JURISDICTIONAL STATEMENT

This Court has jurisdiction over this application pursuant to the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651(a), which empowers the Supreme Court and its Justices to "issue all writs necessary or appropriate in aid of their respective jurisdictions and agreeable to the usages and principles of law." The application seeks vacatur of the Seventh Circuit's November 7, 2025, sanction order in Butler v. Eddi et al., No. 25-2589, or, alternatively, an immediate administrative stay of its enforcement, including the $750 fine (due December 7, 2025), public reprimand, and referral to the Illinois Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission (ARDC). The underlying order arises from an interlocutory appeal in a federal Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO) action, over which this Court exercises supervisory authority to ensure due process, protect First Amendment rights in advocacy, and prevent abuses of discretion by lower federal courts.

This application is properly brought under Rules 22 and 23 of the Rules of this Court. Rule 22 permits an applicant to seek extraordinary relief directly from an individual Justice, typically the Circuit Justice assigned to the relevant court of appeals, for matters requiring prompt intervention, such as stays, injunctions, or vacaturs to avert irreparable harm. Here, the application is addressed to Justice Amy Coney Barrett, the Circuit Justice for the Seventh Circuit, who has the authority to grant the requested relief independently. This procedure facilitates expeditious resolution of urgent issues without necessitating initial review by the full Court, as evidenced by this Court's practice in cases involving imminent enforcement of sanctions, threats to ongoing litigation, or risks to public safety (e.g., stays in execution or enforcement contexts). An individual Justice may issue such relief under the All Writs Act to preserve the status quo pending further proceedings.

In contrast, a petition for a writ of mandamus under Rule 20 is generally directed to the full Court and serves as a vehicle to compel a lower court to perform a mandatory duty or rectify a clear abuse of discretion where no other adequate remedy exists. Mandamus is an extraordinary remedy reserved for final disposition on the merits, often after exhaustion of other avenues, and typically requires collective consideration by the Justices. While mandamus could ultimately address the substantive validity of the Seventh Circuit's order, such as its alleged violations of due process, First Amendment protections for zealous advocacy, and Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 46, this Rule 22 application is specifically designed for interim relief. It enables a single Justice to act swiftly on time-sensitive elements like the impending fine and disciplinary referral, which pose immediate and irreparable harm to Applicant's professional standing, client representation, and the safety of vulnerable individuals in the underlying RICO case. If granted, such relief would not preclude subsequent mandamus proceedings but would safeguard Applicant's rights during the interim.

The Seventh Circuit's order, though not a final judgment in the underlying appeal, is immediately enforceable as to Applicant and warrants this Court's interlocutory supervisory intervention to uphold the integrity of the judicial process.

PARTIES TO THE PROCEEDING

Applicant: Katherine A. London, an attorney admitted to the bar of the Seventh Circuit and representing Plaintiff-Applicant Raymond E. Butler II in the underlying appeal.

Respondent: United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. They have been served pursuant to Rule 29.

UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE SEVENTH CIRCUIT

APPLICATION TO VACATE THE ORDER ISSUED BY THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE SEVENTH CIRCUIT AND REQUEST FOR AN IMMEDIATE ADMINISTRATIVE STAY

Applicant, Katherine A. London, Esq., respectfully submits this application, pursuant to Rules 22 and 23 of the Rules of this Court and the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651. Applicant respectfully requests vacatur of the Sanction Order issued by the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit on November 7, 2025, in Case No. 25-2589 (Butler v. Eddi et. al.), which imposes a $750 fine payable to the Clerk of Court within 30 days (due December 7, 2025) and serves as a public reprimand. Alternatively, Applicant requests an immediate administrative stay to preserve the status quo, as the fine became due on December 7, 2025, and enforcement, combined with the judicial referral to the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission (ARDC) of the Illinois Supreme Court, continues to cause irreparable harm not only to Applicant but also presents an ongoing risk to the representation of my client, Raymond E. Butler II, in the underlying case as well as intolerable risks to the lives and safety of elderly patients residing in nursing homes owned by the Trusts in the underlying case while this Court considers the application.

This sanction arises from zealous advocacy by Applicant in disqualification motions, which the Seventh Circuit deemed "scurrilous and unfounded" without sufficient evidentiary support or due process. The order is not final as to the underlying appeal but is immediately enforceable as to Applicant, warranting interlocutory review. Applicant intends to file a petition for writ of certiorari or mandamus and a brief promptly to challenge the order on grounds including abuse of discretion, violation of First Amendment rights, and misapplication of Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 46. Vacatur is warranted, or a stay is necessary to prevent enforcement pending this Court's review.

The sanction order of the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, issued on November 7, 2025, in Case No. 25-2589 (Butler v. Eddi, et al.), is reproduced at Attachment E. The order imposes a $750 fine, a public reprimand, and referral to the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission (ARDC) of the Illinois Supreme Court. No prior opinions from the Seventh Circuit or the district court directly address the cause for the sanctions, but simply that they arise from motions filed in the underlying appeal of the denial of a motion for injunctive relief for multiple injunctions in the Northern District of Illinois Case No. 1:25-cv-04443.

STATEMENT

This application arises from multiple federal actions exposing an alleged racketeering enterprise under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO), 18 U.S.C. § 1961 et seq. It further seeks vacatur or a stay of the Seventh Circuit's November 7, 2025, sanction order imposed on Applicant, in the appeal captioned Butler v. Eddi et. al., No. 25-2589. The order requires Applicant to pay a $750 fine within 30 days, issues a public reprimand, and forwards a copy to the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission of the Illinois Supreme Court (ARDC) for potential further action (Attachment E). The sanctions stem from Applicant's filing of a motion to disqualify Circuit Judge Nancy L. Maldonado—in an underlying interlocutory appeal in a RICO action alleging widespread fraud, conversion of trust(s) assets resulting in elder abuse by a network of nursing home operators (Case No. 1:25-cv-04443) (Attachment A).

This case unveils a chilling escalation of harassment and intimidation tactics against Applicant, commencing almost immediately upon her involvement and intensifying throughout the litigation, thereby imperiling her, her family and her clients' safety, and making it difficult to fulfill her professional duties. Once Applicant filed her appearance in the underlying case, strangers in unmarked, blacked-out SUVs began surveilling the Applicant's residence—driving past multiple times daily, with individuals exiting vehicles to loiter menacingly in front—actions that have only grown more brazen as the case has progressed. Applicant has sustained repeated breach attempts to her home server, which contains not only personal information such as financial records but also her law practice data and the data owned by her husband's business. The breaches are known as "brute force" attempts, meaning someone systematically tries countless password combinations—automated and relentless—until one cracks the server's defenses. It's not clever; these are voluminous, mass attacks, akin to picking a lock with every pin you own. The result is that the server demands ongoing upkeep to safeguard its stored data. Further, escalation has included interference in Applicant's home alarm system, "Fi" system for the family dogs, and vehicle navigation systems.

The profoundly troubling and escalating pattern of harassment, stalking, cybersecurity breaches, and property damage directed at the Applicant throughout the pendency of these proceedings is nothing short of criminal. Applicant has added additional security measures at her home, including multiple cameras and mobile surveillance units with a "talk down" feature. This feature allows the now-employed monitoring center to talk to trespassers via a loudspeaker and alert police to unauthorized activity. Further, the local Sheriff's Office has placed marked vehicles outside Applicant's residence and added extra patrols to attempt to capture the offending parties. These security additions do not come without substantial financial and emotional cost. Applicant has grave concerns for her family and pets, who reside with her.

Applicant initially entered her appearance in Case No. 25-cv-04443 as local counsel for The Michigan Law Firm, following a sua sponte change of venue from Michigan to the Northern District of Illinois. Yet, amid this litigation, she has endured sustained and orchestrated threats that not only jeopardize the lives and safety of herself and her family, even within the sanctity of the courtroom, but also systematically undermines her capacity to zealously advocate for her client. Intensifying this external peril, conduct by federal judges has not only failed to mitigate but has actively exacerbated the threats, fostering an environment where courtroom improprieties spill over into real-world dangers, undermining the sanctity of the judicial process and eroding public confidence in the rule of law.

Compounding this injustice, counsel for the defendants in the parallel Illinois state action (Case No. 2022CH00675) have continually delayed discovery, while simultaneously, in the federal forum, some of those same attorneys demand a stay contingent upon the state case's outcome. As a result, both proceedings languish in limbo, with no meaningful discovery or depositions conducted after nearly four years of litigation, thereby perpetuating a cycle of delay that callously dismisses or denies the persistent dangers confronting the Applicant as well as the tens of thousands of nursing home residents under the defendant/trustees in the underlying case. This Court must intervene to safeguard the elderly and disabled patients who are some of the collateral victims in the underlying RICO case, for the integrity of the judicial process, and to protect those who serve it.

For Applicant, this pattern of activity escalated on or about July 30, 2025, when The Michigan Law Firm filed an ex parte emergency motion to vacate the stay and protective order, freeze trust assets, and appoint a neutral fiduciary in the underlying RICO case (Case No. 1:25-cv-04443) critical relief sought after an illicit transfer of $544 million worth of commercial property (skilled nursing facilities) to preserve justice amid ongoing perils during the pendency of this litigation. Yet, District Judge Alexakis, via her Deputy Clerk, appeared to attempt to subvert due process by insisting on improper ex parte phone communications and evading a substantive ruling, instead pressuring counsel through emails to abandon the ex parte nature and consent to a hearing. The Applicant's inquiries at 2:36 PM and 3:00 PM CST for clarification on the motion's status were met with coercive tactics, culminating in the judge's outright disregard of the emergency filing and compelling the Applicant to lodge a Notice of Appeal at 6:30 PM CST.

Alarming, IP addresses from the Administrative Office of the United States Courts reveal access to Applicant's biography page on her law firm website at 3:15 PM and 8:04 PM CST on July 30, 2025, precisely during the exchanges with the District Court and post-Notice of Appeal (Attachment H). After the Notice of Appeal was filed, Judge Alexakis failed to transmit it to the Appellate Court, preventing the assignment of a docketing number and preventing the emergency petition from the Applicant from being filed. On August 1, 2025, Applicant contacted the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals Clerk's Office to inquire whether a notice of appeal had been transmitted to the Appellate court to file the emergency petition. The Clerks informed Applicant that the Notice of Appeal and short record had not yet been sent over, but they would request it from the Northern Illinois District Clerks on an expedited basis and would notify Applicant via phone when the appeal was docketed. In the interim, information relayed to Applicant before docketing occurred indicated that Judge Alexakis contacted the Appellate Court clerk's office four times, appearing to interfere with the appeal's processing and potentially delaying justice.

Shortly after docketing, IP addresses traced to the United States Court of Appeals accessed the Applicants' biography page on her law firm website on August 1, 2025, at 3:20 PM CST, during the emergency petitions critical review period. An unsigned order denying the petition was promptly filed. This appears to show that the evaluation of the petition may have been based on the attorney who filed it, rather than the merits of the pleading.

That petition, filed at 2:29 PM on August 1, was suspiciously denied by 4:03 PM. This review, if based on information obtained from Applicant law firm website attorney profile page, obstructed the appellate process, violated the requirement for fair adjudication, and breached the Applicant-Appellant's First Amendment right to petition and Fourteenth Amendment rights to due process and equal protection.

On August 4, 2025, at 12:16 PM CST, the Appellate Court, apparently under Maldonado, Brennan, and Hamilton, but with orders issued solely "By the Court" and lacking any judges' names or signatures, ordered the Applicant to file a brief on jurisdiction by August 18, 2025. A Motion for rehearing en banc was filed thereafter at 3:08 PM CST. At 4:16 PM CST, and access by IP addresses used by the Court of Appeals to the Applicant's law firm website profile were logged on August 4, 2025, after the filing of a motion for an en banc hearing.

On August 6, 2025, the en banc motion submitted by Applicant was summarily denied, and the entire appeal was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction at 9:06 AM CST without briefing as previously ordered by the court, suggesting the court may have considered the en banc motion as Applicant's response without due process. This left jurisdictional obligations unresolved, reflecting a possible effort to hinder the appeal and favor opposing parties. On August 7, 2025, District Judge Alexakis issued an order, erroneously stating that the Seventh Circuit had dismissed Appeal No. 25-2315 on August 6, 2025, for lack of jurisdiction, thereby permitting injunctive relief to be heard in the District Court on August 27, 2025. This assertion was incorrect, as the Appellate Court's mandate restoring jurisdiction was not issued until August 28, 2025. Nonetheless, Judge Alexakis proceeded to conduct a hearing on August 27, 2025, exceeding the court's authority at that time.

In her order, Judge Alexakis improperly managed a motion by non-party CIBC Bank USA to enforce a protective order by treating the Applicant's motion to strike as a response and instructing CIBC to file a reply by August 14, 2025. This procedural error disadvantaged the Applicant's client by curtailing Applicant's opportunities to object. Further, on August 8, 2025, the judge granted the defendants' motion to reschedule hearings on Applicant's motions for default judgments from August 22 to August 27, 2025, extending similar delays to additional Applicant's motions. These adjustments impeded Applicant's progress for her client while permitting defendants' motions to advance without hindrance, reflecting unequal treatment under the law and contravening the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment, as no comparable accommodations were afforded to Applicant.

On August 26, 2025, Applicant complied with Judge Alexakis's standing order regarding a 24-hour notice of WebEx appearances by contacting the Judge's Deputy Clerk at 9:59 AM CST and emailing a request to appear remotely for the August 27 hearing, citing escalated safety concerns. Website traffic records from the United States Courts indicate accesses to Applicant's biography page on her law firm website at 10:39 AM CST, 11:29 AM CST, and 12:00 PM CST on August 26, and 10:16 AM CST during the August 27 hearing. These accesses, occurring in the context of her expressed safety concerns, raise questions about judicial impartiality and potentially chill speech through erosion of an unbiased tribunal.

During the August 27, 2025, hearing on Applicant's Motion to Vacate Stay, Protective Order, and Appoint a Neutral Fiduciary, Judge Alexakis interrogated Applicant, on the record for approximately twenty minutes, regarding her WebEx request and the underlying safety threats, demanding details including the names of officers and police departments responding to calls for help when suspicious activity occurred outside her home. Further Alexakis made inquiries into attorney-client communications and commented on her competency to represent her client without an in-person appearance, such as asking whether she had discussed her ability to serve effectively with her client. These interactions coincided with ongoing incidents at Applicant residence, which have further impacted her representation.

On August 28, 2025, Judge Alexakis entered an order denying all Applicant's motions while granting all defense motions, relying on a record that omitted certain facts and involved interpretations warranting review for fairness. Judge Alexakis also ordered Applicant to submit law enforcement reports concerning her safety threats by the end of the day, a requirement unrelated to the merits. When Applicant requested redactions to the names of police departments and other identifiers that would expose the location of her residence, the request was denied. Of particular note, around 1:00 AM CST on August 28, an unknown individual entered Applicant's residential property and severed her internet cable; although repaired the following day, the cable was cut again on August 30 and discarded in nearby bushes, further substantiating Applicant's concern for the safety of her and her family.

Additionally, procedural lapses in the district court's handling of Applicant's notices of appeal, leading to duplicative appellate dockets, have impeded efficient resolution and fairness, in contravention of Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure (FRAP) 3(d). On September 2, 2025, the district court transmitted the record, including a Notice of Appeal, to the appellate court around 8:30 AM CST, while Applicant concurrently filed an Amended Notice of Appeal to refine the appeal's scope and promptly contacted the appellate clerk, who confirmed transmission of the original but assured separate handling of the Amended Notice, with redundancy to be addressed by a jurisdictional attorney. By approximately 2:30 PM CST, however, the appellate court docketed Appeal No. 25-2529 solely on the original Notice, as the district court, despite awareness of the Amended Notice, neither promptly transmitted it nor notified the appellate court, fostering jurisdictional confusion.

From September 2 through 10, 2025, Applicant diligently pursued expedited transmission of the notice of appeal via repeated communications with district court clerks, who escalated the matter internally, yet the district court delayed action for nearly ten days, permitting opposing counsel to enter appearances and advance in the premature Appeal No. 25-2529. On September 10, 2025, the district court finally transmitted the Amended Notice, docketed as Appeal No. 25-2589—the operative appeal intended to supersede the prior one—while an unsigned appellate order that same day directed Applicant to file a memorandum justifying retention of No. 25-2529, a request Applicant declined based on prior clerical assurances of sua sponte resolution. On September 18, 2025, notwithstanding the docketing of the operative Appeal No. 25-2589, an appellate court order, again issued anonymously without judicial attribution, directed Applicant to file a docketing statement in the non-operative Appeal No. 25-2529, evidencing what appeared to be intentional maintenance of parallel proceedings and bias in favor of prolonging confusion to the detriment of Applicant.

On September 24, 2025, an appellate court order, issued without judicial signature, initials, or clerk's signature, directed Applicant to file a docketing statement in Appeal No. 25-2589. On the same date, Applicant complied by filing the docketing statement in No. 25-2589, which included an explanation of the jurisdictional overlap and the superseding nature of the Amended Notice. Concurrently, Applicant filed a Motion to Disqualify Judge Maldonado in No. 25-2589 on behalf of her client, citing prior involvement and potential bias as grounds for recusal under 28 U.S.C. § 455(a) and (b). The motion included a Certificate of Good Faith and supporting affidavit from Applicant's client, Raymond E. Butler, II, averring bias from extrajudicial sources. All allegations were grounded in court records and public documents.

September 25, 2025: An appellate court order, again anonymously issued, critiqued Applicant's docketing statement in No. 25-2589 for purported deficiencies, including failure to specify the appeal's filing date, elaborate on jurisdictional bases beyond final judgments, and clarify why the appeal from the injunction denial was not merely interlocutory. On October 2, 2025, in response to the September 25 order, Applicant filed an amended docketing statement in No. 25-2589 to address the deficiencies.

On October 3, 2025, Judge Maldonado denied Applicant's Motion to Disqualify, failing to recuse herself, without explanation, despite the motion's allegations of bias and her ongoing involvement in the case. Demonstrating further partiality, the denial order was filed in both Appeal No. 25-2529 and 25-2589, even though the motion was submitted exclusively in the operative No. 25-2589 case. This cross-filing exacerbated procedural chaos and evidenced disregard for the superseding appeal. On that same date, an appellate court order, again issued anonymously, sua sponte required Applicant to show cause for non-compliance with the September 10, 2025, order in No. 25-2529 regarding the dismissal memorandum. This action ignored the operative status of No. 25-2589 and Applicant's reasonable reliance on the clerk's assurances. However, on that same date in a separate order in No. 25-2529, Judge Maldonado threatened sanctions against Applicant, including a $100 fine, for failure to file a docketing statement in the non-operative appeal. This threat constituted overt bias in favor of opposing counsel, who had filed in No. 25-2529, and against Applicant, as it penalized reliance on the proper docket and perpetuated the district court's initial transmission errors.

Adding insult to injury, on October 10, 2025, the Court issued an unsigned show cause order (lacking any judge's name, signature, or initials) in Appeal No. 25-2589, directing Applicant to respond to potential sanctions under FRAP 46(c) for alleged "conduct unbecoming a member of the bar." (Attachment C) The order ostensibly focused on the disqualification motion's language but referenced broader "scurrilous and unfounded accusations" against Judge Maldonado, implicitly drawing from the RICO complaint cited therein. This marked the beginning of the Court's expansion beyond the motion itself.

A timely response to the show cause order was filed, addressing the allegations, denying misconduct, and requesting a hearing to present testimony and evidence "if necessary," meaning, if the Court decided to impose sanctions (Attachment D). Applicant emphasized that the disqualification motion was protected advocacy under the First Amendment and 28 U.S.C. § 455, and that any reference to the RICO action was a legitimate ground for recusal (e.g., conflict of interest). No hearing was granted, violating Applicant's due process requirements under In re Ruffalo, 390 U.S. 544 (1968) (attorneys facing discipline entitled to notice and opportunity to defend).

The Court issued an unsigned and unattributable sanctions order on November 7, 2025, (again lacking any judge's name, signature, or initials), imposing a $750 fine, a public reprimand, and referral to the ARDC for further discipline.

Critically, while the order purported to sanction Applicant for the disqualification motion's "disrespect" and "knowingly misrepresented facts," it didn't appear to rely on the motion itself. Specifically, the order referenced "evidence" of the undersigned's "unwillingness to take responsibility for her actions" and "continuing to present unsupported allegations denigrating Judge Maldonado's conduct and character," considered part of a pattern of "scurrilous and unfounded accusations," allegedly linking the undersigned's alleged conduct to a prior motion to Disqualify Judge Alexakis in the same underlying case (1:25-cv-04443).

Applicant was denied a hearing, and a motion for rehearing, and on November 16, 2025, the filed motion for en banc hearing on the Motion to Disqualify Judge Maldonado was also denied, all in unsigned and unattributable orders lacking any judge's name, signature, initials, or clerk's initials, perpetuating harm (Attachments F and G).

On November 13, 2025, the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission (ARDC) received a referral from the Seventh Circuit and sent Applicant a letter seeking details regarding allegations of "judicial activism" and "lawfare" as discussed in the sanctions order, which extends beyond the disqualification motion (Attachments I and J). This sequence of seemingly retaliatory actions stemming from the underlying RICO action, resulting in sanctions and now prompting potential reciprocal disbarment, impedes Applicant's capacity to practice law effectively and represent her client in underlying concurrent state and federal proceedings, where opposing counsel has introduced the sanctions order to challenge professional standing and credibility. This Court should grant relief to preserve due process, safeguard First Amendment protections for advocacy, and ensure unimpeded access to the courts.

On November 30, 2025, as Applicant boarded a car service from home for a scheduled House Judiciary briefing in Washington, a black SUV with darkened glass parked curbside, staring while she, her husband, and their two dogs waved farewell. It tailed her block-by-block; after the attorney signaled the driver to loop twice, it stayed locked on, then peeled off once a second tail took over. Back at the house, that first car circled slowly, scanning for her husband—circling again and again while the attorney was in flight. This isn't a coincidence; it's targeted surveillance that proves the threats aren't theory, and why the Court must step in now.

ARGUMENT

I. Applicant Is Likely To Succeed On The Merits

A. The Seventh Circuit's Sanction Order Violates The First Amendment And Due Process By Punishing Zealous Advocacy

The Seventh Circuit's sanctions violate fundamental constitutional protections and exceed its authority under Fed. R. App. P. 46, presenting questions of national importance meriting certiorari.

First, the sanctions infringe Applicant's First Amendment rights by punishing protected speech, and the national implications amplify the merits. The underlying RICO action addresses elder abuse in nursing homes, affecting tens of thousands of patients nationwide. Defendants' enterprise involves significant fraud leading to substandard care and deaths. Sanctioning Applicant for challenging judicial impartiality in such cases sets a dangerous precedent, deterring attorneys from pursuing justice for vulnerable populations. This Court has recognized the need to protect advocacy in public-interest litigation. See NAACP v. Button, 371 U.S. 415, 429 (1963) (First Amendment protects litigation as a form of political expression). Applicant's success on certiorari is likely, as the sanctions impinge on core constitutional protections.

Motions to disqualify judges, when based on reasonable grounds, are core advocacy protected from retaliation. See Dennis v. United States, 341 U.S. 494, 513 (1951) (attorneys have a duty to raise ethical concerns). The Seventh Circuit labeled Applicant's arguments "scurrilous and unfounded" without due process or an evidentiary hearing, violating the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments. See In re Snyder, 472 U.S. 634, 645 (1985) (sanctions for "conduct unbecoming" must be narrowly tailored and supported by evidence). No specific examples of "scurrilous and/or unfounded" accusations were presented, no hearing was held, a motion for rehearing was denied, and the order mischaracterizes the disqualification motion as unfounded, ignoring cited evidence of judicial irregularities.

Further, the sanctions conflict with this Court's precedents on attorney discipline. Rule 46 requires "conduct inimical to the administration of justice," but Applicant's filings adhered to the Seventh Circuit's Standards for Professional Conduct by raising good-faith concerns about bias and including a signed affidavit from the Plaintiff-Applicant, Raymond E. Butler II. Punishing such advocacy chills attorneys nationwide from challenging judicial misconduct, undermining public trust in the judiciary.

Additionally, Certiorari is likely because this case implicates a circuit split on the scope of appellate sanctions for disqualification motions. Compare Seventh Circuit's broad application here with more restrained approaches in other circuits (e.g., Ninth Circuit requiring clear evidence of bad faith). The national implications are profound: If upheld, these sanctions will deter attorneys from exposing RICO enterprises in critical sectors like nursing homes, where defendants' fraud and neglect cause thousands of deaths annually. Federal data shows over 200,000 nursing home residents die yearly from preventable causes like neglect; the underlying cases seek to hold accountable operators whose facilities have faced penalties for substandard care. Silencing advocates perpetuates this crisis, affecting vulnerable populations across all 50 states.

The Seventh Circuit's sanctions punish protected speech and zealous advocacy in violation of the First Amendment. Attorneys have a constitutional right to criticize judges and advocate vigorously for their clients, so long as their statements are not knowingly false or made with reckless disregard for the truth. See Gentile v. State Bar of Nev., 501 U.S. 1030, 1051 (1991) (plurality opinion) (attorney speech is protected unless it poses a substantial likelihood of material prejudice); In re Snyder, 472 U.S. 634, 647 (1985) (overturning sanctions for attorney criticism of court as "conduct unbecoming").

Here, Applicant's disqualification motions were based on reasonable beliefs about potential bias, derived from the judges' rulings, affiliations, and conduct in the underlying case. The motions cited specific concerns, such as ideological bias and misconduct, which Applicants attorney asserted in good faith to protect her client's due process rights under 28 U.S.C. § 455. These were not "scurrilous and unfounded" as the Seventh Circuit claimed, but rather expressions of advocacy grounded in ethical duties. See Model Rules of Prof'l Conduct r. 3.1 (Am. Bar Ass'n 2023) (permitting good-faith arguments for modification of law). Punishing such filings chills First Amendment rights and undermines the adversarial system.

Moreover, the Seventh Circuit's issuance of multiple unsigned orders throughout the sanction process—including the October 10, 2025, show cause order, the November 7, 2025, sanction order, and the denial of en banc review—constitutes procedural irregularities that violate fundamental principles of transparency, accountability, and due process. These orders lack any judge's name, signature, or initials, obscuring the decision-makers and suggesting potential undue influence by Judge Maldonado, who has a direct conflict as a named defendant in the related RICO action (Butler v. Alexakis, et al., No. 1:25-cv-10904). This anonymity contravenes the Code of Conduct for United States Judges (Canon 2, requiring avoidance of impropriety and its appearance) and exacerbates the due process deficiencies under In re Ruffalo, 390 U.S. 544 (1968), by denying Applicant the ability to identify and challenge biased adjudicators. Such practices, while perhaps common for routine procedural matters, are inappropriate in attorney disciplinary proceedings where personal accountability is essential, further demonstrating the Court's abuse of discretion and warranting reversal.

Further, the sanctions violate due process by punishing without adequate notice or opportunity to be heard. Fed. R. App. P. 46 requires "conduct unbecoming," but the Seventh Circuit applied a vague standard from its internal guidelines, failing to specify how Applicant's filings knowingly misrepresented facts. The show-cause order and response process was perfunctory, denying Applicant a hearing. See Roadway Express, Inc. v. Piper, 447 U.S. 752, 767 (1980) (due process requires notice and hearing before attorney sanctions). This procedural deficiency compounds the substantive error, as the sanctions rest on a mischaracterization of Applicant's good-faith advocacy as misconduct.

B. The Allegations In The Disqualification Motions Were Well-Founded And Protected By Professional Standards

The Seventh Circuit erred in deeming Applicant's allegations "unsupported" and "denigrating." The motions were supported by evidence from the record, including the judges' rulings that appeared to favor defendants despite strong claims of fraud and abuse. For instance, the disqualification motion against Judge Maldonado cited a pattern of decisions that Applicant reasonably believed demonstrated bias, coupled with IP logs showing Applicant's law firm website profile page accessed during the pendency of critical motions and consistent with prior criticisms of the court. Such allegations are protected under professional standards, which require attorneys to raise disqualification issues when bias is suspected. See 28 U.S.C. § 455(a) (requiring disqualification for appearance of impartiality); Liteky v. United States, 510 U.S. 540, 555 (1994) (bias claims must be evaluated on facts).

Applicant attorney's response to the show-cause order reiterated these grounds without evasion, demonstrating accountability rather than the "lack of responsibility" the court alleged. The sanctions also overlook the broader context: a RICO enterprise with national reach, where defendants' control of skilled nursing facilities has led to documented harms. Public records and complaints (e.g., from state health departments) substantiate the underlying claims of elder deaths due to neglect. By sanctioning Applicant, the Seventh Circuit effectively shields this enterprise, violating Applicant's—and the public's—right to access the courts. See Christopher v. Harbury, 536 U.S. 403, 415 (2002) (access to courts is a fundamental right).

This Court is likely to reverse, as the sanctions exceed the bounds of Rule 46 and infringe on protected advocacy. See In re Snyder, supra, at 645 (Rule 46 encompasses only conduct showing "unfitness," not mere criticism).

II. Irreparable Harm Absent Vacatur

Without vacatur or a stay, Applicant continues to endure immediate and irreparable harm. The $750 fine is past due, but more critically, the public reprimand and ARDC referral for possible suspension or disbarment will continue to inflict irreparable harm, and irreversibly inflict lasting damage. See Hollingsworth v. Perry, 558 U.S. 183, 190 (2010) (reputational harm from public sanctions is irreparable). The reprimand has been published, and the order has been included by opposing counsel in multiple motions, suggesting Applicant is incapable of practicing law honestly and ethically, thus harming Applicant's professional standing and client relationships. Further, the ARDC referral could lead to suspension or disbarment, preventing Applicant from continuing the underlying RICO cases.

This harm extends nationally: Applicant's client claims uncover systemic skilled nursing facility abuses by the defendants, whose enterprise spans multiple states and involves substantial fraud leading to excessive resident deaths. Tens of thousands of elderly and disabled individuals in defendant-held or operated facilities face ongoing risks of neglect, abuse, and premature death due to defendants' unchecked behavior. If Applicant is sidelined, these cases will continue to stall, denying justice and allowing preventable fatalities to continue. Federal oversight (e.g., via HHS and CMS) is insufficient without private enforcement; sanctions here set a precedent deterring other attorneys, exacerbating a public health crisis affecting over 1.4 million nursing home residents nationwide.

No adequate remedy exists without a stay, as monetary compensation cannot restore reputation or prevent deaths.

III. The Balance Of Equities Weighs Strongly In Favor Of The Applicant

The equities favor a vacatur or stay. Respondent (the Seventh Circuit) suffers no harm from a temporary pause in enforcing the sanctions, as the order's purpose of deterring misconduct can be achieved post-review if upheld. In contrast, Applicant faces immediate financial ($750 fine), continued reputational, and professional harm, including possible suspension or disbarment with ripple effects on public justice.

The public interest strongly supports vacatur: protecting a vulnerable population from nursing home abuse outweighs enforcing sanctions on advocacy. Tens of thousands of residents nationwide depend on such litigation for accountability. See 18 U.S.C. § 1961 et seq. (RICO aimed at combating organized fraud). Equity demands preserving the status quo to avoid injustice.

Further, upholding attorneys' rights to challenge bias promotes judicial integrity and access to justice. Conversely, allowing these sanctions fosters a culture of intimidation, particularly in cases exposing elder abuse. The national nursing home crisis—marked by high mortality rates from neglect (e.g., 15-20% annual death rates in substandard facilities)—demands robust legal challenges. Defendants' alleged conduct has led to documented injustices; staying the sanctions ensures accountability, potentially saving lives and serving the broader interest in protecting vulnerable populations.

IV. The Issues Raised By The Order Warrant Certiorari

Certiorari is warranted because the Seventh Circuit's order raises significant questions about the limits of attorney speech and sanctions in federal courts. This Court has frequently granted review in cases involving attorney discipline that implicates First Amendment rights. See, e.g., Gentile, supra; In re Snyder, supra. The order creates a circuit split: some circuits require clear evidence of bad faith for sanctions under Rule 46 (see, e.g., In re Palmisano, 70 F.3d 483, 487 (7th Cir. 1995) (requiring hearing)), while others apply a more deferential standard. The national implications—chilling advocacy for plaintiffs in financial fraud cases and skilled nursing facility victims—affect interstate commerce and elder rights, areas of federal concern. See 42 U.S.C. § 1396 (federal nursing home standards).

At least four Justices are likely to vote for certiorari given the constitutional stakes and national implications to thousands of elderly nursing home patients.

V. Alternatively, the Court Should Grant An Immediate Administrative Stay

An immediate administrative stay is necessary if the Court intends to consider this application with further briefing. The fine was due December 7, 2025, and the ARDC referral instigated a letter to the Applicant who filed her response with the ARDC on December 12, 2025. Without a stay, irreparable harm accrues daily. This Court routinely grants administrative stays in similar circumstances. See, e.g., Labrador v. Poe, 144 S. Ct. 921 (2024) (administrative stay of injunction).

CONCLUSION

The application for vacatur should be granted. This Court should vacate the Seventh Circuit Court's order of November 7, 2025. In the alternative, Applicant respectfully requests an immediate administrative stay of the Seventh Circuit Court's order pending the Court's consideration of this application and further briefing.

PLAINTIFF-APPELLANT'S MOTION TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE NANCY L. MALDONADO

Plaintiff-Appellant Raymond E. Butler II ("Plaintiff"), by and through undersigned counsel, and pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 455(a) and (b)(1), USCS Fed Rules App Proc R 27 moves this Court to disqualify Judge Nancy L. Maldonado from participating in any aspect of this appeal, including assignment to any panel or en banc consideration. This motion is based on the attached Memorandum of Law, the Declaration of Raymond E. Butler II, and the pleadings and records on file herein. In support thereof, Plaintiff states as follows:

1. This appeal arises from the district court's handling of Butler v. Eddi, et al., No. 1:25-cv-04443 (N.D. Ill.), a Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act ("RICO") action involving breaches of fiduciary duty, trust asset dissipation exceeding $544 million, and related claims against defendants including non-party CIBC Bank USA.
2. On September 10, 2025, Plaintiff filed a separate civil RICO action in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, Butler v. Alexakis, et al., No. 1:25-cv-10904 (N.D. Ill.) (the "RICO Action"), directly naming Judge Maldonado as a defendant in her individual and official capacities. The RICO Action states that Judge Maldonado participated in a racketeering enterprise with District Judge Georgia N. Alexakis and unknown co-conspirators (John Does 1-10), engaging in obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. § 1503, wire fraud under 18 U.S.C. § 1343, mail fraud, and witness tampering in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1962(c) and (d). These acts sabotaged Plaintiff's district court case to favor defendants, resulting in damages exceeding $500 million.
3. Judge Maldonado's direct involvement as a named defendant in the RICO Action creates an unavoidable conflict of interest and a reasonable appearance of partiality, mandating her recusal under 28 U.S.C. § 455(a). Moreover, her personal bias and prejudice against Plaintiff, outlined in

- the RICO Action and evidenced by her actions in the underlying case, trigger mandatory disqualification under § 455(b)(1). Judge Maldonado's legal background reveals additional grounds for recusal, including her political ties to former President Obama, criticisms of incompetence and backlog during her confirmation, and rulings demonstrating bias against civil rights plaintiffs like Butler.
4. Granting this motion is essential to preserve the integrity of these proceedings and ensure Plaintiff's due process rights under the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments.

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. Underlying District Court Action

On April 24, 2025, Plaintiff filed Butler v. Eddi, et al., No. 1:25-cv-04443, alleging RICO violations, breaches of fiduciary duties, and dissipation of trust assets valued at over $544 million. The case involves complex trust disputes with defendants as well as non-party CIBC Bank USA.

B. Judge Maldonado's Misconduct in the District Court Proceedings

As detailed in the RICO Action against Judges Alexakis and Maldonado, 1:25-cv-10904, (Compl. ¶¶ 5-10, ECF No. 1), Judge Maldonado, while serving on the Seventh Circuit, interfered in the district court appeal process. Specifically, she accessed the website of KMFL Law, Inc. multiple times between August 1-6, 2025, engaging in unauthorized surveillance constituting wire fraud under 18 U.S.C. § 1343, which prejudiced her against Plaintiff (RICO Compl. ¶ 9; Exhibit B thereto).

- a. In collusion with Judge Alexakis, she led a biased panel that denied Plaintiff's appeal and en banc rehearing request (RICO Compl. ¶ 9; Exhibits C & D thereto).
- b. These actions prolonged asset dissipation and inflicted over $544 million in harm, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1503 (obstruction of justice).

C. RICO Action Against Judge Maldonado

The RICO Action explicitly sues Judge Maldonado for her role in a “cesspool” enterprise within the federal judiciary, stripping her of judicial immunity due to an invalid Biden autopopen nomination (1:25-cv-10904 RICO Compl. ¶¶ 2, 12-15). The complaint seeks treble damages, costs, attorneys' fees, and injunctive relief under 18 U.S.C. § 1964(c), as well as § 1983 claims for violations of Plaintiff's First, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Fourteenth Amendment rights (RICO Compl. ¶ 16).

D. Additional Grounds

A review of Maldonado's legal career reveals further bases for recusal including political ties and activist associations. Judge Maldonado's career includes relationships with judicial activists, raising concerns of partiality. Senator Mitch McConnell criticized her as "radical and incompetent," during her nomination process, citing a case backlog beyond the 99th percentile (Senate Republican Leader Press Release, Sep. 7, 2024)¹. Yet, somehow, amid this crushing backlog, she managed to breeze through the denial of Plaintiff's appeal and the en banc denial in a staggering four days—truly a marvel of judicial efficiency.

- a. Additionally, in written questions to the Senate Judiciary Committee (QFR's), Maldonado denied basing decisions on personal beliefs but faced accusations of ideological rulings (Senate Judiciary Committee QFRs, Mar. 27, 2024). She further granted summary judgment against a § 1983 false arrest claim (Lietzow v. Village of Huntley et al., N.D. Ill.), favoring defendants in a case akin to Plaintiff's.
- b. Moreover, Maldonado's 2022 district and 2024 circuit nominations occurred amid Biden judicial controversies, including diversity-driven picks criticized as merit-deficient. Moreover, the RICO Action's challenge to her appointment's constitutionality (U.S. Const. art. II, § 2) heightens the appearance of impropriety.

III. LEGAL STANDARD

Under 28 U.S.C. § 455(a), a judge "shall disqualify himself in any proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned." This objective standard protects the public's confidence in the judiciary (Litky v. United States, 510 U.S. 540, 548 (1994)). Section 455(b)(1) mandates recusal where the judge "has a personal bias or prejudice concerning a party."

Judges are presumed impartial, and the burden is on the movant to present factual allegations sufficient to overcome this presumption. Allegations must be credible and based on facts, not conclusory statements. In re Maurice, 167 B.R. 114, 125; United States v. Baskes, 687 F.2d 165, 170 (7th Cir. 1981). To disqualify a judge, the asserted bias or prejudice must be personal and arise from extrajudicial matters. Id.

A party's lawsuit against a judge creates a per se conflict, as it places the judge in the adversarial position of defending against allegations of corruption and bias (see Preston v. United States, 923 F.2d 731, 22, 25 (2d Cir. 1991) (recusal mandatory when judge sued by party)). Extrajudicial factors, such as political ties or public criticisms, further taint impartiality (United States v. Murphy, 768 F.2d 1518, 1527 (7th Cir. 1985)).

The grounds asserted herein align with general principles for asserting appropriate grounds for disqualification, as reflected in codes such as the ABA Model Code of Judicial Conduct Rule 2.11 (requiring disqualification where impartiality might reasonably be questioned) and analogous provisions in administrative contexts (e.g., 28 C.F.R. § 76.16, providing for disqualification of administrative judges upon self-recognition of bias or party motion). These principles emphasize factual, non-conclusory allegations of bias from extrajudicial sources, which this motion provides through specific incidents and public records.

IV. ARGUMENT

A party's lawsuit against a judge creates a per se conflict, as it places the judge in the adversarial position of defending against allegations of corruption and bias (In re Sch. Asbestos Litig., 977 F.2d 764, 776 (3d Cir. 1992)).

Extrajudicial factors, such as political ties or public criticisms, further taint impartiality (United States v. Murphy, 768 F.2d 1518, 1527 (7th Cir. 1985)).

A. RICO Action Creates a Per Se Conflict Requiring Recusal Under § 455(a).

The RICO Action's (1:25-cv-10940) direct naming of Judge Maldonado as a racketeering defendant—involving fraud, obstruction, and constitutional violations in this very case—irrevocably undermines her impartiality. A reasonable observer would question her ability to fairly review an appeal she was involved in sabotaging. Her continued involvement risks affirming biased district rulings she orchestrated, eroding public trust. These factual allegations from the RICO Action overcome the presumption of impartiality, as they stem from extrajudicial conduct detailed in the RICO lawsuit (1:25-cv-10904). See Baskes, 687 F.2d at 170.

B. Judge Maldonado's Personal Bias and Prejudice Against Plaintiff Mandates Disqualification Under § 455(b)(1).

RICO Action (1:25-cv-10940) details Judge Maldonado's targeted misconduct: website surveillance, appeal obstruction, and prejudiced denials (RICO Compl. ¶¶ 8-10). These "extrajudicial" acts evidence personal animus (Liteky, 510 U.S. at 555). Her confirmation-record backlog and anti-civil-rights rulings suggest systemic bias against plaintiffs like Butler, who asserts similar property and due process claims. These credible, fact-based allegations rebut the presumption of impartiality, as they arise from sources outside routine judicial functions. Id.

C. Additional Background Reinforces the Appearance of Partiality.

Judge Maldonado's previous Obama ties, activist grilling, and "DEI" criticisms create a reasonable doubt of neutrality in a politically charged trust dispute. Her gun-control views (Senate Hearing, Mar. 20, 2024) are tangential but underscore ideological leanings irrelevant to judicial restraint. Plaintiff's accusations amplify this. These extrajudicial factors provide factual grounds overcoming the presumption of impartiality. In re Maurice, 167 B.R. at 125; Baskes, 687 F.2d at 170.

Denying recusal would violate Plaintiff's rights and invite mandamus or Supreme Court review (28 U.S.C. § 1251).

V. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiff requests that Judge Maldonado be disqualified forthwith, the case reassigned to an impartial panel, and expedited consideration of this motion.

CERTIFICATE OF GOOD FAITH

I, Katherine A. London, attorney of record for Raymond Butler II, in the above-captioned matter, hereby certify pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 144 that the Motion for Disqualification of Judge and the accompanying affidavit filed herewith are made in good faith and not for purposes of delay or any other improper purpose.

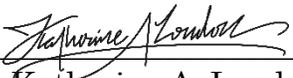

I further certify that the factual allegations contained in the accompanying affidavit are believed to be true and that the motion for judicial disqualification is based upon a genuine belief that the grounds for disqualification exist as set forth in the supporting affidavit.

This certification is made in compliance with the requirements of 28 U.S.C. § 144.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed this 24th day of September, 2025.

I hereby certify that on this 24th day of September, 2025, I caused a true and correct copy of the foregoing complaint to be served upon all parties or their counsel of record via electronic filing through the Courts CM/ECF system.

I, Raymond E. Butler II, being first duly sworn, depose and state as follows:

1. I am the Plaintiff in the underlying federal action titled Butler v. Eddi, et al., Case No. 1:25-cv-04443, pending in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, before purported United States Seventh Circuit Judge Nancy L. Maldonado.
2. I am a resident of Michigan, over the age of 18, of sound mind, and competent to make this affidavit. I make this affidavit based solely on my personal knowledge, except where explicitly stated upon information and belief (and as to those matters, I believe them to be true based on specific evidence reviewed, such as court records, electronic logs, and communications).
3. This is the first and only affidavit I have filed in this matter seeking disqualification of Judge Nancy L. Maldonado.
4. I have read the foregoing Motion to Disqualify United States Seventh Circuit Judge Nancy L. Maldonado, dated September 24, 2025, and I verify that the facts alleged therein are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.
5. The purpose of this affidavit is to state my belief that Judge Maldonado harbors a personal bias or prejudice against me or in favor of the adverse parties and that her impartiality might reasonably be questioned necessitating her disqualification.
6. The facts demonstrating Judge Maldonado's personal bias or prejudice include specific incidents which are not based solely on her judicial rulings but on extrajudicial actions, unauthorized communications, and a pattern of disparate treatment indicating favoritism toward the defendants and non-party CIBC Bank USA.
7. I believe Judge Maldonado has a personal bias or prejudice against me and in favor of the adverse parties, stemming from extrajudicial sources, and that her impartiality might reasonably be questioned.
8. This belief is held in good faith, and this affidavit is submitted timely upon discovery of the full pattern of conduct, before further substantive proceedings.

FURTHER AFFIANT SAYETH NOT.

REPLY IN RESPONSE TO ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE UNDER FED. R. APP. P. 46

Katherine A. London, counsel for Plaintiff-Appellant Raymond E. Butler II, submits this reply in response to the Court's Order to Show Cause dated October 10, 2025, pursuant to Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 46(c). This response demonstrates good cause why no discipline should be imposed, as the challenged filing—the Motion to Disqualify Judge Nancy L. Maldonado, filed September 24, 2025 does not contain scurrilous or unfounded allegations.

This analysis is grounded in the factual averments, supporting documentation, and legal precedents cited within the Motion itself, as well as the accompanying Declaration of Raymond E. Butler II (the "Affidavit") and Certificate of Good Faith. In so doing, I draw upon established principles of judicial disqualification, emphasizing the Motion's adherence to requirements for credible, fact-based assertions derived from extrajudicial sources, as opposed to mere conjecture or defamatory rhetoric. They do not constitute conduct unbecoming a member of the bar or a violation of court rules.

I. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. Legal Framework for Assessing Allegations in Disqualification Motions

Under federal law, motions for judicial disqualification must be evaluated against an objective standard that safeguards the integrity of judicial proceedings. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §455(a), a judge shall disqualify herself in any proceeding where her impartiality might reasonably be questioned, and under §455(b)(1), disqualification is mandatory where personal bias or prejudice exists against a party. Complementing this, 28 U.S.C. §144 requires that such motions be supported by an affidavit stating facts and reasons for belief in bias or prejudice, certified as made in good faith and not for delay.

The Supreme Court has clarified that allegations in disqualification motions must be "sufficiently definite and particular" to overcome the presumption of judicial impartiality, arising from extrajudicial sources rather than mere disagreement with rulings. Liteky v. United States, 510 U.S. 540, 555 (1994) (holding that bias must stem from sources outside the judicial proceeding, such as personal animus or extrajudicial conduct, and not from "opinions formed by the judge on the basis of facts introduced or events occurring in the course of the current proceedings"). See also United States v. Baskes, 687 F.2d 165, 170 (7th Cir. 1981) (bias must be personal and extrajudicial, not inferred from judicial acts alone).

Scurrilous allegations are those intended to vilify or degrade without basis, often characterized by inflammatory language unsupported by evidence. In contrast, the Motion here aligns with the ABA Model Code of Judicial Conduct Rule 2.11 and analogous federal principles, which mandate disqualification based on factual, non-conclusory grounds from extrajudicial origins. The Motion satisfies these criteria through specific, documented assertions, thereby avoiding any characterization as scurrilous or unfounded.

B. Factual and Evidentiary Basis of the Motion's Allegations

The Motion's assertions are meticulously tethered to verifiable facts, court records, public documents, and extrajudicial evidence, as required by controlling authority. Far from being scurrilous, they are presented in a measured, professional manner, supported by cross-references to exhibits, complaints, and public records, and certified under penalty of perjury.

The Motion asserts that Judge Maldonado's status as a named defendant in Butler v. Alexakis, et al., No. 1:25-cv-10904 (N.D. Ill.) (the "RICO Action") creates a per se conflict under §455(a), as it positions her as an adversary defending against claims of racketeering, obstruction of justice (18 U.S.C. § 1503), wire fraud (18 U.S.C. § 1343), and constitutional violations. This is not unfounded; it is directly predicated on the filed RICO Complaint which details specific acts. Such a lawsuit against a presiding judge inherently raises an appearance of partiality, as recognized in precedent like Preston v. United States, 923 F.2d 731, 734 (9th Cir. 1991) (recusal mandatory when judge is sued by a party, placing her in an adversarial role).

The following analysis addresses key categories of allegations:

- Accessing the website of KMFL Law, Inc. (the plaintiff's counsel's firm) multiple times between August 1-6, 2025 while Mr. Butler's appeal was in front of Judge Maldonado for review, thereby engaging in unauthorized surveillance using electronic means to improperly gather information, which prejudiced her against the plaintiff and tainted her decisions.

- Collusion between District Judge Alexakis and Maldonado in obstructing Plaintiff's appeal, including delays in transmitting notices and biased denials of the appeal and en banc review.
- Maldonado led biased appellate panel that issued a prejudiced denial of the plaintiff's appeal and request for en banc rehearing without proper consideration of the merits, despite her obligation to review and adjudicate the filings fairly.
- Maldonado is accused of prior meddling and interference in the appellate court, which allegedly cemented a corrupt pattern and contributed to the sabotage of the plaintiff's case.
- During her confirmation process, Maldonado faced accusations of ideological rulings and denied basing decisions on personal beliefs, but she was criticized for a case backlog beyond the 99th percentile. Despite this, she allegedly "breezed through" the denial of the plaintiff's appeal and en banc request in just four days suggesting selective bias.
- In a prior case (Lietzow v. Village of Huntley et al., N.D. Ill.), Maldonado granted summary judgment against a §1983 false arrest claim, favoring defendants in a manner akin to the plaintiff's civil rights claims, which is cited as demonstrating bias against civil rights plaintiffs.

These are specific incidents of extrajudicial conduct, not mere dissatisfaction with her rulings. Liteky, distinguishes such extrajudicial acts from intrajudicial opinions, noting they evidence personal animus. Liteky, 510 U.S. at 555. The Motion avoids rude, scandalous, or unfounded attacks by framing targeted misconduct supported by evidence, aligning with Seventh Circuit standards requiring "credible" facts from non-judicial sources. In re Maurice, 167 B.R. at 125. Further, the Motion cites these facts objectively, without hyperbolic language, and supports them with docket references, thereby rebutting any claim of unfoundedness. See United States v. Baskes, 687 F.2d 165, 170 (7th Cir. 1981) (factual allegations from extrajudicial sources overcome presumptions of impartiality). The Motion was prepared after thorough review of provided evidence and legal research into disqualification standards and reflects zealous advocacy on behalf of a client who has suffered grievous harm.

II. ARGUMENT

A. The Filings Do Not Constitute Conduct Unbecoming or a Violation of Court Rules

Discipline under FRAP 46(c), requires clear evidence of bad faith, frivolousness, or intent to harass, not merely unsuccessful or aggressive advocacy. See In re Snyder, 472 U.S. 634, 645 (1985) (conduct unbecoming involves moral turpitude or dishonesty); Roadway Express, Inc. v. Piper, 447 U.S. 752, 766 (1980) (bad faith required for sanctions). Here, the filings were made in good faith and do not warrant discipline.

First, the motion is grounded in factual allegations from Mr. Butler's affidavit and exhibits, not mere conjecture. The arguments in the RICO complaint, 1:25-cv-10904, leading to the Motion to Disqualify Judge Maldonado, are not frivolous, moreover they serve legitimate purposes: protecting Mr. Butler's due process rights and seeking redress for judicial misconduct. The disqualification motion directly addresses an apparent conflict under §455(a), where a judge's impartiality might reasonably be questioned due to being sued by a party. See Preston v. United States, 923 F.2d 731, 734 (9th Cir. 1991) (lawsuit against judge creates per se conflict).

B. The Motion is Protected by Absolute Litigation Privilege

Litigation privilege refers to an absolute immunity that protects lawyers, clients, and sometimes third parties from civil liability (e.g., defamation, emotional distress, or fraud claims) for statements or communications made during judicial or quasi-judicial proceedings. The goal is to encourage open communication in litigation without fear of retaliatory lawsuits, avoiding a "chilling effect" on legal processes. The communications related to ongoing judicial proceedings or pre-litigation, if litigation is contemplated in good faith and under serious consideration, are included. The statement must have some relation to the proceeding, and the motive is irrelevant.

In the Seventh Circuit, which applies Illinois substantive law to privilege claims in cases like this (arising from proceedings in the Northern District of Illinois), the absolute litigation privilege is broadly construed to shield "anything said or written in the course of a legal proceeding," provided it pertains to the litigation. See Joan M. Steffes v. Stepan Co., 144 F.3d 1070, 1074 (7th Cir. 1998) (holding that the privilege protects statements in pleadings, motions, and other court filings, even if potentially defamatory, as long as they bear some relation to the case). This doctrine, rooted in the Restatement (Second) of Torts §587, extends to "defamatory matter concerning another in communications preliminary to a proposed judicial proceeding, or in the institution of or during the course and as a part of, a judicial proceeding in which [the party] participates, if the matter has some relation thereto." The privilege is absolute, meaning it applies regardless of malice or falsity, to foster "unfettered expression" in the adversarial process. Thomas v. Petrulis, 465 N.E.2d 932, 934 (Ill. App. Ct. 1984) (adopting Restatement principles).

Here, every allegation in the Motion is directly tied to the disqualification grounds under 28 U.S.C. §§455(a) and (b)(1). These statements were made in a formal appellate motion, supported by exhibits and pertain exclusively to the impartiality inquiry at issue in this appeal. They are not extraneous or gratuitous but essential to demonstrating extrajudicial bias from sources like exhibits in the RICO suit itself. As such, they fall squarely within the privilege's scope, barring any civil liability or derivative sanctions. See In re Sch. Asbestos Litig., 977 F.2d 764, 776 (3d Cir. 1992) (applying similar principles to protect litigation-related statements from retaliatory claims).

Federal courts, including the Seventh Circuit, routinely apply this state-law privilege in federal proceedings where, as here, the underlying claims involve state tort-like elements (e.g., defamation implied in "scurrilous" allegations). Imposing sanctions under Fed. R. App. P. 46 for such privileged statements would undermine the privilege's purpose, deterring attorneys from raising legitimate recusal issues and violating due process. See Chambers v. NASCO, Inc., 501 U.S. 32, 44 (1991) (courts' inherent sanction powers must yield to absolute immunities); see also Buckley v. Fitzsimmons, 20 F.3d 789 (7th Cir. 1994) (discussing limits on prosecutorial immunity but affirming absolute protection for in-court acts).

C. Mitigating Factors Weigh Against Discipline

Mitigating factors counsel against discipline. This is undersigned counsel's first such filing in this Court, with no prior disciplinary history. The arguments, reflect a client's genuine belief in bias. The Motion's integrity is further evidenced by the Certificate of Good Faith, executed under penalty of perjury pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §144, wherein counsel certifies that the allegations are believed true, made in good faith, and not for delay or improper purpose. This certification underscores the Motion's foundation in genuine belief supported by evidence.

Similarly, the Affidavit of Raymond E. Butler II avers personal knowledge of the facts, specifies extrajudicial sources and affirms the belief in bias stems from a "pattern of disparate treatment" favoring defendants. Such sworn statements elevate the Motion above unfounded conjecture, as they comply with §144's mandate for timely, fact-based affidavits. These sworn statements affirmatively demonstrate adherence to ethical and legal norms. Discipline would chill advocacy for clients alleging judicial misconduct. See In re Maurice, 167 B.R. 114, 125 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 1994) (allegations must be credible but not proven for good faith).

If a hearing is necessary, undersigned counsel requests one to present additional evidence, including Mr. Butler's testimony.

III. CONCLUSION

In sum, the Motion to Disqualify Judge Maldonado is a properly supported pleading that advances credible, fact-based allegations derived from extrajudicial sources, as required by 28 U.S.C. §§144 and 455, Liteky, Baskes, and related authorities. It eschews scurrilous or unfounded claims by relying on documented evidence—court filings, exhibits, public records, and sworn certifications—presented in a professional manner to preserve judicial integrity and Plaintiff's due process rights. Any characterization otherwise would misconstrue the Motion's evidentiary foundation and legal purpose.

For these reasons, undersigned counsel respectfully submits that good cause exists to discharge the Order to Show Cause without discipline. The filings were made in good faith, based on facts, evidence, and law, and do not rise to conduct unbecoming or a rule violation.

Respectfully submitted,

SANCTION ORDER

November 7, 2025

By the Court:

No. 25-2589	RAYMOND E. BUTLER II, Plaintiff - Appellant v. ELI JACKFINN EDDI, et al., Defendants - Appellees and CIBC BANK USA, Appellee
Originating Case Information:
District Court No: 1:25-cv-04443 Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division District Judge Georgia N. Alexakis

The following are before the court:

1. PLAINTIFF-APPELLANT'S MOTION TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE NANCY L. MALDONADO, filed on September 24, 2025, by Attorney Katherine London.
2. REPLY IN RESPONSE TO ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE UNDER FED. R. APP. P. 46, filed on October 20, 2025, by Attorney Katherine London.

On September 24, 2025, appellant Raymond Butler—through his counsel, Katherine London—filed a motion to disqualify Judge Maldonado, levying scurrilous and unfounded accusations of judicial misconduct and ideological bias. On October 3, 2025, Judge Maldonado denied the disqualification request, and on October 10, 2025, this court issued an order for Ms. London to show cause why she should not be sanctioned. In her response, Ms. London took no responsibility for her actions and continued to present unsupported allegations denigrating Judge Maldonado's conduct and character. Ms. London's lack of respect for members of the court is not isolated to this appeal—she filed a similar motion with similarly egregious allegations against Judge Alexakis in the district court, and she previously accused a panel of this court of engaging in “judicial activism” and “lawfare.”

No. 25-2589

Under Rule 46 of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, we may suspend, disbar, or discipline a member of our bar “for conduct unbecoming a member of the bar.” Fed. R. App. P. 46(b), (c). The Supreme Court has broadly construed the Rule to encompass “conduct contrary to professional standards that shows an unfitness to discharge continuing obligations to clients or the courts[] or conduct inimical to the administration of justice.” In re Snyder, 472 U.S. 634, 645 (1985).

Ms. London's conduct—including her unwillingness to take responsibility for her actions—meets that bar. This court's standards of professional conduct require that all attorneys “speak and write civilly and respectfully in all communications with the court” and that they “not knowingly misrepresent, mischaracterize, misquote, or miscite facts ... in any oral or written communication to the court.” Standards for Professional Conduct Within the Seventh Federal Judicial Circuit. Ms. London has repeatedly shown disrespect for members of this court and knowingly misrepresented facts in court filings.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that attorney Katherine London shall pay a fine of $750 to the clerk of court within 30 days of this order. The clerk of court shall forward a copy of this order, which serves as a public reprimand, to the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission of the Illinois Supreme Court for any action it deems appropriate. Further conduct of this nature could result in additional sanctions.

No. 2025IN04761

Dear Ms. London Bischof:

We have received the attached communication regarding your conduct from Lindsay Jaquays. It is our policy to consider all communications we receive regarding attorneys who practice law in Illinois, although our initial inquiries are not intended to lend credence to any allegations they may contain.

To assist us in determining whether any further action is warranted, please send me a written response within fourteen days setting forth the material facts relating to the matters raised in the attached communication. Include copies of any relevant documents. In addition to your response, please include the court case number in which you alleged that the Court of Appeals panel engaged in “judicial activism” and “lawfare.” If there are other cases in which you have made assertions regarding a judge’s conduct or character that are similar to the allegations here, please include them in your response.

As you may know, ARDC Rule 53 and Rule 8.1(b) of the Illinois Rules of Professional Conduct require lawyers to respond to information requests from the ARDC.

You may submit your response by email to shernandez@iardc.org. If you choose to respond by regular mail, please do not staple or bind your response and do not use exhibit tabs.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Very truly yours,

/s/ Jonathan M. Wier

SANCTION ORDER

November 7, 2025

By the Court:

No. 25-2589	RAYMOND E. BUTLER II, Plaintiff - Appellant v. ELI JACKFINN EDDI, et al., Defendants - Appellees and CIBC BANK USA, Appellee
Originating Case Information:
District Court No: 1:25-cv-04443 Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division District Judge Georgia N. Alexakis

The following are before the court:

1. PLAINTIFF-APPELLANT'S MOTION TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE NANCY L. MALDONADO, filed on September 24, 2025, by Attorney Katherine London.
2. REPLY IN RESPONSE TO ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE UNDER FED. R. APP. P. 46, filed on October 20, 2025, by Attorney Katherine London.

On September 24, 2025, appellant Raymond Butler—through his counsel, Katherine London—filed a motion to disqualify Judge Maldonado, levying scurrilous and unfounded accusations of judicial misconduct and ideological bias. On October 3, 2025, Judge Maldonado denied the disqualification request, and on October 10, 2025, this court issued an order for Ms. London to show cause why she should not be sanctioned. In her response, Ms. London took no responsibility for her actions and continued to present unsupported allegations denigrating Judge Maldonado's conduct and character. Ms. London's lack of respect for members of the court is not isolated to this appeal—she filed a similar motion with similarly egregious allegations against Judge Alexakis in the district court, and she previously accused a panel of this court of engaging in “judicial activism” and “lawfare.”

Under Rule 46 of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, we may suspend, disbar, or discipline a member of our bar “for conduct unbecoming a member of the bar.” Fed. R. App. P. 46(b), (c). The Supreme Court has broadly construed the Rule to encompass “conduct contrary to professional standards that shows an unfitness to discharge continuing obligations to clients or the courts[] or conduct inimical to the administration of justice.” In re Snyder, 472 U.S. 634, 645 (1985).

Ms. London's conduct—including her unwillingness to take responsibility for her actions—meets that bar. This court's standards of professional conduct require that all attorneys “speak and write civilly and respectfully in all communications with the court” and that they “not knowingly misrepresent, mischaracterize, misquote, or miscite facts ... in any oral or written communication to the court.” Standards for Professional Conduct Within the Seventh Federal Judicial Circuit. Ms. London has repeatedly shown disrespect for members of this court and knowingly misrepresented facts in court filings.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that attorney Katherine London shall pay a fine of $750 to the clerk of court within 30 days of this order. The clerk of court shall forward a copy of this order, which serves as a public reprimand, to the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission of the Illinois Supreme Court for any action it deems appropriate. Further conduct of this nature could result in additional sanctions.
