P R O C E E D I N G S

(10:01 a.m.)

CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Justice Thomas is unable to be present today but will participate in consideration and decision of the cases on the basis of the briefs and the transcripts of oral argument.

We will hear argument first this morning in Case 21-328, Morgan versus Sundance.

Ms. Gilbride.

ORAL ARGUMENT OF KARLA A. GILBRIDE

ON BEHALF OF THE PETITIONER

MS. GILBRIDE: Mr. Chief Justice, and may it please the Court:

Section 2 of the Federal Arbitration Act requires that an agreement to arbitrate be enforced unless a generally applicable contract defense renders it unenforceable. But the Eighth Circuit didn't apply a generally applicable contract defense here. It applied an arbitration-specific waiver defense that requires the person asserting waiver to prove prejudice, even though prejudice isn't required to establish waiver of other contractual rights in Iowa.

1 That's what the Eighth Circuit did
2 wrong, and that's why we're here. But there's 3 been a lot of discussion in the briefs about 4 Section 3 and default, so I wanted to quickly
5 explain what the Eighth Circuit should have done 6 instead.

7 First, it should have assessed Robyn
8 Morgan's waiver defense under generally 9 applicable Iowa law to determine if there was an 10 enforceable contract on which the procedural 11 provisions of the FAA could operate. If it 12 found waiver under state law, that would have 13 been the end of the inquiry.

14 If it found no waiver, meaning that 15 there was still a live contract for Sundance to 16 enforce, then, because Sundance sought a stay 17 under Section 3, the Court would still have had 18 to assess if Sundance's actions were in default 19 in proceeding with the arbitration.

20 So whether Sundance's actions
21 constituted default is a secondary question, not 22 a replacement for the first-order waiver
23 inquiry. And even if we get to default here, 24 nothing in that term connotes prejudice either,
25 for default, like waiver, is a unilateral

1 concept that focuses on the defaulting party's 2 failure to perform an obligation.

3 Sundance intentionally relinquished
4 its contractual arbitration rights by asking a 5 federal judge to dismiss this case and filing an 6 answer that didn't mention arbitration. Those 7 actions should have been sufficient for a 8 finding of waiver, and the same actions placed 9 Sundance in default within the meaning of 10 Section 3.

11 Prejudice has no part to play in 12 either of these inquiries, and the Eighth
13 Circuit was wrong to require it.

14 I welcome the Court's questions.

15 Because --

16 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Ms. -- Ms.
17 Gilbride, what if the standards for waiver under 18 state law are different with respect to 19 arbitration and other provisions in the 20 contract? Then that would violate the Federal 21 Arbitration Act, right?

22 MS. GILBRIDE: Well, there are some 23 states that have -- as the majority of federal 24 circuits have, that have endorsed an 25 arbitration-specific waiver rule. That's true,

1 Your Honor, and the states that have done that,
2 by having a waiver defense that draws its 3 essence from the fact that an agreement to 4 arbitrate is at issue, they are not complying 5 with the equal treatment principle that is at 6 the core of the Federal Arbitration Act that's 7 codified at Section 2.

8 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Well, then
9 don't you have to analyze precisely why waiver 10 is being applied in each case, to see if it is 11 the same? In other words, it would seem to be a 12 somewhat complicated inquiry if there -- 13 there's, you know, occasional exceptions to 14 whether it's waiver because you haven't asked 15 for punitive damages or it's waiver in other 16 situations. Each situation would seem to be 17 unique, unless, I suppose, that the state had a 18 rule that any slight difference, sort of perfect 19 performance, constitutes a waiver. You know, 20 you're one minute late for the argument; you're 21 -- everything is waived.

22 It would seem to me it has to be kind 23 of an issue-by-issue inquiry.

24 MS. GILBRIDE: Yes, Your Honor, waiver
25 as a matter of common law, when you're looking

1 at contractual rights, which is what we're 2 looking at here, is a fact-dependent inquiry.
3 It's assessed on the totality of the 4 circumstances.

5 And what the Eighth Circuit did wrong
6 here, as -- as many other states that have 7 adopted an arbitration-specific test, is that 8 they added the prejudice requirement solely when 9 arbitration agreements are at issue.

10 But, if there are different standards
11 of waiver, if they're generally applicable, if, 12 as -- as this Court said in Perry v. Thomas, it 13 was a body of law that arose to govern the 14 validity, revocability, and enforceability of 15 contracts generally, then that's what the states 16 should apply. And that's why it would be proper 17 here for the Court to remand to the Eighth
18 Circuit to apply Iowa's generally applicable
19 waiver doctrines, which was never done here.

20 Both parties and the lower courts
21 assessed the waiver inquiry under federal law, 22 under governing Eighth Circuit precedent, which 23 requires prejudice based on a misapplication of 24 the FAA, erroneously believing that the FAA 25 requires a prejudice finding specific to the 1 arbitration context.

2 JUSTICE KAGAN: Ms. Gilbride, could -- 3 could I assume for a moment that we should think 4 about this as a Section 3 case, and then, if -- 5 if that's the way we think about it, this phrase 6 "in default in proceeding with such 7 arbitration," does that incorporate state 8 contract law principles?

9 MS. GILBRIDE: Well, Justice Kagan, if 10 the phrase "in default in proceeding" is 11 referring to default in proceeding under the 12 contract, then we would submit that state
13 contract law principles should be applied
14 because, you know, this Court said in First 15 Options of Chicago, in Arthur Andersen versus 16 Carlisle, that when you're looking at contract 17 questions, whether it's contract interpretation,
18 whether the agreement was formed, whether third 19 parties can enforce the contract, you look to 20 state contract law.

21 But, if what that phrase at the end of 22 Section 3 means is a statutory default, in other 23 words, that the party was in default in 24 proceeding with their rights under the FAA by 25 requesting a stay too late in the case, then

1 that is something that the Court could analyze 2 under federal common law because you're putting 3 content to what that procedural provision of 4 Section 3 --

5 JUSTICE KAGAN: And -- and do you --

6 MS. GILBRIDE: -- requires.

7 JUSTICE KAGAN: -- do you have a view
8 as to which of those two is the right way to 9 look at it?

10 MS. GILBRIDE: I think that if you put 11 Section 3 alongside Section 4, there are some 12 differences.

13 Now -- now, certainly, Sundance seems 14 to take the position that it's looking at 15 default under the contract. All of their cases 16 talk about contractual default and if the -- if 17 the contract has a set time limit, you do one 18 thing, but, if it -- if it doesn't, you know, 19 they say you -- you assert prejudice, which is 20 -- is not found in the contractual default 21 cases.

22 I think that there's reason to think 23 that Section 4 is talking about default in 24 proceeding under the contract. If you look at 25 Section 4, it says, if a party has a failure,

1 neglect, or refusal of another to arbitrate
2 under a written agreement for arbitration, and 3 then later on in Section 4 you talk about if the 4 party has failed to comply therewith, meaning 5 failed to comply with the agreement for 6 arbitration, and the next time default is 7 mentioned, it is the failure, neglect, or 8 refusal to perform the same, again, perform the 9 agreement for arbitration.

10 Section 3 doesn't refer to the 11 contract in that way. When it says "in default 12 in proceeding," it says "in default in 13 proceeding with such arbitration." So that 14 could denote that an arbitration has already 15 commenced and -- and that the party seeking a 16 stay has engaged in some dilatory tactics with 17 respect to the arbitration itself.

18 That was the case in the -- in the New 19 Jersey supreme court case of Roach v. BM
20 Motoring, which we cited in our reply brief, 21 where the party -- the plaintiff had initiated 22 arbitration, and the defendant refused to pay 23 their portion of the arbitration fees, which 24 caused the arbitration to stall. And that 25 conduct could constitute default in proceeding

1 --

2 JUSTICE BARRETT: Ms. --

3 MS. GILBRIDE: -- because it -- it
4 delayed the arbitration.

5 JUSTICE BARRETT: -- Ms. Gilbride,
6 what about this provision, you know, from the 7 American Arbitration Association that was 8 incorporated into your contract, if this is a 9 matter of substantive contract law, which says 10 that no judicial proceeding by a party relating 11 to the subject matter of the arbitration shall 12 be deemed a waiver of the parties' right to 13 arbitrate? Why doesn't that do more work if the 14 right place to look here is substantive contract 15 law?

16 MS. GILBRIDE: Well, Justice Barrett,
17 because the first place to look is Section 2, 18 and as a matter of state contract law, which is 19 the first step of the two-step inquiry, then, if 20 an ordinary no-waiver provision could be waived 21 by the parties' subsequent conduct, then there 22 would be a waiver under state law and you never 23 get to Section 3.

24 And that's the case with respect to 25 the sort of language that you're -- you're

1 mentioning with respect to the -- the American 2 Arbitration Association.

3 Non-arbitration or non-waiver
4 provisions, I should say, are routinely waived 5 by subsequent conduct. We cite some cases to 6 that effect in our reply brief. It's 7 established in Williston at Section 3936, Corbin
8 Section 733.

9 So, according to that sort of 10 blackletter law about no waiver provisions, you 11 would never have occasion to get to Section 3 if 12 the conduct that Sundance --

13 JUSTICE BARRETT: But what's the point
14 of them then?

15 MS. GILBRIDE: -- engaged in here was 16 waiver.

17 JUSTICE BARRETT: What's the point of 18 including them then?

19 MS. GILBRIDE: Well, the American 20 Arbitration Association may want, you know, the 21 parties to do some of the sorts of things that 22 -- that Sundance talked about in terms of -- of 23 defensive actions at the early stages in court.

24 I -- I can't speak for why the AAA put 25 that language in their contract, but it's been

1 in their standard rules for many years.

2 And many federal courts, including
3 federal courts that subscribe to the erroneous 4 view of the FAA that requires prejudice, have 5 looked at that language and said we're going to 6 find a waiver notwithstanding this language.

7 So whatever the AAA's reason for 8 including it, it hasn't stopped courts from 9 finding waiver if the parties' conduct rose to 10 the level of an intentional relinquishment of 11 their right to arbitrate.

12 The mistake that those courts have 13 made, even though they -- they didn't rely on 14 that -- that AAA rule language, was that they 15 analyzed the question under federal law 16 exclusively instead of first looking at whether 17 there had been a waiver under generally 18 applicable contract principles of state law.

19 Basically, they continued this mistake
20 that the Eighth Circuit made here of applying an 21 arbitration-specific waiver defense instead of a 22 generally applicable one, and that's why this 23 Court should remand for the Eighth Circuit to 24 apply the correct generally applicable contract
25 test in the first instance.

1 JUSTICE BREYER: I -- I see the -- the 2 remand point too. I just want to know what I
3 should read. I -- I used to have nightmares
4 about teaching a class, and in my nightmare, 5 someone in the class would ask me something, and 6 I'd have to go into a long disposition on 7 something I didn't know.

8 So I've written down here laches, in 9 default, forfeiture, waiver, estoppel, and there 10 are probably about six or seven others, which 11 are primarily contract or not entirely, but -- 12 and state law questions, and I know very little 13 about them.

14 And suddenly this Court, writing a 15 treatise on that, could get laws in many, many 16 places really mixed up because judges sometimes 17 put the wrong words, if there are wrong words.
18 And so I -- what have you read that would 19 prevent me from getting into this nightmare?

20 That is to say, what of all the things
21 you've read -- and it's clear that both of you 22 have read an enormous amount -- what would you 23 recommend to me to try to get these different 24 concepts straight in my mind?

25 MS. GILBRIDE: That's a good question.

1 There are a lot of concepts here. And -- and I
2 think, you know, the reason that we put two 3 large block quotes in our opening brief about 4 early 20th Century cases distinguishing between 5 waiver and estoppel, one from the Supreme 6 Judicial Court of Maine and one from the Supreme 7 Court of Oklahoma, is that I think those two 8 opinions do a very good job of delineating 9 between those concepts, that waiver requires an 10 intentional relinquishment, that's what 11 distinguishes waiver, and estoppel requires
12 prejudice.

13 Often the two can be present in the 14 same case, but what distinguishes them, and 15 when, as here, you know, Ms. Morgan argued 16 waiver and she did not argue estoppel, what 17 should distinguish the doctrine is she would 18 need to prove that -- that Sundance did 19 something intentional, that it -- that it did 20 actions, committed actions that would lead to an 21 inference that it did not intend to rely on its 22 arbitration right.

23 But what she would not have to prove 24 is that she was harmed or prejudiced by 25 Sundance's actions. That is the key

1 distinguishing feature between waiver and 2 estoppel.

3 Laches is a doctrine that focuses 4 mostly on the delay of asserting a right, not 5 inconsistent actions by the waiving party.

6 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Counsel --

7 JUSTICE ALITO: Your --

8 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: I'm sorry.

9 JUSTICE ALITO: Your argument now is 10 that this is governed by state law, not by 11 federal law, is that right?

12 MS. GILBRIDE: It's governed by both,
13 Justice Alito, because it would first be -- the 14 first question is was there a waiver, because 15 Ms. Morgan argued waiver.

16 Now, if she hadn't argued waiver, if 17 that wasn't present in the case, now that -- 18 because it is, it has to be argued under state
19 law -- if she hadn't, but because Sundance
20 sought a stay under Section 3, then the Court 21 has an independent obligation under Section 3 to 22 assess whether the applicant for that stay was 23 in default in proceeding with the arbitration.
24 So that's where you get to the Section 3
25 question.

1 To Justice Kagan's question, that
2 could be state law too if it's only about rights
3 under the contract, but if it's about rights 4 under the statute, if it's about what does the 5 FAA require to -- for someone to be in default 6 in proceeding, then that would be a federal 7 question.

8 JUSTICE ALITO: Well, all the courts
9 of appeals, as I understand it, have applied 10 federal common law here, is that right?

11 MS. GILBRIDE: Yes. So most courts
12 have looked at this under Section 3 because 13 parties are seeking stays under Section 3. So 14 it's not, you know, incomprehensible as to why 15 the courts start looking at this as a Section 3 16 question when they're -- they're assessing a 17 motion that someone filed under Section 3.

18 JUSTICE ALITO: And you now want the 19 case to be remanded and decided under Iowa law, 20 am I right?

21 MS. GILBRIDE: That's correct. We 22 want the Eighth Circuit to have an opportunity 23 to apply generally applicable Iowa contract law.
24 And that also may require the Eighth Circuit -- 25 and this Court may want to give instructions to

1 this effect -- to certify to the Iowa Supreme 2 Court to clarify Iowa law on this area because 3 Iowa, like many other states, has been tainted
4 by the same misapprehension of what the FAA 5 requires.

6 JUSTICE ALITO: Well, you -- you have 7 a strong argument and you might be right, but it 8 would represent a sea change, would it not?
9 Would -- it would --

10 MS. GILBRIDE: It -- it would follow
11 --

12 JUSTICE ALITO: -- require all the 13 courts of appeals to approach this question 14 differently from the way they have, is that 15 correct?

16 MS. GILBRIDE: Well, what it would do,
17 I think, which -- which would be in some ways a 18 sea change but in some ways continue a trend, it 19 would -- it would follow what this Court has -- 20 has done in Arthur Andersen versus Carlisle and 21 First Options of Chicago, which is to say
22 questions of contract interpretation, contract 23 defenses, are analyzed under state law. And --

24 JUSTICE ALITO: Yeah. No, I
25 understand that. And as I said, you have a --

1 you have a cogent argument, but it would 2 represent a significant change.

3 And so this is -- this takes me back
4 to the Chief Justice's initial question. If we 5 are going to send the courts of appeals, 6 district courts off looking at state law on this 7 issue, are they going to find that state law
8 generally has arbitration-specific rules about 9 waiver, or are they going to find that state law
10 generally treats the waiver of arbitration
11 exactly the same as the waiver of other contract 12 defenses?

13 So let me give you three situations 14 and ask you to tell me whether they involve an 15 arbitration-specific rule.

16 The first one involves a state that 17 has a rule that says a procedure -- a rule of 18 procedure that says that arbitration has to be 19 asserted in the answer, but it does not provide 20 that with respect to any other contract defense.
21 Then the second situation is similar to the 22 first, but the rule also includes some but not 23 all other contract defenses. And the third
24 involves a situation where there isn't a state 25 rule on this issue at all, but if you look at

1 state case law, the state case law makes the 2 waiver of arbitration a lot easier than the 3 waiver of other contract defenses.

4 So are those contract -- are those 5 arbitration-specific rules or -- or not?

6 MS. GILBRIDE: I would say the first 7 and the -- the first and the third are 8 arbitration-specific because, as I understood, 9 the third rule is a judicial sort of consensus 10 in which arbitration waiver is treated
11 differently, is -- is a different standard or a 12 different test than waiver of other contractual 13 rights, and the first one would require an 14 arbitration defense to be stated in the answer, 15 setting it apart from all other defenses.

16 And so, if you look at Footnote 9 of 17 Perry v. Thomas, that says "state law, whether 18 of legislative or judicial origin" -- so that's 19 why your first and third would be treated the 20 same -- "is applicable if that law arose to 21 govern issues concerning the validity,
22 revocability, and enforceability of contracts
23 generally." Going -- continuing to quote, "A 24 state law principle that derives its meaning 25 precisely from the fact that a contract to 1 arbitrate is at issue does not comport with this 2 requirement of Section 2."

3 So I think the first and third rules 4 you described would be arbitration-specific.
5 The second, because some other contracts are 6 treated the way arbitration is treated, would be 7 a closer question, and I think, you know, the 8 state law should -- state court should have the 9 opportunity to look at that in the first 10 instance, but it might not be 11 arbitration-specific because other contracts are 12 treated similarly.

13 JUSTICE GORSUCH: Ms. Gilbride --

14 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Ms. --

15 JUSTICE GORSUCH: No, go ahead.

16 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Ms. Gilbride, I'm 17 a little confused by the answer you gave Justice
18 Kagan and Justice Alito. Justice Kagan limited 19 her question to say, if I believe Section 3 is 20 at issue, the "at fault," then tell me why you 21 win. I don't know how you win when you say that 22 federal law controls Section 3. Your entire 23 answer to her and your direct answer to Justice 24 Alito is, if you read Section 3 in light of 25 Section 4, federal law controls.

1 So how do we get from federal law to 2 state law? Your answer seemed to suggest to me
3 that you're saying federal law, common law. So 4 please get me out of this box that you put me 5 in.

6 MS. GILBRIDE: I -- I will try,
7 Justice Sotomayor.

8 So the first question is under state
9 law, particularly if, as here, a waiver defense 10 has been interposed by one of the parties.
11 That's a generally applicable contract defense.
12 It should be analyzed under state law.

13 If the party who wants to belatedly
14 arbitrate, even though they've acted
15 inconsistently in the past, they filed a motion 16 under Section 3, that has two inquiries. The 17 first is, is the agreement or is the issue
18 referable to arbitration under an agreement in 19 writing? That, again, I think, contains a state 20 law inquiry. How would you know if it's 21 referable to arbitration under an agreement in 22 writing, other than looking to state contract
23 principles, including waiver, if applicable?

24 But then the second question under 25 Section 3 is the one I was speaking with Justice

1 Kagan about, and that, I think, is a separate, 2 independent obligation that Congress placed on 3 the court reviewing a Section 3 stay
4 application. It doesn't matter if anyone's pled
5 waiver at all.

6 Is the applicant for the stay in 7 default in proceeding with the arbitration? And 8 if that is a statutory inquiry, if the type of 9 default Congress was talking about was taking 10 too long, being dilatory in proceeding with 11 arbitration, as inconsistent with the FAA's
12 intent of moving parties, as -- as this Court 13 said in Concepcion, to facilitate streamlined 14 procedures to getting into the arbitration
15 proceeding quickly --

16 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Excuse me for --

17 MS. GILBRIDE: -- then that should be 18 analyzed --

19 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: -- interrupting
20 you.

21 MS. GILBRIDE: -- under federal law.

22 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: I'm sorry for 23 interrupting you, but I still don't understand.
24 Are you suggesting there's a default under 25 Section 2 -- not -- that there's a waiver under

1 Section 2 that we look at first? If there's a 2 waiver, we enforce that? You're shaking your 3 head yes.

4 But, even if there's no state waiver,
5 we then look to Section 3 and make up a federal 6 waiver as well?

7 MS. GILBRIDE: That is exactly
8 correct, Justice Sotomayor, that if --

9 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: So, under 10 Section 3, the prejudice -- the prejudice that 11 the lower courts have developed as common law, 12 why doesn't that stand?

13 MS. GILBRIDE: Because nothing in the 14 text of Section 3 or in the purposes and 15 structure of the FAA connote a prejudice
16 requirement as part of any federal law standard.
17 If this Court wants to reach that question, all 18 this Court needs to do at the first step is say 19 this should have been decided under state law 20 because there was a waiver defense here.

21 Ms. Morgan argued waiver, but it was 22 analyzed incorrectly by the Eighth Circuit.

23 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Now some of my --

24 MS. GILBRIDE: It was analyzed as 25 federal.

1 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: -- colleagues seem 2 troubled by the fact that states differ in how 3 they define waiver. I'm troubled by the fact
4 that the circuits define prejudice in different 5 ways.

6 MS. GILBRIDE: Mm-hmm.

7 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: So there's 8 variation no matter what we do.

9 MS. GILBRIDE: Mm-hmm.

10 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Your brief has not
11 attacked the prejudice finding that the court 12 below did because you wanted cert on the legal 13 question. I understand that.

14 But can you tell us how -- if we 15 disagreed with you, how we could reach that 16 second question if we were so disposed?

17 MS. GILBRIDE: Well, I think --

18 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Because there is 19 wide variety in defining prejudice.

20 MS. GILBRIDE: Yes, and that is 21 certainly a problem, one of many problems, in 22 addition to the fact that it's atextual, with 23 the prejudice requirement that many federal 24 courts and some state courts require, is that 25 it's -- it's not uniform. They're all over the 1 place.

2 And -- and even in the Eighth Circuit,
3 you know, several years before this case,
4 another case, Messina versus North Central 5 Distributing, involving an eight-month delay and 6 a motion to transfer, very similar facts here, 7 came out the other way, and the court did find 8 prejudice. So it -- it's not a symmetrical or 9 uniform standard currently.

10 And what I would suggest that the 11 Court do, you know, is, again, remand for the 12 Eighth Circuit to apply the correct standard.
13 But, if the Court wants to -- to put content 14 into what Section 3's default provision means, 15 it shouldn't be a prejudice requirement.
16 There's no basis for that.

17 But, if you look at the structure of 18 the Act, there are reasons to think that 19 Congress wanted parties to proceed quickly. And 20 so a presumption that a party should raise their 21 defense of arbitration by the time they file 22 their first responsive pleading, by the time of 23 their answer, or to -- before their answer if 24 they file a motion, that would be presumptively 25 enough to get someone not to be in default in 1 proceeding.

2 That wouldn't preclude someone who had 3 exceptional circumstances, some change in the 4 law, some new facts that arose, to argue that to 5 the court, but it would be their burden to prove 6 they were not in default.

7 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Ms. Gilbride,
8 I just have one last question. It, I think,
9 gets to what you were talking about most 10 recently.

11 I -- I would say or suggest that the 12 one thing that your position will do is increase 13 the complexity and delay associated with 14 arbitration proceedings. We've -- you've added 15 a presumption to sort of help address that.

16 Certification was mentioned earlier,
17 which, in my experience, our experience, may 18 contribute to a great deal of -- a great deal of 19 delay.

20 And, of course, the whole point of the 21 Federal Arbitration Act or at least a
22 significant point was to expedite disputes. Yet 23 you're, it seems to me, creating a whole new 24 battleground before you even get to arbitration
25 about whether or not there's been -- been waiver

1 under state law.

2 And I wonder if the cost of that -- I
3 mean, if that's what the law requires, it 4 requires, but I -- but I think we should take 5 into account that that seems quite contrary to 6 the policy behind the FAA.

7 MS. GILBRIDE: I appreciate the 8 concern, but I would respectfully submit that 9 the status quo in which courts are requiring 10 prejudice actually increases delay and increases
11 the sort of skirmishing in court that, you know, 12 before anyone resorts to the arbitral forum, 13 that the FAA was designed to eliminate.

14 So, for example, the Fourth Circuit's
15 decision in MicroStrategy, Inc. versus Lauricia, 16 in that case, the employer had sued the 17 plaintiff or the employee two different times, 18 once in federal court, once in state court.
19 Discovery had been taken. The employer even 20 took the employee's deposition in -- in the 21 previous litigation.

22 And then, when the employee filed a
23 federal lawsuit asserting retaliation for her
24 activities at the EEOC, then the employer
25 invoked the arbitration agreement for the first

1 time, after having taken all this discovery, 2 filing over 50 motions in three previous 3 lawsuits. And the Fourth Circuit said, because 4 she couldn't prove that she was prejudiced, you 5 know, all of that litigation activity was not 6 enough to constitute waiver.

7 So -- so I don't think that the -- the 8 current state of affairs is -- is bringing the 9 quick resolution in arbitration that we -- we 10 agree is the FAA's intent.

11 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Justice
12 Breyer?

13 JUSTICE BREYER: I've just gotten 14 worried now because of the questions the Chief 15 Justice and -- and really Justice Alito asked.

16 You have a very logical framework. I
17 -- I have no doubt as to its logic and there's 18 lots to support it.

19 But what's worrying me is this is not 20 an esoteric situation, I don't think. I mean, 21 you had an arbitration agreement. So what you 22 decided to do is bring a lawsuit. And nobody 23 said anything further for quite a while.

24 And then finally the other side said:
25 Let's go to arbitration. And were they too

1 late? Now that kind of situation I bet arises
2 fairly frequently.

3 Okay. Now we're starting to create a
4 matrix of rules through your logic that is so 5 complicated that -- that -- that it's at least 6 hard for a layperson like me in this area to 7 understand, and -- and what's worrying me is 8 that my instinctive answer, which you'll tell me 9 is wrong if it's wrong, is it depends.

10 The first thing if I were a judge, I'd 11 sit there and I'd want to know how clear were 12 they if they got up and said I never want to go
13 to arbitration. Hey, I'm not going to be too 14 worried about prejudice. Look what they say.

15 On the other hand, if it's sort of a 16 vague thing, I might begin to think: Hey,
17 nobody's hurt. Make them go to arbitration.
18 Nobody's hurt by the contrary.

19 Or I might think: Hmm, they had good 20 reason for delaying. They thought you weren't 21 here rightly in the first place. There was 22 another suit you should have been in, not this 23 one. So it's hardly surprising they did this 24 first.

25 In other words, what I'm doing is

1 showing you, as you well know, that there are a
2 lot of different situations, a lot of different
3 reasons, and so, at this point, having thought 4 of that out of these questions and not wanting 5 to muck everything up, what do I do?

6 MS. GILBRIDE: What you should do,
7 Justice Breyer, is remand for this to be decided 8 under state law, because courts deal with these 9 questions. They're complicated, I agree with 10 you. It's fact-intensive, I agree with you.
11 But courts deal with fact-intensive, complicated
12 questions all the time.

13 I mean, some of the very things like 14 this Court said in First Options --

15 JUSTICE BREYER: Yeah, we'll send it
16 back to the Iowa state courts. Of course, the 17 person who knows about it is the judge in the 18 federal court because he's seen everything 19 that's gone on.

20 So now we send it to a new judge who 21 knows nothing about it. And -- and we used some 22 cases in Iowa that were done in other situations
23 that happened to use the word waiver. Well, 24 that is a possible answer. I'm not saying it
25 isn't. I'm making fun of it, but I'm not right

1 to make fun of it because it is a possible
2 answer.

3 MS. GILBRIDE: Well, I -- I don't 4 think it's any more complicated than questions 5 about, you know, who's bound by the contract or 6 whether a particular dispute falls within the 7 terms of the contract.

8 And -- and state courts and federal 9 courts applying state law answer those questions
10 even with -- within the parameters of the FAA
11 all the time without, you know, anything seeming 12 to have ground to a halt or -- or caused undue 13 chaos in the -- in the lower courts.

14 JUSTICE BREYER: Thank you.

15 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Justice Alito, 16 anything further?

17 Justice Sotomayor?

18 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Justice Breyer
19 referred to the trial court deciding this issue.
20 Did the trial court in this case find waiver?

21 MS. GILBRIDE: Yes.

22 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: It was the --

23 MS. GILBRIDE: The district court did 24 find --

25 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: -- it was the

1 circuit who reversed that finding?

2 MS. GILBRIDE: That's correct, Your 3 Honor.

4 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Thank you.

5 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Justice Kagan?

6 JUSTICE KAGAN: Ms. Gilbride, if Iowa
7 law requires a showing of prejudice before
8 finding waiver, you lose, is that correct?

9 MS. GILBRIDE: If Iowa finds prejudice
10 as a generally applicable matter --

11 JUSTICE KAGAN: Right.

12 MS. GILBRIDE: -- for all contracts, 13 yes.

14 JUSTICE KAGAN: Right.

15 MS. GILBRIDE: Then, under the equal
16 treatment principle, if arbitration is treated 17 the same as any other contract, including a 18 prejudice requirement, that would be consistent
19 with the FAA. We'd still have the Section 3 20 question that we discussed earlier.

21 JUSTICE KAGAN: And, similarly, if, as 22 a general matter, not arbitration-specific but 23 if, as a general matter, Iowa law allows a party 24 to cure their waiver, you also lose?

25 MS. GILBRIDE: If the circumstances

1 are -- are met for that here.

2 JUSTICE KAGAN: Yes.

3 MS. GILBRIDE: I mean, there's been a
4 lot of discussion about executory contracts and 5 -- and retraction and we talked about mutual 6 rescission, you know, by -- by consent.

7 But, if the Iowa court, applying
8 generally applicable contract rules, finds that 9 -- that there was a -- a retraction or a cure 10 here, as long as it's -- it's not 11 arbitration-specific, that would be the end of 12 the inquiry and we would then move to Section 2

14 JUSTICE KAGAN: Well --

15 MS. GILBRIDE: -- Section 3.

16 JUSTICE KAGAN: -- do you have a view
17 as to what Iowa law says about those issues? Do 18 they -- do they have a general rule about waiver 19 or about curing waiver that would apply here?

20 MS. GILBRIDE: Well, you know, there's 21 been some cases about executory contracts where 22 it's periodic performance that -- that Sundance 23 cited in their briefs, periodic performance when 24 you have an installment contract, you have to 25 make deliveries every month or every year, and,

1 if you accepted late payments in the past, you 2 can still insist on timely payments in the 3 future.

4 Our position is that this is not that 5 sort of a periodic performance situation. We're 6 talking about a one time a dispute arose and how 7 did the parties respond once that dispute arose?

8 We think the more appropriate way to 9 frame that under existing Iowa law is the O'Dell 10 case about rescission of the contract and 11 creation of a new contract by mutual consent.

12 Ms. Morgan chose to go to court, and 13 Sundance acquiesced in her choice by filing 14 dispositive motions and otherwise engaging in 15 the litigation process in court.

17 Gorsuch?

18 JUSTICE GORSUCH: Ms. Gilbride, I -- I
19 understand your argument that all arbitration 20 contracts are subject to state law defenses that 21 are generally applicable under Section 3.

22 But I also take Justice Alito's point
23 that's been echoed here that all the courts of 24 appeals have seemed to treat it as -- as not a 25 question of state law but of federal law.

1 And, for my money, I -- I can see why,
2 because Section 6 says that motions to arbitrate 3 are to be treated like any other motion in 4 federal court and are subject to the rules of 5 federal -- federal jurisdiction, federal courts.

6 And, as I read the cases, I see the 7 courts of appeals trying to apply usual 8 principles of -- of waiver or forfeiture that 9 this Court has announced for use in federal 10 proceedings.

11 So, while you might have a state law
12 defense, don't you also have a federal law 13 argument that -- and -- and couldn't we simply 14 say that part of federal law, to the extent it 15 includes waiver, doesn't generally require 16 prejudice? Under this Court's teachings, it's 17 usually just an intentional relinquishment of a 18 known right.

19 And I guess I'm curious why you didn't 20 pursue that argument, or maybe you have and I've 21 misunderstood today's proceedings, which have 22 seemed to have focused on Section 3.

23 Can you help me out?

24 MS. GILBRIDE: Sure. I can try,
25 Justice Gorsuch.

1 So this Court could take default under 2 Section 3 to be analogous to waiver.

3 JUSTICE GORSUCH: No. No, no, no, no,
4 no. That's not what I'm suggesting.

5 MS. GILBRIDE: Okay.

6 JUSTICE GORSUCH: What I'm suggesting
7 is why don't we just put that Section 3 question
8 aside. Yes, you may have state contract 9 defenses, whatever they may be. Lord only knows 10 what Iowa state law defenses are with respect to 11 -- I don't -- I don't know. I'm not an expert.

12 But one thing I do know is federal 13 procedure law, which is governed -- and seems to 14 control under Section 6, and it seems to be what 15 the Eighth Circuit was relying on, federal 16 procedure law. It seems to be what all the 17 other federal courts of appeals are relying on 18 too.

19 And I can say, I think with some 20 degree of certainty, that waiver, whatever else
21 it requires in federal court, our normal 22 procedure with respect to motions doesn't 23 require proof of prejudice. And to the extent
24 that that was the Eighth Circuit's 25 understanding, to the extent it was relying on

1 Section 6, not saying that's right, to the 2 extent it was talking about federal procedure, 3 which I think it was, we can say that that 4 doesn't exist with -- and reserving all of the 5 Section 3 questions and not having to address
6 them.

7 MS. GILBRIDE: I -- I understand your 8 question, and I understand your question is 9 about Section 6, but I do want to just quote
10 some language from Arthur Andersen that talks
11 about Section 3, and I think it is responsive.

12 Arthur Andersen said, in discussing
13 the interplay between Section 2 and Section 3, 14 Section 3 allows litigants already in federal 15 court to invoke agreements made enforceable by 16 Section 2. Neither Section 2 nor Section 3
17 purport to alter background principles of state 18 contract law. And then going on later in the 19 opinion, state law is applicable to determine 20 which contracts are binding under Section 2 --

21 JUSTICE GORSUCH: Okay.

22 MS. GILBRIDE: -- and enforceable
23 under Section 3. And Section 6 --

24 JUSTICE GORSUCH: Do you have anything
25 else you want to say about Section 6?

1 MS. GILBRIDE: Yeah. Section 6 is 2 just talking about the manner in which those 3 procedural provisions, motions under Section 3, 4 you can't -- you know, you don't bring a motion
5 under Section 2 unless you're arguing Section 2 6 in state court. You're -- you're using one of 7 those procedural provisions, what Rent-A-Center 8 called the procedural provisions for -- for 9 carrying out Section 2's substantive mandate.
10 And that's why the -- the substantive mandate is 11 applying state contract law.

12 Now I'm not saying there isn't a place 13 for looking at the federal rules. That could be 14 a gap filler. If you're trying to figure out 15 what default means under Section 3, looking at 16 rules like Rule 12(c) or 12(b)(3) for venue, for 17 example, could be a gap filler when we're trying 18 to figure out what default means.

19 But I do think you have to start with

21 JUSTICE GORSUCH: Very good. Thank --

22 MS. GILBRIDE: -- because that's the 23 substantive provision.

24 JUSTICE GORSUCH: -- thank you.

25 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Justice

1 Kavanaugh?

2 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: Ms. Gilbride, your 3 concern is the prejudice requirement, correct?

4 MS. GILBRIDE: Yes. It's an atextual
5 requirement that is arbitration-specific, and 6 courts are applying it, you know, out of a 7 misguided sense of what the FAA requires.

8 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: Okay. And then 9 focusing on the FAA, if I want to focus on 10 Section 3 rather than the state law approach, 11 the word "default," what is wrong with what the 12 D.C. Circuit did in the Zuckerman Spaeder
13 opinion? And what it said was, under Section 3, 14 that there should be a presumption of forfeiture 15 if you have not raised arbitration in the first 16 responsive pleading. And --

17 MS. GILBRIDE: I -- I think that is a
18 good model for this Court to look to. You know, 19 the D.C. Circuit did go on to talk about 20 prejudice later in that opinion, but the -- the 21 notion that there is a presumptive default if 22 the party does not include arbitration by the 23 time of its answer or in a pre-answer filing, I 24 think it's consistent with the rule we've 25 proposed here today.

1 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: Right. And then,
2 on prejudice, what I understood the D.C. Circuit 3 to say in that case was that the reason that 4 they said there's a presumption is because,
5 usually, if you haven't raised it in the first 6 responsive pleading, there will be prejudice to 7 the other side in the form of expenditures on 8 litigation or the discovery process will -- will 9 prejudice the other side to some extent. And 10 that's why I -- as I read that opinion, they 11 said it has to be raised in the first responsive 12 pleading.

13 And just to the point of simplicity,
14 I'm just wondering why that isn't an approach 15 that is consistent with your objective of 16 limiting, if not eliminating, the prejudice 17 while keeping it very simple in terms of it's 18 all under Section 3 default?

19 MS. GILBRIDE: Two responses to that,
20 Justice Kavanaugh.

21 First of all, to the extent that the 22 D.C. Circuit is looking at prejudice or -- or 23 sort of in dicta saying that if not asserted by 24 that point, prejudice would likely result, that 25 troubles me less than what most federal courts

1 are doing, which is requiring the party alleging
2 waiver to prove prejudice. And that is not 3 something that should be, you know, that -- at a 4 minimum, I would want this Court to clarify that 5 no one should have to prove prejudice as part of 6 a waiver finding.

7 And my second response would just be 8 that while I agree that as a -- as a federal 9 standard, pegged to Section 3, that -- that 10 raising it by the time of the first responsive 11 pleading is appropriate, I don't think the D.C.
12 Circuit is correct to step over the Section 2 13 part of the analysis of looking at this as a 14 contract question.

15 I mean, what happens if someone 16 doesn't file a motion under Section 3, they only 17 file under Section 4, or the case is in state 18 court? Relying exclusively on Section 3 is very 19 under-inclusive to the circumstances in which 20 these waiver issues arise.

21 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: Thank you.

22 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Justice
23 Barrett?

24 JUSTICE BARRETT: Ms. Gilbride, I have 25 a question about the bucket that we put this in.

1 Everybody's talking about waiver, but waiver is 2 used to mean a lot of different things. And it
3 seems to me like this case would be more 4 properly considered an estoppel or laches, that 5 they sat on their right too long or didn't 6 assert the defense soon enough, and prejudice 7 would be part of it under state law if we looked 8 at those other kinds of defenses like estoppel 9 and laches, would it not?

10 MS. GILBRIDE: Well, there are some 11 states that have merged the doctrines of waiver 12 and estoppel. For example, we -- we cite one in 13 Section -- in Footnote 11 of our opening brief.
14 New Mexico does that. Sundance also cites a 15 Vermont supreme court case that does that.

16 So, if a state treats waiver and 17 estoppel as -- as merged for generally 18 applicable contract defenses not in -- not 19 involving arbitration, then that would be -- you 20 know, that -- that's what the state does, and -- 21 and we would apply the same rules to an 22 arbitration agreement.

23 But the problem is that many states
24 have gone -- diverged, gone two separate ways.
25 They treat waiver and estoppel as distinct in

1 other contractual contexts not involving 2 arbitration, but, if it's an arbitration
3 agreement, they merge them together. And that's 4 what violates Section 2 of the FAA.

5 JUSTICE BARRETT: But you would lose
6 if it were estoppel, right, because doesn't Iowa 7 law require prejudice?

8 MS. GILBRIDE: Yes. Prejudice is 9 required under every state as far as I know for 10 estoppel. I think, you know, Ms. Morgan
11 certainly argued below that she was prejudiced 12 here. We haven't contested that in this -- 13 before this Court, but, certainly, it was -- was 14 briefed below that she was prejudiced. But she 15 did not argue estoppel specifically. She argued

17 JUSTICE BARRETT: Waiver.

18 MS. GILBRIDE: -- waiver, and she 19 should have the opportunity to argue waiver
20 again under generally applicable Iowa law.

21 JUSTICE BARRETT: Thank you.

22 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you,
23 Ms. Gilbride.

24 Mr. Clement.

25

1 ORAL ARGUMENT OF PAUL D. CLEMENT

2 ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENT

3 MR. CLEMENT: Mr. Chief Justice, and 4 may it please the Court:

5 Nothing in the FAA or state law
6 supports Petitioner's proposed rule that a 7 motion to stay litigation in favor of 8 agreed-upon arbitration must be filed as 9 expeditiously as possible or lost forever.

10 To the contrary, Section 3 of the FAA
11 directs that courts shall grant such motions in 12 the -- unless the stay applicant is in default.
13 Similarly, under all relevant state law
14 doctrines, one has to show prejudice before a 15 contractual right is lost because you litigated 16 or waited too long to assert it.

17 The most straightforward way to affirm 18 the decision below is to apply Section 3 and its 19 stay absent default direction. My client,
20 Sundance, moved for a motion under Section 3, 21 and it is not in violation of any contractual 22 deadline, any court rule, or any other legal 23 obligation.

24 The parties here agreed to arbitrate
25 instead of going to court. That agreement did

1 not put a deadline on a party asserting a right 2 to arbitrate if the other side broke the 3 promise, and it incorporated rules that warn 4 against a finding of waiver because of 5 litigation conduct.

6 In this circumstance, simply not 7 filing a motion as expeditiously as possible, 8 without violating a court rule or imposing 9 prejudice on the other side, does not result in 10 a default. And, under those circumstances,
11 Section 3 directs courts shall grant the motion.

12 Under state law, the same result would 13 follow. All state law doctrines require 14 prejudice in these circumstances. Courts are 15 use -- loose in the way that they go about using 16 the term "waiver," but the kind of strict, 17 no-prejudice form of waiver on which 18 Petitioner's whole argument depends is limited 19 to true waiver, the intentional relinquishment
20 of a known right.

21 That's not what is at issue here. And 22 what is at issue is simply not asserting a right 23 soon enough. That is the office of estoppel and 24 laches, which require prejudice. And even in 25 the case of a true waiver, you can retract in

1 the absence of prejudice.

2 I welcome the Court's questions.

3 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Well, I mean,
4 so you wait until, in a case that you lose, to 5 the denial of cert and say at that time no, wait
6 a minute, we're supposed to -- we have the right
7 to arbitrate and we want to go to arbitration.

8 Waiver plays no role in regard --
9 evaluating that situation at all?

10 MR. CLEMENT: Well, I -- I -- I think 11 that you -- there would be, in a sense, a waiver 12 under the court rules. I think the right way to 13 do it, if you're in federal court and applying 14 Section 3, is to say at that point you've 15 defaulted because it's clear you have to raise 16 arguments at the trial court. You can't wait 17 until appeal to raise arguments.

18 So you're in default of the legal 19 rules that require you to raise arguments in a 20 timely fashion.

21 But, as a general matter, in the 22 federal courts, if there's a motion that's not 23 subject to a specific deadline, how do courts 24 deal with that? If there's no specific 25 deadline, they generally -- if -- if the

1 opposition to the motion is, hey, you should 2 have filed that sooner, the courts will 3 generally look to considerations that include 4 whether there's prejudice to the other side.

5 And, in the absence of prejudice to 6 the other side and in the absence of a clear 7 deadline, they will allow you to make that 8 motion. That's certainly how motions to amend 9 Rule 15 work. It's how Rule 24 motions to 10 intervene work.

11 So there -- I -- I think the right way 12 to look at this is as a matter of federal law in 13 applying Section 3. And my friend wants to make 14 all of this an anterior inquiry into state law
15 under Section 2, and, with respect, I think 16 that's almost exactly backwards.

17 This is a case --

18 JUSTICE GORSUCH: But, Mr. Clement --
19 Mr. Clement --

20 MR. CLEMENT: Yeah.

21 JUSTICE GORSUCH: -- before you get 22 into that, though, and I welcome that, but you 23 said something I just want to -- I want to make 24 sure I understand. I think you said that in the 25 absence of a specific deadline in the federal

1 rules, courts require some prejudice before
2 denying somebody an opportunity.

3 Is that right? I mean, can't there be 4 waiver? I intentionally relinquish something of 5 a known right, no deadline, no prejudice
6 required there. You lose. That's it. Case
7 moves on. You lose that right to make that 8 motion.

9 MR. CLEMENT: I think, in cases of 10 true intentional relinquishment of a right, I 11 think --

12 JUSTICE GORSUCH: Right.

13 MR. CLEMENT: -- that's generally true
14 in the federal courts. I -- I --

15 JUSTICE GORSUCH: Okay. Okay. If 16 that's true -- if that's true in the federal 17 courts, then didn't the Eighth Circuit err by -- 18 you know, you're going to argue, and I -- I -- I 19 -- I grant you you've got a good argument that 20 there's no intentional relinquishment here, but,
21 to the extent that it was purporting to apply 22 doctrines of -- of -- of -- of -- of waiver, it 23 erred in its formulation of that rule, didn't 24 it?

25 MR. CLEMENT: I -- I don't think it

1 really erred. I think it did what every circuit
2 court in the country has done and this Court has 3 done on occasion, even since Kontrick against 4 Ryan and Justice Ginsburg tried to warn us about 5 being careful about forfeiture --

6 JUSTICE GORSUCH: Yep.

7 MR. CLEMENT: -- versus waiver. They 8 used the word "waiver" when they meant 9 forfeiture.

10 JUSTICE GORSUCH: Okay.

11 MR. CLEMENT: And --

12 JUSTICE GORSUCH: Fine. Fine.

13 Whatever they did, they didn't apply what we've 14 said waiver is. Waiver is an intentional
15 relinquishment of a known right, val none. No 16 more. Okay.

17 Why couldn't we just send it back and 18 say that? And you can make your argument that 19 there is no waiver here because there's no 20 intentional relinquishment. You can make your 21 argument that this should be analyzed as a
22 forfeiture. You can make all these Section 3
23 arguments about Iowa state law.

24 But why couldn't we just clarify, to 25 the extent that the Eighth Circuit was

1 purporting to interpret federal law, it was 2 wrong about what -- what -- what -- what's 3 required to show waiver, period?

4 MR. CLEMENT: Justice Gorsuch, if you
5 really got to that point, I would suggest you 6 probably should just dismiss the case as 7 improvidently granted because --

8 JUSTICE GORSUCH: Well, let's assume I 9 don't do that.

10 MR. CLEMENT: Okay. But -- but -- but 11 I really think you should, because the Eighth 12 Circuit wasn't saying this is absolutely waiver
13 and that's why we're applying this three-factor
14 test. They applied the three-factor test
15 presumably as -- if you go back in their case
16 law, as a -- as a gloss on the statutory phrase
17 "in default," and they said, as a general
18 matter, this is when it's too late to invoke 19 your right to arbitrate, and we have a 20 three-factor test, and the plaintiff in this 21 case fails under the third factor.

22 Importantly, they didn't even 23 definitively resolve the second factor, which is 24 the only thing that actually even goes to an 25 inconsistency that possibly could get to an

1 implied waiver.

2 And there's not a hint in the decision
3 that they thought they were talking about the 4 explicit waiver that your question alludes to.
5 So I really think --

6 JUSTICE BREYER: Well --

7 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: Mr. Clement -- can 8 I?

10 Breyer.

11 JUSTICE BREYER: While we're right on 12 this, I mean, I take it their -- I take it that 13 their point is this. Imagine a contract with 10
14 clauses, a state law contract. Clause 3 says I 15 will send you 10 shirts by October 1. Clause 10 16 is an arbitration clause.

17 Now a defendant wants to say or a 18 plaintiff they waived Clause 3. I don't have to 19 send them 10 shirts. They waived it. Okay?

20 And I think they're saying you could 21 say the same -- make the same argument about 22 Clause 10, the arbitration clause, too. It's no 23 longer in the contract. They waived it. That 24 would be a question of state law if it were 25 shirts. Why isn't it a question of state law

1 under Clause 10, which is the arbitration
2 clause? They want to make that argument first.

3 And that's what you were about to, I

6 JUSTICE BREYER: Okay.

7 MR. CLEMENT: Exactly.

8 JUSTICE BREYER: So why can't they do 9 that?

10 MR. CLEMENT: Because it actually gets 11 it backwards. That argument doesn't come first 12 because the arguments that come first under 13 Section 2 are arguments that go to the validity 14 of the arbitration clause or arguably whether 15 this dispute is within the scope of the --

16 JUSTICE BREYER: That's what it is.

17 MR. CLEMENT: No, it's not.

18 JUSTICE BREYER: It's the validity --
19 it's the waiving of the arbitration clause.

20 MR. CLEMENT: That --

21 JUSTICE BREYER: Clause 10 was waived,
22 and, therefore, there is no contract with Clause 23 10.

24 MR. CLEMENT: That issue does not go
25 to the formation of the contract. That kind of 1 timing issue -- and -- and, with all respect,

2 Justice Breyer --

3 JUSTICE BREYER: No, no, no, I don't 4 know.

5 MR. CLEMENT: -- you should know this 6 better than anyone --

7 JUSTICE BREYER: Yeah.

8 MR. CLEMENT: -- because your opinion
9 in Howsam against Dean Witter --

10 JUSTICE BREYER: Yeah.

11 MR. CLEMENT: -- says that those kind 12 of questions about waiver and timing and 13 estoppel and laches are questions for the 14 arbitrator as long as the arbitration clause 15 itself is not being called into question as 16 invalid.

17 And, to be clear, that is this case.
18 If you look at Petition Appendix page 21, the -- 19 the district court said that the parties "do not 20 dispute whether a valid arbitration agreement
21 exists and whether this particular dispute falls 22 within the terms of the agreement."

23 So, in those circumstances, Section 2
24 is not any longer an anterior inquiry. What you 25 do is you have a relatively streamlined inquiry

1 under Section 3 in federal court and you figure 2 out, did this party default? Did they waive in 3 the loose sense, which most circuits I think --

4 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: I --

5 JUSTICE KAGAN: But why is that --

6 MR. CLEMENT: -- equate directly with 7 prejudice.

8 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: Mr. Clement -- go
9 ahead.

10 JUSTICE KAGAN: Why is that a federal 11 question? I mean, even supposing we stick to 12 this question of are you in default, why
13 wouldn't we look to state law in that the same 14 way we look to state law with respect to many 15 other questions about the enforcement or 16 validity of particular contractual provisions?

17 MR. CLEMENT: Well, Justice Kagan,
18 there's two reasons I think it would be a 19 federal law question.

20 One, it's ultimately you're 21 interpreting the timeliness of a federal motion 22 under a federal statute in federal court. Seems 23 like a federal question to me.

24 The second reason, if I can just get 25 both out --

1 JUSTICE KAGAN: Well, but, I mean,
2 it's -- it's about whether a contract is valid 3 and enforceable, and that's a question that we 4 basically -- the FAA, you know, delegates to 5 state law.

6 MR. CLEMENT: With respect, I don't 7 think that's the right way to think about this 8 dispute. The arbitration agreement itself, as I 9 just read, was undisputed below. There's 10 nothing wrong with the arbitration agreement.

11 If Ms. Morgan brings a new suit
12 tomorrow based on something else that happened 13 during her brief employment, we can invoke the 14 arbitration agreement. The arbitration
15 agreement is valid. Nobody questions that.
16 That's the office, the principal office of 17 Section 3.

18 Then, in those circumstances, when you 19 don't have that kind of issue, and there is that 20 agreement, and one of the parties is saying I'd 21 like a stay of this litigation so we can go have 22 our agreed-upon arbitration, at that point, I 23 would think that you would want to have the 24 federal courts --

25 JUSTICE KAGAN: I mean, if you were --

1 if the question was instead whether you were in 2 default in the sense of whether you had violated
3 a particular contract provision, that would be a 4 question of state law, wouldn't it?

5 MR. CLEMENT: It would. And it would 6 be a question for the arbitrators. And the 7 reason that federal courts -- Judge Lynch has an 8 opinion that we cite in --

9 JUSTICE KAGAN: I mean, I guess I'm 10 wondering why it is that you would differentiate 11 between something where it's like are you in 12 default because you're in violation of a 13 contractual term or are you in default because 14 you've actually acted in a way that's completely 15 inconsistent with various contractual terms.

16 Like, those to me, I mean, they're 17 different, but they're not different that seems 18 as though it should matter with respect to what 19 the law is.

20 MR. CLEMENT: I -- I actually think 21 they're materially different in two dimensions.
22 One is an issue of federal law based on what 23 happened in federal court right before the 24 federal judges. The other is a state law
25 doctrine that you're importing from principles

1 of what would apply if, instead of a litigation
2 issue, this were an issue about widgets.

3 And I think Judge Lynch in the First
4 Circuit had a very thoughtful opinion. We cite 5 it when we go through all of the circuits that 6 have moored their decision to Section 3, and -- 7 and -- and she and other federal courts had 8 wrestled with this issue in the wake of Howsam
9 because, before Howsam, all the federal courts
10 had been doing these little prejudice/waiver
11 inquiries under Section 3 themselves, and since 12 Howsam says questions of waiver and estoppel and 13 timeliness are for the arbitrators, all the 14 federal courts stopped and thought, should we 15 still be doing what we're doing?

16 And they all uniformly decided, yes,
17 we should still do what we're doing because this 18 is a very specific question about whether the 19 litigation conduct that just happened in front 20 of us in federal court is essentially so 21 substantial that we're going to really think 22 estop the party from not -- from invoking their 23 arbitration rights at -- at a later stage in the 24 case.

25 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: Can I ask a --

1 keep going. Sorry.

2 MR. CLEMENT: No, no, and -- and --
3 and -- and -- but I think they recognize that 4 the only reason they get to make that decision
5 instead of the arbitrators is because it's a 6 federal question under Section 3 based on 7 litigation conduct that took place in front of 8 them.

9 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: So suppose I agree
10 with you that Section 3 and default is the right 11 place to focus our analysis, but then why not -- 12 what's your problem with the D.C. Circuit's 13 approach in the Zuckerman Spaeder case, which 14 said, well, there's a presumption of forfeiture
15 if you don't raise it by the first responsive 16 pleading and -- and I think makes the point that 17 delay alone is not prejudice, but delay is 18 rarely alone. Delay usually entails some cost 19 to the other side in terms of motions practice 20 or discovery.

21 What's -- what's wrong with that 22 approach?

23 MR. CLEMENT: Well, a couple of things
24 are wrong with that approach, Justice Kavanaugh.

25 First of all, it seems pretty unfair

1 to my client since that was -- I mean, you know,
2 there -- there are -- there's a federal rule 3 that says these are the things you have to raise 4 in your first responsive pleading, and this 5 isn't in it.

6 So I would say, if you want to write 7 an opinion in my client's favor and suggest to 8 the rules committee that they amend the rules to 9 give clear notice to parties, then I could live 10 with that.

11 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: But -- but what 12 about the reasoning by analogy? And I think I 13 know what your answer is going to be to this, 14 but we're trying to interpret under your 15 construct what the term "default" means in a 16 federal statute.

17 And by analogy, like venue objections, 18 for example, need to be raised by the first 19 responsive pleading, and even, I guess -- and 20 even if you say prejudice is required, I think 21 the insight of the D.C. Circuit's approach was 22 there usually is prejudice if it's not raised in 23 the first responsive pleading because of the 24 cost of participating in motions practice or 25 discovery.

1 MR. CLEMENT: Well, the -- the --

2 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: So there was a lot
3 there, but --

4 MR. CLEMENT: Yeah, there's a lot
5 there. Let me try to take it -- first of all, 6 the line most courts have drawn is not whether 7 it's in the responsive pleading, but the line 8 they've drawn is whether there's been 9 substantial discovery. That isn't the case 10 here.

11 I think that's a better line if you're 12 going to draw a presumptive line, and I think 13 that's true not just because it favors my client 14 but because that's the point at which you are 15 imposing costs on the other side that very well 16 might not have been incurred in arbitration, 17 where you -- one of the characteristics is you 18 don't have the same kind of extensive discovery.

19 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: Wouldn't motions
20 practice also be expensive?

21 MR. CLEMENT: I -- I don't think it's 22 as expensive, and the point of motions 23 practice -- this is where the other side has to 24 share some of the responsibility here. And I
25 think it's particularly evident in this case,

1 where they didn't just file a lawsuit; they 2 filed a lawsuit asking for a nationwide
3 collective action.

4 Now, if they had filed a bilateral
5 claim under the FLSA, I mean, I don't have a 6 time machine and I wasn't involved in the 7 litigation, but I bet, if they had filed a
8 in-court complaint bilaterally under the FLSA, 9 my client would have invoked the arbitration
10 clause immediately.

11 But they asked for a nationwide
12 collective action when there was already another 13 putative nationwide collective action out there.
14 Even if that one was limited to Michigan, this 15 complaint purported to be a nationwide 16 collective action that covered everybody in 17 Michigan.

18 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: Well, couldn't --

19 MR. CLEMENT: And so --

20 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: -- all of that be 21 resolved on remand? In other words, we set 22 forth a standard of Section 3, and you can 23 figure out exactly what happened in this case on 24 remand. You don't --

25 MR. CLEMENT: It -- it does seem kind

1 of --

2 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: I understand it's 3 not your preferred approach.

4 MR. CLEMENT: -- tough on my client
5 given the way I would read "in default" is that 6 you defaulted on some legal obligation based on 7 the rules as they exist.

8 JUSTICE BARRETT: But, Mr. Clement --

9 MR. CLEMENT: And the rules --

10 JUSTICE BARRETT: -- let me just 11 interrupt there for one second because Section 4 12 defines default as failure, neglect, or refusal 13 of another to arbitrate. So you're talking
14 about default in response to Justice Kavanaugh 15 as a breach. But why wouldn't we look to that 16 language, which doesn't require prejudice?

17 MR. CLEMENT: Well, I -- I think it
18 does -- actually would require prejudice. I 19 think you could have the same inquiry under 20 that. I mean, I think that -- that you would 21 still have to -- you'd still have some concept 22 of material failure or neglect, seems to me, to 23 have kind of a prejudice inquiry built in. But 24 even if you go back and look at the definition 25 of those terms, which I did, like neglect is --

1 in a legal context, is neglect of a legal duty.

2 And -- and I just think the question
3 here is what's the legal duty --

4 JUSTICE KAGAN: But it just seems --

5 MR. CLEMENT: -- that my client --

6 JUSTICE KAGAN: -- it just --

7 MR. CLEMENT: -- violated or is in 8 breach of.

9 JUSTICE KAGAN: -- it seems a bit made
10 up, Mr. Clement. I mean --

11 MR. CLEMENT: I'm sorry?

12 JUSTICE KAGAN: It seems a bit made
13 up, this definition of default that you have. I 14 mean, you say that there are certain things that 15 count as default, missing an explicit deadline 16 and -- and -- but, you know, where are we 17 getting this from? We're not getting it from 18 Section 4. We're not getting it from any other 19 part of the FAA.

20 Where does this federal common law
21 rule come from as to what counts as default?

22 MR. CLEMENT: I mean, Justice Kagan,
23 look, I'll -- I'll take the characterization 24 that it's federal common law, but I think of 25 federal common law when you're just making it

1 up. I mean, I think this is just a --

2 JUSTICE KAGAN: But it seems a little 3 bit just making it up because you're drawing a 4 line and what -- you're putting some things on 5 one side of the line, and then you're saying,
6 well, you don't default if you act
7 inconsistently with your contractual rights.

8 Well, I don't know. Maybe -- I bet
9 there are a bunch of states that say you do 10 default when you act inconsistently with your 11 contractual rights, regardless whether you've 12 missed an explicit deadline.

13 I mean, it just seems as though 14 default is a kind of complicated concept and -- 15 and you have one definition, and why should we 16 accept it? Where is it coming from?

17 MR. CLEMENT: It -- it's -- it's a 18 gloss on the statutory phrase "in default." And 19 I think everybody agrees "default" means you 20 violated a legal obligation, and --

21 JUSTICE BREYER: All right. Could -- 22 could -- could you do this? I mean, suppose 23 this came to us out of the rules instead of FAA.

24 MR. CLEMENT: Yeah.

25 JUSTICE BREYER: I mean, I would be

1 tempted, perhaps wrongly, but tempted to say the 2 following: They waited a long time, okay? Now 3 that might be too late for them now to ask.
4 Whether it is is, one, a question of whether 5 they clearly and -- clearly stated we waive it 6 or we don't want it or the equivalent.

7 But, if they haven't said that, then 8 you try to look to see how much prejudice are 9 there or other relevant circumstances. This is 10 primarily a matter for the trial judge to 11 decide. That's the one who should decide it.
12 And if our standard which I just said is too 13 vague, the rules committee can fix it up.

14 But, if I tried that in this case,
15 there is no rules committee to fix it up. So 16 what do I do?

17 MR. CLEMENT: Well, I -- I think the 18 way -- I mean, I don't really have much of a 19 disagreement with what you just said, other than 20 I think it's a mistake to try to be too
21 deferential to the trial court in this context.

22 JUSTICE BREYER: Yeah. The other
23 mistake is we create all kinds of rigid rules 24 that -- that apply well in some cases and 25 terribly in another.

1 MR. CLEMENT: I don't think there's 2 been a problem. The vast majority of the 3 circuits have done something relatively similar 4 to what you're saying. They basically say,
5 look, have you done something -- did you know
6 about the arbitration agreement? Step one.
7 Step two, did you do something inconsistent with 8 it? Now that's where your consideration of, if 9 you said I don't ever want to arbitrate, I hate 10 that stuff, okay, that's really inconsistent.

11 If here, as in here, all you did is 12 you waited a while and you filed a couple of 13 motions, that's either not inconsistent -- the 14 Eighth Circuit didn't even resolve that case 15 here -- issue here. But that's either not 16 inconsistent or it's certainly not inconsistent 17 in the way that you were talking about.

18 And then the third factor is, is the 19 other side, you know, materially prejudiced?

20 And that all to me makes sense. It's 21 been workable. The reason I don't think you 22 want to be too deferential to the lower court is 23 the one benefit of making this a federal 24 question is that, through appellate review and 25 maybe some case down the road where there's a

1 circuit split as to the meaning of prejudice, 2 this Court could provide some guidance to make 3 sure that the system is working. And to me --

4 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Mr. Clement, the 5 problem I have with your answer for Justice
6 Breyer is that the essence of the agreement here
7 is to not be in litigation.

8 Now you can argue the Petitioner, by 9 filing a claim in court, she herself has waived 10 it. So the fact that I waive it just evens out.
11 I understand that argument.

12 But the question becomes, did you know 13 that you had the right to arbitration? And,
14 here, you knew. Nevertheless, you didn't move 15 for arbitration in the answer as a defense. You 16 made a motion to transfer the case. When that 17 motion was denied, you indicated a willingness 18 to continue in litigation and went into 19 settlement talks, and, actually, there were 20 materials produced.

21 By its nature, there was a delay in 22 the speedy adjudication of the case because you 23 didn't move to begin with to go to arbitration, 24 so that's delay, something that was bought -- 25 negotiated for.

1 And the cost is the cost that Justice
2 Kavanaugh said, an unnecessary motion, an 3 unnecessary type of settlement agreement.
4 Arbitration settlement agreements rarely require 5 the production of materials. They just require 6 talking.

7 So having said all of that to you, the 8 reason you waited was because you wanted to see 9 how the court -- by your own admission, you 10 wanted to wait to see if the court was going to 11 approve of class actions in arbitration. So you 12 were taking a calculated risk by staying in 13 litigation.

14 Why isn't that a waiver under 15 Section 6? Why isn't that a waiver under any 16 normal definition? It prejudiced the other
17 side. It hurt them at least financially. It 18 hurt them in delay. And you intentionally sat 19 on your rights waiting to see if you could 20 derive a benefit.

21 MR. CLEMENT: So there's a lot in 22 there.

23 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: So explain to -- 24 unpackage it, but --

25 MR. CLEMENT: Yeah.

1 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: -- tell me why is 2 that not a waiver as an intentional right of -- 3 an intentional relinquishment of a known right?

4 MR. CLEMENT: So, Justice Sotomayor,
5 first, I -- I don't think you get a lot out of 6 the idea that it was intentional, I mean, 7 because -- here's why: There are a lot of 8 situations, I mean, if, for example, my client 9 had thought that there was a personal 10 jurisdiction problem with this lawsuit, they 11 would have been obligated under the rules to 12 make that their first motion out of the box.

13 Now they would have intentionally been 14 doing that because they would have been saying 15 this isn't the right court for this litigation.

16 And, oh, by the way, Justice
17 Kavanaugh, all of the things in the federal 18 rules that say you have to put this in the first 19 responsive pleading are really going to the idea 20 that this is just not the right federal court 21 for this to be in.

22 And -- and so it's not just transfer
23 of -- of venue that's in there. It's improper 24 venue. So you've filed -- you've filed this 25 lawsuit in the wrong place. That's not this

1 case.

2 But getting back to the rest of the 3 answer, I think what the parties bargained for 4 here was not just arbitration but bilateral 5 arbitration. And when the other side decides 6 not just to violate the arbitration agreement 7 but to seek a nationwide collective action, I 8 think my client is perfectly within its rights, 9 and it's what I would advise my client to do
10 under the circumstances, is don't make a motion 11 to compel arbitration because you might get a 12 motion to compel nationwide collective 13 arbitration, and pretty much every defendant on 14 the planet agrees that's the worst of both 15 worlds.

16 So you wait. And then, once it's 17 clear that silence and ambiguity, which, by the 18 way, are about the same thing, can't cause you 19 to end up --

20 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Mr. Clement, you
21 could have raised it -- you could have raised it 22 in your motion to compel arbitration, as did the 23 attorneys who came before us whose case you were 24 waiting on. They made a motion to compel 25 bilateral arbitration, and when the district

1 court ordered class-wide arbitration, they 2 brought it up to the Supreme Court.

3 You could have followed the same
4 protective measures.

5 MR. CLEMENT: I -- I -- I suppose we 6 could have, and with the benefit of that 7 additional advice, maybe that's what I'd tell my 8 clients to do.

9 But I'd still say, okay, at worst, we 10 failed to make a motion. At worst, we're in the 11 realm of forfeiture, and we still have the 12 ability to make this motion under Section 3.

13 And, generally speaking, in the 14 absence of absolute total waiver, which this 15 case doesn't involve, if you make a motion in 16 federal court that's not subject to a deadline, 17 then what the courts do is say: Well, was the 18 other side prejudiced? No. Okay. We're going 19 to hear this motion. And if I --

20 JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR: Thank you,
21 counsel.

22 MR. CLEMENT: If -- if -- if I could 23 add sort of one piece to this in terms of kind 24 of explaining how all this fits together, I 25 think the design of Section 3 is to keep this

1 inquiry relatively simple, and in -- in a case 2 where it's a valid arbitration agreement and 3 it's an employment dispute within the bounds of 4 that agreement, if there is an arbitration
5 agreement, get it out of federal court quickly
6 and have a narrow inquiry based on what happened 7 in federal court. And then, if there isn't the 8 kind of prejudice that would cause those courts 9 to deny other motions as untimely, then, at that 10 point, send it to the arbitrators.

11 The other side can still raise these 12 contract theories that, if this were a contract 13 for widgets, you would have waived it or 14 estopped or you're too late. They could still 15 waive those arguments in front of the 16 arbitrator, which is where all of these 17 complicated issues of Iowa law ought to be if 18 they're not going to be in Iowa court. And, of 19 course, the parties agreed to arbitrate, so they 20 should be before the arbitrators.

21 One other point about your --

22 JUSTICE KAGAN: But, Mr. Clement, if I
23 could just -- get it out of federal court
24 quickly you said. But the way the system is now
25 working, and I want to abstract a little bit

1 from the facts of this case, I realize you have 2 this class bilateral issue going on, but put 3 that aside.

4 Irrespective of that, what's happening
5 here is that courts are saying you need to have 6 prejudice in order to waive, and then they're 7 saying there's no prejudice simply from motions 8 practice. You know, you have to get into 9 discovery to have prejudice.

10 And what that leads to is why wouldn't 11 anybody test the waters in federal court and see 12 if they can get the -- the case dismissed and 13 only if they can't say, okay, now I'm going to 14 rely on my arbitration agreement and let's go to 15 arbitration.

16 So it's like two bites at the apple.
17 There's no incentive for anybody to go to 18 arbitration fast, or there's no incentive for 19 the defendant. The defendant says, I have, 20 like, this free pass to litigate for a while and 21 then only then go to arbitration.

22 MR. CLEMENT: So, with respect,
23 Justice Kagan, I don't think it's a free pass
24 because courts -- I mean, the prejudice inquiry 25 is not so clear that you know you're going to

1 get a free pass. And, even if you do, there's 2 still the possibility the other side could say:
3 That's still a waiver under state law and an 4 issue for the arbitrator.

5 So, if you're advising clients, I
6 think what you would probably say is there's a 7 difference between motions practice that goes to 8 the merits and motions practice that doesn't.

9 But, even then, I really would draw 10 the line at discovery because sometimes you have 11 a situation where you've got to file a motion to 12 dismiss and you have some merits arguments, you 13 have some jurisdictional arguments, you're 14 allowed to put both in there.

15 And also keep in mind there's -- 16 there's a wide range of cases that can be quite 17 complicated. I mean, this case is -- but for 18 the collective action piece is relatively 19 straightforward, but sometimes you have these 20 issues like under Arthur Andersen where you've 21 got to figure out whether there's a non -- you 22 know, there's a party to the litigation who's 23 not a party to the arbitration, and how does all 24 of that fit out, and how does that sort out in 25 terms of when you should make these various

1 motions.

2 And so I do think the line that the 3 lower courts have been dealing with this have 4 drawn is the line about discovery. And even 5 there, I think the real difference is whether 6 you're taking depositions because you probably 7 couldn't get those in arbitration.

8 But one last thing as to Justice
9 Kavanaugh's point, because part of the problem 10 that just all of a sudden make it kind of 11 retroactively this arbitration motion as part of 12 12(h)(1) and you've got to -- I mean, the way I 13 would look at that is those motions that you 14 have to raise in your first pleading, they all 15 go to the court's jurisdiction, so it's 16 sensible.

17 But to take something that doesn't go 18 to that court's jurisdiction and put it in 19 there, I would describe that loosely as 20 disfavoring arbitration, and I don't think 21 that's what you're supposed to do in 22 interpreting the -- the -- the FAA.

23 And I do think, in getting the 24 incentives right here, you can't ignore the 25 incentives of the party that first defaults,

1 that first violates the arbitration agreement.
2 I mean, if you -- if you err entirely on saying,
3 boy, that defendant, they have to raise that 4 thing in their very first pleading, that is 5 going to make more parties who are plaintiffs 6 say: Well, you know, the defendants are kind of 7 in a box because I've been thinking about this 8 litigation for six months. I've picked my 9 lawyer. I've refined my theory. I've not only 10 picked the district, I've picked, like, the 11 division within the district. I've done all of 12 that thinking for six months. And even though I 13 agreed to arbitrate, boom, I'm going to hit the 14 defendant with a lawsuit.

15 And then the defendant, who thought he 16 had an arbitration agreement and also thought, 17 as in this case, that there was a pre-filing 18 notification requirement in the agreement, is 19 getting hit with this lawsuit out of the blue.

20 They have to find a lawyer that they 21 didn't know they needed to get. Maybe get local 22 counsel as well. Figure out what's going on in 23 the case. Figure out whether there are other 24 additional parties to the case who aren't 25 parties to the arbitration agreement. They've

1 got to figure all that out.

2 I don't know why, if you're trying to 3 get the incentives right in a statute that's 4 pro-arbitration, that you would put that 5 defendant on what amounts to an invisible clock, 6 because it's not in 12(h)(1) now, and say: All 7 right, you've got to -- you've got to bring it 8 in that first pleading or you're out of luck.

9 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you,
10 counsel.

11 Justice Breyer, anything further?

12 Justice Alito?

13 Justice Sotomayor?

14 Justice Kagan?

15 Justice Gorsuch, anything further?

16 Justice Kavanaugh?

17 JUSTICE KAVANAUGH: Just one thing.
18 You in your briefs rely on Rule 15 as the proper 19 analogy, and I just wanted to give you an 20 opportunity to explain how you think that works 21 and applies here.

22 In other words, an amended -- amended
23 responsive pleading, and Rule 15 allows that 24 under a very vague standard, but you say 25 prejudice is part of that standard. I just

1 wanted you to elaborate on that.

2 MR. CLEMENT: Sure, Justice Kavanaugh.
3 I appreciate the opportunity. I -- I think we 4 sort of rely on Rule 15 by analogy. I actually 5 don't think the law in the circuits is that in 6 order to file a motion under Section 3 you have 7 to have arbitration as a defense in the answer.

8 So I think, in most cases, they kind
9 of collapse that inquiry. But even if you
10 thought that was required, and this is why I 11 think the difference between arbitration, which 12 isn't a 12(h)(1) must raise defense, and other 13 defenses is important, is you could think about 14 this, okay, let's say we had to add it in the 15 answer as a preliminary step to filing this 16 motion.

17 We're past the point where we get to 18 amend as of right, but this is one of the many 19 things in the federal rules where you have, 20 like, an ability to make a motion, but there's 21 no strict deadline.

22 And so the way the courts would figure 23 out whether it's too late to amend your 24 complaint to add arbitration would be to 25 essentially say, well, the presumption is leave

1 is freely granted, but we withhold it in certain 2 circumstances and we look to prejudice.

3 In fact, cases like Forman, which we 4 cite in our brief, say that prejudice is more or 5 less the -- the most important factor.
6 Similarly, in sort of Kontrick against Ryan,
7 it's another case where this Court was dealing 8 with forfeiture issues and kind of talked about 9 the same principle.

10 Prejudice is an important part of that 11 inquiry. That's why it seems anomalous to say 12 that in this situation we would discharge the 13 prejudice inquiry altogether.

14 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Justice
15 Barrett?

16 JUSTICE BARRETT: One quick question.
17 So let's say that we agree with you. This is a 18 Section 3 question. It's a matter of federal 19 common law. Would you agree that it's not 20 really a question of waiver, so insofar as the 21 courts of appeals have classified it as waiver, 22 that really ought to be considered a kind of 23 estoppel or laches, and so, as a matter of 24 federal common law, we should clarify that?

25 MR. CLEMENT: I -- I -- I think that

1 would actually be helpful. I would, you know, 2 because -- because really, if you look at these 3 cases, virtually all of them do not involve the 4 situation that Justice Gorsuch hypothesized of 5 somebody coming in and saying I never want to 6 litigate, I -- I mean I never want to arbitrate, 7 I just want to litigate, and then coming in the 8 next day and trying to retract it.

9 Almost all these cases involve the 10 argument that the other side waited or litigated 11 too long, and that really is thought of as an 12 issue of laches or estoppel.

13 I guess the only hesitation I would 14 say, though, is at the same time that you 15 clarified that, I would also say but it's not -- 16 it's not an issue of state law, so you don't 17 have to -- like, if Iowa has a really funky law
18 of laches or estoppel, you don't have to go 19 apply that. You just have to apply federal law.
20 The federal common law would recognize that this 21 is really more like an issue of laches or 22 estoppel and, therefore, wouldn't have prejudice
23 as an important part of the inquiry.

24 JUSTICE BARRETT: But, if you did 25 something like filing a counterclaim, that might

1 be waiver, intentional relinquishment? You've 2 submitted your own dispute in an offensive way
3 to the district court?

4 MR. CLEMENT: I -- I would hesitate to 5 say that in this opinion because, like, for 6 example, what if I raised arbitration as a 7 defense, raised a mandatory counterclaim as 8 well, and then the next day asked for 9 arbitration? That doesn't seem like a waiver.

10 And I don't think -- you know, you can 11 think about this as -- like, it's not exactly 12 like an Eleventh Amendment case where the whole 13 point is that a state has a right not to be in 14 federal court against its will. So, if it files 15 a counterclaim or removes to federal court, 16 well, then boom, a trap door opens.

17 I don't think this is quite the same
18 thing. I think it needs to be a little more 19 flexible in that, precisely because of the 20 circumstance I hypothesized, where I have -- you 21 know, I -- I got to file -- I got to file an 22 answer, I've got a mandatory counterclaim, but I 23 also in the next breath am saying this should be 24 arbitrated.

1 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you,
2 counsel.

3 Rebuttal, Ms. Gilbride.

4 REBUTTAL ARGUMENT OF KARLA A. GILBRIDE
5 ON BEHALF OF THE PETITIONER

6 MS. GILBRIDE: Just a few points in 7 rebuttal.

8 There's no place for a prejudice
9 requirement. Even if this Court does analyze 10 the question under Section 3, if you look at the 11 structure of the FAA, over and over again you 12 see indications that things should be done in a 13 summary manner. The word "summarily" appears 14 twice in Section 4, summarily to the trial, that 15 the judge shall summarily send the parties to 16 arbitration.

17 Section 16, the fact that you have an 18 interlocutory appeal if there's a refusal of a 19 request for a stay or a denial of a motion to 20 compel but not if it's granted or if the stay is 21 -- so -- so, basically, the idea, as this Court
22 said in Prima Paint, is that once the parties 23 select arbitration, it must be speedy and not 24 subject to delay and obstruction in the courts.

25 The current status quo that requires

1 prejudice and requires the party asserting 2 waiver to show prejudice relay -- results in 3 delay and obstruction in the courts over and 4 over again.

5 And Sundance, my friend here, wants 6 the standard to be substantial participation in 7 discovery. The Second Circuit in Rush v.
8 Oppenheimer talks about participation in 9 discovery and says the -- the party asserting 10 waiver has to show that the particular 11 information the other party sought and obtained
12 could not have been obtained in arbitration. So 13 they have to go and -- go piece of information
14 by piece of information and say could the party 15 have gotten that same information in 16 arbitration. And that's all taking place in the 17 courts before anyone goes to arbitration in the 18 first place. Pre-arbitration skirmishing.

19 Motions practice was discussed.
20 Another case applying the prejudice standard is 21 the Third Circuit in Wood v. Prudential
22 Insurance Company, cited in the states' amicus 23 brief, talks about a motion to dismiss was 24 filed, the case was partially dismissed, and the 25 party asserted waiver. The district court said,

1 well, we don't know that the arbitrator wouldn't 2 have decided that motion to dismiss differently, 3 so you can't prove that you were prejudiced by 4 the court deciding it in the first instance.
5 So, therefore, license for -- for parties to 6 seek two bites at the apple, exactly the problem 7 that, Justice Kagan, you were describing.

8 So you asked, Justice Kagan, where 9 does this prejudice inquiry come from because 10 it's not anywhere in the text. Where the courts 11 got it from, if you look through the way this -- 12 this doctrine developed, was this idea of the 13 liberal federal policy favoring arbitration, 14 because, if you look at the early cases, the 15 Radiator Specialties case in 1938 applying 16 Section 3, it just talks about the party being 17 dilatory and that Congress did not intend for a 18 Section 3 applicant to be dilatory. Unilateral, 19 no discussion of prejudice.

20 Where prejudice came in, starting with 21 the Carcich case in the Second Circuit and then 22 the Calorina -- Carolina Throwing case in the 23 Fourth Circuit, was this idea that because 24 arbitration is involved and there's a liberal 25 federal policy favoring arbitration, we need to

1 raise the bar. We need to make it harder to 2 waive arbitration than other contractual rights.

3 But this Court has repeatedly said in 4 Hall Street Associates versus Mattel and in 5 Granite Rock versus International Brotherhood of 6 Teamsters that the liberal federal policy 7 favoring arbitration is just another way of 8 codifying Section 2's equal treatment principle,
9 that because Congress was reacting to a -- to a 10 situation where courts were hostile to 11 arbitration, treating arbitration clauses like 12 any other contracts meant removing that 13 hostility, and that was the pro-arbitration
14 policy codified in the statute.

15 And so that brings us back to 16 Section 2, where we started, that, as this Court 17 has clarified, contract defenses need to be 18 generally applicable. This is not a generally 19 applicable contract defense that the courts are 20 -- are applying.

21 And that violates the centerpiece of 22 the FAA, which this Court has found in Section 2 23 dating back to Scherk versus Alberto Company in 24 1974 and reiterated in the GE Energy Power case 25 in 2020, that is codified in Section 2. And

1 it's not just about preemption. It's not just 2 about the saving clause. It is the centerpiece
3 of the FAA that contracts to arbitrate will be 4 treated like any other contract and, as this 5 Court said in Prima Paint, are -- that 6 Congress's intent in enacting the -- the FAA in 7 1925 was to make arbitration agreements as 8 enforceable as other contracts but not more so.

9 The Eighth Circuit applied an 10 arbitration-specific waiver doctrine at odds 11 with generally applicable Iowa contract law, and 12 that necessitates remand for the proper inquiry, 13 which, whether it's under state law, federal 14 law, or both, should not involve a prejudice 15 requirement.

16 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you,
17 counsel. The case is submitted.

18 (Whereupon, at 11:25 a.m., the case 19 was submitted.)
