

1 The other concern is if he thought --

2 JUSTICE KENNEDY: You're asking us to say 3 that, as a matter of law, you want us to hold that the 4 purpose of this stop was to run the warrants check? I 5 thought the purpose of the stop was to find out what was 6 going -- what was going on in the house.

7 MS. WATT: I -- I think that when -- when 8 an --

9 JUSTICE KENNEDY: The record just doesn't 10 support the first proposition that I made.

11 MS. WATT: When an officer detains someone 12 as part of a fishing expedition in the hope that 13 something will turn up, that is -- that is the purpose 14 that is a problem.

15 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: There was no suspicion
16 here. He was -- your client wasn't frisked.

17 MS. WATT: I'm sorry. Wasn't frisked?

18 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: No. There was no
19 activity that the officer is alleged to have seen that 20 would put the officer in fear of any -- that this 21 gentleman was violent or was going to turn on him or do 22 anything else.

23 MS. WATT: No.

24 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Correct?

25 MS. WATT: Correct.

1 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: So the purpose, as I
2 understand what you're trying to say is, he is now
3 routinely checking every single person that he stops, 4 whether with or without reasonable suspicion. There 5 can't be any other reason other than he wants to find 6 the warrant or not.

7 MS. WATT: But that's --

8 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: So part of the stop may 9 be to investigate, but the other part of the stop is 10 he's doing this routinely, with no reasonable suspicion, 11 with no articulable fear of his -- for his own safety.
12 He's demanding peoples' names, and he's running a 13 warrant to do what? You're saying to find the warrant.

14 MS. WATT: Find the warrant.

15 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Exactly.

16 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: How often are -- are 17 cars -- people stopped driving, an officer walks up to 18 the car and they're shot? Has that happened a fair 19 amount of times?

20 MS. WATT: It does happen.

21 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: It does happen. So
22 is there no other reason for checking to see if there 23 are warrants out for that person before you walk up to 24 the car? Or before you conduct an inquiry with a 25 ticket?

1 MS. WATT: So --

2 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: It seems to me not 3 wanting to get shot's a pretty good reason.

4 MS. WATT: But this presents a completely
5 different scenario. This officer approached
6 Mr. Strieff. He knew very little about him. You know, 7 as a matter of deterrence, a reasonably well-trained 8 officer would have known, should have known that there
9 wasn't enough there. Because he didn't know anything 10 about my client, there was no individualized suspicion.
11 And --

12 JUSTICE ALITO: Well, we really don't know 13 very much about exactly what happened here, which is 14 unfortunate. But what the officer testified was that he 15 didn't just grab this guy and say give me an ID and 16 then -- and then run a warrants check. He did say that 17 he -- he approached him and he said -- identified 18 himself. He said he thought there might be drug 19 activity going on in the house, and he asked him to 20 tell -- he said, "I asked him to tell me what he was 21 doing there."

22 Now, we don't even know what he -- unless 23 I'm -- it's someplace else in this record, we don't even 24 know what your client said. But he could have said, 25 what am I doing there, yeah, I live there, or, my mother

1 lives there, or, my best friend lives there.

2 But whatever -- we don't know what he said.

3 But then at some later point he ran a warrants check.

4 So how can we infer from that, that the whole point of 5 the stop was to run the warrants check?

6 MS. WATT: So -- so a really important part 7 of the officer's testimony was that he didn't remember 8 what that answer was. So if my client had said, I went 9 in there because there's someone who's ill and I've been 10 visiting for, you know, 20 minutes, or -- or, this is 11 where my friend lives; that's why I was there, end of 12 inquiry, and -- and the warrants check shouldn't have 13 been run. A reasonably well-trained officer should 14 know.

15 The -- the important part of this case is 16 that if we're only looking at -- we're not just looking 17 at deterring Officer Fackrell, we're looking at 18 deterring future conduct by officers. And the -- the 19 Terry limitation is something we want our officers to 20 know. It's fairly straightforward. This is a fairly 21 straightforward case that is going on every day in this 22 country where officers are looking at houses, watching 23 houses that maybe, might have drug trafficking going on.
24 They're trying to establish probable cause. Case law is 25 relatively clear about what you need to get probable

1 cause on a house.

2 It's also relatively clear about what you
3 need to get individualized suspicion. We know from 4 Cortez we need those two elements. We -- we also know
5 from Ybarra that just being in proximity to other people
6 is not enough. Being around -- even when the officers 7 have probable cause to search or probable cause to 8 arrest someone if you're standing right there, it's not 9 enough.

10 So it should be clear to an officer that my 11 client leaving a house that he doesn't even have 12 probable cause on, that he's trying to find something 13 out about --

14 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Well, all he did was go 15 from the house to a convenience store, not in a car but 16 walking.

17 MS. WATT: Right.

18 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: He walks to a
19 convenience store, he's stopped in the parking garage
20 but without a car. And I go back to this is not coming 21 up to a parked automobile and getting shot, correct?

22 MS. WATT: Right. Right.

23 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Would your rule
24 apply in that situation?

25 MS. WATT: Well, when an -- when an officer

1 makes a stop --

2 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Would your rule
3 apply in a situation where the officer approaches the 4 car for a purpose that is later found to be insufficient 5 under Terry? You would suppress whatever evidence is 6 find -- found in that situation too, right?

7 MS. WATT: If the -- if the officer did not 8 have a reasonable suspicion for the stop.

9 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Okay. So it would 10 apply in the stopping of the automobile situation.

11 MS. WATT: It would. But it's --

12 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Okay.

13 MS. WATT: But again, in these cases, if 14 there is a warrant, we haven't argued about the warrant 15 itself. What we've -- our concern is the random stops.
16 And our concern is not just for my client. It's for all 17 of those innocent citizens that will -- that are walking 18 around, that are stopped, that a warrants check is run 19 and nothing comes up and then they're sent on their way.
20 There's no oversight.

21 The -- the officer is encouraged to engage 22 in -- in a catch-and-release type of approach with our 23 citizenry. And Utah's rule would be something that -- 24 that would create that incentive.

25 JUSTICE GINSBURG: In -- in your brief you

1 took the position that -- that an event is intervening 2 only if it is unforeseeable.

3 MS. WATT: Well, our position is that an 4 intervening circumstance needs to be independent, and 5 it -- it needs to be a break in the -- the causal chain.
6 And that when -- when a warrant is run -- and it needs 7 to be something that is not directly related to the 8 officer's conduct.

9 And so because the warrants check is an 10 inherent part of -- of the detention, it's not an 11 intervening circumstance. And that's something that -- 12 that the Utah Supreme Court unanimously agreed with in 13 the dissent in the Utah court of appeals as well, agreed 14 that this is -- it's a natural and foreseeable 15 consequence. It is the intended result. It -- it is 16 not something that -- that is independent, that -- that 17 comes as a surprise.

18 And that -- that's really consistent with 19 this Court's case law in dealing with intervening 20 circumstances. Spontaneous confessions are something 21 that are independent; they -- they break the chain. We 22 look at free will, and that's independent and breaks the 23 chain. Witness testimony. But here there was no break.
24 It was a direct result of the officer's conduct.

25 The -- the rule that we are really asking

1 the Court to -- to adopt follows settled exclusionary 2 rule case law, and that is that -- that if there is the 3 bad stop, it's suppressed unless there is attenuation.

4 And of course, if there hadn't been a
5 warrant, if -- if the officer had just stopped my client
6 and searched him, I don't think anyone's contesting that 7 that would just simply be suppressed without 8 attenuation.

9 And in this case there was -- there was no
10 attenuation as well because all three of the factors 11 that this Court has looked at work in favor of 12 suppression. The temporal proximity works with us, 13 obviously. It was -- it was contemporaneous. It was 14 immediate. It was inherent.

15 It's not an intervening circumstance because 16 it's not independent and it's not a break in the causal 17 chain. And it was deliberate conduct on this officer's 18 part that was blatantly unconstitutional.

19 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: You -- you disagree
20 with Judge Friendly's analysis in the Friedman case?

21 MS. WATT: That -- in -- in what respect?

22 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Well, with -- with 23 his analysis. As -- as I understand, it took the 24 position opposite to what you're arguing, and I just 25 want to know if you have a basis for distinguishing that

1 precedent.

2 MS. WATT: I guess I don't, no.

3 So -- so our position is that that this 4 falls squarely within the -- the Court's settled case
5 law. We're asking that the Utah Supreme Court be upheld 6 and --

7 JUSTICE ALITO: You agree that attenuation
8 is based on -- on deterrence; that the attenuation 9 determination is based on a calculation of the deterrent 10 effect of the ruling.

11 MS. WATT: I do. I do. I -- I agree that 12 the focus is on deterrence. And I think that in this 13 circumstance, there's powerful deterrence to -- to adopt 14 our position and to not follow Utah's position.

15 If -- if Utah's position is -- part of 16 deterrence is looking at the incentive to violate the -- 17 the -- the Constitution, and looking forward to see -- 18 see what would happen with the rule.

19 And under Utah's rule, we -- there would be 20 nothing to stop police officers from -- from stopping 21 people on the street, articulating something. Terry
22 doesn't take much. Most -- most officers can articulate 23 some sort of justification, looking for the warrant, and 24 then sending people on their way. So -- so we believe 25 that deterrence would be very well served by adopting

1 our rule.

2 JUSTICE ALITO: And -- and your deterrence
3 argument doesn't depend at all on statistics?

4 MS. WATT: With -- even without the 5 statistics, our deterrence argument works because the 6 point is a reasonably well-trained officer would -- 7 should know what the parameters of Terry are. This 8 officer did not.

9 JUSTICE ALITO: So if one in a thousand
10 people has an outstanding warrant, that's enough?

11 MS. WATT: So --

12 JUSTICE ALITO: That statistic would -- that 13 statistic wouldn't upset your argument?

14 MS. WATT: It wouldn't upset my argument
15 because we -- we run -- officers run warrants checks 16 because they're likely to find them --

17 JUSTICE ALITO: One -- one in 10,000, would 18 that upset your argument?

19 MS. WATT: I -- I suppose --

20 JUSTICE ALITO: I've got to get to a number 21 where you're going to say --

22 MS. WATT: Yes.

23 (Laughter.)

24 MS. WATT: In those communities, then you're 25 going to see much less of this behavior, you know, much

1 less of the running of warrants checks in order to find 2 a warrant. It's going to self-correct. But for the 3 most part, the -- I mean, and the flip side is there's 4 then no reason not to run them if that's the rule. But 5 for the most part, in -- in most communities, the -- the 6 incentive there -- the other thing is, with Utah's rule, 7 it could create an incentive to have even more warrants
8 for even more minor infractions. This was a traffic
9 matter. Many of these warrants in the cases down below
10 are minor traffic matters. The -- it --

11 JUSTICE GINSBURG: But what was it? We 12 know -- was it a -- a ticket? Do we know --

13 MS. WATT: It's not in the record.

14 JUSTICE GINSBURG: It's not in the record.

15 MS. WATT: Yeah. But -- but -- but it was 16 referred to as a minor traffic --

17 JUSTICE ALITO: Do you think the judges in 18 the traffic -- in the traffic courts are going to start 19 issuing lots of warrants because they want to provide a 20 basis for -- for randomly stopping people?

21 MS. WATT: My point is only that it -- it
22 creates an incentive to not be as careful. It 23 creates --

24 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: I'm very surprised that 25 Justice Alito doesn't know that most of these warrants

1 are automatic. If you don't pay your fine within a 2 certain amount of days, they're issued virtually 3 automatically.

4 MS. WATT: Right. And that's exactly what 5 this one was.

6 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: So it doesn't create 7 an incentive of the kind you were arguing, you were 8 worried about before.

9 MS. WATT: I'm sorry.

10 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: The warrants -- the 11 warrants are automatic. You were suggesting that, oh, 12 one thing that will happen is they'll be issuing all 13 these warrants if they know they can get evidence from 14 illegal stops. And because the warrants are automatic, 15 they're not going to be issuing all these warrants, are 16 they?

17 MS. WATT: They're automatic in certain 18 circumstances, and those circumstances would increase.
19 So they're automatic right now for no insurance or for 20 speeding. They would increase. And -- and they'd be 21 automatic for infractions. They'd -- and the other 22 aspect is the databases and the incentive to keep those 23 databases accurate and up-to-date.

24 It's our position that this absolutely plays 25 into a deterrence, and that Utah's rule would have an

1 overwhelming impact that would create a powerful 2 incentive for police officers to walk up to people on 3 the street and simply stop them.

4 We're asking, unless there's further
5 questions, that the Court affirm the -- the Utah Supreme 6 Court. Thank you.

7 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you, Ms. Watt.
8 Mr. Green, you have four minutes remaining.

9 REBUTTAL ARGUMENT OF TYLER R. GREEN

10 ON BEHALF OF THE PETITIONER

11 MR. GREEN: Thank you, Mr. Chief Justice.

12 If I could just make three brief points in 13 response.

14 First, to the suggestion that officers make 15 random stops in order to find a warrant to conduct 16 searches of this type. There's actually no evidence of 17 the -- in this record that that's what happened here, or 18 that it happens more broadly. In fact, I think the 19 opposite is true.

20 If you look at page --

21 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: It's routine practice
22 to -- to run warrant checks. Every stop, legal or 23 illegal, he says it's -- he runs warrants, on the street
24 or in a car. Meaning, that's what the police officer 25 testified to.

1 MR. GREEN: He -- he runs them, Justice
2 Sotomayor, for the purposes I think that have been 3 discussed today, for safety rationales and other 4 reasons. But there's no actual evidence that he runs --

5 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: So we now have a new 6 rule. We've taken running warrants for traffic stops 7 that we've thought were legitimate because they had to 8 do with highway safety. Now we're saying to police 9 officers, run warrants on any name you get because all 10 you have to do is wave the flag of safety.

11 MR. GREEN: No, Your Honor. That's not what 12 we're saying. We're saying that there is a safety 13 rationale for the warrant check. But beyond that, 14 there's also the important flagrancy safety valve that 15 we've talked about here.

16 And with respect to this particular warrant
17 check on page 101 of the Appendix to our petition, there 18 is actually a finding from the district court that the 19 reason that this officer stopped this particular 20 defendant was on suspicion of drug possession or 21 distribution. It wasn't for something else. So that 22 finding is here.

23 And more broadly, this rule, as we've noted 24 in our papers, is, in fact, the majority rule among the 25 courts that have addressed this issue throughout the 1 country.

2 In the United States, and -- excuse me, in 3 the Seventh Circuit, the case of United States v. Green 4 was decided in 1997, almost 20 years ago. And that, of 5 course, involves States with a large number of 6 metropolitan areas, Chicago and Milwaukee and 7 Indianapolis. And there's no evidence in this record or 8 before this Court that these sort of random stops in 9 order to check for warrants is happening in those 10 jurisdictions. So I think the actual practice and the 11 way it bears out, and has borne out in -- in areas where 12 this has been adopted undermines that particular 13 argument.

14 Second, Your Honor, with respect to the 15 question of whether a subjective purpose should come in, 16 responding to Justice Kennedy's question to this -- to 17 this inquiry. I think if this Court were to do that, it 18 would become an outlier of sorts in the case -- in this 19 Court's Fourth Amendment jurisprudence. And I think, 20 with respect, if -- if it remains an objective inquiry 21 and consistent with the rest of this Court's cases, that 22 objective inquiry will capture the flagrant cases.

23 We cited four cases from four different 24 State courts in our reply brief, in footnote 1 of our 25 reply brief. That's Illinois, Missouri, New Jersey.

1 And Oregon, where the courts that have applied this rule 2 have undertaken the flagrancy inquiry and have, in fact, 3 suppressed evidence because the initial stop was 4 flagrant.

5 Finally, a third point, the -- as we've 6 noted in our briefs, Your Honor, the -- the Respondent 7 here has abandoned the Utah Supreme Court's rule that an 8 intervening circumstance must, in fact, be something 9 attributable to the defendant's own free will. We think 10 that's appropriate based on that concession that it 11 would -- that this Court should -- should reverse the 12 judgment of the Utah Supreme Court, and leaves the 13 question, of course, of what rule to adopt instead.

14 And we think, Your Honor, this -- this 15 intervening circumstance here, this arrest on a 16 preexisting warrant that arises from probable cause
17 based on facts completely unrelated to the circumstances 18 and the facts of this stop, is exactly like what 19 happened in Johnson v. Louisiana, which is the case that 20 this Court pointed to in Brown v. Illinois. Where -- 21 where it adopted and said the intervening circumstance
22 is critical to the attenuation inquiry. It's a 23 straightforward application of that particular test.

24 If there are no further questions.

25 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you, counsel.
