REPORT OF THE SPECIAL MASTER

In this delayed action, the Special Master makes his report in accordance with the Order entered by the Supreme Court of the United States December 6, 1976. The delay in submitting a report is due primarily to the undertaking of substantial discovery by all the parties to the action. Additionally, each of the three attempts by the Master to schedule a hearing on the merits was met with an attempt by the parties to reach a settlement on the issue as to the present and future boundary between the States of South Dakota and Nebraska.

All of the parties have now entered into a stipulation of agreed facts and procedures for settlement of present and future disputes and for the dismissal of this action. The Special Master, therefore, makes this Report to the Court with recommendation. The Stipulation is attached hereto and made a part of this Report by reference.

With the permission of the Court, the plaintiff, State of South Dakota, filed its complaint 1975 No. 72, Original, on October 4, 1976. On October 29, 1976, the defendant, State of Nebraska, filed its answer.

On November 22, 1976, Robert J. Foley, Phyllis K. Foley, and Otto Isaak filed a Motion for Leave to Intervene as defendants. By Order of the Supreme Court, an intervention was permitted to be filed on June 20, 1977. By Order filed December 22, 1977, there was a substitution of Helen Isaak as Executrix for the Estate of Otto Isaak.

The Special Master, by Order entered June 23, 1978, permitted an Amendment to the Complaint in Intervention filed by Intervenors. The Amendment states a claim of interest relating to the property which is the subject of this No. 72, Original litigation.

The primary dispute between the States of South Dakota and Nebraska, and the Intervenors pertains to property known as Rush Island. The State of South Dakota claims this property is within its boundaries. Its claim of title to the property appears to involve the division of school and public lands under the Constitution and statutes of the State of South Dakota. The State of Nebraska claims this property is within its boundaries.

In the Amended Complaint in Intervention, the Intervenors state the boundary between Cedar County, Nebraska and Yankton County, South Dakota was established as the middle of the channel of the Missouri River. They cite 13 U.S. Stat. at Large 47 (Passed April 19, 1864) as support for their contention. Intervenors claim the described real estate in which they contend an interest is within the boundary and borders of the State of Nebraska.

The parties have had substantial discovery. They have benefited from depositions, interrogatories, the various pleadings, exhibits, and obviously, discussions among themselves. A Stipulation for Dismissal of the action was filed with the Master on September 24, 1981.

Also on September 24, 1981, a motion was filed with the Master to dismiss the action. This was based on stipulation signed by all the parties and an agreement of settlement terminating the dispute through agreement and compromise. The parties agreed to submit any future boundary disputes between the State of South Dakota and the State of Nebraska with respect to the particular lands involved (namely Rush Island) to a Joint State Boundary Commission.

The parties had submitted proposals for the purpose of an agreed judgment, but objections were noted on each proposal. Upon receipt of a Motion to Dismiss, together with Stipulation for Dismissal, the Master prepared and submitted a Proposed Judgment of Dismissal to all parties. This Judgment of Dismissal is satisfactory to and has been signed by all parties to this action.

Pursuant to Rule 9 of the Supreme Court Rules and Rule 53 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Special Master submits a Judgment of Dismissal, which is based on the Stipulation for Dismissal and the Motion to Dismiss referred to herein.

Paragraph 5 of the Judgment of Dismissal provides: "That the Bill of Complaint filed by the State of South Dakota against the State of Nebraska initiating this action be and the same is hereby dismissed without prejudice, each party bearing its own costs."

The Special Master appointed by this Court recommends to the Court that this Report be accepted and this action be dismissed as agreed to by all parties.

Submitted this 22nd day of February, 1982.

JUDGMENT OF DISMISSAL

This matter comes on before this Court by the Joint Motion to Dismiss and Stipulation for Dismissal by each of the parties hereto: the State of South Dakota, by and through its Attorney General, Mark Meierhenry; the State of Nebraska, by and through its Attorney General, Paul L. Douglas; the Intervenors, by and through themselves and their attorney, Everett A. Bogue; requesting the Court to dismiss the action based upon the agreements in the Stipulation of Dismissal.

IT IS THE FINDING OF THIS COURT THAT:

1. The parties have concluded that it is in the best interests of each of them to avoid litigation and multiple exercises of sovereignty and jurisdiction, encourage the optimum beneficial use of the river, its facilities and its waters, and remove all causes of controversy between said parties with respect to the location of the boundary between the states, and therefore, to settle and to terminate this dispute by agreement and compromise to the end of securing dismissal of this action, and submission of the boundary between the State of South Dakota and the State of Nebraska with respect to Rush Island in the future to a Joint State Boundary Commission.

2. In the furtherance of the best interests of each of the parties it is recognized that the land known as "Elk/Rush Island" subject of this lawsuit, is now, and has been, within the boundary of the State of Nebraska and subject to its jurisdiction.

3. The bill of complaint filed by the State of South Dakota in May 1976, initiating this action, should be dismissed without prejudice, each party bearing its own costs.

4. The State of South Dakota has agreed to cede to the Intervenor any right or title it may have in the subject property known as "Elk/Rush Island", more fully described in Appendix A attached to the Stipulation of Dismissal; and the State of South Dakota specifically recognizes the Judgment of the District Court of Cedar County, Nebraska, dated November 7, 1958, which quieted title to the above identified land in Clyde Gill and others, predecessors of the Intervenor, which action can be found in the records of Cedar County District Court of Nebraska, Case No. 5628, Docket 24, Page 13.

5. The State of South Dakota has further agreed to dismiss an action to quiet title filed in the Circuit Court of Yankton, South Dakota, regarding this subject property.

6. The States of Nebraska and South Dakota have agreed to submit the determination of the future boundary changes with regard to "Elk/Rush Island" but not to the title to the premises therein, to a Joint State Boundary Commission appointed by the elected officials of these respective states for the Commission's determination forth.

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED that pursuant to the above Stipulations and Findings:

(1) That the land known as "Elk/Rush Island" the subject of this litigation be and the same is within the boundary of the State of Nebraska and subject to its jurisdiction;

(2) That the State of South Dakota hereby cedes to the Intervenor any right or title it may have in the subject property known as "Elk/Rush Island" as more fully described in Appendix A, attached hereto;

(3) That the States of Nebraska and South Dakota will submit the determination of the future boundary changes, if any, with regard to "Elk/Rush Island" but not to the title to the premises thereto, to a Joint State Boundary Commission appointed by the elected officials of these respective states for the Commission's determination from the date of that determination forth;

(4) That the State of South Dakota and the State of Nebraska will proceed to effectuate any and all other requirements agreed to in the Stipulation to the extent that conditions and circumstances permit; and

(5) That the Bill of Complaint filed by the State of South Dakota against the State of Nebraska initiating this action be and the same is, hereby, dismissed without prejudice, each party bearing its own costs.
