Re: Timothy King, et al v. Gretchen Whitmer, Governor of Michigan, et al
Case No. 20-815
In re Coreco Ja'Quan Pearson, et al, Petitioners
Case No. 20-816
In re Tyler Bowyer, et al, Petitioners
Case No. 20-858
In re William Feehan, Petitioner
Case No. 20-859

Dear Mr. Harris:

On December 18, 2020, undersigned counsel submitted a Rule 21 motion (the “Motion”) requesting consolidation and expedited consideration of four related cases, King v. Whitmer (20-815) (“The Michigan Case”); In re Pearson (20-816) (“The Georgia Case”); In re Bowyer (20-858) (“The Arizona Case” and In re Feehan (20-859) (“The Wisconsin Case”).

Each of the cases was brought by Republican presidential electors (from Michigan, Georgia, Arizona, and Wisconsin, respectively) who cast votes on December 14, 2020, for President Trump with the intention of those Trump votes being counted in the Joint Session of Congress scheduled for January 6, 2021.

The Motion referred to the fact that two of the four cases, In re Bowyer (20-858) and In re Feehan (20-859), as of the filing of the Motion, had been submitted but not yet deemed filed by the Court. The Motion requested that these two cases be consolidated with the other two and jointly considered in expedited fashion.

The Motion was served on counsel in Bower and Feehan, as well as on counsel in King and Pearson, on December 18, 2020.

As of yesterday, December 29, 2020, Bower and Feehan (like King and Pearson) are officially on the docket and before the Court; hence, there can be no question that the Motion is ripe for disposition.

In light of all the above, we respectfully renew our request that King, Pearson, Bower, and Feehan be consolidated and heard in expedited fashion in time for the Court to render a decision on or before January 5, 2020.

Very truly yours,

/s/ Howard Kleinhendler
