1. Admits the allegations contained in paragraphs 1, 2, 3 and 4 of the said complaint.

2. Admits so much of paragraph 5 of the complaint as alleges that New York is asserting claims adverse to those of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania but avers that it is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief that the other states named as defendants are the only states asserting rights contrary to the claims of Pennsylvania.

4. Admits the allegations of paragraphs 7 and 8 of the complaint.

9. Is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the allegations contained in paragraphs 18, 19 and 20. Proof of such averments is demanded.

11. Admits the allegations of paragraphs 22 and 23.

12. Is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the claims and controversies set forth in paragraphs 24, 25 and 26.

Denies so much of paragraph 27 as alleges that under the New York Abandoned Property Law, section 1309, New York claims all moneys arising from money orders purchased from Western Union between January 1, 1930 to January 1, 1958 solely by reason of the purchase of the money orders during such period and avers that New York, as the state of corporate domicile of Western Union, the state of central focus of management of Western Union and the situs of the office of the corporate comptroller and the treasurer to whom all surplus funds of the Western Union offices throughout the country are ultimately remitted is entitled to take this abandoned property. For further answer, paragraph 16 hereof, in answer to paragraphs 30, 31 and 32 of the complaint, is herein incorporated by reference.

14. Admits the allegations in paragraph 27 respecting New York's claims to money orders purchased from Western Union on or after January 1, 1958 and denies that Pennsylvania or any state other than New York has any right to any money order moneys where it is not feasible to determine the state of last known address of the creditor or the identity of the creditor from the books of Western Union.
