CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY PROVISIONS INVOLVED

Sixth Amendment

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Robert C. Billar, during the course of his representing and advised not to take a plea deal. Even going into trial, Billar said not to take a plea deal. Billar advised petitioner months before trial and moments leading to trial that if he conducted "interviews" the prosecution would drop the charges against petitioner. Billar never conducted any "interviews". Billar, did not stress to jury and courts, that petitioner was also a victim. Overwhelmed by the man with the gun, and reluctantly / fearfully followed the gun-man's instructions. Billar never mentioned to the courts or jury, that the gun-man threatened to kill petitioner on the night of the crime. A witness would have stated this in court, but Billar never conducted any interview in this case. Billar has since been disbared.

Petitioner is serving a 25 to life sentence. Petitioner trial counsel advised petitioner to reject the plea. Had petitioner not asked petitioner to reject the plea, petitioner would not have the sentence petitioner has, and accepted the plea of 16-22 yrs.

REASONS FOR GRANTING THE PETITION

Relying on Lewis v Casey

116 S. CA. 217 (1996) Arizona has no law libraries for 40,000 inmates, Arizona has one paralegal and that paralegal is forbidden from conducting legal research, or drafting pleadings. Inspite of this - It is mandatory - In Arizona - For prisoners to cite cases and comply with legal technicalities in Arizona Courts

Rule 32.7(b) Arizona Rules of Criminal procedure

" A Petition for Post-Conviction Relief
--- must include a Memorandum that contains -- Relevant legal authorities "

CONCLUSION

The petition for a writ of certiorari should be granted.

Respectfully submitted,
