Petition for Rehearing

Petitioner James J. Knochel ["Petitioner"] files this Petition for Rehearing pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 44, for "intervening circumstances of a substantial or controlling effect" and "other substantial grounds not previously presented".

The immediate question before this Court is whether conspirators acting under color of law of the State of Arizona may perpetrate fraud on the United States Court. By denying the petition, Petitioner assumes the Court's answer is 'yes'. Petitioner is beginning the process of asking for congressional oversight. Petitioner will submit an inquiry to Representative Paul Gosar to clarify the Representative's March 23 2022 letter, which seems to indicate Gosar's official stance is that justice is only available to those who can afford an attorney. With the latest redistricting, Gosar is moving to a safer district. Petitioner is also sending an inquiry to two of the candidates for his new district, and has contacted Senator Sinema.

Intervening Circumstances

The intervening circumstances relate to how the party to the petition below, Emily N. Mihaylo ["Mihaylo"], escaped from illegal confinement several times since the petition was docketed on May 19 2022. On May 30 2022, Mihaylo successfully enlisted Petitioner's assistance while on the run from her guardian. Petitioner spent several thousand dollars on motel rooms and food for Mihaylo this past summer, and has accumulated additional witnesses to the fraud on the United States Court.

A partial timeline providing some details of Mihaylo's 2022 escapes from her guardian was submitted in Application #22A181 (August 10 2022).

When Petitioner realized he had no ability to stop Mihaylo from consuming alcohol in late August 2022, and as his financial resources to pay for motels and hotels for Mihaylo were mostly depleted, Petitioner filed a complaint with Arizona's Adult Protective Services [APS] on Tuesday, August 30 2022 at about 4:30pm. Petitioner received a phone call from an APS employee on the morning of Thursday, September 1st. This employee appeared while Petitioner and Mihaylo were having breakfast at Mihaylo's new hotel. The APS employee asked Mihaylo if she was safe. Mihaylo confirmed that she was. On Friday, September 2 2022 APS sent six police officers and a 'crisis team' to return Mihaylo to the mental health industry's custody in Maricopa County. Petitioner was not at Mihaylo's hotel room when this team arrived. Petitioner has not yet been arrested for his efforts to keep Mihaylo safe. Mihaylo subsequently reported to Petitioner that she now has an advocate, and was being sent to a substance abuse program.

The primary intervening circumstance for this petition is that Arizona's Adult Protective Services is the latest government agency with records verifying that fraud was in fact perpetrated on the United States Court. Other substantial intervening circumstances were presented in Application #22A181.

Other Substantial Grounds Not Previously Presented

Substantial Ground: State Court Record Confirming Fraud on the United States Court

The Arizona State Court's April 2021 minutes and protective order are attached hereto as Appendix H and Appendix I. These were previously submitted in Application 22A181. The United States District Court's order in 19-cv-8086, declaring Petitioner vexatious, dated November 13, 2020, is attached again hereto as Appendix J. The district court's orders and the state court's orders are directly contradictory. Appendices H and I were issued subsequent to Appendix J, but were not submitted with the original petition (#22-1493) because the previous petition stood on its own: one shouldn't require a subsequent state court order proving allegations of fraud on the United States Court to get the evidentiary hearing required by the case law. Due Process of Law and Equal Protection of the Law should be available to more than those who can afford attorneys.

Substantial Ground: Medical Freedom

This case is fundamentally about “medical freedom”. Petitioner’s primary concern is extracting his friend from her psychiatric misdiagnosis, state-court-ordered iatrogenic deterioration, and state-court-ordered medical torture. Petitioner’s videos prove Mihaylo, the Party to the habeas petition to the district court, was perfectly functional in August 2015, about two weeks before she ran out of alcohol and became psychotic. But the broader fundamental issue, which the Court has apparently never addressed, is how humanity can protect itself from do-gooders who are actually creating/worsening the problems they’re addressing. Pathological altruism is the technical term for when efforts to be helpful cause harm.

Petitioner now distinguishes between active medical violence (harmful medical treatments forced on people denied the right to refuse treatment), and passive medical violence (“we could save you but state law won’t let us”).

Substantial Ground: Active Medical Violence

Traditionally the “mentally incapacitated”, such as Mihaylo, have borne the brunt of active medical violence perpetrated in the United States: lobotomies, brain electrocutions, tranquilizers, agony-inducing medications such as haloperidol and olanzapine¹, etc. The records are clear that Mihaylo does not appreciate being forcibly injected with the Soviet Psycho-prison’s preferred tool of dissident re-education (haloperidol), nor the American Psycho-prison’s preferred tool to induce compulsive behavior (aripiprazole). These injections are a form of violence.

Research confirms that patients treated with psychiatric medications lose around 20 years of life², yet allopathic psychiatry’s defective standard of care persists.

² <https://www.madinamerica.com/2020/05/do-antipsychotics-protect-against-early-death-a-review-of-the-evidence/>

Medicine adopted the ethical principles elucidated at the Nuremburg Trials in 1947, including “Free and Informed Consent”. These ethical principles were abandoned by Medicine in 2021. A new kind of medical violence is now acceptable: forced treatment of the population with defective experimental drugs marketed as “vaccines”.

Traditional drugs marketed as vaccines have been carefully researched over the decades for adverse effects. Arizona law makes it easy for parents to refuse vaccines for their school-aged children, while California law makes this impossible.

The CDC has now included “the jabs” on the childhood vaccine schedule, to shield the manufacturers from liability. States like California will certainly begin sacrificing young children to hysterical vaccine pushers³. Some colleges and universities are requiring students to be double-jabbed and boosted to attend campus, even though young people are not vulnerable to the virus. Any reasonable analysis of the situation is clear that vastly more children and young people will perish from the ‘protection’ forced on them than did⁴ of ‘the virus’.

Those who voluntarily seek ‘protection’ from the phantom virus but perish from clots induced by the protection are tragedies. Those who do not want to be injected – because they already had immunity due to infection, or who do not believe the pro-jab propaganda – but who are coerced to submit, are victims of medical violence.

Substantial Ground: Passive Medical Violence

Passive medical violence is now taking place in states that have gleefully implemented “heartbeat” laws. Doctors in these states are having to tell patients whose pregnancies have failed (water breaks before viability, etc) that they can’t do anything until the expired fetus' supposed "heartbeat" stops. Having to cross state lines to obtain necessary medical treatment is a justice-joke.

³ “The doses administered under these rules will kill a small but nontrivial number of children in exchange for nothing at all.” - <https://www.eugyppius.com/p/the-mysterious-disappearance-of-influenza>

[Sidebar: Petitioner believes there are much better ways to deal with missed periods or inconvenient pregnancies than modern medical interventions. Petitioner has a friend who wanted to induce her period, so he told her what to do. She next went for a free blood test and was told she'd had a miscarriage. It is impossible to tell the difference⁵ between an "acupuncturally-" or "herbally-"⁶ induced miscarriage vs a pregnancy that fails for any normal reason: experimental spike proteins, etc.]

Conclusion: The 9th Amendment. What is it good for? Absolutely nothing.

Medical Practitioners do not see themselves as 'Pathological Altruists'. They need help removing violence from their field. Perhaps state-forced or state-coerced medical violence – either active or passive – can be addressed by implementing the Ninth Amendment to the United States Constitution, that currently-useless appendage to the Bill of Rights:

The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

Medical Freedom for those who are arbitrarily denied this right by their state government is as good a candidate as any to find meaning in the 9th amendment.
