

1 as to our views on the legal theory. If we felt that we 2 would be made to seem skeptical of the implied 3 certification by not intervening, we'd feel pressured to 4 do it.

5 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you, counsel.
6 Eight minutes, Mr. Englert.

7 MR. ENGLERT: Thank you, Mr. Chief Justice.

8 REBUTTAL ARGUMENT OF ROY T. ENGLERT, JR.

9 ON BEHALF OF THE PETITIONER

10 MR. ENGLERT: The False Claims Act uses
11 words drawn from the common law of torts, not words 12 drawn from the common law of contracts. This is 13 Henry Steiner and Duncan Kennedy, not Charles Fried.

14 The test, as stated by my friends on the 15 other side, is the core test is whether the State could 16 reject the claim for reimbursement. That is a contract 17 standard; that is not a tort standard. And if this 18 Court accepts that version of the implied-certification 19 theory, it will be much broader than anything the lower 20 courts have ever done, and a parade of horrors in the 21 light green amicus briefs would cite many horrible 22 cases. Mr. Frederick says they cite none. They cite 23 many real-world horrible cases. That would be the tip 24 of the iceberg if this Court accepts their theory.

25 It has been suggested that everyone knows

1 that it's common sense and that it's obvious that people 2 who provide counseling services to teenagers must be 3 licensed. Well, apparently, the Commonwealth of 4 Massachusetts doesn't find it obvious. Section 5 429.424(E) (1), quoted on page 8 of our opening brief, 6 states the standards in which "counselors and unlicensed 7 staff may provide counseling services."

8 If it's so obvious, why did the First 9 Circuit have to rely on a regulation that applies only 10 to satellite facilities? When the First Circuit found a 11 regulation that no one had cited in all of this 12 litigation, it didn't cite one that applies to every 13 facility. It cited one that applies only to satellite 14 facilities. And yet, we're told it's so obvious that my 15 clients should have known that, and that there is 16 materiality and scienter in this case.

17 Volume II of the Joint Appendix contains 18 seven complaints to State agencies, four reports by 19 State agencies, two consent decrees, and four other 20 documents. They cite many, many, many, many 21 regulations. This morass of regulations, bluntly, is 22 worse than the Internal Revenue Code. It's full of 23 cross-references; it's full of contradictions, as the 24 First Circuit itself acknowledged in footnote 15.

25 The way the First Circuit resolved the

1 contradiction was to refer to the nonpromulgating 2 agency; so it's Chevron on steroids. These things are 3 not obvious. These regulations are not obvious.

4 Now, Mr. Frederick and Mr. Stewart, and in 5 particular Mr. Frederick, may seem to have scored a blow 6 when he put -- said fraudster shouldn't get to pick and 7 choose which regulations they comply.

8 Well, if you assume fraud, if you put the 9 rabbit in the hat, you can take the rabbit out of the 10 hat. People should pick and choose which regulations 11 they comply with. Why? Because there's so many and 12 confusing. And who holds the keys to telling them which 13 regulations to comply with? The regulating agency or 14 the contracting agency.

15 If the contracting agency or the regulating 16 agency says, please focus on this regulation because it 17 really matters, guess what? People will focus on the 18 regulation because they know it really matters. If 19 relators come in after the fact, not the Commonwealth of 20 Massachusetts, not the United States, but relators come 21 in after the fact and say, this was so critical that you 22 should have known and you acted -- it was material, it 23 was essential, and you acted with scienter, and they get 24 treble damages, attorney's fees, $5500 or more, $5500 25 minimum per claim civil penalties, and the opprobrium of 1 calling someone a fraudster, that's not the system in 2 which the regulators have control. That is not the 3 administrative state we know. That is a game of 4 got-you, after-the-fact got-you.

5 JUSTICE BREYER: How does it differ, what 6 you just said, from this thing in the Restatement where 7 you say it would be fraud, facts basic to the 8 transaction or matters known, that he knows to prevent 9 his statement from being misleading? The statement is, 10 implicitly, I did the work. And this kind of problem, 11 is it or is it not, basic to the transaction that the 12 doctor be certified, is the kind of thing that I think 13 you and other lawyers argue very well on opposite sides, 14 as you just did.

15 But the standard you advocate is, according 16 to the Restatement, misleading statement about a fact 17 basic to the transaction, misleading, implicitly, I did 18 it. Truth? I didn't. You see, I'm saying your 19 standard gives rise to the same problem, doesn't it?

20 MR. ENGLERT: No.

21 JUSTICE BREYER: Why?

22 MR. ENGLERT: Because the common law has 23 worked through these problems, Justice Breyer. The 24 common law of torts, not the common law of contracts.
25 Look at illustrations 3 through 8 of the -- of the 1 Restatement.

2 But if that doesn't do it for you, think 3 about the dog that didn't bark in the room. Look for 4 common-law fraud cases that state their theory. You
5 won't find them. You won't find them. They don't 6 exist. This is a theory made up by the plaintiffs' bar 7 in the last 22 years, and it has run amok.

8 There is a parade of horrors in the light 9 green amicus briefs. There is a parade of horrors in 10 the red -- in the dark green amicus briefs. Their 11 parade of horrors is that it would be A-OK to do these 12 things. It's not A-OK to do these things. There are 13 calibrated remedies administered by the government for 14 breach of contract, for violating regulations.

15 The Massachusetts authorities had calibrated
16 remedies in this case: Two years of suspension and a 17 $1,000 fine. They didn't ask for any money back. They 18 didn't ask for any money back. They didn't say, this is 19 the kind of thing that is so basic that you should give 20 us our money back. They said, we need some corrective 21 measures. These are services for poor people. These 22 are --

23 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Let's not forget
24 something. Money came from the Federal government. It 25 may be a system in this cooperative program that's

1 flawed, but Massachusetts Health has no incentive to 2 seek the money back because they're not paying it.

3 The people with the incentive are the 4 Federal government, and that's why we have the False 5 Claims Act, because the Federal government can't enforce 6 all seeking of money back in these cooperative programs.

7 MR. ENGLERT: Okay. But it has to be a 8 false or fraudulent claim, which are terms derived from 9 the common law, construed in this Court's cases, 10 elaborated through the common law --

11 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: I have a very hard time 12 accepting that if you provide -- if you claim money for 13 a service that you don't render, not a qualified 14 individual, unsupervised by a qualified individual, 15 which is a requirement specifically in the regulations, 16 I'm having a hard time understanding how you have not 17 committed a fraud --

18 MR. ENGLERT: Your Honor, all the --

19 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: -- if you knew what you 20 were doing.

21 MR. ENGLERT: All that was submitted was a 22 request for payment. The government controls what it 23 will require in a request for payment. There is no 24 allegation of a false statement in the request for 25 payment. The only allegation is that every jot and

1 tittle of every MassHealth regulation is incorporated as 2 long as it's approved --

3 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: I don't think that it's 4 every --

5 MR. ENGLERT: -- under scienter.

6 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: -- provision.

7 MR. ENGLERT: Well, Your Honor, it's --

8 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: But I think it's a very 9 basic provision --

10 MR. ENGLERT: Your Honor, with respect --

11 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: -- when you say, I 12 performed this service, that you performed a service in 13 accordance with the contract.

14 MR. ENGLERT: And in seven complaints to 15 administrative agencies, in the -- in the operative 16 complaint in this case, amended many times, why is not 17 the regulation the First Circuit relied on even cited?
18 Why is the regulation Mr. Frederick says he would have 19 used if he had been litigating this case in the district 20 court even cited?

21 It proves my point, Your Honor, that this is 22 a morass. And for one to think, after the fact, this is 23 basic and central and this is fraud, is a plaintiff's 24 lawyer's game.

25 Thank you.

1 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you, counsel.

2 The case is submitted.

3 (Whereupon, at 12:01 p.m., the case in the 4 above-entitled matter was submitted.)
