2 CHIEF JUSTICE BURGER: We'll hear arguments
3 next in Perry Education Association against Perry Local 4 Association.

5 Mr. Chanin, I think you may proceed whenever 6 you're ready now.

7 ORAL ARGUMENT OF ROBERT H. CHANIN, Esq.

8 ON BEHALF OF APPELLANT, PERRY EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

9 MR. BALL: Mr. Chief Justice, and may it
10 please the Court:

11 This case arises in a Washington school
12 district in Indiana. Indiana has enacted a statute 13 governing the labor relations of its public school 14 teachers. Like the National Labor Relations Act and the 15 public sector labor relations statutes in other states, 16 it adopts the principle of exclusive recognition.

17 Under that principle, the union selected by 18 the majority of teachers in an appropriate bargaining 19 unit is authorized and indeed obligated to represent all 20 teachers in that unit, whether they are members of the 21 union or not, in dealing with the school district.

22 In 1977 an election was held in the Perry
23 Township school district to select an exclusive 24 representative for the teachers. The competing 25 organizations in that election were the Appellant, PEA,

1 and the Appellee, PLEA. During the election campaign 2 itself, both organizations were treated equally and they 3 were accorded the same opportunity to sell their 4 programs, their activities, and their ideas to the 5 voting teachers.

6 The teachers voted and chose PEA as the 7 exclusive representative. PEA subsequently entered into 8 a collective bargaining agreement with the school
9 district. Among other things, the agreement gave PEA 10 access to the individual teacher mailboxes, which are 11 name slots which appear in each school building, and to 12 the inter-school mail system, which is a courier service 13 by means of which the district delivers material from 14 school building to school building.

15 The collective bargaining agreement expressly 16 stated that these rights are given to PEA -- and this is 17 the quote from the agreement -- "acting as the 18 representative of the teachers." And that article went 19 on to deny to other employee organizations, including 20 PLEA, access to those school mail facilities.

21 The PLEA and two of its members challenged
22 this access restriction as violative of the First 23 Amendment and the equal protection clause of the 24 Fourteenth Amendment. The district court granted
25 summary judgment for Defendants, but the Seventh Circuit

1 Court of Appeals reversed.

2 The Court of Appeals held that it is 3 unconstitutional for a school district to distinguish 4 between the exclusive collective bargaining 5 representative and rival unions in granting access to 6 internal communication facilities. This holding, which 7 would invalidate the prevailing practice in public 8 sector labor law throughout this country, is 9 inconsistent in several respects, we believe, with the 10 principles announced by this Court. Its overriding 11 defect, however, is its failure to recognize the 12 distinction that this Court has drawn between public 13 and non-public forums in determining the 14 constitutionality of access restrictions.

15 It is appropriate to begin analysis by setting 16 forth the two standards that this Court has adopted. If 17 the property in question constitutes a public forum, the 18 government's right to restrict access is subject to 19 rather stringent limitations. Generally speaking, it 20 only may impose reasonable time, place and manner
21 restrictions which are content-neutral and narrowly 22 drawn to meet a compelling governmental interest.

23 A different standard applies if the property
24 is not a public forum. Although we are not suggesting 25 in any sense that government is free to act without

1 restraint, the test is a less stringent one. The access 2 restriction is constitutional if it is reasonable on the 3 one hand, and is not designed to prohibit access because 4 the government disapproves of a speaker's view or seeks 5 to favor one point of view over another.

6 It is within this framework that we believe 7 the issue before the Court can be best analyzed, and we 8 believe that issue can be divided into two subsidiary 9 questions. The first is, which of the two standards is 10 appropriately applied to the school mail facilities?
11 Once that is determined, the second question is whether 12 the challenged access policy meets the appropriate 13 standard.

14 Although the court below found that the school
15 mail facilities are a nonpublic forum, it did not judge 16 the constitutionality of the access policy by the 17 standard that this Court has held applies to such 18 forums. It applied instead the public forum standard 19 and concluded that the policy failed to pass 20 constitutional muster under that standard.

21 It is our belief that the latter conclusion is 22 wrong in its own right and that the access policy here 23 in question is sustainable even under the more stringent 24 standard. But there is no occasion to reach that 25 question in this case. We submit that the dispositive

1 flaw in the decision of the court below is its failure 2 to use the proper standard to judge the 3 constitutionality of this access policy to this 4 nonpublic forum.

5 The Appellees appear to concede this. They 6 make no attempt to defend the analysis or approach taken 7 by the court below. To the contrary, they acknowledge 8 the importance of the distinction between the standards 9 governing access to public and nonpublic forums, and 10 devote much of their argument to an effort to 11 demonstrate that the school mail facilities are a public 12 forum.

13 We submit this effort fails. Under the 14 relevant legal principles set forth by this Court, most 15 recently last term in United States Postal Service v.
16 Council of Greenburgh Civic Association, it is clear 17 that the school mail facilities involved in this case 18 are a nonpublic forum.

19 It is well established that certain government 20 property is by its very nature a public forum: streets, 21 parks, highways, and certain analogous facilities which 22 historically have been used for purposes of public 23 assembly and debate. These, I think the reference would 24 be traditional public forums.

25 Although it may sometimes be difficult to 1 determine whether a particular facility is sufficiently 2 analogous to a park or a street to be classed as a 3 traditional public forum, again this question is of no

4 concern here. No one is suggesting that the school mail 5 facilities are in any sense like the parks, like the 6 streets, or like the highways. It is conceded that they 7 are not a traditional public forum.

8 But that of course is not the end of the 9 matter. Government may by its actions convert what 10 otherwise would be a non-public forum into a public 11 forum, and Appellees contend that that is what has 12 happened here. It is their position as we understand it 13 that the school mail facilities have been converted into 14 a public forum to which they have a constitutional right 15 of access, and because of the existence of that right 16 the access policy before the Court must be judged by the 17 more stringent standard applicable to public forums.

18 The test to be used in determining whether 19 such a conversion has taken place was also set forth in 20 the Greenburgh case. If the facilities have been 21 preserved for the use to which they are lawfully 22 dedicated or preserved for their normal and intended 23 function, the property remains a nonpublic forum. If on 24 the other hand the facilities have been opened up for 25 more general use, they may become a public forum for

1 certain groups or for certain purposes.

2 To apply this test here, the threshold
3 question is to identify the uses for which the school 4 mail facilities are lawfully dedicated.

5 QUESTION: Speaking of threshold questions,
6 counsel, at some point I hope you're going to address
7 the jurisdiction question. But you do it in your own 8 time.

9 MR. CHANIN: Mr. Chief Justice, it was not my 10 intention to address it in oral argument. We believe 11 that the point is clear and we have addressed it rather 12 completely in our reply brief, and unless there are 13 questions we're prepared to rely on the reply brief.

14 Phrased otherwise, the question we must look 15 at it, what is the normal and intended function of these 16 school mail facilities. The Appellees point out that 17 they are basically a communication medium and what they 18 seek to do is communicate, and therefore they are within 19 the normal and intended function.

20 We submit that is far too broad a 21 formulation. The function must be more narrowly defined 22 if it is to have any meaning. The normal and intended 23 function of a school mail facility is not to carry 24 information by anyone, about any subject. The normal 25 and intended function, as both of the lower courts

1 recognized, and indeed as Appellees concede in their 2 briefs, is to communicate to the teachers information 3 that involves school business. That is the normal and 4 intended function.

5 So we must look in this case as to what does 6 the phrase "school business" mean. And in the context 7 that we have before us, it derives meaning from two 8 sources. The first is the inherent function of any 9 school district to educate children. This function 10 would embrace any communications that the school 11 district reasonably concludes are supportive of that 12 mission, that are of relevance and educational interest 13 to the students.

14 But there is in this case a second source from 15 which the phrase "school business" derives meaning, and 16 that is the Indiana labor relations statute, more 17 specifically the representational duty that that statute 18 imposes upon the union that is designated as the 19 exclusive representative and which requires it to have 20 an effective method for communicating with the members 21 of the bargaining unit that it is both authorized and 22 obligated to represent.

23 The Appellees admit, as does the court below, 24 that PEA has legal obligations vis a vis the members of 25 the bargaining unit that it does not have.

1 QUESTION: Mr. Chanin, what does the record
2 show here was the use by others of the mail facilities?

3 MR. CHANIN: What the record shows, Justice, 4 is that subsequent to the designation of PEA as the 5 exclusive representative in 1977 the mail facilities
6 have been used by PEA in its representational capacity
7 and by the YMCA, the YWCA, the Cub Scouts and certain 8 parochial schools, all organizations which we submit are 9 on their face youth-oriented civil organizations which 10 are engaged in activities that would be of interest and 11 educational relevance to students.

12 QUESTION: Does the record tell us any more 13 about the specific uses than simply the identity of the 14 users?

15 MR. CHANIN: No, the record indeed says 16 nothing about the specific uses by PEA or by any of the 17 other groups. It merely identifies those who have had 18 access, and the only groups that have had post-1977
19 access are the civic youth groups I've identified.

20 QUESTION: Is it possible to say, Mr. Chanin, 21 whether any group besides -- is it the PLEA is your 22 group's rival?

23 MR. CHANIN: It is our rival.

24 QUESTION: Yeah. Were affirmatively excluded
25 in the sense of having sought access and been denied

1 it?

2 MR. CHANIN: There is nothing in the record to 3 indicate that.

4 QUESTION: Does that lead to -- can you then 5 generalize as to what the school district's standard for 6 access to these mailboxes was, or are you left pretty 7 much to having several points and trying to figure out 8 where the line goes?

9 MR. CHANIN: Oh, no, we have no trouble
10 whatsoever identifying the standard. We think the 11 standard is that the school mail facilities since 1977
12 have been limited to communications dealing with school 13 business. And we think that youth organizations that 14 wish to communicate about their youth-oriented 15 activities and programs is school business, and we think 16 that an elected exclusive representative with statutory 17 obligations toward the teachers is also school 18 business.

19 The record indicates no other use post-1977, 20 and we think the standard is clear.

21 QUESTION: Can you give us some examples of 22 communications from your client to the teachers that 23 would be school business as you describe it?

24 MR. CHANIN: Not from the record, Justice
25 Stevens, but I can tell you what this union and other

1 unions typically include in their communications. They 2 send information about the implementation of the 3 collective bargaining agreement, about the settlement
4 and disposition of grievances, about working conditions 5 that they are dealing with the school board about.

6 QUESTION: And what a stinker the other union 7 is.

8 MR. CHANIN: Pardon me, sir?

9 QUESTION: And what a stinker the competing 10 union is.

11 MR. CHANIN: I think that may come in 12 occasionally. But certainly that is not the purpose for 13 which they were granted use. The purpose for which they 14 were granted use is to perform their functions as a 15 representative of all of the teachers.

16 From this record there is nothing to suggest 17 that they did anything but that. The contract
18 specifically limits their use to that function. There 19 is nothing in the record to rebut that. It seems to us 20 that if there were evidence to suggest --

21 QUESTION: Just taking one of your examples, 22 describing the result of a particular grievance between 23 one union member and the school board, I assume, why 24 would that be disseminated to the entire union 25 membership?

1 MR. CHANIN: Because the resolution of the 2 grievance --

3 QUESTION: To tell them what a fine job
4 they've been doing?

5 MR. CHANIN: The resolution of a grievance
6 that arises under a collective bargaining agreement does 7 not have one-on-one impact. What it will usually turn 8 on is the interpretation of a phrase or a provision in a 9 collective agreement which has widespread impact on the 10 entire bargaining unit.

11 We think this Court has recognized on numerous 12 occasions that at the very least, and we believe it's 13 probably broader than that, the legitimate functions of 14 a representative organization are collective bargaining, 15 contract negotiation, and contract administration.

16 QUESTION: What would happen if Congress
17 passed a law which said that the NEA shall have the 18 authority to send its mail with a frank on it and denied 19 that to all other organizations?

20 MR. CHANIN: I think that law would be 21 unconstitutional, Your Honor.

22 QUESTION: And the difference is what?

23 MR. CHANIN: The NEA does not hold in that 24 context this special status vis a vis the constituency 25 to who that franked mail would go. What we have here is

1 a union, the PEA, which was not chosen for unreasonable
2 or arbitrary reasons to have this access privilege. It 3 competed under a state law, under the principle of 4 exclusive recognition, and it won. And the only reason 5 that it has been given access which has been denied to 6 other unions is because it won.

7 Now, the PLEA will have an opportunity at an 8 appropriate time under the Indiana statute to challenge
9 the PEA. And if it wins and becomes the exclusive 10 representative, it will have those legal obligations and 11 we assume that it will have the access privilege.

12 QUESTION: Well, it'll be a fair fight, won't 13 it? One of them has free access and the other one 14 doesn't.

15 MR. CHANIN: That is not the fact, Your 16 Honor. The Indiana law makes it clear --

17 QUESTION: I'm not talking about Indiana law.

18 MR. CHANIN: Well, I would like to just focus 19 in on the fight, sir. When that fight takes place --
20 and by "fight" I mean the representation election -- 21 then both organizations that compete are guaranteed 22 equal access to all communications facilities.

23 QUESTION: Does that give them the right to 24 use those boxes?

25 MR. CHANIN: They will be during the 1 representation campaign.

2 QUESTION: Now where'd I get that from?

3 MR. CHANIN: That's in the record. In 197 --

4 QUESTION: Where? Where is that in the 5 record?

6 MR. CHANIN: It is in the request for 7 admissions, the responses. It is also in the affidavit 8 submitted by the school board, and it's also a matter of 9 Indiana law established in the Pike decision, which is 10 attached in our jurisdictional statement.

11 The law in Indiana is that exclusive 12 privileges of access are available only during the 13 insulation period. The insulation period is after a 14 union has won the election and until it may be 15 challenged under state law. In most cases that is for 16 two years.

17 In the election that took place in '77 there 18 was equal access, and if there is another election there 19 will be equal access again.

20 QUESTION: Mr. Chanin, state law just allows
21 it?

22 MR. CHANIN: State law requires equal access.

23 QUESTION: Yes, but during the insulation
24 period state law doesn't require unilateral access.
25 Only it simply permits it to be bargained.

1 MR. CHANIN: That is correct, it allows it as 2 a bargainable matter.

3 QUESTION: I sure wish you could point that 4 out in the record, or do I have to go look for it?

5 MR. CHANIN: I can point it point.

6 QUESTION: Okay, I'll find it, if it's there.

7 MR. CHANIN: Let me, if I may, get back to the 8 point --

9 QUESTION: While you've been interrupted 10 already, just to clarify, is the school board a party or 11 was it a party below?

12 MR. CHANIN: The school board was a party in 13 the district court and the Court of Appeals. It has not 14 joined in the appeal to this Court.

15 QUESTION: Does the school board have any 16 interest in your prevailing?

17 MR. CHANIN: I'm sure it does.

18 QUESTION: What is the interest of the school
19 board that's at stake?

20 MR. CHANIN: We would like to believe that its 21 interests are that we prevail, that what we are seeking 22 here is to sustain a provision which we believe and 23 which this Court has indicated contributes to labor 24 peace, to labor stability, and to a more rational 25 relationship.

1 QUESTION: But the provision in dispute was 2 adopted by the board at the request of your client, was 3 it not?

4 MR. CHANIN: It was adopted through collective 5 bargaining, in the give and take of collective 6 bargaining.

7 QUESTION: And is there any reason why, had 8 the union not been interested in preventing your rival 9 union from having access, is there any reason to believe 10 that the school board independently would have concluded 11 that this was a desirable provision? And if so, what 12 reason would motivate it?

13 MR. CHANIN: I think there is reason to 14 conclude that, although I can't look into the mind of 15 this school board. I might suggest that Congress has 16 concluded that it is a good thing to limit it to the 17 exclusive representative and has built that into the law 18 governing labor relations of federal employees. The new 19 Civil Service Reform Act in 1978, picking up on Justice 20 Rehnquist's question, does not merely authorize 21 preferential access, it mandates it. It makes it an 22 unfair labor practice to allow a minority union to use 23 federal government facilities when there is a recognized 24 organization.

25 So I think, at least as a general answer, here

1 is a presumably objective body, the United States
2 Congress, which concluded that that contributes to a 3 more stable system of labor relations.

4 QUESTION: Well, even if the school board
5 weren't all that happy to have either union in there, I 6 suppose it has some interest in keeping use of the 7 teachers' mailboxes by outside groups at a minimum. You 8 have forced it in effect to give you access, but perhaps 9 it would just as soon limit it as much as it could.

10 MR. CHANIN: I expect that's true. We have 11 forced it, I think, in two ways: through collective 12 bargaining and because we presumably persuaded it that 13 we have legal obligations which this enable us to 14 perform more effectively.

15 QUESTION: In the course of the bargaining and 16 in the development of this rule, was your claim in the 17 bargaining, your demand, that your organization have 18 access and your rival organization not have access, or 19 simply that your organization have access

20 MR. CHANIN: I only know, Your Honor, and the 21 record only indicates what came out of the bargaining.
22 What came out of the bargaining was the double-sided 23 limitation.

24 QUESTION: The exclusive access.

25 MR. CHANIN: The exclusive access, yes.

1 QUESTION: Now, the SG has filed something
2 with us indicating that your union may have to pay 3 postage, isn't that right?

4 MR. CHANIN: Your Honor, yes, they have, they 5 have. What they have contended is that allowing one of 6 the two facilities here -- we have school mailboxes and 7 inter-school mail system. The Postal Service takes the 8 position that for the school district to carry union mail 9 in its inter-school mail system without postage is a 10 violation of the Private Express Statute. I just might 11 mention --

12 QUESTION: So this exclusive privilege may not 13 be worth much in the future?

14 MR. CHANIN: Well, I think that is an 15 overstatement, I would like to believe, of what they 16 say. First of all, their basic --

17 QUESTION: Is this really before us?

18 MR. CHANIN: Pardon me?

19 QUESTION: I took it all that the Solicitor
20 General might have wanted was a footnote in the opinion 21 disavowing any --

22 MR. CHANIN: At best it is a footnote. We 23 think they're wrong, and if they're right it has no 24 relevance. That's basically how we view it.

25 The Appellees do not even contend that by

1 allowing PEA to use the school mail facilities to 2 perform its representational functions it has gone 3 beyond school business, and their case for conversion is 4 not based on that use. Their case for conversion to a 5 public forum is based on three other alleged uses.

6 They contend first that PEA has unfettered 7 use, that it has not been limited to access solely to 8 perform its representational function.

9 There is nothing whatsoever in the record to 10 sustain that assertion. The contract upon which the 11 access right is based specifically says "acting as the 12 representative of the teachers". The record is totally 13 silent in the face of that statement. If there were any 14 evidence to indicate that PEA was granted or has used 15 the school mail facilities for any other purpose, it 16 would be Appellees' burden to produce that evidence, and 17 they have failed to do so.

18 The Appellees next assert that numerous 19 non-school-connected organizations have been allowed to 20 use the school mail facilities, and their quote is, "for 21 purposes wholly unrelated to official school or 22 educational concerns". That is the YMCA's, the Cub 23 Scouts, et cetera, which we have spoken to.

24 Let me, if I may, just put this in a context, 25 because much of what has been said takes it out of the 1 way it must be viewed. It's important to emphasize what 2 is involved here. Although this case arises in an 3 educational setting, it does not involve academic 4 freedom, textbooks, students' rights. It is a labor 5 relations case. The Plaintiffs are a labor union and 6 two of its members, and they seek to use the school mail 7 facilities to promote their organization and to increase 8 its membership.

9 The Appellees' papers are filled with 10 references to the marketplace of ideas and monopolistic 11 control of access media. They conclude their motion to 12 dismiss by stating that if this decision, this policy, 13 is struck down PEA will be forced to compete in the 14 marketplace of ideas solely on the strength of their 15 ideas and program.

16 We did compete in the marketplace of ideas.
17 We competed during the representation election, and with 18 equal access we sold our ideas and our programs. And 19 that's why we have access and they don't. Now, if they 20 want to challenge us again we'll compete again, equally 21 and without preference, in the marketplace of ideas.
22 And if they beat us, they'll have access.

23 But to suggest, as they do, that this 24 competition must go on continuously, and even more, that 25 the school board has to make its facilities available to

1 force that competition, is not only unreasonable but it
2 is the very antithesis of labor peace and stability.

3 I would like to reserve any remaining time.

4 CHIEF JUSTICE BURGER: Mr. Zweig.

5 ORAL ARGUMENT OF RICHARD L. ZWEIG, Esq., ON BEHALF
6 OF APPELLEES, PERRY LOCAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

7 MR. ZWEIG: Thank you. Mr. Chief Justice and 8 may it please the Court:

9 This case raises the question of the 10 constitutionality of a collective bargaining agreement 11 between a teachers union and a school district which 12 grants the teachers union exclusive access to the 13 school's internal mail system and compels the school 14 district to deny that right to another teacher 15 organization, while at the same time the school district 16 is permitted and in fact does allow numerous other 17 organizations and individuals to use that system for 18 whatever purpose they deem appropriate.

19 The Metropolitan School District of Perry
20 Township consists of 13 schools, and in each school
21 there is a set of mailboxes which has a teacher's name 22 written above them. This internal mail system and the 23 mailboxes which are part of it has been in place for a 24 number of years, and for a number of years outside 25 groups, individual teachers, the Perry Education

1 Association, and the Appellee here, Perry Local 2 Educators' Association were granted simultaneous and 3 equal access to those facilities.

4 QUESTION: Are you going to leave the issue of 5 jurisdiction to your brief, as your adversary has?

6 MR. ZWEIG: I would be glad to comment on the 7 question of jurisdiction.

8 QUESTION: I wish you would.

9 MR. ZWEIG: The Perry Education Association
10 has attempted to invoke this Court's appellate 11 jurisdiction on the basis of 28 United States Code 12 Section 1254. They state that the Court of Appeals for 13 the Seventh Circuit held an Indiana statute in essence 14 to be unconstitutional.

15 In point of fact, what the Court of Appeals 16 held was a paragraph in a collective bargaining
17 agreement between the school district and Perry 18 Education Association violated the Perry Local 19 Educators' Association's rights under the First 20 Amendment. Indiana law does not treat that contract as 21 either an ordinance or a statute. Rather, it treats it 22 simply as a contract.

23 Indeed, Indiana law limits those bodies which 24 are permitted to enact statutes or ordinances. Those 25 limitations are placed by the Indiana General Assembly

1 and the Indiana Constitution, and nowhere is a school
2 district given the authority to adopt an ordinance.

3 QUESTION: Supposing an Indiana school
4 district adopted, outside of the labor context, a 5 regulation saying that no black armbands shall be worn 6 in the school by the students. Would you say that was 7 not appealable here under the same circumstances?

8 MR. ZWEIG: We would say that is appealable, 9 because that would be a unilateral action by the school 10 district, as opposed to something that was the result of 11 a collective bargaining process.

12 QUESTION: But supposing the school district 13 held intense hearings and heard all sorts of groups on 14 this black armband question, and one group demanded one 15 thing and one demanded another thing, and the school 16 board finally came out and said, this is the way we 17 resolve it. Is that all that different from this? I 18 mean, it's the school board that finally grants the 19 access, not the union.

20 MR. ZWEIG: We would say that that is a 21 different situation. The situation which you posit we 22 believe is more synonymous with what happens in the 23 legislative process generally, where hearings are held 24 on bills that are presented both to Congress and to 25 state legislatures, and ultimately it's the legislature

1 that adopts that ordinance unilaterally or that statute 2 unilaterally.

3 And that's not the case in this instance,
4 where you have one party negotiating with another party 5 and the result of that is a contract. And indeed, we 6 think that the case centrally relied upon by the 7 Appellants, the King Manufacturing case, does make that 8 distinction. That case talks about what a statute is 9 and what it declares is that a statute is a unilateral 10 enactment by the legislative body.

11 QUESTION: How was the contract approved?

12 MR. ZWEIG: It was approved at an open school
13 board meeting.

14 QUESTION: So it took a legislative act to 15 approve it?

16 MR. ZWEIG: In one sense of the word it was a 17 legislative act.

18 QUESTION: Well, it was, wasn't it?

19 MR. ZWEIG: Except that under Indiana law that 20 wouldn't be considered to be a legislative act. It is 21 the result of a collective bargaining process which 22 requires adoption by the school board. To that extent 23 it would be a legislative enactment. But we think there 24 is a difference.

25 QUESTION: What if the school board in advance

1 passes a resolution at one of its meetings that, our 2 negotiators are authorized to agree to an exclusive use 3 provision in the contract?

4 MR. ZWEIG: If that went through the 5 appropriate process and so on and that was a regulation 6 that was adopted, yes --

7 QUESTION: That's all we know, is that they 8 adopted it and authorized it. Do you think that would 9 be a legislative act?

10 MR. ZWEIG: That might be a legislative 11 enactment.

12 QUESTION: Well, do you think it's different, 13 do you think it's different if after the fact the school 14 board approves it?

15 MR. ZWEIG: We do think it's different.

16 QUESTION: How? Why?

17 MR. ZWEIG: We think it's different because it 18 is the culmination of a process where two parties are 19 negotiating over a point. It is different than a 20 legislative enactment where there is a lot of debate and 21 ultimately it's only the legislators who have the 22 authority to pass the statute or the ordinance.

23 QUESTION: But is the process any different in 24 the advance authorization than in the subsequent 25 ratification?

1 MR. ZWEIG: The process is different in the 2 way the system sets up the --

3 QUESTION: You think the school board has a 4 little less in the way of options in the second 5 situation?

6 MR. ZWEIG: The options I think are much more 7 great in the collective bargaining process, probably, 8 than in the legislative enactment process.

9 QUESTION: Well, what if you're right? What 10 are we supposed to do about it?

11 MR. ZWEIG: We would ask this Court to find 12 that there is no probable jurisdiction under that 13 statute --

14 QUESTION: And do what?

15 MR. ZWEIG: Consider this case as a petition 16 for a writ of certiorari.

17 QUESTION: And then decide it?

18 MR. ZWEIG: Decide whether or not to take the 19 case, initially to assume jurisdiction over it.

20 QUESTION: Would you say then we should 21 dismiss the appeal and then deny cert, is that it?

22 MR. ZWEIG: Yes, that's what we are 23 suggesting.

24 QUESTION: Or, having heard it, dismiss it as 25 improvidently granted?

1 MR. ZWEIG: Yes, under either form.

2 In terms of the substantive issues presented
3 by this case, there are some points about which we do
4 agree. The first is that the First Amendment does apply
5 to the issues which are raised by this appeal. So much 6 has been stated by this Court in Tinker versus the Des 7 Moines Independent School District and by Pickering
8 versus the Board of Education. That much we all agree.

9 We all agree also on the fact that this 10 exclusive access policy does limit our rights of free
11 speech and assembly under the First Amendment.

12 QUESTION: You do agree, don't you, that in 13 the federal context that this exclusive use of the 14 exclusive representative is fairly usual?

15 MR. ZWEIG: It is fairly usable certainly in 16 the military area --

17 QUESTION: Usual, usual.

18 MR. ZWEIG: Usual, in the military area. I do 19 not personally know if it's fairly usual within all 20 federal agencies. That is not disclosed by the record.

21 QUESTION: Do you agree or not that 5 U.S.C.
22 7116(a)(3) provides for, is a general provision 23 requiring exclusive use by bargaining agents

24 MR. ZWEIG: I have to frankly say that I'm not 25 personally familiar with that particular statute.

1 QUESTION: Well, if it is, it certainly is a
2 Congressional declaration.

3 MR. ZWEIG: Yes. Yes, sir.

4 The basic point of departure for the decision
5 before this Court is whether or not that internal mail
6 system which was established by the Perry Township
7 School Board is a limited public forum, and this Court
8 has set out what the test is for a limited public forum
9 or a public forum generally. That's set out in Grayned, 10 where the Court said that we must inquire as to whether 11 the manner of expression is basically incompatible with 12 the normal activity of a particular place at a 13 particular time.

14 The school board in this case has already 15 determined that PLEA's use of that system -- PEA's use 16 of that system, before 1978 in any event -- was 17 compatible with the uses for which that system 18 originally was developed, and that is to facilitate 19 communication between teachers.

20 Furthermore, this Court in Tinker implicitly 21 acknowledged a public school is a form of a public 22 forum, not in the sense of the national mall, not in the 23 sense of the streets and the parks, but for certain 24 purposes it is a limited public forum; and that speech 25 within that forum can be limited by the state only

1 insofar as it will materially and substantially disrupt 2 the education of students and the system generally.

3 QUESTION: Sometimes schools allow political 4 candidates to come and make speeches in the evening in 5 many states. Do you think when they do that they must 6 either let all candidates come or not permit any to 7 come?

8 MR. ZWEIG: I think that a school district 9 which allowed, for example, the Democrats to come in and 10 speak to the teachers would be hard-pressed to deny any 11 other political group access to those, to the facilities 12 for the purposes of -- 13 QUESTION: Just hard-pressed?

14 MR. ZWEIG: I think it would be a violation of 15 the First Amendment.

16 QUESTION: Do you say, Mr. Zweig, that your 17 case depends on our agreeing with you that this is a 18 limited public forum? Suppose we don't?

19 MR. ZWEIG: We don't believe it's essential 20 that the Court determine that it is a limited public 21 forum. As the Court in Bellotti held, even where there 22 is not a public forum, that unless there's a compelling 23 state interest in limiting a particular speaker to 24 speech, that a state has no business silencing a 25 particular speaker on any particular issue.

1 And in this case there are no compelling state 2 interests which have been proven or even suggested by 3 the Appellant or the school district.

4 QUESTION: Well, I thought what they suggest 5 was that this is in the interest of labor peace.

6 MR. ZWEIG: They suggested that --

7 QUESTION: That's certainly a state interest, 8 isn't it?

9 MR. ZWEIG: It certainly is, Mr. Justice
10 Brennan. But they suggested that only in the courts 11 below. They have not reasserted that here, and 12 presumably the reason they haven't reasserted it here is 13 that at no time from 1973 forward, when PEA first became 14 the exclusive bargaining representative, has there been 15 any incident of labor disharmony or strife between PLEA
16 and PEA. There's just no evidence of that whatsoever.

17 The second --

18 QUESTION: Well, the federal contract bar rule
19 for a period of whatever it is now is certainly imposed 20 just across the board, without regard to whether there 21 might be disharmony or friction in that particular 22 employment situation. Do you think that the state or 23 the school board in this case would be unjustified in 24 saying, we're not going to look into individual examples 25 of whether or not there's harmony or disharmony, we just

1 think this is a good policy and we're going to adhere to 2 it?

3 MR. ZWEIG: I think the school board and the 4 state -- strike that. Just the state can make the 5 determination that a two-year period where there will 6 not be permitted any challenge to the exclusive 7 bargaining status of a group, is a legitimate state 8 interest and maybe compelling. It offers the 9 opportunity to allow the majority union to solidify its 10 status, to get its foot in the door, to get itself 11 planted, and to do those things which are important for 12 an exclusive bargaining representative to do.

13 QUESTION: Mr. Zweig, there is contrary
14 authority to your position, is there not?

15 MR. ZWEIG: Yes, in the lower courts.

16 QUESTION: Including two Courts of Appeals.

17 MR. ZWEIG: Yes.

18 QUESTION: Do you cite those cases and try to 19 distinguish them at all?

20 MR. ZWEIG: We think those cases are simply 21 wrong. On their facts they are similar to this case.

22 QUESTION: But you don't even say that in your 23 brief. You don't cite them.

24 MR. ZWEIG: We do not cite those cases in our 25 brief. We acknowledge, however, that there is the split

1 of authority within the circuits, and we contend that 2 the decisions by the Second Circuit and the Sixth 3 Circuit are simply wrong because they don't elevate the 4 interests under the First Amendment to the point where 5 they're supposed to be as we see it.

6 In essence, those courts held that the First 7 Amendment rights being asserted were de minimis.

8 QUESTION: I take it if your union has access 9 to the system it would use it, in large part at least, 10 to point out the deficiencies in the representation by 11 the PEA, would it not?

12 MR. ZWEIG: That might be one purpose for 13 which we'd put the system.

14 QUESTION: What else would you use it for?

15 MR. ZWEIG: We might also use the system to 16 communicate our ideas about issues that come up in the 17 day to day operations of the schools, whether it be with 18 respect to --

19 QUESTION: Well, I take it what you want to 20 persuade the teacher constituency is that you'd be a 21 better representative of theirs than is PEA; would you 22 not?

23 MR. ZWEIG: In part. But it might also be to 24 influence the members of the PEA --

25 QUESTION: That would certainly set up a not

1 too pleasant atmosphere for the school board, would it?

2 MR. ZWEIG: We don't believe that it would,

3 and we base that upon the facts of this case. Prior to 4 the time that this exclusive access policy was enacted,

5 both PEA and PLEA had access to that system. And during 6 that time there was no incident of labor strife.

7 We do not believe that there is any basis in 8 the record to project that there's going to be labor

9 disharmony or strife.

10 QUESTION: There was no exclusive

11 representative during that period?

12 MR. ZWEIG: There was an exclusive

13 representative during that period, and that exclusive

14 representative was PEA.

15 QUESTION: Well, one way to stop it would be 16 not to let either one use it.

17 MR. ZWEIG: We believe --

18 QUESTION: And that would be legal, wouldn't

19 it?

20 MR. ZWEIG: Yes. We believe that the school

21 district could make the choice to close the system down

22 to both groups, yes.

23 QUESTION: And that's what it does during the 24 campaigning --

25 MR. ZWEIG: That is what it does during the 1 campaign.

2 QUESTION: -- during the campaigning period.

3 MR. ZWEIG: Contrary to what my opposing 4 counsel has indicated, during the period of the campaign
5 both groups are denied access.

6 QUESTION: That's on page 20 and 21 of the 7 appendix.

8 MR. ZWEIG: That's right. It's request for 9 admission 31, I believe.

10 And the reason for that is probably that the 11 communications system is a very effective system of 12 communicating ideas between rival unions and their 13 potential constituents, and what the IEERB board, the 14 Indiana Education Employment Relations Board, is trying 15 to do is equal the access of the two parties to the 16 teachers within the system.

17 QUESTION: Mr. Zweig, as I understand your 18 argument, though, you urge that there was a public forum 19 created by virtue of the action in letting the Y and the 20 Boy Scouts and so forth use it. So your position would 21 be even if the school denied access to PEA that your 22 organization would be entitled to access, right?

23 MR. ZWEIG: That is true. To the extent that 24 the school system opens up that forum to anybody, to 25 individuals, individual teachers, as in this case, to

1 comment on matters which concern the school, we think 2 that we should have the same access rights that they 3 have, because after all, as this Court has held in 4 Abood, the issues which are presented to the teachers 5 and to the school system are largely political.

6 Indeed, under Indiana law -- and I'd refer the 7 Court to the collective bargaining statute, Indiana Code
8 27.514 and 5. There are a number of items in there 9 which the majority union is allowed both to bargain for 10 and to discuss with the school system, and many of those 11 issues, such as budget appropriations, such as class 12 size, such as selection, assignment and promotion of 13 personnel, are largely political questions.

14 And what the school board has done by adopting 15 this restrictive access policy has been to give one side 16 of those debatable public questions a much better 17 position with respect to advocating its point of view 18 than another organization. And we contend that it has 19 done so without any compelling reason whatsoever.

20 QUESTION: Well, your outfit could certainly 21 mail to the teachers who are represented by your 22 opposing labor group its views at their home address, 23 couldn't it?

24 MR. ZWEIG: It could do that, but there are 25 two problems with that.

1 QUESTION: Treated as junk mail?

2 MR. ZWEIG: Pardon?

3 QUESTION: Might it be treated as junk mail?

4 MR. ZWEIG: I don't believe so.

5 The two significant problems with that are

6 that we don't get the list of teachers and the addresses

7 of teachers until November of the school year, so that

8 during the critical period of time when we need to speak

9 with teachers, a critical period of time --

10 QUESTION: When is that critical period of 11 time?

12 MR. ZWEIG: Early on during the school year.

13 QUESTION: Why is that critical?

14 MR. ZWEIG: Because when new teachers come in 15 we would like to have the opportunity to speak with 16 them, to talk about the issues which are presented to 17 the school system?

18 QUESTION: To kind of organize them in a way?

19 MR. ZWEIG: In a way, to at least give a 20 contrary point of view to that being expressed by the 21 majority union.

22 So we can't use the United States mail system

23 effectively before that list is given to us, whereas PEA

24 can immediately begin to transmit its messages the day

25 that the school doors open.

1 Secondly, we think that there is a much
2 greater burden placed upon our exercise of free speech 3 than that being placed on PEA by virtue of the fact that 4 we will have to pay 20 cents a letter and they will have 5 to pay nothing, and in addition to that will be able to 6 use school personnel to get those messages to the 7 teachers.

8 QUESTION: Mr. Zweig, in the USPS versus 9 Council of Greenburgh case, the Court held that the 10 United States mail system did not require us to have a 11 compelling state interest test applied to any 12 restrictions placed on the use of the U.S. mails. Why 13 is the mail service of the school district any 14 different?

15 MR. ZWEIG: We think it's different because 16 the private mailboxes which each of us has in our home 17 are not, in terms of the court, a public forum. And the 18 difference is that in that instance nobody else is 19 granted access to those mailboxes except for the United 20 States Postal Service. In that instance the Postal 21 Service does not allow the Democrats to use the system, 22 the mailboxes, or the YMCA's or the parochial schools or 23 anything like that, as we have here.

24 And what the Court said in that case is that 25 they had no occasion to be concerned about that because

1 it was an equal exclusion of all people from the system, 2 whereas in this case it is a very selective exclusion of 3 people from the system.

1 QUESTION: Did I understand you to say that if 2 you prevail here, the school board would be at liberty 3 to deny both unions access to this?

4 MR. ZWEIG: We think that the school board can 5 deny both.

6 QUESTION: Even though it continues to permit
7 the Boy Scouts and these others that are allowed to use 8 it to use it.

9 MR. ZWEIG: Given the entrance of other 10 people, other outside organizations and individuals to 11 the system, based on that we would say we should have 12 the same access.

13 QUESTION: So that what you're saying is if 14 you prevail, if the board is to exercise the option of 15 closing down the system, it will have to close it to 16 everybody.

17 MR. ZWEIG: Yes. It's all or none proposition 18 from our point of view.

19 QUESTION: May I ask whether the school board 20 members are elected by the public?

21 MR. ZWEIG: Yes, they are.

22 QUESTION: Is there anything in the bargaining
23 agreement that would prevent the union from taking a 24 position of favoring or disfavoring a candidate for 25 election to the school board?

1 MR. ZWEIG: No. But we wouldn't have any 2 opportunity to do that within the mail system. But the 3 collective bargaining agreement itself is silent on that 4 question.

5 QUESTION: It's silent?

6 MR. ZWEIG: Yes.

7 QUESTION: So at least in theory the union
8 could take a position?

9 MR. ZWEIG: In theory the contract doesn't 10 prohibit them from taking that position.

11 QUESTION: Did the school board participate in 12 this case at the district court level?

13 MR. ZWEIG: The school board did participate 14 at the district court level, and they did participate in 15 the Court of Appeals to the extent that they essentially 16 joined in the position taken by PEA. They have not 17 reasserted those positions in this point, and instead 18 has left it to PEA to articulate and promote the 19 so-called compelling state interests which are posited 20 to justify this restrictive access policy.

21 QUESTION: Would you take the same position if 22 the school board denied use to all organizations except 23 PEA?

24 MR. ZWEIG: Yes. We would take the same 25 position, and the basis --

1 QUESTION: You mean letting -- if the school 2 board thinks it's got a good reason to let its 3 collective bargaining representative communicate with 4 its teachers, so it lets that organization and that 5 organization alone communicate with the teachers. You 6 think that makes it a public forum and lets you in?

7 MR. ZWEIG: We believe that because of the 8 nature of the communications within that system, which 9 are largely political, that -- and we base that upon 10 Abood and the City of Madison cases, as well as what is 11 articulated under Indiana law as the subjects of 12 bargaining and discussion.

13 We believe that we -- that it would be wrong
14 for the school district to exclude one group of teachers 15 which is as vitally concerned with the result of any 16 discussion --

17 QUESTION: Well, did you get any 18 schoolteachers to join you in this suit?

19 MR. ZWEIG: We do not have any schoolteachers 20 other than those who are represented by the Perry Local 21 Educators' Association.

22 QUESTION: May I ask a question about your 23 opponent's argument? He says, and I think quite 24 properly, that you changed your position from that 25 adopted by the Court of Appeals; that now you seem to

1 rest entirely on the conclusion that this is a public
2 forum.

3 Do you agree that if it is not a public forum
4 that you lose?

5 MR. ZWEIG: Again, we would articulate that to 6 the extent that the system is used for political 7 purposes, we should have the same opportunity to speak 8 on those political issues as anybody else. We say that 9 in the facts of this case the Court has -- strike that 10 -- that the school system has opened up that system for 11 all --

12 QUESTION: Well, I understand you are arguing 13 it's a public forum.

14 MR. ZWEIG: Yes.

15 QUESTION: Are you arguing separately, as I 16 understood the Court of Appeals to hold, which is quite 17 different from the argument, that even if it's not a 18 public forum, you nevertheless are entitled to prevail 19 under some neutrality approach?

20 MR. ZWEIG: Yes. We would also adopt that 21 position on the basis of --

22 QUESTION: And you think that position
23 survives the Postal Service case --

24 MR. ZWEIG: Yes. And the reason I say that is 25 in the Postal Service case -- I presume that's the

1 Greenberg case --

2 QUESTION: Greenberg, yes.

3 MR. ZWEIG: The Court made a strong point of 4 the fact that the mailboxes there and generally in the 5 country are not open to selected groups to use; that is 6 to say, the Postal Service doesn't attempt to 7 distinguish between individuals and organizations who 8 may gain access to their private box and exclude some 9 and grant access to others.

10 So we don't believe that the Greenberg 11 decision is in any way contrary to the position that 12 we're asserting in this case.

13 QUESTION: Counsel, I understood you to say
14 earlier that you perceive this to be a limited public 15 forum. It's certainly not the classical public forum.
16 Are you claiming it's a limited one or an unlimited
17 public forum?

18 MR. ZWEIG: We are claiming it is a limited
19 public forum.

20 QUESTION: Well, I think you should make that 21 clear. This is not like a street.

22 MR. ZWEIG: This is not like a street. It's 23 not like the parks. It is --

24 QUESTION: It is not even like the university
25 in the Widmar case we had here last term, is it?

1 MR. ZWEIG: We think it's similar to the 2 Widmar case.

3 QUESTION: But there were over a hundred 4 organizations allowed to use the building in that case.

5 MR. ZWEIG: But in this case there is no
6 evidence that anybody other than PLEA has been 7 excluded. That is the only group that's been excluded.
8 Other groups have been granted access, and the school 9 system has adopted no rules --

10 QUESTION: Well, you have to be careful with 11 "excluded." Has any other one asked to be?

12 MR. ZWEIG: We are not familiar with any group 13 which has asked to gain entrance --

14 QUESTION: Well, that doesn't mean excluded, 15 does it? You have to first ask in order to use the word 16 "excluded."

17 MR. ZWEIG: During the course of the 18 proceedings in the trial court we attempted through 19 discovery to determine who had been granted access and 20 who had been denied access and a number of other issues; 21 but our discovery was cut off on a motion filed by the 22 appellants in this case, and so we didn't have an 23 opportunity to develop that particular point.

24 QUESTION: Did you win or lose in the district 25 court?

1 MR. ZWEIG: We lost in the district court.

2 QUESTION: Did you raise the lack of discovery
3 as an issue on appeal?

4 MR. ZWEIG: Yes, we did.

5 QUESTION: Did the Court of Appeals pass on it?

6 MR. ZWEIG: No, it did not. It did not rule
7 on that. It determined that the facts were sufficient 8 to show a clear First and Fourteenth Amendment violation.

9 QUESTION: You really couldn't urge that as an 10 alternative ground for affirming the judgment of the 11 Court of Appeals, I suppose, because if it were found 12 that the discovery were inadequate, it wouldn't be an 13 affirmance, and the judge would send it back --

14 MR. ZWEIG: That's correct. The point is that 15 PEA has complained that we haven't shown a number of 16 facts, but the stark reality is that we were prevented 17 from showing those facts by virtue of the proceedings in 18 the district court.

19 Because the speech which is within the school 20 district is, in our view, inherently political, we 21 believe that it is an error as a matter of law for the 22 school district to exclude one side of those political 23 views and allow another side in.

24 Now, the appellants in this case also have 25 claimed that because of the alternative channels of

1 communication available to us that our First Amendment 2 right is in essence de minimis, and in that sense they 3 followed Memphis, AFT and Connecticut, AFT cases, the 4 Second and Sixth Circuit cases.

5 But the only opportunity to get to that issue
6 is if it is shown that the restriction here is a 7 reasonable time, place and manner restriction. And it's 8 our suggestion that the restriction here is not that 9 because it is content- and viewpoint-based, and it is, 10 therefore, under the control and precedents of this 11 Court per se, unreasonable.

12 Additionally, the alternative channels of 13 communication alleged to be available to us are really 14 not very availing and they're not equally effective.
15 They suggest that we can use the intercom system, but 16 that is available only when school was out and the 17 teachers are dispersed to the various activities or to 18 their home.

19 They suggest that we can use the bulletin 20 boards, but in point of fact the record shows there's 21 only one bulletin board, and that's at the Burkhardt 22 School in all of the Perry Township schools. And they 23 suggest that we can use the meeting rooms. We suggest 24 that that's not a very effective alternative either, 25 because if we can't tell the teachers what the meeting

1 is about and we can't indicate the time and place of the 2 meeting, that the fact of the meeting rooms being 3 available is really not availing.

4 Thank you.

5 CHIEF JUSTICE BURGER: We'll resume there at 6 1:00.

7 (Whereupon, at 12:00 p.m., the case was 8 recessed for lunch, to be reconvened at 1:00 p.m., the 9 same day.)

AFTERNOON SESSION

CHIEF JUSTICE BURGER: Just a moment, counsel, if you will.

Mr. Chanin has waived his rebuttal, unless the Court has any questions. If not, thank you very much,
Mr. Chanin.

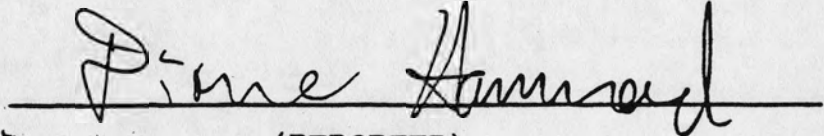

(Whereupon, at 1:00 p.m., the case in the above-entitled matter was submitted.)
