Federalism and separation of power violations as a question of law, the courts must acknowledge under Federal supremacy States have no authority to review a Federal agency or Federal official action. I'm suffering gravely do to no fault of my own, but the facts of my complaint are also a prima facie showing to a broken government intruding on the security to the public's interest. Not only is the need for this Court's subject matter jurisdiction evident, but I believe it to be mandated under the Constitution's article 3.

Therefore, for any independent reason, this Court should grant Lorenzo Evans' petition for certiorari.

Respectfully submitted,
