Inside the Sick Site of a School Shooter Mod

POSTED ON MARCH 26, 2011 | CATEGORIZED UNDER SITE NEWS

Following our recent removal from ModDB's web service, we decided to build ourselves an entirely self-sufficient website; capable of hosting and handling the same content as our ModDB page. I suppose the main difference is that we won't have to worry about our hosting pulling down our page without any prior notice! Also, not having to wait 3 days for ModDB administration to manually approve our news posts will be a welcome change of pace, and will probably mean more frequent updates to this page.

As of now, the Media and Mailbag pages are all but devoid of content; but we'll be filling the former up with screenshots, gameplay footage, and music from the game's soundtrack. The latter page will serve as a repository for some of the more noteworthy / interesting e-mails we've received regarding the project. The Press page also happens to be missing a number of articles, which we will be adding to the directory in due time. Naturally, new articles and reports will be added to the listing as well as they come along.
