1	PROCEEDINGS
2	(10:04 a.m.)
3	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: We'll hear argument
4	first today in Marrama versus Citizens Bank of
5	Massachusetts. Mr. Baker.
6	ORAL ARGUMENT OF DAVID G. BAKER
7	ON BEHALF OF THE PETITIONER
8	MR. BAKER: Mr. Chief Justice, and may it
9	please the Court:
10	Section 706(a) of the Bankruptcy Code
11	provides that a debtor may convert a case under chapter
12	7 to a case under any other chapter of the Bankruptcy Code
13	at any time if the case has not been converted previously
14	from another chapter, and that any waiver of the right
15	to convert a case under the subsection is unenforceable.
16	Other subsections of section 706 give rules for the
17	Court to decide about conversion in the case where some
18	party other than the debtor requests conversion of the
19	case and also provides that the conversion must lead to
20	a chapter to which that debtor is qualified to be a
21	debtor.
22	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Mr. Baker, as I
23	understand it subsequent to the grant of certiorari in
24	this case, your client filed for relief under Chapter 13
25	and that relief was denied. You're now seeking under

1 your petition seeks a conversion to Chapter 13 and I 2 guess I wonder what relief is still open to you. 3 MR. BAKER: In the present case or the new 4 case? 5 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: What relief is open to you in this case? In other words, you're trying to 6 7 get a conversion to Chapter 13. Subsequently, you've tried to apply for relief under Chapter 13 and that's 8 9 been denied. Why isn't the case moot in the sense that 10 that relief is not available to you now? 11 MR. BAKER: The circumstances of the new 12 case are entirely different. In fact, in that -- in the 13 present -- the new case, the court decided that he was not 14 eligible because his debt limit exceeded the statutory 15 limitations that exist section 109(e). There is a 16 three-year time span between the two, and we believe 17 that the existing case is not moot because he still has remedies that he can obtain in Chapter 13. 18 19 JUSTICE GINSBURG: But if he isn't 20 eligible -- the new case determined that he was not 21 eligible because his debts were too high. He didn't incur additional debts between the time of the 22 23 proceeding one and proceeding two? 24 MR. BAKER: Yes, Your Honor, he did. 25 JUSTICE GINSBURG: Or he didn't reduce the

1 debt. If we have a finding from the bankruptcy court 2 that he is ineligible, that is number one condition 3 to convert into Chapter 13. If you don't meet that 4 condition, that's the end of the matter.

5 MR. BAKER: I wouldn't say it would be the 6 end of the matter in the present case because the 7 eligibility was never questioned below, was never a 8 factor below.

9 JUSTICE GINSBURG: But now there has been a 10 finding, and it's an essential finding, that there be 11 eligibility. And wouldn't the bankruptcy court's 12 findings in the later case have preclusive effect? 13 MR. BAKER: In the prior case? I would say 14 no, Your Honor. First, because as I mentioned, the 15 issue of eligibility within the monetary limits was 16 never raised below. And in fact, if you look at his 17 schedules in the supplemental joint appendix, he is 18 clearly within the statutory limits based -- just 19 looking at his schedules.

JUSTICE GINSBURG: But that's a question you can argue on appeal in -- from the recent decisions, but for the moment you have a bankruptcy court making that determination, which I think would be preclusive on another bankruptcy court.

MR. BAKER: The -- well, the -- the bankruptcy court made a decision in the current case, the new case, but they haven't dismissed it. Dismissal is in fact on appeal to the District Court for the District of Massachusetts. The reason is, in our view is that the bankruptcy court in the new case incorrectly looked back to the claims that had been filed in the prior case.

8 Now, it is a difficult issue in some 9 respects because there is case law at least in 10 Massachusetts or the First Circuit that says a debtor 11 does not have standing to object to claims in a Chapter 7 case. So the fact that a number of claims were 12 13 filed and argued doesn't relate to, in a prior case, 14 does not have a preclusive effect in the new case. 15 Now we did, in fact, object to quite a 16 number of claims and the eligibility, and I think that 17 ultimately once the claim objections are resolved, we 18 will be within the statutory limits.

JUSTICE GINSBURG: If the decision is affirmed on appeal to the First Circuit, do you think you could still argue that there's qualification for Chapter 13, after the court of appeals has affirmed a determination that there isn't?

24 MR. BAKER: I'm -- I don't quite follow the 25 question. Would you mind restating it?

1	JUSTICE GINSBURG: We have now a judgment that
2	this debtor is ineligible for Chapter 13. If that
3	judgment is affirmed on appeal to the court of appeals,
4	can you nonetheless argue that somehow there is no
5	preclusive effect?
6	MR. BAKER: Yes, Your Honor, because there's
7	a three-year difference between the two and
8	substantially different facts. The we have to go
9	back, I think, to the case that's at bar, because it is
10	those claims, the claims that were filed in the current
11	case that are the issue. As I say, we are in the process
12	of doing objections to those claims and I think that
13	ultimately we will come within them.
14	JUSTICE SCALIA: They're not at issue as far
15	as this mootness question goes. I mean, you're seeking
16	to have the right to file under 13.
17	And if, in fact, there's no eligibility to
18	file under 13, you're asking for the impossible. The
19	case is simply you know it's just air. So I
20	guess, perhaps you rely on the fact that the case is
21	still on appeal. Should we not take as a given that
22	there is a judgment that you don't qualify for 13, and
23	yet you're coming before us asking us to say that you
24	can apply under Chapter 13. It doesn't make any sense.
25	MR. BAKER: Well, I would respectfully say

1 suggest that it does, Your Honor, because once -- we don't 2 really get to the eligibility question until the court 3 below considers it in the context of the case that's at bar. 4 We have to, as I say, we are in the process of objecting to 5 claims and resolving them. Now the --6 JUSTICE SCALIA: Well, didn't you make that 7 argument to the bankruptcy court that found that you 8 were not eligible? 9 MR. BAKER: No, Your Honor, because as I 10 mentioned before, the case law in the First Circuit up 11 to this point has held that a Chapter 7 debtor does not 12 have standing to object to claims. Now in the new case, 13 in fact, the bankruptcy court --14 JUSTICE SCALIA: That's what I'm asking. A 15 Chapter 7 debtor doesn't, but a Chapter 13 debtor 16 presumably does. So didn't you make the same argument 17 to the bankruptcy court. 18 MR. BAKER: In the old case, yes, once we 19 converted the chapter. 20 JUSTICE SCALIA: And they rejected it? 21 No. I beg your pardon, Your MR. BAKER: 22 Honor. No, we did not address eligibility in the 23 present case. 24 JUSTICE SCALIA: I don't care about the 25 present case. I care about the Chapter 13 case in which

1	you have been found not to qualify for Chapter 13
2	treatment. Didn't you make before that court the same
3	argument you're making now that some of the debts
4	shouldn't be counted.
5	MR. BAKER: I did.
6	JUSTICE SCALIA: They rejected it, right?
7	MR. BAKER: Pardon?
8	JUSTICE SCALIA: And they rejected it?
9	MR. BAKER: The bankruptcy court did reject
10	it, yes. But they rejected it because, as I say, up to
11	that point the case law had held that we did not have
12	standing to object to the claims, so we were bound by
13	what was there.
14	JUSTICE SCALIA: But you said it was only a
15	Chapter 7 debtor who couldn't object.
16	MR. BAKER: Right.
17	JUSTICE SCALIA: But you are applying under
18	Chapter 13.
19	MR. BAKER: Right. What I'm trying to say
20	is in the previous Chapter 7 case we lacked standing to
21	object to those claims and that in the new Chapter 13
22	case the court took the Chapter 7 case claims and said,
23	you're bound by these in the new chapter 13 case.
24	JUSTICE SCALIA: Didn't you object to that
25	and say you should look at these claims afresh?

1 MR. BAKER: Yes. 2 JUSTICE SCALIA: And what did the court say? 3 Did it say it had to or that it did so and still found 4 them over the limit. 5 MR. BAKER: It -- the bankruptcy court in 6 the new case said -- pardon? The bankruptcy court in 7 the new case said that there are circumstances under 8 which a debtor would have standing. This was in effect a new rule of law for that, for this district. So 9 10 subsequent to that decision we did, in fact, object to 11 quite a number of claims and substantially reduced the total of those claims, and I think that once --12 13 JUSTICE SCALIA: What did the bankruptcy 14 court say? 15 MR. BAKER: The bankruptcy court sustained 16 our objections to those claims and in fact reduced the 17 total substantially. 18 JUSTICE SCALIA: I don't understand that. 19 But did it reduce it to a level that you qualified for 20 Chapter 13 treatment? 21 MR. BAKER: We are not finished with the 22 claims objection process. I believe that once we are --23 JUSTICE SCALIA: Of course you are. They've 24 rendered a decision. How could you not be finished with 25 the claims objection process if the bankruptcy court has

1 rendered a final decision.

2 MR. BAKER: Because the bankruptcy court 3 rendered a final decision which is on appeal in the new 4 case. We are objecting to the Chapter 7 claims in the 5 old case. I apologize if this is confusing. 6 JUSTICE SCALIA: It is terribly confusing. 7 It seems to me that the Chapter 13 bankruptcy court had 8 the responsibility for determining whether you qualified under the, you know, under the amount of debt. 9 10 MR. BAKER: And it did so by reference to 11 the claims that had been filed in the previous Chapter 7 12 case. We can't object to claims in a Chapter 13 case 13 that haven't been filed. So procedurally, we had to go 14 back to the Chapter 7 case and do the claims objections 15 within the context of the old Chapter 7 case. 16 Now, in the Chapter 13 case we used the --17 the bankruptcy court used the total of those claims that 18 had been filed in the Chapter 7 case to determine 19 eligibility in the 13. 20 In doing so, the bankruptcy court basically 21 announced a new rule of law that the claims that had 22 been filed would be essentially I suppose, res judicata 23 in the subsequent case, but that in some cases a 24 Chapter 7 debtor --25 JUSTICE SCALIA: And you objected to that, I

1 gather?

2 MR. BAKER: Sorry? 3 JUSTICE SCALIA: You objected to that, to 4 that ruling? 5 MR. BAKER: Not necessarily, because it does 6 give you a vehicle to go back to the old Chapter 7 case 7 and do the procedural claims objections in that case, 8 which is what we did, and we substantially reduced the 9 total of the claims. 10 JUSTICE GINSBURG: What is the status of the 11 Chapter 7 case? I was under the impression it had been 12 dismissed and a determination of no discharge had 13 been made. 14 MR. BAKER: A determination of no discharge had been entered. However, it was an asset case, so it 15 16 remains open, it remains open at this point, until the 17 Chapter 7 trustee makes a distribution to creditors or 18 files his final report with the court. It has not been 19 dismissed. 20 JUSTICE GINSBURG: But there's a 21 determination that you're not entitled to a discharge? 2.2 That has been made. 23 MR. BAKER: That's correct. 24 JUSTICE BREYER: If we just could go to the 25 merits for a second here. You're saying this word,

12

1 where it says, the word is you "may convert," and that 2 means you can convert no matter what? 3 MR. BAKER: The plain language of the 4 statute says that, yes, Your Honor. 5 JUSTICE BREYER: No matter what? Okay, 6 suppose they repeal Chapter 13 before you convert. Then 7 can you convert? 8 MR. BAKER: I'm sorry. Would you repeat that? 9 10 JUSTICE BREYER: I'm just producing examples 11 where it's clear you can't convert. Now, suppose 12 Congress -- there is no Chapter 13. Could you convert 13 then? 14 MR. BAKER: Not if there's no Chapter 13. 15 JUSTICE BREYER: No, okay. Suppose he dies. 16 Could you convert then? 17 MR. BAKER: If the debtor dies? 18 JUSTICE BREYER: Yes. No inheritance, no 19 nothing. 20 MR. BAKER: Well, there is a rule, I believe 21 it's --22 JUSTICE BREYER: Even though there's no such 23 person existing any more. He's gone and his whole 24 family is gone, and there's no inheritors, nothing. 25 Then can he convert? No.

13

1	MR. BAKER: Right. I think the rule 2009
2	says, the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy
3	JUSTICE BREYER: I'm trying to produce
4	ridiculous examples. Maybe all right, so you say
5	even if he's dead and there's no family he still could
6	convert. That's an extreme test of my hypothetical, but
7	okay. What about if, in fact, he goes insane? No.
8	MR. BAKER: Well, again, Your Honor, the
9	rule says
10	JUSTICE BREYER: What about if, in fact, the
11	conversion is part of a scheme to defraud millions of
12	people in a foreign country because it will be viewed as
13	a signal that they should mail their life savings into a
14	particular account in Switzerland? Can he convert then?
15	MR. BAKER: The statute is plain, Your
16	Honor.
17	JUSTICE BREYER: You say yes on that?
18	MR. BAKER: I would say yes.
19	JUSTICE BREYER: Even though it's going to
20	bilk people out of millions of dollars?
21	MR. BAKER: I think that the statute is
22	plain and says that the debtor may convert.
23	JUSTICE BREYER: No matter what? Even if
24	he's dead, even if he's insane?
25	MR. BAKER: Even if he's insane.

1	JUSTICE BREYER: Well alright, then I can't
2	get anywhere with my hypotheticals.
3	(Laughter.)
4	JUSTICE BREYER: I would have thought the
5	answer was no, but there we are.
6	JUSTICE GINSBURG: Mr. Baker, couldn't the
7	let's say the conversion goes through. The first
8	thing that the bankruptcy court does in the Chapter 7
9	converted to Chapter 13 is say: I'm going to dismiss
10	this suit, the the bad faith taint stays with the
11	case, it doesn't get you can't erase it; and so back
12	you go to the Chapter 7. Why couldn't the bankruptcy
13	court now sitting as a Chapter 13 court say: We're not
14	going to let a debtor who has conducted himself in bad
15	faith proceed in this court?
16	MR. BAKER: The bankruptcy court could
17	certainly do that. The procedural safeguards of due
18	process require, obviously, notice and hearing of the
19	court's reasons for wanting to say that.
20	JUSTICE SOUTER: Yes, but your claim doesn't
21	rest on a due process denial of hearing does it? That's
22	not, that's not the question you brought to us. So it
23	seems to me that Justice Ginsburg's question is not
24	answered by saying, well, he'd get a hearing in that
25	case. The fact remains that in that case the, as I

15

1 understand it, the judge in Chapter 13 could immediately 2 deconvert to Chapter 7, couldn't he? 3 MR. BAKER: Well, I wouldn't say he could 4 immediately reconvert. Again, there is the due process 5 requirement that the debtor have an opportunity to be 6 heard on the issue. 7 JUSTICE SOUTER: But due process is not the 8 issue here. The fact is the bankruptcy court could 9 deconvert or reconvert to Chapter 7, in effect, 10 following the election that the debtor makes. That's 11 so, isn't it? 12 MR. BAKER: Yes. 13 JUSTICE SOUTER: Well then, why would we 14 have a system as ridiculous as to preclude the court 15 from looking at fraud or bad faith at the moment of 16 election, go through the paperwork and the folderol of 17 converting to 13, and immediately turn around, 18 admittedly having the power, to deconvert? That would 19 be a rather foolish system. 20 MR. BAKER: Well, perhaps, but it is the 21 system that Congress has given us. Congress has said 22 the debtor may convert at any time so long as it has not 23 been converted previously. 24 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: When cases are 25 reconverted to Chapter 7, is that typically done before

16

1	or after the filing of the Chapter 13 plan?
2	MR. BAKER: Most of the time, a plan is I
3	don't do it this way, but most practitioners will file a
4	plan at the same time as they file the notice, the
5	motion to convert.
6	JUSTICE SOUTER: But they don't have to.
7	MR. BAKER: They don't have to.
8	JUSTICE SOUTER: And the deconversion could
9	be done prior to the filing of the plan?
10	MR. BAKER: I suppose arguably it could. In
11	my view, the statutory provisions of section 1307 have to
12	be applied to the question of conversion. So I think
13	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Creditors under
14	Chapter 13 one of the prerequisites to approval of the 15	plan is that the creditors get at least as much as they
16	would have gotten under Chapter 7, right?
17	MR. BAKER: That's correct.
18	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: So presumably the
19	creditors might want to see what the Chapter 13 plan
20	looks like themselves.
21	MR. BAKER: Exactly. Exactly. Exactly.
22	And I think it's the Tenth Circuit Bankruptcy
23	Appellate Panel noted that sometimes a problem debtor
24	files a plan and gets it confirmed, pays creditors,
25	and everybody winds up better off.

1	JUSTICE KENNEDY: Could the district
2	court pardon me. Could the bankruptcy court make
3	that same determination in deciding whether or not to
4	allow the Chapter 7 proceeding to be converted? He
5	could make this inquiry in a Chapter 7 proceeding? He
6	says: I don't think you should be able to convert
7	because there's a fraud, but I'll look at how the
8	creditors come out. Could he do that? And then you
9	don't have the specter that Justice Souter referred to
10	of this transfer back and then the transfer back, which
11	is a waste of time.
12	MR. BAKER: Well, again, the statute says
13	that the debtor may convert except in certain
14	circumstances. I think that the requirement of a motion
15	to convert a case gives the court the procedural
16	mechanism for looking at the case, seeing, making sure
17	that the debtor
18	JUSTICE BREYER: But there is a difference,
19	and this is assume with me, which apparently you
20	don't agree, that everywhere in law there are implied
21	exceptions for unusual circumstances. I have never
22	found an instance where you couldn't think of some
23	exception that they didn't see. You could not bring a
24	thing if you were insane or dead or if a death would
25	ensue or a murder. Assume that, all right.

1	Then the question would be, well, what about
2	this instance? And I think the strongest instance
3	the strongest argument for saying there's is no
4	exception here is the argument that the trustee
5	discovers that this individual is behaving dishonestly,
6	that he's hidden assets. Maybe he has a safe deposit
7	box and he has a key and the key the key will allow
8	him to get diamonds out of the safe deposit box and hide
9	them. Under 7, the trustee has the key. As soon as you
10	convert it to 13 the key is given back to the debtor,
11	who has been shown dishonest.
12	Now, assuming you're going to have some
13	exceptions, why isn't that a very, very powerful one?
14	MR. BAKER: Because ultimately the Chapter
15	13 trustee has the same powers of the Chapter 7 trustee
16	with the exception, as Your Honor is pointing out, of
17	possession of the property in the bankruptcy estate.
18	But that's how Congress wrote the statute. We should
19	not ignore Congress's command about the process of
20	converting and look for exceptions before we proceed to
21	go back to the appellate court
22	JUSTICE ALITO: If I could come back to a
23	prior question. Unless there is some different
24	procedure required when between the two situations of
25	denial of conversion from 7 to 13 and allowing

1 conversion but with immediate reconversion back to 7, 2 unless there's some difference between that's required 3 by the code in those two situations, maybe it is because you have to -- in the reconversion situation, you have 4 5 to wait until the plan is filed. Maybe it's because the bad faith doesn't carry over. 6 7 But unless there's some difference, I don't see 8 what this case is about. MR. BAKER: Well, ultimately the case is 9 10 about the language of the statute and whether the court 11 should apply it as written. And I think --12 JUSTICE ALITO: You can't provide any reason 13 why there's a difference between those two? 14 MR. BAKER: I'm sorry? 15 JUSTICE ALITO: You deny -- do you dispute 16 the fact that the bankruptcy court could simultaneously 17 convert on the motion of the debtor from 7 to 13 and 18 during the 20-day period that's required by the rule, 19 the rules, reconvert? Do you dispute that, for bad 20 faith? 21 MR. BAKER: I dispute that the court could 22 do it sua sponte and without notice and an opportunity 23 for a hearing. 24 If it gives notice and JUSTICE ALITO: 25 an opportunity for a hearing during the 20 day period --

20

1	you have to give 20 days notice before the conversion
2	takes place; is that correct, from 7 to 13?
3	MR. BAKER: I believe that's correct. When
4	you file a motion, a 20 day notice is required, yes.
5	JUSTICE ALITO: If it has the hearing during
6	that period, you don't dispute that the court could do
7	that, or do you?
8	MR. BAKER: Well, again we come to the
9	question of when the plan gets filed. The plan isn't
10	filed until after it's converted, according to the
11	rules.
12	JUSTICE GINSBURG: But here there was a
13	hearing on the motion to convert, right? There was a
14	hearing?
15	MR. BAKER: Yes, Your Honor.
16	JUSTICE GINSBURG: And as I understand it,
17	there was no objection to the character of that hearing?
18	There was no request for an evidentiary hearing? So
19	there was a hearing. Now, does that get wiped out too,
20	just the way, the determination that you couldn't
21	convert?
22	MR. BAKER: The procedure I would, I would
23	expect to see is that if the court saw an issue of fact
24	with respect to whether the case had been converted or
25	whether the debtor was eligible for it to be a debtor in

1 the chapter to which he seeks conversion, then an 2 evidentiary hearing would be required. 3 If -- the fact that there was no evidentiary 4 hearing in the particular case here, I think, I think we 5 have to go back to recognize the fact that most issues 6 in bankruptcy court are decided summarily on motion 7 practice. 8 And it is my feeling that, the jurisprudence of rule 56 has to apply. If a court 9 10 sees that there are disputed issues of fact, the court 11 must schedule an evidentiary hearing. It cannot, it cannot simply grant summary judgment without furtherance 12 13 issue of fact. So this is why I say that, 14 that on these two -- the two particular points -- and 15 obviously, the question of whether it has been 16 previously converted is very easy to determine. But as 17 previously discussed, the issue of eligibility, whether 18 the claims and the debt is within the statutory limitation, is an issue of fact that ultimately might 19 20 require an evidentiary hearing. 21 JUSTICE SOUTER: But your case as I 22 understand it, your case does not turn on the question 23 whether there was or was not, should or should not have 24 been a hearing in this case, an evidentiary hearing in 25 this case; is that correct?

22

1 MR. BAKER: That's correct. That's correct, 2 because in our view the schedules -- excuse me -- in our 3 view the schedules in this case clearly indicate that it 4 -- that he was within the statutory limitations, at 5 least as far as the schedules go. 6 JUSTICE SCALIA: Mr. -- Mr. Baker, I have -- I 7 have a question on a matter that really upsets me and causes me to wonder how, you know, how much we can 8 rely upon your description here. You claimed in the 9 10 petition that the reason your client filed under Chapter 11 7 rather than 13 was that he was unemployed at the time. And that he decided to go to 13 after he became 12 13 employed. 14 Yet, on -- as shown in the supplemental 15 appendix, when he filed under Chapter 7, under penalty 16 of perjury, he said that he was employed, and at 17 the meeting of the creditors, he confirmed under oath 18 that he was employed. 19 What was it? Was he employed or not 20 employed? 21 MR. BAKER: On the petition date itself, he 22 was not. And if you look at schedule I, which is at 23 page 30 of the supplemental joint appendix, at the 24 bottom line, bottom of the -- and it indicates that he 25 was in the process of having a second tenant in his

23

1 rental property and that he was beginning a job at about 2 the time the petition --3 JUSTICE SCALIA: It says employment, occupation, name of employer: Capital Carpet and 4 5 Flooring. How long employed, five months. Address of 6 employment: Woburn, Massachusetts. It also says the 7 same thing on page 18 of the supplemental appendix. And 8 also with the meeting of creditors. If you look at the joint appendix at 64a, he says the same thing that he 9 10 was employed. Was he employed or not employed? 11 MR. BAKER: Right. 12 JUSTICE SCALIA: Does he go around swearing 13 he was when he wasn't? 14 MR. BAKER: No, he was -- he was not employed 15 at the time. If you look at his page 18, as you 16 point out, it says at the bottom the income given is 17 estimated based on a new job which is about to start. 18 He had -- he had been the principal of a company called RLM 19 Flooring, which had been closed by Citizens Bank. So he 20 was, in fact, unemployed because Citizens Bank had taken 21 all of the assets of the corporation and shut it down. 22 And this put him of course behind on his mortgage so he 23 was very concerned about finding employment so he could 24 in fact, keep -- get his mortgage current and then 25 retain his home.

1	JUSTICE SCALIA: Look on page 64a of the
2	appendix, the meeting of creditors. Trustee says okay,
3	and you now work for another entity, Capital Carpet and
4	Flooring, sir? And Mark Marrama says yes.
5	MR. BAKER: Right. And between the between
6	the time of petition at the meeting of creditors which
7	was approximately six six weeks later, he became
8	employed.
9	As I say, he had a mortgage. He had children
10	to whom he has to pay child support. At the time he had
11	a wife he owed a lot of money to. He was concerned about
12	having employment so he could in fact meet those
13	obligations.
14	JUSTICE STEVENS: May I ask, I may have
15	missed some of the colloquy here is it correct that
16	he would not be eligible to file a to have a,
17	institute a Chapter 13 proceeding if he had unsecured
18	debts of over a certain amount?
19	MR. BAKER: Yes, Your Honor.
20	JUSTICE STEVENS: And what if at the time he
21	makes the motion to convert, which you say he has an
22	absolute right to make, what if the record then
23	disclosed that he had debts exceeding that amount? What
24	should the bankruptcy judge do in that case?
25	MR. BAKER: The bankruptcy judge should

1	examine the claims that have been filed, if any, do
2	the arithmetic, offer the debtor an opportunity
3	JUSTICE STEVENS: He concludes they're
4	over the amount? So it is clear under the record. What
5	should he do then?
6	MR. BAKER: He should deny conversion.
7	JUSTICE STEVENS: He should what?
8	MR. BAKER: He should deny conversion. If in
9	fact
10	JUSTICE STEVENS: So he does not have an
11	absolute right in all cases to convert, then.
12	MR. BAKER: It's absolute except in the
13	two circumstances stated in the statute.
14	One of which, is as Your Honor is pointing out, the
15	eligibility, the other is that if it has been previously
16	converted he does not have that right.
17	If the Court has no further questions, I'll
18	reserve my remaining time.
19	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you,
20	Mr. Baker.
21	MR. BAKER: Thank you.
22	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Mr. Brunstad.
23	ORAL ARGUMENT OF G. ERIC BRUNSTAD,
24	ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENTS
25	MR. BRUNSTAD: Mr. Chief Justice, and may it

26

1 please the Court:

2 The bankruptcy court need not sit idly by 3 and grant a motion which is part of an abusive scheme. 4 The power of the court is there to deny such a motion. 5 It is there by statute under section 105; it is there 6 because the courts have always had power. 7 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Under -- you think 8 105 is an affirmative grant of power? 9 MR. BRUNSTAD: I think the second sentence 10 of 105(a) supports the traditional powers that courts 11 have had to grant relief, to prevent or to deny relief 12 to prevent abuse or to remedy bad faith conduct. The 13 fact that the debtor has the authorization under section 706 14 to convert a case cannot be construed to prevent the 15 court from sua sponte taking action to prevent abuse --16 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: 105(a) is much more 17 limited than that. It is only if you take the second 18 clause of that out of context and quote it, as has been 19 done, that it looks like an affirmative grant. It says: 20 "No provision of this title providing for the raising of 21 an issue by a party in interest shall be construed to 22 preclude the court from taking sua sponte other action." 23 That's a much more limited, narrow provision telling you 24 not to imply a negative pregnant from a requirement 25 that a particular party raise an issue. I -- as a source of sweeping powers to, to basically act as a roving commission in equity, I think that's a mis-citation.

27

Alderson Reporting Company

Official

4 MR. BRUNSTAD: Well, Chief Justice Roberts, 5 I think that in order to understand 106(a), the second sentence, completely, I think it is important to 6 7 understand it was added to 105 in 1986 in response to a 8 number of decisions that were holding that the courts did not have the -- the bankruptcy courts did not have 9 10 the authority to sua sponte take action to prevent abuse, 11 to monitor their own calendars, to make sure that 12 inappropriate things weren't happening, and that Senator 13 Hatch when he introduced this legislation which was 14 ultimately enacted, the goal was to overturn cases like 15 the Second Circuit's decision in Grissom to provide 16 expressly and perhaps not as clearly as perhaps they 17 intended, to give the courts this power. But I --18 JUSTICE SCALIA: Was that Second Circuit's 19 decision a decision that said the court didn't have the 20 power because it had not been moved to take that action by the party who had the responsibility for raising the 21 issue? Was that the basis for the Second Circuit's 2.2 23 decision? 24 MR. BRUNSTAD: In part, yes. The court also

1	JUSTICE SCALIA: Then then you haven't
2	contradicted what the Chief Justice suggested.
3	MR. BRUNSTAD: Well, I think I think
4	105(a), the second sentence is worded the way that it
5	is. It doesn't say exactly that the courts may take any
6	action of sua sponte. It says shall not be construed;
7	the fact that a party has the right to make an action shall
8	not be construed to deny the court the right sua sponte to
9	take an action. But I think that the implication of the 10	statute is clear. There is this background principle which
11	applies not only in bankruptcy cases but in trial court
12	cases in the district courts everywhere, that this Court
13	recognized in Chambers, that it has specific application
14	in this Court's jurisprudence in bankruptcy in Pepper
15	versus Litton and other cases, that the bankruptcy
16	courts may take action to prevent abuse. And in fact,
17	they must do so. Because by granting a motion, by
18	sitting back and allowing the court to grant relief that
19	furthers an abusive scheme in essence makes the court
20	complicit in the fraud or misdealing. We can't have that.
21	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: What do you do about
22	the different structures, wording between 706(a) and
23	706(b)? I mean, this provision says debtor may. The
24	other provisions say that a debtor may ask a court to
25	order, and it suggests a difference in who has the primary responsibility, whether it is a motion of the Court or whether it is an independent action. MR. BRUNSTAD: Mr. Chief Justice, I think that the drafting conventions between the two subsections is key. 706(a) says the debtor may convert. Whereas 7 provisions, provide that upon request of the debtor, 8 the court shall take some particular action. Here the 9 use of the "May" -- I think the word "may" properly 10 signals discretion in the court.

29

other sections of the code, like 1307(b), other

11 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: So you think under 12 those other provisions the court doesn't have this 13 inherent power or the implicit power from 105(a) that 14 you're arguing for here?

15 MR. BRUNSTAD: Well, if you look at section 16 1307(b), upon request of the debtor the court shall 17 dismiss the case, that is an absolute right. And for a 18 clear reason. Nobody can force a debtor to continue in 19 Chapter 13 against the debtor's will because Chapter 13 20 requires the debtor to work to pay off creditors. That 21 would violate the 13th Amendment. So there would be no circumstance where someone could block a debtor from 22 23 getting out from Chapter 13, for constitutional reasons. 24 That's a special case. That is why Congress drafted 25 1307(b) the way that it did.

1	Contrast that with section 706 where the
2	court said the debtor may convert. Now, there are,
3	there are requirements that the debtor has to comply in
4	order to convert, statutory, but there is also, a debtor
5	cannot have an absolute right to convert if it would be
6	part of an abusive scheme. I think the direct analogy is
7	this Court's decision in Pepper versus Litton. There a
8	fraudulent party wanted the Court to allow a claim as
9	part of a fraudulent scheme, and this Court unanimously
10	said no we're not going to allow that, even though there
11	was a subsequent remedy further on in the process.
12	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: If you, if given
13	that the court has express statutory authority to
14	reconvert from 13 back to 7, why should we take the leap
15	of conferring inherent equitable authority to do
16	something, when the statute addresses it in a much more
17	specific way?
18	MR. BRUNSTAD: Two primary reasons, Your
19	Honor. The first reason is that it would be just
20	pointless wheel spinning.
21	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Well, maybe, maybe
22	not. I mean, they convert. He comes up with a plan
23	under 13 that looks better to creditors. I mean, just
24	because there's fraud that offends the court and prompts
25	it to take action prior to conversion doesn't mean that

31

1 that's going to be the same situation after conversion. 2 MR. BRUNSTAD: But the debtor could argue in 3 the context of the motion to convert, well, I would like to propose a Chapter 13 plan, perhaps the misconduct 4 5 wasn't that severe, and the court can take that into consideration allowing the debtor to proceed. But where 6 7 as here you have a clear case of abuse, the court should 8 be entitled to nip it in the bud at that particular point in time. Allowing the court to senselessly say, 9 10 "Oh, go ahead and convert -- " 11 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Even if it might 12 injure the creditors. 13 MR. BRUNSTAD: Well, the court can take that 14 into account. The court is not -- is not shackled under 15 section 706 to deny conversion, it can consider various 16 factors. If all the creditors were to come up and say: 17 "We know the debtor has been abusing the bankruptcy 18 system, but we think you should allow the conversion to 19 a Chapter 13 case because perhaps that will work for the 20 particular circumstances." But whereas here there was 21 no such thing, the creditors were saying don't allow 22 conversion, this is part of an abusive scheme. The 23 trustee was saying don't allow conversion, this is part 24 of an abusive scheme, the bankruptcy court -- if the 25 court had signed the order, then that affects the

32

1 integrity of the court.

Is the court itself now not participating by allowing it to happen, this sort of fraudulent scheme? The court should be able to nip it in the bud. Debtors who are --

6 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: What limitations 7 would you recognize on this inherent authority to take 8 action? Where do they come from?

MR. BRUNSTAD: Well I think that --9 10 Mr. Chief Justice, I think that they're the same sorts 11 of limitations that require the district court, when it 12 is considering invocation of its inherent powers, 13 whether to exercise them or not, we have always sort of 14 recognized a special situation for bad faith conduct and 15 clearly abusive schemes. Where those occur as in this 16 case, the bankruptcy court looks at the circumstances, 17 holds a hearing as was held this case, considers the 18 views of the parties who are involved, and then decides. 19 Now it is a relatively high bar. You know, bad faith -- it is a continuum. Where you have the 20

21 honest but unfortunate debtor, abides by all the rules, 22 clearly no bad faith implication would apply. At 23 the other end of the spectrum where you have a debtor 24 who conceals assets, doesn't disclose, it's found out in 25 bankruptcy and then as soon as the trustee finds out and

1	is hot on the debtor's trail, then seeks to convert to
2	get out from bankruptcy, well, there you have a
3	clear-cut case of abuse that can't be tolerated.
4	Now I think that
5	JUSTICE SCALIA: Mr. Brunstad, are you going
6	to address the mootness point? Do you think the case is
7	moot?
8	MR. BRUNSTAD: Yes, Justice Scalia. I think
9	candidly, the case is not moot. There is a good reason
10	why we do not allow in our system two separate
11	bankruptcy cases to be pending at the same time. Once a
12	first bankruptcy case has started, the court
13	jurisdiction attaches its exclusive jurisdiction, and I
14	think the second bankruptcy case that was filed while
15	the first bankruptcy case was still pending was filed
16	without jurisdiction and there was actually no
17	jurisdiction, because of the prior existing case.
18	Additionally, I think we have to recognize
19	that there were different debt levels at different
20	times. I don't know exactly what they were, but for the
21	first case there was debt level A. About three years
22	later, there was debt level B, which may well have been
23	higher. On remand if the debtor were to succeed, which
24	I hope the Court does not allow the debtor to proceed,
25	or succeed here, but on remand if it were determined

34

1	that with the first case the debt levels were properly
2	below the limits under 109(e), then the debtor would be
3	eligible to convert as far as that criteria is
4	concerned. We do not know absolutely that that would
5	not be able to be satisfied in the existing case.
6	JUSTICE SCALIA: Did you make the
7	jurisdictional objection before the second bankruptcy
8	court?
9	MR. BRUNSTAD: We did not participate in the
10	second case and make that objection, Your Honor.
11	JUSTICE SCALIA: How so?
12	MR. BRUNSTAD: I think that it was
13	primarily, it was, the debtor was litigating and we did
14	not make the jurisdictional argument.
15	JUSTICE SCALIA: I find that extraordinary.
16	JUSTICE GINSBURG: So it wouldn't be
17	before the First Circuit.
18	MR. BRUNSTAD: That particular issue, I
19	think the appeal of the second case is pending before
20	the district court. I think that the bankruptcy judge
21	disposed of the case pretty summarily and decided that
22	while this particular debtor, just looking at the
23	schedules, does not have the eligibility requirements
24	for the second case, and therefore dismissed it.
25	That does not necessarily preclude a finding

35

upon the facts in the first case which is still pending, that it could be converted. I think candidly, I need to say that.

4 JUSTICE GINSBURG: It's hardly a summary 5 disposition. The opinion goes on for pages and pages. 6 MR. BRUNSTAD: Well, this particular 7 bankruptcy judge obviously had a lot of experience with 8 this particular debtor, having presided over the first case as well, Justice Ginsburg. So I think the 9 10 bankruptcy court was very fully apprised of the facts 11 and circumstances surrounding the case, with the record and having written several opinions already in the first 12 13 bankruptcy case which was still pending. 14 JUSTICE SCALIA: This case, your case?

MR. BRUNSTAD: The current case today, yes,Justice Scalia.

17 JUSTICE STEVENS: May I ask this guestion. 18 If the remedy of not allowing them to convert to Chapter 19 13 is denied, are there other remedies that the 20 bankruptcy court can impose against the debtor who 21 engages in misconduct of this kind? 22 MR. BRUNSTAD: Yes, Justice Stevens, but 23 they're not tailored to this particular problem or 24 They are remedies, for example, the denial of abuse.

25 the discharge for concealing assets under section 727.

1 But that won't --

2 JUSTICE STEVENS: Are there any criminal 3 sanctions?

MR. BRUNSTAD: There might be criminal sanctions for willful -- basically, in essence, it's sort of an idea of theft, you know, by not disclosing assets, but it's a relatively high bar for criminality. But that won't protect the creditors in the Chapter 7 case.

10 JUSTICE STEVENS: Then how are the creditors 11 hurt by this series of events?

MR. BRUNSTAD: Well, the creditors are hurt 12 13 because in the chapter 7 case, once the bankruptcy case 14 is filed, the trustee takes possession of all the 15 debtor's property, which becomes property of the estate. 16 The trustee's role is to liquidate the property and 17 distribute the proceeds to creditors. When the case is 18 converted to Chapter 13, under 1306, the property 19 revests in the debtor, including any concealed property. 20 At that point, under section 348, upon conversion, the 21 Chapter 7 trustee is disenfranchised. His services 22 terminate. What debtors in bankruptcy who are 23 perpetuating this kind of concealment scheme want you to 24 do is say oh no, you can go ahead and convert, and then 25 maybe we'll deal with it later, because maybe later on in the proceedings something will happen. The Chapter 13 trustee might not be apprised of it.

37

3 The case might go to a different bankruptcy In some jurisdictions, the Chapter 13 docket is 4 judge. 5 heard by an entirely separate bankruptcy judge. They 6 would like to get the benefit of delay in conversion, 7 because perhaps they can get away with it in the 8 subsequent Chapter 13 case. Or alternatively in the Chapter 13 case, if the debtor doesn't file a plan, then 9 10 the Chapter 13 trustee, who may have hundreds and 11 hundreds of Chapter 13 cases he or she is responsible 12 for, on a check list might simply check off no plan 13 filed, case dismissed, in which case the creditors don't 14 get the benefit of the liquidation, they don't get the 15 benefit of the assets being recovered, they don't get 16 equality of distribution under the Chapter 7 scheme, and 17 the debtor's fraud is in essence gotten away with. So 18 that is why, when a motion to convert comes up and the 19 bankruptcy court sees --

20 JUSTICE STEVENS: Wouldn't a Chapter 7 case
21 be refiled immediately?

22 MR. BRUNSTAD: Not necessarily, Your Honor. 23 Not necessarily. The debtor could move to another 24 jurisdiction.

25 JUSTICE STEVENS: But the creditors aren't

Official

Alderson Reporting Company

1 going to let him just run away with the assets, are 2 they?

MR. BRUNSTAD: Well, Justice Stevens, in 3 many many Chapter 7 cases, in many many bankruptcy 4 5 cases, you have creditors, most of the creditors may 6 hold claims of $500, $1,000, $3,000. This case is 7 unique because there happened to be a creditor, Citizens 8 Bank, who was owed hundreds of thousands of dollars who had an interest in pursuing the case. In many other 9 10 cases -- that's why -- one of the reasons why we have a 11 Chapter 7 trustee, to represent the interest of myriad small 12 claimants who collectively have no individual incentive 13 to really incur all the costs to monitor the system.

14 By converting the case from 7 to 13, 15 disenfranchising that representative of all the 16 creditors, the debtor who wants to play the game of 17 concealing the assets, and catch me if you can, can in 18 essence get away with it. This bankruptcy judge 19 understood this. This bankruptcy judge denied the 20 conversion so we would keep the case in Chapter 7, the 21 Chapter 7 trustee could do his job, collect the assets 22 ___

JUSTICE GINSBURG: Could the Chapter 7 trustee be appointed the trustee in the Chapter 13, the same trustee who has now been -- he's terminated because

Official

Alderson Reporting Company

1	the Chapter 7 has been converted. Could the court in
2	the Chapter 13 format appoint the same trustee?
3	MR. BRUNSTAD: No, Justice Ginsburg. There
4	is a standing Chapter 13 trustee in Chapter 13 cases
5	that handles all the Chapter 13 cases, unless for some
6	reason that Chapter 13 trustee must recuse him or
7	herself. Under section 348, once the case is converted
8	from 7 to 13, the Chapter 7 trustee services are
9	terminated.
10	JUSTICE SCALIA: What does the trustee do?
11	He's not really a trustee under 13, is he?
12	MR. BRUNSTAD: The Chapter 13 trustee
13	JUSTICE SCALIA: I mean, the property
14	doesn't vest in him, you've told it. It remains in the 15	ownership of the debtor?
16	MR. BRUNSTAD: Yes, Justice Scalia. The
17	Chapter 13 trustee is probably characterized mostly an
18	administrative person, who supervises to see that the
19	Chapter 13 procedures are complied with, has the debtor
20	filed the Chapter 13 plan. If not
21	JUSTICE SCALIA: He's called a trustee,
22	though?
23	MR. BRUNSTAD: Correct, Justice Scalia.
24	JUSTICE SCALIA: Well that's really not his
25	capacity.

1	MR. BRUNSTAD: In practical reality, that's
2	correct, Justice Scalia. What the Chapter 13 trustee
3	does is, if a plan is not filed, moves to dismiss the case.
4	If a plan is filed, may look at the plan. If the
5	plan is confirmed, acts as the disbursing agent. The
6	debtor typically makes payments under the plan to the
7	Chapter 13 trustee. The Chapter 13 trustee then makes
8	distributions to creditors. And on Chapter 13 day in
9	many jurisdictions, one day a week or every other week,
10	the Chapter 13 trustee will come to court with hundreds
11	and hundreds and hundreds of files.
12	JUSTICE SCALIA: It's called Chapter 13 day?
13	MR. BRUNSTAD: In many places it is, Your
14	Honor, and they have a Chapter 13 bankruptcy judge.
15	Often it's assigned to the most junior bankruptcy judge
16	sitting in the particular jurisdiction. With hundreds
17	and hundreds of cases, the Chapter 13 trustee has
18	neither the incentive nor the resources to do the things
19	that a Chapter 7 trustee does every single day. And not
20	only that, the Chapter 13 trustee does not have the
21	power to go after collecting all of the property and
22	liquidating it. It's denied that power under the
23	statutory scheme.
24	So it makes no sense. It's pointless to say

25 we must -- the bankruptcy judge must idly sit by, grant

41

a motion that's part of this abusive scheme, allow the case to be converted to Chapter 13, hold another hearing, have a second set of papers perhaps, only to send the case back to Chapter 7.

5 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: The sense it makes 6 is that that's what the statute provides, and rather 7 than relying on this alleged inherent power that 8 apparently is not boundless, and that the bounds of which will have to be articulated in case after case 9 10 after case, the statute provides a very clear mechanism 11 to address the issue of fraud which allows him to 12 reconvert it back to Chapter 7 promptly.

13 MR. BRUNSTAD: Well, I think, Mr. Chief 14 Justice, in the Link case, the Court rejected that 15 argument in construing section 41(b), where the Court 16 said, quote, "neither the permissive language of the 17 rule, which merely authorizes a motion by the defendant, 18 nor its policy requires us to conclude that it was the 19 purpose of the rule to be abrogate the power of courts 20 acting on their own initiative to clear their calendars 21 of cases that have remained dormant because of the 22 inaction or dilatoriness of the parties seeking relief." 23 Likewise in Chambers, I think the same principle 24 The Court said, we don't need to wait and deal applied. 25 with these subsequently occurring procedures to remedy

1 the problem. We should do it now.

2 And that is the -- that is the clear import 3 of this Court's unanimous decision in Pepper versus Litton. There was a remedy of equitable subordination 4 5 for the fraudulent claim that could have been invoked far later in the proceeding. And this Court unanimously 6 7 said no, you don't have to wait for that proceeding 8 later. Where it's clear that there has been fraud, the creditor's scheme has been fraudulent, a fraudulent 9 10 claim, the court can act at the time of allowance of the 11 claim and simply deny the claim. The reason for it, I think, is the reason articulated in Chambers. The 12 13 integrity of the court itself is implicated if it has to 14 sit back idly by and watch the abusive process unfold. 15 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Well, I still 16 haven't gotten an answer, I think, on what the prejudice 17 Who is prejudiced by the procedure set forth in is. 18 the statute? The conversion takes place. The judge 19 then says, because of this fraud, I'm going to reconvert 20 it to Chapter 7. Who suffers under that? You say sit 21 idly by, but I don't see the long passage of time. MR. BRUNSTAD: Well, the creditors suffer, 22 23 Mr. Chief Justice. And they suffer because there are 24 additional administrative costs that are incurred that 25 compete with their distributions. We're already talking

1 about dividing up an inadequate pie to satisfy all 2 claims in full. Having a second set of procedures 3 prejudices the creditors. It prejudices the court. 4 Bankruptcy judges can have thousands and thousands of 5 cases on their dockets. To have to have a second set of procedures, a second hearing, it burdens the court 6 7 unnecessarily. And again, it also implicates, again, and I think this is fundamental, the integrity of the 8 9 process. 10 JUSTICE BREYER: Is it true or not what I 11 said, because I don't know the area, that if in fact you 12 had a dishonest debtor, the present -- the proceeding is 13 dismissed on 7. He gets the papers back. The papers 14 permit him access to a hidden source of resources, and 15 he steals them basically. Is that possible or is that 16 fanciful? 17 MR. BRUNSTAD: Justice Brever, that is 18 certainly possible, and I think that is why Congress has 19 said you don't have an absolute right as a debtor under 20 section 707 to dismiss your Chapter 7 case. 21 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you, counsel. 22 MR. BRUNSTAD: Thank you. 23 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: We'll hear from 24 Ms. Blatt first. 25 Mr. BAKER: I beg your pardon.

10	to Chapter 13. Courts have the inherent authority to
11	take appropriate action to prevent an abuse of process.
12	Nothing in the Bankruptcy Code or section 706 purports
13	to impair or limit the bankruptcy court's power to
14	police the integrity of its own proceedings.
15	JUSTICE ALITO: Why isn't the power to
16	reconvert sufficient?
17	MS. BLATT: The power to reconvert under
18	section 1307(c) is in this case, where the court is
19	already confronted with an adjudicated bad faith
20	litigator, it's indirect, it's inefficient, and it's
21	inadequate to protect the bankruptcy process. The
22	potential for abuse is very significant if the case
23	languishes in Chapter 13 for any period of time because
24	the bad faith debtor gets control over the very asset he
25	fraudulently sought to conceal.

45

1 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Well, what are the 2 odds that that's going to happen if you have a judge 3 who's exercised enough by the fraud to exercise inherent 4 authority to deny relief? He's not going to let it 5 languish under Chapter 13. 6 MS. BLATT: Well, he may or may not. 7 Bankruptcy courts have thousands of cases, and if there 8 is an absolute automatic right to convert, a court with thousands of cases may put off that Chapter 13 9 10 reconversion to another day. Moreover, there may be individual creditors without a sufficient stake to raise 11 12 the issue, and the Chapter 7 trustee who typically will 13 uncover the fraud cannot oppose conversion if there's a 14 right to convert in bad faith, and the Chapter 13 15 trustee or the United States --CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Well, why wouldn't 16 17 that trustee recommend to the bankruptcy judge that he 18 reconvert it to Chapter 7? MS. BLATT: Well, the Chapter 7 trustee is, 19 20 he's terminated on conversion. It doesn't raise Chapter 21 13 issues. The much more likely scenario is the Chapter 7 trustee will tell the United States trustee or the 2.2 23 Chapter 13 trustee, but they may or may not learn about 24 it until after the case converts. In jurisdictions 25 where there is --

46

1	JUSTICE KENNEDY: Why can't they just have an
2	order to the bankrupt to disclose the asset in the
3	Chapter 13 proceeding?
4	MS. BLATT: An order to disclose the asset?
5	JUSTICE KENNEDY: In the Chapter 13
6	proceeding.
7	MS. BLATT: Well, we're talking about a case
8	the court may or may not know about the fraud, and
9	the trustee may or may not tell someone in time. If
10	there's
11	JUSTICE KENNEDY: Well, in this case they
12	knew about it, didn't they?
13	MS. BLATT: Yes, and there was a basis to
14	oppose conversion. In jurisdictions where there's an
15	absolute right, and bad faith is not a grounds for the
16	conversion
17	JUSTICE STEVENS: Whenever he denies the
18	motion, he must know about it. He must have a reason to
19	deny.
20	MS. BLATT: We're by hypothesis talking
21	about an absolute right to convert, and what I'm trying
22	to say, in jurisdictions where there is an absolute
23	right, the practice of bankruptcy courts is not to
24	simultaneously convert. It does happen on occasion, but
25	the more likely scenario is that a significant period of

47

1 time passes. But the other point is that if there's a 2 simultaneous conversion it's a completely pointless and 3 burdensome process, and here's why: A conversion and 4 simultaneous conversion causes the termination and 5 reappointment of the Chapter 7 trustee, the appointment 6 and the immediate termination of the Chapter 13 trustee, 7 and to the extent there's already pending Chapter 7 8 proceedings for dismissal or denial of discharge, the 9 conversion would appear to us to moot those proceedings 10 and require their reinstatement. And this is a completely 11 unnecessary waste of everyone's time and energy. 12 JUSTICE STEVENS: May I just clear up one 13 detail that's confusing to me. The -- are there two 14 judges? Does the same judge rule on both the motion to 15 convert and the motion to reconvert? 16 MS. BLATT: Yes, in the majority of 17 jurisdictions. There are one or two jurisdictions where 18 there are different judges, but the vast majority it's 19 before the same judge. But a -- if a -- if there's a --20 if there's a right to convert in bad faith, all you have

21 is a notice of conversion and, assuming the eligibility 22 is met and it hasn't previously converted, a court may 23 say, well --

24 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: I wouldn't call it a 25 right to convert in bad faith. If it's a right, it's a right to convert despite the allegation of bad faith.

Official

Alderson Reporting Company

 It's not a right to convert in bad faith. No one is arguing for that.

4 MS. BLATT: Well, I think that our point is 5 that the absence of bad faith is implicit in the statute because there is this background rule. When a litigant 6 7 comes to a court that's already abused the court's process or seeks relief of bad faith, it is a core 8 element of a court's inherent authority to simply deny 9 10 relief. You can toss out an entire complaint when a 11 litigant seeks it in bad faith. If there was an 12 apparent benefit to this, go to 13 first or deny it, the 13 United States trustee wouldn't be here. We see no 14 benefit to the debtor to require the court to convert 15 and then reconvert. All it is an unnecessary waste 16 of everyone's time, and this is a core element of an 17 inherit authority.

18 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: What about the idea 19 that the debtor can come in and say under 13, look, 20 whether the facts bear this out in this case or not, 21 I've got a job now. I can pay off my debtors -- my 22 creditors according to this plan, and, as the statute 23 requires, the creditors get more under 13 than under 24 under 7. That's a benefit to everybody.

MS. BLATT: Here's why. I don't think

49

Alderson Reporting Company

Official

1	there's any dispute under
2	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: And he says, I'm
3	sorry about that bad faith business.
4	MS. BLATT: Sure. Right. And there's
5	nothing to stop a debtor who truly converts and has
6	found religion and wants to come clean for arguing: Let
7	me convert, it's in the interest of everybody if I do
8	convert. This is a discretionary right to deny relief.
9	The court is free to allow conversion.
10	But under the plain terms of section
11	1370(c), the court has the power to dismiss or reconvert
12	a case to Chapter 7 without waiting for a plan to be
13	filed. There's no requirement that the court has to sit
14	there for 15 days and see if there's a plan. A Chapter
15	7 excuse me
16	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: If the statute
17	didn't provide that a Chapter 13 plan could be
18	reconverted to a Chapter 7, would the court have the
19	inherent equitable authority to do that?
20	MS. BLATT: To reconvert to Chapter 7?
21	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Sure.
22	MS. BLATT: I don't know if that would be an
23	appropriate remedy. It might be because you can have an
24	involuntary Chapter 7 case. But on this point about a
25	court sitting in Chapter 13, if on day one a Chapter 13

50

debtor files a plan in bad faith, the debtor can say:
Please wait, I've got a plan, I'm working on it, give me a couple extra weeks, and the court can say: No, I have the authority to throw it out. And what's particularly odd about this proposal is that in 2005 a court is categorically prohibited from allowing a Chapter 13 debtor to proceed under Chapter 13 if the petition is filed in bad faith. The court can't confirm a plan.

9 So Congress had no interest in protecting 10 bad faith debtors after 2005 and they didn't before 11 2005. There's no policy preference in the code for bad 12 faith debtors or allowing a debtor either proceeding in 13 Chapter 13 or moving from Chapter 7 to Chapter 13, and we 14 think this is a modest exercise of a court's inherent 15 authority simply to deny relief when the court is already 16 confronted with a clear case of abuse while the case is 17 in Chapter 7 or the debtor has otherwise abused the 18 bankruptcy process.

19 The last thing I'd like to say is --20 CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Well, what about the 21 difference in language under 706(a) and the other 22 provisions? 706(a) says the debtor may. The other 23 provisions call for action by the court, which suggests 24 at least that the authority to convert is greater under 25 706(a).

Alderson Reporting Company

Official

1	MS. BLATT: I think section 706(a) is fairly
2	read as granting a statutory right to convert absent the
3	two statutory exceptions or the court's proper exercise
4	of inherent authority. But the 706(b) and (c) just
5	explain that the court may do something or the court may
6	not, or the court shall do something. So we think our
7	position section 706(a) isn't even addressed to the
8	court at all. It just gives the debtor the right to
9	convert, and it doesn't purport to limit or speak to the
10	situation when the debtor seeks that relief in bad faith
11	or has otherwise abused the bankruptcy process. And I'd
12	just like to end by saying that a debtor's bad faith
13	concealment of assets or misrepresentation of financial
14	affairs is really the most serious abuse you can have in
15	a chapter 7 case. It threatens the very structural
16	foundation of the code and its integrity.
17	JUSTICE SCALIA: Does the government have
18	any position on the mootness question here?
19	MS. BLATT: Well, our position is that it's
20	not moot because it's on appeal. If that decision is
21	affirmed, it would in a sense practically be moot
22	because there would be an alternative grounds and the
23	debtor wouldn't be eligible under Chapter 13 in any
24	event. But we didn't see that as necessarily an Article
25	III mootness problem.

52

1	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: I guess I've been
2	assuming but the eligibility under Chapter 13 even
3	under the present case is a present day question, right?
4	In other words, we don't go back and see if he was
5	eligible for Chapter 13 when the conversion was denied?
6	The question would be whether he's eligible now?
7	MS. BLATT: We have not compared the two,
8	the two chapters well, there was never a Chapter 13
9	petition. We have not compared the Chapter 7 petition
10	with the after this case, this Court granted
11	certiorari, then the Chapter 13. But it is on appeal
12	to the district court, so it's not presently moot.
13	We would ask for those reasons that the
14	First Circuit's decision be affirmed.
15	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you,
16	Ms. Blatt.
17	Now, Mr. Baker.
18	REBUTTAL ARGUMENT OF DAVID G. BAKER
19	ON BEHALF OF THE PETITIONER
20	MR. BAKER: Thank you, Your Honor and
21	Mr. Chief Justice.
22	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: I'm sorry. You have
23	two minutes remaining.
24	MR. BAKER: Thank you, Your Honor.
25	The first thing I would like to say is that,

53

1 having been counsel to a Chapter 13 trustee many years 2 ago, I can assure the Court the Chapter 13 trustees 3 exercise all of the powers and authority that a Chapter 4 7 trustee does, with the exception, as was said, of 5 possession of property of the estate. The property of 6 the estate remains vested, however, in the Chapter 13 7 trustee throughout the length of the case. It does not 8 revest in the debtor until the case is either dismissed, a discharge is issued, and the case is closed. So the 9 concerns about leaving a debtor to do anything it wants 10 11 to with property of the bankruptcy estate simply is not 12 a reality, and I think it does a disservice to the many 13 fine Chapter 13 trustees that there are around the 14 country.

JUSTICE SCALIA: I'm not sure I understood what you just said. You said until the plan is filed and approved the property remains in the possession of the Chapter 13 trustee.

MR. BAKER: No, it does not remain in her possession. The Chapter 13 trustee technically never has possession. The title remains vested in the Chapter 13 trustee.

JUSTICE BREYER: So is it possible if it's in 13 that then the debtor, let's say a dishonest debtor, could get back pieces of paper which would admit

Official

Alderson Reporting Company

1	that debtor to the possession of certain property which
2	he could then take and hide in a way that that couldn't
3	happen in 7? Is that possible or not possible?
4	MR. BAKER: It's certainly possible. But
5	then again, there are statutory and rule-based remedies
6	for that sort of activity. And our position is that those
7	rules and those statutes are what should control in the
8	case.
9	Thank you very much, Your Honor.
10	CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS: Thank you,
11	Mr. Baker.
12	The case is submitted.
13	(Whereupon, at 11:04 a.m., the case in the 14	above-entitled matter was submitted.)
