Opinion by Stevens J joined by Kennedy, Souter, Ginsburg and Breyer JJ it was held that the Prisoner was not required to adduce clear and convincing evidence of improper motive in order to Defeat the officer's summary Judgment motion with respect to First Amendment Retaliation Claim...Qualified Immunity defense to suit alleging Federal Statutory or Constitutional violations may be rebutted by evidence that officials conduct was Malicious or otherwise Improperly Motivated...limited discovery may sometimes be necessary before a Federal District Court can Resolve a Motion for Summary Judgment based on qualified immunity when a Plaintiff files a Complaint against a Public Official alleging a claim that Requires Proof of Wrongful motive...Retaliatory arrest Plaintiff must show that deterrence of Speech was a substantial or motivating factor and ultimately show but for causation SEE Crawford-El v.
