

SUPREME COURT
OF THE UNITED STATES
WASHINGTON, DC

Fedynich et al
Appellants

V

STALKFLEET et al
Appellees

Appellants Come Before This Supreme Court
OF THE UNITED STATES TO Request a 60 Day Time Extension to File an appeal to the dismissal from the 8th Circuit Case 25-2249 which upheld the lower courts' dismissal with prejudice in case 1:2023cv00096 in Iowa Federal

District Court.

Appellants Both need an extension of time to prepare an appeal to the US Supreme Court due to circumstances in their lives that have made filing an appeal unachievable. Both Appellants have been looking for housing and are facing eviction from their current residence. Appellants' residence is not a conducive environment to write and research a lawsuit appeal due to ongoing second-hand cigarette smoke from a downstairs neighbor that affects both Appellants' health, triggering asthma symptoms and diminished sleep for both Appellants. Moreover, due to both eviction stemming from this case on their record as well as a very tight housing rental market due to laborers for Data Centers in Cedar Rapids, IA, both Appellants are finding obtaining housing near impossible and Appellant ELIZABETH FEDYNICH is moving to Omaha, NE for better job and housing opportunities. Essentially, after an eviction hearing on Wed September 2nd, 2020 if the court rules in favor of the Landlord, Appellant Nicole Fedynich will be homeless and Appellant ELIZABETH Fedynich is for all purposes already homeless in Omaha, NE. Therefore Appellants respectfully request a 60 Day extension of time to Appeal their

Dismissed cases to this United States
Supreme Court.
