

The Supreme Court of South Carolina

Jerome Long,

Petitioner,

v.

State of South Carolina,

Respondent.

ORDER

In 1995, petitioner was convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. This Court affirmed petitioner's conviction and sentence.

State v. Long, 325 S.C. 59, 480 S.E.2d 62 (1997).

Petitioner has filed five applications for post-conviction relief (PCR) since that time.¹ Petitioner has filed a notice of appeal from the denial of his fifth PCR application and the explanation required by Rule 243(c), SCACR.² We find petitioner has failed to show an arguable basis for asserting the PCR judge's determination was improper. We therefore dismiss the notice of appeal in this matter.

Moreover, we hereby prohibit petitioner from filing any further

¹ Petitioner also filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the circuit court in 2005.

² Petitioner's counsel informed this Court he was unable to set forth any arguable basis for asserting the determination by the PCR judge was improper. See Dennison v. State, 371 S.C. 221, 639 S.E.2d 35 (2006).
