

APPENDIX A

DOCKET REPORT OF THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE SECOND CIRCUIT

Case No: 25-3262 Title: In Re: Eli Angelino Originating Case: SDNY Case No. 1:24-cv-7907

DESCRIPTION OF EVIDENCE: This Appendix contains the official ACMS Case Summary/Full Docket for the Second Circuit, documenting the ongoing clerical embargo and the Court's refusal to enter the $100M Judgment. As of March 19, 2026, this 21-page record confirms that the Clerk has maintained a continuous administrative freeze for 10 days since the last entry, refusing to recognize the Fee-Exempt status granted in SDNY Entry #6.

CRITICAL FORENSIC DATA:

- The "Smoking Gun" (Entry #107): Documenting the ministerial blockade of Petitioner's final filings.
- The Final Timestamp: This record was pulled on March 19, 2026, at 8:15 AM, establishing that the "RECEIVED" status of Entries 100, 102, and 104 has remained unchanged despite the expiration of all statutory deadlines.
- The Default Reference: This record includes the status as of March 12, 2026, the moment of the Petitioner's final notice of default, and proves no remedial action has been taken by the Clerk in the seven days following.

In Re: Eli Angelino,

Petitioner.

Eli Angelino,

Petitioner,

v.

City of New York, Vital Records Administrator, HRA/ Vital Records Administrator, New York City Human Resources Administration, Respondents.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for transparency and accountability, particularly in financial matters. This section also outlines the various methods and tools used to collect and analyze data, ensuring that the information is reliable and up-to-date.

2. The second part of the document focuses on the implementation of these practices across different departments and projects. It provides detailed instructions on how to set up systems for data collection and analysis, including the selection of appropriate software and the training of staff. This section also addresses the challenges that may arise during the implementation process and offers strategies to overcome them.

3. The third part of the document discusses the importance of regular communication and reporting. It highlights the need for clear and concise reports that provide a comprehensive overview of the current status and any potential issues. This section also outlines the roles and responsibilities of different team members in ensuring that the reporting process is efficient and effective.

4. The fourth part of the document addresses the importance of maintaining the confidentiality and security of the data. It provides guidelines on how to protect sensitive information from unauthorized access and disclosure, including the use of secure communication channels and the implementation of strict access controls. This section also discusses the legal and ethical implications of data handling and the importance of staying up-to-date with relevant regulations.

5. The fifth part of the document discusses the importance of continuous improvement and innovation. It emphasizes that the current practices and systems should be regularly reviewed and updated to reflect changes in technology and business requirements. This section also outlines the importance of fostering a culture of innovation and encouraging staff to propose and implement new ideas that can improve the overall efficiency and effectiveness of the organization.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both primary and secondary data collection techniques. The primary data was gathered through direct observation and interviews, while secondary data was obtained from existing reports and databases.

The third section details the statistical analysis performed on the collected data. This involves the use of descriptive statistics to summarize the data and inferential statistics to test hypotheses. The results of these analyses are presented in a clear and concise manner, highlighting the key findings of the study.

Finally, the document concludes with a discussion of the implications of the findings. It suggests that the results have significant implications for the field of study and provides recommendations for future research. The author also acknowledges the limitations of the study and offers suggestions for how these can be addressed in future work.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the transparency and accountability of the organization. This section also outlines the various methods and tools used to collect and analyze data, ensuring that the information is reliable and up-to-date.

The second part of the document focuses on the implementation of these practices across different departments and projects. It provides detailed instructions on how to integrate record-keeping into existing workflows and processes. This section also addresses common challenges and offers practical solutions to overcome them, ensuring that the organization can maintain high standards of accuracy and efficiency.

The third part of the document discusses the role of technology in enhancing record-keeping. It explores various software solutions and digital tools that can streamline the process, reduce errors, and improve the overall quality of the data. This section also highlights the importance of data security and privacy, ensuring that all information is protected and accessible only to authorized personnel.

The fourth part of the document covers the importance of regular audits and reviews. It explains how these activities can help identify discrepancies, correct errors, and ensure that the records remain accurate and complete. This section also discusses the role of management in overseeing the record-keeping process and ensuring that it aligns with the organization's goals and objectives.

The fifth and final part of the document provides a summary of the key findings and recommendations. It reiterates the importance of maintaining accurate records and offers final thoughts on how the organization can continue to improve its record-keeping practices. This section also includes a list of resources and references for further information and support.

APPENDIX B

SDNY DOCKET REPORT AND ORDER OF DISMISSAL

Case No: 1:24-cv-07907-LTS

Court: Southern District of New York (Manhattan)

Presiding: Hon. Laura Taylor Swain, Chief District Judge

DESCRIPTION OF EVIDENCE: This Appendix contains the official SDNY Docket Report and the subsequent Order of Dismissal. These records establish the foundation of the $100M Judgment and the Petitioner's exhaustion of remedies in the District Court prior to the appellate transition.

LEGAL SIGNIFICANCE: These records document the finality of the District Court proceedings. The Order of Dismissal, combined with the expiration of the leave to replead shown on the docket, triggered the mandatory ministerial duties of the Second Circuit Clerk. The failure to properly transition these records into the appellate docket—despite the expiration of all statutory deadlines—constitutes the "ministerial blockade" and "clerical embargo" challenged in this Petition.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This not only helps in tracking expenses but also ensures compliance with tax regulations.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used for data collection and analysis. These include direct observation, interviews, and the use of specialized software tools. Each method has its own strengths and limitations, and the choice depends on the specific requirements of the study.

The third section provides a detailed overview of the results obtained from the research. It highlights key findings and trends, supported by statistical data and visual representations. The author notes that while there are some similarities in the data, there are also significant differences that warrant further investigation.

Finally, the document concludes with a series of recommendations for future research and practical applications. It suggests that the findings could be used to improve existing processes and to inform policy decisions. The author also acknowledges the limitations of the study and offers suggestions for how these could be addressed in subsequent work.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for transparency and accountability, particularly in the context of public administration and financial management. The text notes that without reliable records, it is difficult to track expenditures, assess performance, and identify areas for improvement.

2. The second part of the document addresses the challenges associated with data collection and analysis. It highlights that gathering comprehensive data from various sources can be a complex and time-consuming process. However, the benefits of having a robust data infrastructure are significant, as it enables decision-makers to base their actions on evidence and insights derived from the data. The document suggests that investing in modern data management systems and training staff in data literacy are crucial steps towards overcoming these challenges.

3. The third part of the document focuses on the role of technology in enhancing organizational efficiency and effectiveness. It discusses how digital tools and platforms can streamline workflows, reduce manual errors, and facilitate communication and collaboration among team members. The text also touches upon the importance of cybersecurity in protecting sensitive information and ensuring the integrity of digital systems. It concludes that while technology offers numerous opportunities for innovation and growth, it must be implemented thoughtfully and responsibly to maximize its potential.

To ensure that all cases heard in the Southern District of New York are handled promptly and efficiently, all parties must keep the court apprised of any new contact information. It is a party's obligation to provide an address for service; service of court orders cannot be accomplished if a party does not update the court when a change of address occurs. Accordingly, all self-represented litigants are hereby ORDERED to inform the court of each change in their address or electronic contact information. Parties may consent to electronic service to receive notifications of court filings by email, rather than relying on regular mail delivery. Parties may also ask the court for permission to file documents electronically . Forms, including instructions for consenting to electronic service and requesting permission to file documents electronically, may be found by clicking on the hyperlinks in this order, or by accessing the forms on the courts website, nysd.uscourts.gov/forms. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both manual and automated techniques. The goal is to ensure that the data is as accurate and reliable as possible.

The third part of the document provides a detailed breakdown of the results. It shows that there is a significant correlation between the variables being studied. This finding is supported by statistical analysis and is consistent with previous research in the field.

Finally, the document concludes with a series of recommendations for future research. It suggests that further studies should be conducted to explore the underlying causes of the observed trends. This will help to develop more effective strategies for addressing the issues at hand.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

ELI ANGELINO,

Plaintiff,

-against-

NEW YORK CITY DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND MENTAL HYGIENE,

Defendant.

24-CV-7907 (LTS)

ORDER OF DISMISSAL
WITH LEAVE TO REPLEAD

LAURA TAYLOR SWAIN, Chief United States District Judge:

Plaintiff resides in California and is appearing pro se. He brings this action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, and the Administrative Procedure Act (APA), 5 U.S.C. § 551 et seq., alleging that he was unable to obtain a copy of his birth certificate from the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DOHMH). By order dated February 13, 2025, the Court granted Plaintiff's request to proceed in forma pauperis, that is, without prepayment of fees.

STANDARD OF REVIEW

The Court must dismiss an in forma pauperis complaint, or any portion of the complaint, that is frivolous or malicious, fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted, or seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B); see Livingston v. Adirondack Beverage Co., 141 F.3d 434, 437 (2d Cir. 1998). The Court must also dismiss a complaint when the Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction of the claims raised. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(h)(3).

While the law mandates dismissal on any of these grounds, the Court is obliged to construe pro se pleadings liberally, Harris v. Mills, 572 F.3d 66, 72 (2d Cir. 2009), and interpret them to raise the “strongest [claims] that they suggest,” Triestman v. Fed. Bureau of Prisons, 470 F.3d 471, 474 (2d Cir. 2006) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted) (emphasis in original). But the “special solicitude” in pro se cases, id. at 475 (citation omitted), has its limits – to state a claim, pro se pleadings still must comply with Rule 8 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, which requires a complaint to make a short and plain statement showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.

BACKGROUND

The following facts are drawn from the complaint.¹ Plaintiff alleges that he was born on April 27, 1982, to unknown parents at New York Presbyterian Hospital in New York. (ECF 1 at 6.) He has been unable to obtain a birth certificate from the New York City DOHMH to establish the fact of his birth in New York. Plaintiff attaches documents reflecting that he has brought multiple unsuccessful proceedings in the Supreme Court of the State of New York, New York County, and that he recently appealed to the Appellate Division, First Department, from an adverse decision. (ECF 1 at 8.) Those documents reflect that Plaintiff sought “delayed registration of birth certificate.” (Id. at 11.)

Plaintiff sues DOHMH seeking $10 million in damages and an order requiring “delayed registry of birth certificate.” (Id. at 6.)²

DISCUSSION

A. Civil Rights Claim

To state a claim under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, a plaintiff must allege that a person acting under the color of state law, or a “state actor,” violated a right secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States. West v. Atkins, 487 U.S. 42, 48-49 (1988).

² Unlike many New York City agencies, the DOHMH can sue and be sued in the name of the agency. See N.Y. City Charter ch. 22, § 564 (“The department may sue and be sued in and by the proper name of ‘Department of Health and Mental Hygiene of the City of New York’ . . .”); Rivera v. Bloomberg, No. 11-CV-0629 (PGG), 2012 WL 3655830, at *11 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 27, 2012).

1. Section 1983 claim cannot be premised on state law

Vital records such as birth certificates are governed by state and local law. 10 NYCRR 35.2 (NYC birth certificates); Pub. Health Law § 4173 (state law on transcripts and certification by registrars). A Section 1983 claim must be based on allegations that a state actor, such as DOHMH, violated federal law – not state law. An alleged violation of New York City or State vital records law therefore cannot be the basis for a Section 1983 claim against DOHMH.

2. Procedural due process claim

Plaintiff invokes the Fourteenth Amendment, alleging that the denial of a registration of a delayed birth certificate “is arbitrary and capricious.” (ECF 1 at 5). The Court understands these allegations as asserting a claim for denial of the right to procedural due process. Where a plaintiff seeks “to enforce procedural due process rights, a court must determine (1) whether a [liberty or] property interest is implicated, and if it is, (2) what process is due before the plaintiff may be deprived of that interest.” Nnebe v. Daus, 644 F.3d 147, 158 (2d Cir. 2011) (citation omitted).

When the government deprives a plaintiff of a property interest pursuant to an established procedure, procedural due process is generally satisfied so long as some form of hearing is provided before the individual is finally deprived of the property interest. *Id.*³ Generally, “if a plaintiff had an opportunity to contest a defendant’s actions but failed to do so, there can be no claim for violation of his or her procedural due process rights under 42 U.S.C. § 1983.” Vialez v.

³ Conduct is undertaken in accordance with established state procedures when, for example, it is “pursuant to a statute, code, regulation, or custom,” or is the result of a decision made by a high-ranking official with “final authority over significant matters.” Viteritti v. Inc. Vill. of Bayville, 918 F. Supp. 2d 126, 134 (E.D.N.Y. 2013) (quoting Chase Grp. All. LLC v. City of New York Dep’t of Fin., 620 F.3d 146, 152 n.3 (2d Cir. 2010)).

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that this is crucial for ensuring transparency and accountability in the organization's operations.

2. The second part of the document outlines the various methods and tools used to collect and analyze data. It highlights the need for consistent and reliable data collection processes to support effective decision-making.

3. The third part of the document focuses on the role of technology in data management and analysis. It discusses how modern software solutions can streamline data collection, storage, and reporting, thereby improving efficiency and accuracy.

4. The fourth part of the document addresses the challenges associated with data management, such as data quality, security, and integration. It provides strategies to overcome these challenges and ensure that the data is reliable and secure.

N.Y.C. Hous. Auth., 783 F. Supp. 109, 113 (S.D.N.Y. 1991); Hellenic Am. Neighborhood Action Comm. v. City of New York, 101 F.3d 877, 881 (2d Cir. 1996) (“An Article 78 proceeding is adequate for due process purposes even though the petitioner may not be able to recover the same relief that he could in a § 1983 suit.”)

Here, Plaintiff appears to have applied for a birth certificate, which was denied pursuant to established state procedures. He pursued remedies available to him under state law in state court, including filing an appeal, in October 2024, from an adverse decision of the state court to the Appellate Division, First Department. Even assuming, for purposes of this order, that Plaintiff has a property interest in delayed registration of his birth certificate, these allegations show that he has an opportunity to be heard in state court before being finally deprived of that interest. Plaintiff has not identified any deficiency in the state court procedures, and he thus fails to state a Section 1983 claim for a deprivation of his right to procedural due process. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii).

3. Fourteenth Amendment citizenship rights

Plaintiff asserts that the denial of a birth certificate has impaired his “right 14th Amendment a U.S. Born citizen.” (ECF 1 at 5.) He notes that those “born or naturalized in the United States” are entitled to United States citizenship (id. at 2), a reference to Section 1 of the Fourteenth Amendment. Plaintiff’s complaint, however, seeks delayed registration of his birth certificate, not a declaration regarding his citizenship. Defendant DOHMH is an agency of the City of New York and does not play any role in determining citizenship. Moreover, nothing in the complaint suggests that the DOHMH’s decision about delayed registration of the alleged fact of Plaintiff’s birth to unknown parents in New York turned on an interpretation of Section 1 of the Fourteenth Amendment or on his entitlement to United States citizenship, rather than on state and local vital records laws. Plaintiff's allegations thus do not state a claim arising under Section 1 of the Fourteenth Amendment and the claim must be dismissed. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii).⁴

B. Administrative Procedure Act

Plaintiff invokes the APA, seeking review of DOHMH's decision regarding delayed registration of his birth certificate. The APA, in certain circumstances, provides for judicial review of a federal agency's final administrative decisions. See 5 U.S.C. §§ 702, 704; Cnty. of Suffolk v. Sebelius, 605 F.3d 135, 140-41 (2d Cir. 2010). An agency, for purposes of the APA, is defined to mean, with some exceptions, "each authority of the Government of the United States." 5 U.S.C. § 551(1). Because the DOHMH is an agency of the City of New York, and not an agency of the United States, the APA does not provide for federal court review of DOHMH's decisions. Plaintiff's request for review under the APA must therefore be dismissed for failure to state a claim on which relief can be granted. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii).

C. State Law Claims

Plaintiff invokes the Court's diversity jurisdiction, under 28 U.S.C. § 1332. He alleges that he is a citizen of California, suing the City of New York DOHMH, and seeking $10 million in damages.⁵ Plaintiff's allegations suffice at this stage to plead that the parties are of diverse citizenship and that the amount in controversy is satisfied.

When a federal suit follows a state suit, however, the federal court must consider whether the federal suit is either an improper attempt to "appeal" the state court decision, or whether the ⁴ In addition to federal constitutional claims under Section 1983, federal law provides a cause of action to "any person who is within the United States" who "claims a right or privilege as a national of the United States." 8 U.S.C. § 1503(a). Plaintiff, however, has not sought a judgment declaring him to be a national of the United States.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 4.5 million to 6.5 million (Office for National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people, and the need to ensure that they are able to live independently and actively in their own homes for as long as possible (Department of Health 1999).

The aim of this paper is to explore the experiences of older people who are living in care homes, and to identify the factors that influence their quality of life.

Methodology

The data for this study were collected as part of a larger study of the experiences of older people who are living in care homes. The study was conducted in two phases.

In the first phase, a series of focus group discussions were conducted with older people who were living in care homes. The focus group discussions were designed to explore the experiences of older people who are living in care homes, and to identify the factors that influence their quality of life.

The focus group discussions were conducted with a total of 12 older people who were living in care homes. The focus group discussions were conducted in the care homes where the older people were living.

state-court judgment precludes Plaintiff from litigating (or relitigating) some or all of his claims in federal court.

Federal district courts lack jurisdiction “where a party in effect seeks to take an appeal of an unfavorable state-court decision to a lower federal court.” Hunter v. McMahon, 75 F.4th 62, 68 (2d Cir. 2023) (citing Lance v. Dennis, 546 U.S. 459, 466 (2006)); Verizon Md. Inc. v. PSC, 535 U.S. 635, 644 n.3 (2002) (holding that the Rooker–Feldman doctrine, “merely recognizes that 28 U.S.C. § 1331 . . . does not authorize district courts to exercise appellate jurisdiction”). The so-called Rooker-Feldman doctrine—which takes its name from two U.S. Supreme Court decisions, Rooker v. Fidelity Trust Co., 263 U.S. 413, 415-16 (1923), and District of Columbia Court of Appeals v. Feldman, 460 U.S. 462, 482-86 (1983), and generally precludes federal courts from entertaining lawsuits that seek to alter state court judgments—does not apply “if a state-court appeal is pending when the federal suit is filed.” Hunter, 75 F.4th at 68; Hansen v. Miller, 52 F.4th 96, 103 (2d Cir. 2022) (doctrine applies when “the losing party in state court filed suit in federal court after the state proceedings ended,” which occurs when the “state courts finally resolve the issue”) (citations omitted).

Moreover, for the doctrine to apply, there must be, among other things, a “causal relationship between the state-court judgment and the injury of which the party complains in federal court.” Hunter, 75 F.4th at 72 (citing McKithen v. Brown, 481 F.3d 89, 98 (2d Cir. 2007) (emphasis original)); Hansen, 52 F.4th at 100 (doctrine “bars district courts from exercising jurisdiction over otherwise properly adjudicated claims only if the plaintiff ‘complain[s] of injuries caused by a state court judgment.’” (citing Hoblock v. Albany Cnty. Bd. of Elections, 422 F.3d 77, 85 (2d Cir. 2005))).

Effect of Stimulus Control on the Acquisition of a Complex Skill

Abstract: The present study examined the effect of stimulus control on the acquisition of a complex skill.

Keywords: stimulus control, complex skill, acquisition

The present study examined the effect of stimulus control on the acquisition of a complex skill. The study was designed to test the hypothesis that stimulus control would facilitate the acquisition of a complex skill.

The study was conducted in a laboratory setting. The participants were 20 college students who were randomly assigned to two groups: a control group and an experimental group.

The control group received no stimulus control, while the experimental group received stimulus control throughout the acquisition process.

The results of the study showed that the experimental group acquired the complex skill significantly faster than the control group.

These findings suggest that stimulus control is an effective method for facilitating the acquisition of a complex skill.

When the Rooker-Feldman doctrine is inapplicable, such as because a state-court appeal is pending, or because the injury is an independent one that preceded or was merely ratified rather than caused by the state-court judgment, then the rules of preclusion govern instead. Hunter, 75 F.4th at 72 (holding that if federal litigation merely “entails a factual or legal contention that was, or could have been, presented to the state judge, then the connection between the state and federal cases concerns the rules of preclusion, which are not jurisdictional” (citing Milchtein v. Chisholm, 880 F.3d 895, 898 (7th Cir. 2018))).

Here, Plaintiff alleges that, at the time he filed the complaint, he had pending an appeal from the state-court decision. (ECF 1 at 5). Moreover, Plaintiff’s injury—DOHMH’s denial of registration of his birth—is one that was merely ratified by the state-court judgment rather than caused by it. Hunter, 75 F.4th at 71. Accordingly, the Rooker-Feldman doctrine does not deprive the Court of jurisdiction of this matter, both because the state court proceedings were not final when Plaintiff brought this action and because this action presents an independent claim; instead, the ordinary rules of preclusion apply.⁶

Here, Plaintiff alleges that he initiated two prior Article 78 proceedings in the Supreme Court of the State of New York against DOHMH challenging its denial of registration of his birth in New York: one in 2019, under Index Number 156470/2019, and one in 2024, under Index Number 51429/2024.

A “federal court must give a state-court judgment the same preclusive effect as would be given that judgment under the law of the State in which the judgment was rendered.” O’Connor v. Pierson, 568 F.3d 64, 69 (2d Cir. 2009) (cleaned up). Under New York law, claim preclusion

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice, and that these documents should be stored in a secure and accessible location. The text also mentions the need to regularly review and reconcile the accounts to ensure that the records are up-to-date and accurate.

In addition, the document highlights the significance of proper categorization of expenses. It suggests that expenses should be grouped into specific categories, such as travel, entertainment, and office supplies, to facilitate easier tracking and reporting. This practice is particularly important for businesses that are subject to strict financial regulations, as it allows for a clear and concise presentation of the data.

Furthermore, the document addresses the issue of data security. It advises that all financial records should be protected from unauthorized access and theft. This can be achieved through the use of secure storage methods, such as encrypted digital files or locked physical files, and by implementing strict access controls. Regular backups of the data are also recommended to prevent data loss in the event of a disaster.

Finally, the document concludes by stressing the importance of transparency and accountability in financial management. It encourages businesses to maintain open communication with their stakeholders and to provide regular reports on their financial performance. By doing so, they can build trust and ensure that their financial practices are in line with the highest standards of integrity.

(also known as res judicata) “bars future litigation of claims that were or could have been raised in a prior proceeding where that prior proceeding resulted in a final judgment on the merits.” Hourani v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 158 F. Supp. 3d 142, 146-47 (E.D.N.Y. 2016). Damages for civil rights violations may not be recovered in an Article 78 proceeding. Gutierrez v. Coughlin, 841 F.2d 484, 486 (2d Cir. 1988). The Second Circuit has held that claim preclusion does not bar a federal suit that follows an Article 78 proceeding if the state court could not have awarded the damages being sought in the federal action. Davidson v. Capuano, 792 F.2d 275 (2d Cir. 1986). Claim preclusion thus does not prevent Plaintiff from bringing damages claims that could not been brought in the Article 78 proceedings.

Nevertheless, the essential issue raised in this action – whether Plaintiff is entitled to delayed registration of the alleged fact of his birth in New York – was resolved against Plaintiff in the Article 78 proceedings. Under New York law, the doctrine of issue preclusion (or collateral estoppel) “bars a party from relitigating in a subsequent proceeding an issue clearly raised in a prior proceeding and decided against that party where the party to be precluded had a full and fair opportunity to contest the prior determination.” Weiss v. Manfredi, 83 N.Y.2d 974, 976 (1994). Two requirements must be satisfied for issue preclusion to apply: (1) there must be an “identity of issue which has necessarily been decided in the prior action and is decisive of the present action,” and (2) plaintiff must have had “a full and fair opportunity to contest the decision now said to be controlling.” Schwartz v. Pub. Adm’r, 24 N.Y.2d 65, 71 (1969); Vargas v. City of New York, 377 F.3d 200, 207-08 (2d Cir. 2004) (holding that collateral estoppel does not apply when an Article 78 court has not heard or addressed the claims being asserted in federal court). Plaintiff squarely alleges that he raised the “same matter” twice in the Supreme Court of the State of New York. It also appears from the complaint that DOHMH opposed

Plaintiff's petition, and the petition was denied on the ground that "petitioner has not demonstrated his entitlement to the relief sought." (ECF 1 at 9.) Collateral estoppel thus bars Plaintiff from relitigating the question of whether he is entitled to delayed registration of his birth in New York because it appears from the face of the complaint that the issue has already been fully litigated in state court and resolved against him.

D. Leave to Amend

District courts generally grant a pro se plaintiff an opportunity to amend a complaint to cure its defects, but leave to amend is not required where it would be futile. See Hill v. Curcione, 657 F.3d 116, 123-24 (2d Cir. 2011); Salahuddin v. Cuomo, 861 F.2d 40, 42 (2d Cir. 1988). Plaintiff's complaint gives no indication that the defects can be cured with an amendment.

Nevertheless, the facts alleged in Plaintiff's complaint are sufficiently unclear that there is a possibility that Plaintiff is asserting some claim against DOHMH that was not necessarily decided in the state court action. Accordingly, the Court grants Plaintiff leave to replead his claims against DOHMH within 30 days. If Plaintiff chooses not to file an amended complaint within the time allowed, the Court will direct the Clerk of Court to enter judgment in this action.

CONCLUSION

Plaintiff's complaint, filed in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(1), is dismissed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii), 30 days' leave to replead.

The Court certifies under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3) that any appeal from this order would not be taken in good faith, and therefore in forma pauperis status is denied for the purpose of an appeal. See Coppedge v. United States, 369 U.S. 438, 444-45 (1962).

The Court directs the Clerk of Court to hold this matter open on the docket until a civil judgment is entered.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial statements. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses and income. The document also highlights the need for regular reconciliation of accounts to identify any discrepancies early on.

In addition, the document provides a detailed breakdown of the accounting cycle, which consists of eight steps: identifying the accounting cycle, journalizing, posting, determining debits and credits, preparing a trial balance, adjusting entries, preparing financial statements, and closing the books. Each step is explained in detail, with examples provided to illustrate the process.

The document also covers the preparation of financial statements, including the balance sheet, income statement, and statement of cash flows. It explains how these statements are derived from the accounting records and how they provide a comprehensive view of the company's financial performance.

Finally, the document discusses the importance of internal controls and the role of the auditor. It explains how internal controls help to prevent errors and fraud, and how an auditor's role is to provide an independent opinion on the accuracy of the financial statements.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for transparency and accountability, particularly in the context of public administration and financial management. The text highlights the need for clear documentation to prevent misunderstandings and ensure that all stakeholders have access to the same information.

2. The second part of the document focuses on the role of technology in modernizing record-keeping processes. It explores how digital tools and software can streamline data collection, storage, and retrieval, reducing the risk of human error and improving efficiency. The author notes that while technology offers significant benefits, it also requires careful implementation and training to ensure that it is used effectively and securely.

3. The third part of the document addresses the challenges of data security and privacy. It discusses the potential risks of data breaches and the importance of implementing robust security measures to protect sensitive information. The text also touches on the legal and ethical considerations surrounding data collection and use, emphasizing the need for transparency and informed consent from individuals whose data is being collected.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the importance of regular audits and reviews to ensure the accuracy and integrity of the records. It suggests that periodic audits can help identify any discrepancies or errors in the data and provide an opportunity to correct them before they become more significant. The text also emphasizes the need for clear policies and procedures regarding record-keeping and audits to ensure that all staff are aware of their responsibilities and the standards that must be followed.

5. The fifth part of the document concludes by summarizing the key points discussed and reiterating the importance of a comprehensive and well-maintained record-keeping system. It encourages organizations to take a proactive approach to record management, recognizing it as a critical component of their overall operations and a key factor in their success and sustainability.

6. The final part of the document provides a list of resources and references for further reading on the topics discussed. It includes links to relevant articles, books, and online tools that can help organizations improve their record-keeping practices. The author also offers contact information for further assistance and support, ensuring that readers have access to the help they need to implement the recommendations outlined in the document.

APPENDIX D

DECISION AND ORDERS OF THE NY APPELLATE DIVISION, FIRST DEPT.

Case Name: Eli Angelino v. N.Y.C. Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Case No: 2024-06445

DESCRIPTION: This Appendix contains the official judicial records from the New York State Supreme Court, Appellate Division, First Department, including:

1. The Order Granting Waiver of Costs and Fees (Entered April 15, 2025):
Documenting the State's recognition of Petitioner's indigent status.
2. The Decision and Order of Affirmance (Entered December 18, 2025): Documenting the final intermediate state court ruling.

LEGAL SIGNIFICANCE: These records establish the intermediate state appellate history and the exhaustion of state remedies. Specifically, the April 15 Order proves that the Petitioner's fee-exempt status is a matter of judicial record, contradicting the "IFP Pending" blockade currently maintained by the Second Circuit Clerk. The December 18 Decision constitutes the "Final State Decision" that necessitates federal intervention to enforce the Full Faith and Credit Clause and the resulting $100,000,000.00 Judgment.

Case No. 2024-06445

NEW YORK CITY DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND MENTAL HYGIENE,
Respondent-Respondent.

Eli Angelino, appellant pro se.

Muriel Goode-Trufant, Corporation Counsel, New York (Hannah J. Sarokin of counsel), for respondent.

Judgment (denominated an order), Supreme Court, New York County (Nicholas W. Moyné, J.), entered October 10, 2024, which denied the petition to annul respondent New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene’s (DOHMH) determination, dated January 9, 2024, denying petitioner’s application for a delayed registration of birth, and dismissed the proceeding brought pursuant to CPLR article 78, unanimously affirmed, without costs.

Petitioner alleges that he was born in Manhattan on April 27, 1982. As an applicant seeking delayed registration of birth, he “bears the burden of submitting convincing proof” that “will establish to the satisfaction of the Commissioner or the Commissioner’s designee the facts and date of birth as alleged in the application” (24 RCNY 201.11[a][2]; see Matter of Evans v Bureau of Vital Statistics, 212 AD3d 613, 614

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both qualitative and quantitative approaches. The goal is to identify trends and patterns that can inform future decision-making.

The third section provides a detailed breakdown of the results. It shows that there is a significant correlation between the variables studied. This finding is supported by statistical analysis and is consistent with previous research in the field.

Finally, the document concludes with a series of recommendations. These are based on the findings and are intended to help organizations improve their processes and achieve their goals more effectively.

In a judgment dismissing petitioner's previous CPLR article 78 proceeding challenging a prior denial of delayed birth registration, Supreme Court held that petitioner "fail[ed] to present convincing proof or circumstantial evidence that he was born in New York City" (Matter of Angelino v N.Y.C. Dept. of Health, 2019 WL 4575695, *2 [Sup Ct, New York County 2019]). In reviewing the evidence petitioner submitted to DOHMH, the court found an August 1, 2013 letter from New York Presbyterian Hospital, noting that a male child with petitioner's name was born on the date in question, "insufficient because it is unsigned, does not include the name of either parent and does not attach a copy of Petitioner's medical records" (id.). The court also found baptismal certificates petitioner submitted, dated June 5, 2015 and December 15, 2016 reflecting a baptism in May 2015, insufficient because they were "issued on a conditional basis because there was no record of Petitioner's baptism" as an infant (id.).

Despite Supreme Court's prior judgment, in February 2021 petitioner filed a petition in the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, where he then resided, to establish the fact, time, and place of his birth. Per the record, petitioner proffered his own allegations, the hospital letter from 2013, and a new unsigned letter from the hospital responding to his March 2020 request for medical records, which advised that records are kept for only six years or three years past maturity and attached no medical records. The California court held a hearing at which no one appeared to oppose petitioner, and issued an order on October 5, 2021 establishing that petitioner was born in Manhattan on the date alleged, to unknown parents.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for ensuring transparency and accountability in financial operations.

2. The second part of the document outlines the various methods and techniques used to collect and analyze data. It highlights the need for consistent and reliable data collection processes to ensure the validity of the results.

3. The third part of the document describes the different types of data that are collected and analyzed. It includes information on both quantitative and qualitative data, as well as the various sources from which this data is gathered.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the various statistical methods and techniques used to analyze the data. It covers topics such as descriptive statistics, inferential statistics, and regression analysis.

5. The fifth part of the document discusses the various ways in which the results of the analysis can be presented and communicated. It includes information on the use of tables, graphs, and charts to effectively convey the findings.

6. The sixth part of the document discusses the various factors that can influence the results of the analysis. It includes information on the potential for bias and error, as well as the importance of controlling for these factors.

7. The seventh part of the document discusses the various ways in which the results of the analysis can be used to inform decision-making. It includes information on the use of the results to identify trends, patterns, and areas for improvement.

8. The eighth part of the document discusses the various ways in which the results of the analysis can be used to evaluate the performance of an organization. It includes information on the use of the results to identify strengths and weaknesses, as well as to develop strategies for improvement.

9. The ninth part of the document discusses the various ways in which the results of the analysis can be used to inform policy-making. It includes information on the use of the results to identify areas for policy change and to develop strategies for addressing these areas.

10. The tenth part of the document discusses the various ways in which the results of the analysis can be used to inform research. It includes information on the use of the results to identify areas for further research and to develop hypotheses for testing.

Petitioner filed a new application for delayed registration of birth with DOHMH in or around November 2021, the denial of which petitioner challenges in this proceeding. Petitioner asserts that his application included the hospital letter, baptismal records, immunization records, and the 2021 California order. DOHMH's determination was not arbitrary and capricious or affected by an error of law as petitioner did not proffer convincing evidence of the fact of his birth and the 2021 California order is not entitled to full faith and credit (see CPLR 7803[3]; Matter of Pell v Board of Educ. of Union Free School Dist. No. 1 of Towns of Scarsdale & Mamaroneck, Westchester County, 34 NY2d 222, 231 [1974]).

As to the 2021 California order, petitioner did not serve DOHMH with his California petition and failed to provide the California court with a copy of the 2019 Supreme Court judgment. The 2021 California order and its January 31, 2024 order correcting a minute entry are "not entitled to full faith and credit . . . since the [California] court lacked jurisdiction over respondent [DOHMH]" and DOHMH was deprived of a full and fair opportunity to litigate the matter (Matter of Arnold v Department of Health City of N.Y., 174 AD2d 409, 409-410 [1st Dept 1991]). Moreover, the judgment of Supreme Court finding the hospital letter insufficient to prove the fact of petitioner's birth predates the California order by two years and would be entitled to full faith and credit in California, had petitioner served DOHMH with process or provided the California court with a copy of the judgment from this State (see Baker by Thomas v General Motors Corp., 522 US 222, 233 [1998]).

Turning to petitioner's other evidence, it was rational for DOHMH to conclude that the same hospital letter and baptismal records fail to establish that petitioner was born in the City of New York. It was also rational to find that the immunization "yellow

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the integrity of the financial system and for the ability to detect and prevent fraud.

2. The second part of the document outlines the specific procedures for recording transactions. It details the steps involved in the accounting cycle, from identifying the transaction to posting it to the appropriate ledger account. It also discusses the importance of double-checking entries to ensure accuracy.

3. The third part of the document discusses the role of internal controls in preventing fraud. It describes various control measures, such as segregation of duties, authorization requirements, and regular reconciliations, and explains how they contribute to the overall reliability of the financial reporting process.

4. The fourth part of the document addresses the challenges of fraud detection. It discusses the common signs and symptoms of fraud, such as unexplained discrepancies, unusual transactions, and changes in behavior, and provides guidance on how to investigate and respond to suspected fraud.

5. The fifth part of the document discusses the legal and ethical implications of fraud. It explains the consequences of fraud, including civil and criminal penalties, and emphasizes the importance of maintaining high ethical standards and reporting any suspected fraud to the appropriate authorities.

6. The sixth part of the document discusses the role of technology in fraud prevention. It describes how modern accounting systems and data analytics tools can be used to identify suspicious activity and improve the efficiency of the fraud detection process.

7. The seventh part of the document discusses the importance of ongoing education and training for accounting professionals. It emphasizes that staying up-to-date on the latest fraud prevention techniques and legal requirements is essential for maintaining the highest level of professional competence and integrity.

card” in the record is insufficient, assuming it was included in the 2021 application. This document is dated August 5, 2021, bears the California state seal, shows only vaccinations given between 2017 and 2021 in California, and does not provide any dates of childhood vaccinations other than an entry providing “04/27/1983” as the date petitioner’s “next” MMR vaccine dose was due.

That petitioner delivered new applications to DOHMH after January 9, 2024, including a copy of the January 31, 2024 California order, is irrelevant.

We have considered petitioner’s remaining arguments and find them unavailing.

THE MANDATES: [PROPOSED] ORDER AND WRIT OF EXECUTION

DESCRIPTION: This Appendix contains the [Proposed] Order for the Writ of Mandamus and the Writ of Execution. These mandates are the required ministerial instruments for the execution of the perfected $100,000,000.00 judgment, as documented in the Master Record and the February 16, 2026, forensic audit.

RULE 5(d)(2)(B) BYPASS NOTICE: Included herein is the March 9, 2026 (9:35 AM) Notice served directly upon the Chambers of the Honorable Alison J. Nathan. This filing was necessitated by the "Clerical Embargo" at Entry #107 and constitutes a formal demand for the Court to bypass the obstructed Clerk's office and execute the judgment as a matter of law.

VERIFICATION: I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, that the attached Email and Mandates are true and correct copies of the documents served upon the Court.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both primary and secondary data collection techniques. The analysis focuses on identifying trends and patterns over time, which is crucial for making informed decisions.

The third part of the report details the results of the study. It presents a series of charts and graphs that illustrate the key findings. These visual aids help to convey complex information in a clear and concise manner, making it easier for the reader to understand the implications of the data.

Finally, the document concludes with a series of recommendations based on the findings. These suggestions are designed to address the challenges identified during the study and to provide a clear path forward for the organization. The author believes that these measures will lead to improved efficiency and better overall performance.

In summary, this report provides a comprehensive overview of the project's progress and results. It highlights the challenges faced and the solutions implemented, offering valuable insights into the current state of affairs. The author hopes that these findings will be useful to all stakeholders involved in the project.

[PROPOSED] ORDER AND JUDGMENT

UPON CONSIDERATION of the Emergency Motion, the documented Unified Record (Files 01-76), and the Respondents' willful failure to answer by the January 22, 2026 deadline, the Court finds:

1. FULL FAITH AND CREDIT: The October 5, 2021 Order of the California Superior Court is a valid judgment establishing Petitioner's 1982 identity.
2. WILLFUL DEFAULT & PROCEDURAL NULLITY: Respondents had actual notice as of January 8, 2026 (Entry 24) and failed to respond by the

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial data. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses and income. The document also notes that regular audits are essential to identify any discrepancies or errors in the records.

In addition, the document highlights the need for transparency and accountability. All financial activities should be clearly documented and accessible to relevant stakeholders. This helps in building trust and ensures that the organization's financial health is well-understood. The document also mentions that proper record-keeping is crucial for tax compliance and for providing accurate information to investors and creditors.

Furthermore, the document stresses the importance of using reliable accounting software and tools. These tools can help in automating the recording process, reducing the risk of human error, and providing real-time insights into the organization's financial performance. It also suggests that staff responsible for financial record-keeping should receive regular training to stay updated on the latest accounting practices and regulations.

Finally, the document concludes by stating that maintaining accurate financial records is not just a legal requirement but also a strategic advantage. It enables the organization to make informed decisions, identify areas for improvement, and ensure long-term financial stability. By adhering to these principles, the organization can achieve its financial goals and maintain a strong reputation in the market.

The document also includes a section on the importance of data security. Financial records are highly sensitive and should be protected from unauthorized access, loss, or theft. This can be achieved through the use of secure storage solutions, strong passwords, and regular data backups. Additionally, the document advises on the proper disposal of physical records to prevent information leakage.

In summary, the document provides a comprehensive overview of the best practices for financial record-keeping. It covers the importance of accuracy, transparency, and security, and offers practical advice on how to implement these practices effectively.

January 22, 2026 deadline. The subsequent "Notice of Appearance" (Entry 49) filed on January 28, 2026, is a procedural nullity under FRCP 55(c) as it was filed without leave of court and only after Petitioner's motion was active.

3. RECOGNITION OF AUDIT TRAIL: The Court recognizes the 13-minute gap (12:56 PM vs. 1:09 PM) documented in the ACMS Case Summary (Exhibit B) as irrefutable proof of the Respondents' bad-faith attempt to bypass their default status.
4. STATE DEATH: The Respondents' actions have caused total civil disablement ("State Death").

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

- I. WRIT OF MANDAMUS ISSUED: The Petition for Writ of Mandamus is GRANTED.
- II. IMMEDIATE RELEASE: The NYC Vital Records Administrator shall IMMEDIATELY RELEASE the original 1982 NYC Birth Certificate to Petitioner within 48 hours.
- III. STRIKE ENTRY 49: The Clerk of Court is directed to STRIKE the Notice of Appearance (Entry 49) from the record.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that this is crucial for ensuring transparency and accountability in the organization's operations.

2. The second part of the document outlines the various methods and tools used to collect and analyze data. It highlights the need for consistent data collection procedures and the use of advanced analytical techniques to derive meaningful insights from the data.

3. The third part of the document focuses on the role of technology in data management and analysis. It discusses how modern software solutions can streamline data collection, storage, and analysis processes, thereby improving efficiency and accuracy.

4. The fourth part of the document addresses the challenges associated with data management, such as data quality, security, and privacy. It provides strategies to mitigate these risks and ensure that the data remains reliable and secure throughout its lifecycle.

5. The fifth part of the document concludes by summarizing the key findings and recommendations. It stresses the importance of a data-driven approach in decision-making and the need for continuous monitoring and improvement of data management practices.

- IV. EMERGENCY MEDICAL RELIEF: Respondents shall immediately provide or fund medically-monitored transport for Petitioner's cardiology appointment scheduled for February 12, 2026, and release life-safety funds necessary to prevent sudden cardiac collapse during the pendency of this action.
- V. MONETARY JUDGMENT: Judgment is hereby ENTERED in favor of Petitioner in the amount of $100,000,000.00 for compensatory and punitive damages.

SO ORDERED.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT JUDGE

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial statements. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses and income.

The second part of the document provides a detailed breakdown of the accounting cycle. It outlines the ten steps involved in the process, from identifying the accounting entity to preparing financial statements. Each step is explained in detail, with examples provided to illustrate the concepts.

The third part of the document focuses on the classification of accounts. It discusses the different types of accounts, such as assets, liabilities, and equity, and how they are used to record transactions. It also explains the importance of debits and credits in maintaining the accounting equation.

The fourth part of the document covers the process of journalizing and posting. It describes how transactions are recorded in the journal and then posted to the ledger. It also discusses the importance of double-checking the entries to ensure accuracy.

The fifth part of the document discusses the preparation of financial statements. It explains how the ledger is used to generate the income statement, balance sheet, and statement of owner's equity. It also discusses the importance of reconciling the books to ensure that the financial statements are accurate.

The sixth part of the document covers the closing process. It explains how the temporary accounts are closed to the permanent accounts at the end of the accounting period. It also discusses the importance of preparing a closing entry to complete the cycle.

The seventh part of the document discusses the importance of internal controls. It explains how internal controls can be used to prevent errors and fraud. It also discusses the importance of separating duties and maintaining proper documentation.

The eighth part of the document covers the use of accounting software. It discusses the benefits of using software to automate the accounting process. It also discusses the importance of choosing the right software for the business.

The ninth part of the document discusses the importance of ethics in accounting. It explains how accountants should always act in the best interest of their clients and the public. It also discusses the importance of maintaining confidentiality and avoiding conflicts of interest.

The tenth part of the document covers the future of accounting. It discusses the impact of technology on the accounting profession and the importance of staying up-to-date on the latest developments. It also discusses the importance of continuing education and professional development.

WRIT OF EXECUTION

TO: Chambers of the Honorable Alison J. Nathan

FROM: Eli Angelino, Petitioner (Pro Se)

DATE: February 20, 2026

RE: CASE NO. 25-3262 (MANDAMUS) – STATUS INQUIRY & NOTICE OF DEFAULT

Dear Judge Nathan,

I am writing to provide a formal Status Inquiry regarding my Motion for Default Judgment and Writ of Mandamus (Entry 79).

The Hardware Truth of the Record:

1. The Record is Perfected: As evidenced by the ACMS pull today (Feb 20, 09:11 AM), the last docket entry remains the manual override and cure from February 17, 2026, at 06:02:07 PM.
2. Total City Default: The City of New York has filed zero (0) responses in the 63 hours since the record was cured. They remain in total default of the rules and the Petitioner's $100M Motion.
3. Ongoing Administrative Harassment: While the City refuses to file legally in court, they attempted unauthorized administrative contact yesterday, February 19, at 2:46 PM (from 718-302-7347). This was a bad-faith attempt to "kidnap" my medical data and force a network switch to bypass the protections of Entry 78 (Dr. Derek Mazique).

Request for Sua Sponte Order: Petitioner has maintained total strategic silence since the Tuesday cure to allow this Court to act. I have prepared a Writ of Execution dated February 20, 2026, and I am standing by for the Court's Sua Sponte Order to finalize this matter and protect my medical and physical safety.

Respectfully Submitted,

/S/ Eli Angelino

TO: THE HONORABLE ALISON J. NATHAN, CIRCUIT JUDGE AND CHIEF JUDGE DEBRA ANN LIVINGSTON CASE NO: 25-3262 (MANDAMUS)

Petitioner Eli Angelino ("Petitioner") moves this Court for an immediate Order (1) Executing the $100,000,000.00 Judgment based on Respondent's absolute default, and (2) Compelling the Clerk of Court to restore the integrity of the Judicial Record (Entries 1-106). Petitioner further submits this Forensic Discovery Report to alert the Court to systematic tampering and administrative obstruction intended to hide the truth of this case.

I. FULL FAITH AND CREDIT & CRIMINAL CONCEALMENT

This Court is bound by the Full Faith and Credit Clause to recognize the October 5, 2021 Order establishing my identity; the State Court's refusal to acknowledge the 1,106-page Identity Theft Dossier—followed by the Federal Clerk's deliberate erasure of that same Dossier from this docket—constitutes a criminal conspiracy to maintain my 'State Death' and bypass a finalized $100M default.

II. THE BENEFICIARY & INTENT CHECK

The State Court's refusal to acknowledge the 1,106-page Identity Theft Dossier—as documented in the complaint attached to my Mandamus petition—followed by the Federal Clerk's deliberate erasure of that same Dossier from this docket, constitutes a criminal conspiracy.

III. FORENSIC PROOF OF CLERK SABOTAGE

A. THE SDNY "GHOSTING" DISCOVERY & ROOT FRAUD (Entries 9-16)

- Petitioner's discovery in SDNY Case 1:24-cv-07907-LTS proves that as early as December 12, 2025, the Court was on notice of the Respondent's total default.
- Petitioner's Letter to Chief Judge Laura Taylor Swain [SDNY Entry 16] warned of a life-safety crisis and City fraud.
- The lower court's failure to act created the vacuum that this Writ of Mandamus must now fill.

B. THE 13-MINUTE VACUUM & ENTRY TAMPERING (ENTRY 49)

- Entry 49 (City's Appearance) is a Legal Nullity.
- It was "ghosted" into the ACMS during a dead window (3:03 PM – 3:16 PM) weeks after the legal deadline to bypass a finalized default.
- Any judicial reliance on Entry 49 constitutes a fraud upon the Court.
- Systemic Mislabeling (SDNY Entry 59 & Circuit Entry 87): The Clerk in both the Lower Court and this Court has stripped the forensic links and mislabeled the record as "Correspondence" to bury the Entry 31 Default and the 1,106-page Identity Theft Dossier.

C. SPOILIATION OF THE RECORD (THE STRIPPED LINK AT ENTRY 59)

- On February 3, 2026, at 8:35 AM, Petitioner served the Clerk Manager (Taylor) with the Unified Record Access Link providing the 1,106-page Forensic Archive.
- The Clerk has since mislabeled Entries 59-106 as "Correspondence" to hide the Entry 31 Default.

D. STATUS OF THE RECORD & THE "IFP FRAUD"

- Chambers has been in possession of the perfected record since Friday at 9:45 AM.
- The 'IFP Pending' status currently on the March 7th docket is a documented fraud that contradicts the Jan 3rd Fee Waiver (Doc 02).

JUDICIAL DEMAND: Under Rule 5(d)(2)(B), I demand the Court bypass the Clerk and sign the [PROPOSED ORDER] AND WRIT OF EXECUTION for the $100,000,000.00 Judgment (Exhibits A & B of the Master Record).

Intergenerational Support and Well-Being of Older Adults: A Test of the Supportive Family Model

¹University of North Carolina at Greensboro, ²University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and ³University of North Carolina at Greensboro

Abstract The Supportive Family Model (SFM) is a conceptual model of intergenerational support that posits that the quality of relationships between older adults and their family members is a key determinant of their well-being.

The SFM is tested in a study of 100 older adults and their family members.

Results show that the SFM is supported, and that the quality of relationships between older adults and their family members is a key determinant of their well-being.

Keywords: intergenerational support, well-being, family relationships, older adults

Older adults are a diverse group, and their needs and experiences are varied. One of the most important factors influencing their well-being is the quality of their relationships with family members.
