NO. _____

IN THE
SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

WILLIAM LOGGINS JR- PETITIONER pro se

VS.

STATE OF KANSAS- RESPONDENT

APPLICATION TO EXTEND THE TIME TO FILE

A PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI

TO INDIVIDUAL JUSTICE

GORSUCH

The petitioner asks Justice Stephen Breyer to consider allowing the pro se petitioner more time to file his writ of certiorari.

In support, petitioner states as follows:

1. Petitioner's Case No. 22-125302-A judgment was entered on March 28, 2005.
2. Petitioner is a pro se litigant.
3. Petitioner is proceeding in forma pauperis.

4. Petitioner is an inmate at the Ellsworth Correctional Facility in Ellsworth, Kansas.

5. Authorities at this facility will not deliver mail sent from the Supreme Court of the United States (SCOTUS), for fear that SCOTUS will send us contraband.

6. Due to the petitioner's inmate status, and the facility's policies, there were long delays in receiving the Writ of Certiorari packet. Per policy, offenders are not allowed to receive any contents of mail; whether legal or not, whether sent from the SCOTUS, or not. Offenders may only receive photo copies of any mail sent to them. This frequently delays the delivery of the copies. i.e. The Writ of Certiorari packet, instructions, rule book, and all have to be copied. This is usually when they get around to it. Not only does it create long delays in receiving the mail, but it also impedes the integrity of the contents, received. Offenders cannot be certain whether they are receiving everything that was sent.

7. Usually, legal mail is opened in front of the inmate, but not always.

8. At the Ellsworth Correctional Facility, there are about 800 inmates housed in the central unit. Our law library time allows for an hour and forty-five minutes, per day, five days a week, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, Holidays, and employee illness.

9. The Law Library consists of a total of thirteen (13) computers, with only four (4) with Word capabilities containing Century family fonts, to serve the 800 individuals. Not all 800 are doing legal work, but those that are tend to need the four computers. It is not every day an offender can depend to get to use them when the average number of offenders using the law library are from 10 - 13.

Frankly, the petitioner believes the law library is inadequately furnished to serve the offenders at this facility.

10. There are also computer failures frequently at this facility. The facility tells us that they have upgraded the computers, and that the new computeres cannot work with Word. They have upgraded their security software, which has downgraded the usefulness of most of these computers. The officials tell us, we can handwrite our documents, even when we point out the Rules of the Supreme Court of the United States. Most offenders do not believe hand written documents will be taken seriously by the courts.

11. In this case, from the time I sent the letter requesting a Writ of Certiorari packet from SCOTUS, until the time I actually received the copied contents of the packet, nearly a month and a half passed.

12. I need more time to prepare a meaningful Writ of Certiorai, and humbly request you grant additional time.

Thank you...
